

OLD ICELANDIC

An Introductory Course

SIGRID VALFELLS
AND
JAMES E. CATHEY

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
in association with the American-Scandinavian Foundation 1981

Oxford University Press, Walton Street, Oxford OX2 6DP
London Glasgow New York Toronto
Delhi Bombay Calcutta Madras Karachi
Kuala Lumpur Singapore Hong Kong Tokyo
Nairobi Dar es Salaam Cape Town Melbourne Auckland
and associate companies in Beirut Berlin Ibadan Mexico City

Published in the United States by Oxford University Press, New York

© Sigrid Valfells and
James E. Cathey 1981

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the prior permission of Oxford University Press

British Library Cataloguing in Publication Data

Valfells, Sigrid
Old Icelandic.
I. Old Norse language—Grammar
I. Title II. Cathey, James E.
III. American-Scandinavian Foundation
439 .65 PD2231

ISBN 0-19-811172-X
ISBN 0-19-811173-8 Pbk

Filmset in 'Monophoto' Times New Roman by Eta Services (Typesetters) Ltd., Beccles Suffolk and printed in Great Britain
at the University Press, Oxford
by Eric Buckley Printer to the University

INTRODUCTION

THERE are, generally speaking, two types of students of Old Icelandic: those who are interested primarily as linguists and those interested as literary scholars. Old Icelandic is designed to serve the needs of both. Their needs, however, are—to a degree—incompatible. But the groundwork for either scholar is the language itself, and Old Icelandic will give any student a systematic and thorough introduction to Classical Old Icelandic, the language of the thirteenth century sagas. Following this comprehensive introduction to the language, the student will be well prepared for more specialized study, whether in literature or linguistics.

In its conception and step-by-step progression Old Icelandic is a departure from traditional handbooks, which generally contain a cursory section on grammar and an ungraded selection of readings. In the first ten lessons we have carefully constructed introductory reading texts to ease the initial encounter with the language. From the eleventh lesson the student is reading short passages from a variety of sagas, each chosen to illustrate particular grammatical points. These selections are also intended to introduce the student to episodes representative of the saga genre, with special emphasis on the major family sagas, as well as to show—as far as is possible—various aspects of Old Icelandic culture.

Although Old Icelandic is no longer spoken or written, and the student needs only a passive command of the language, we have included drills and translations into Old Icelandic for each lesson as learning devices, whereby the student can check his command of skills thus far developed. Even a passive linguistic ability must have its active intellectual input.

The constraints placed by pedagogical considerations pose many problems, which we have tried to resolve by taking into consideration the various requirements and backgrounds of students. Therefore, those who find the linguistic treatment insufficiently concise or theoretically unsatisfactory may object. And the literary scholars may at first find that the linguistic presentation is too technical. However, despite such objections, we strongly believe that technical compromises made for pedagogical purposes are valid and necessary. Our method provides a sound introduction to all aspects of the language: phonology, morphology, and the rudiments of the syntax.

A

We would like to explain briefly some points in our presentation of the material. Our orthographic standard for Old Icelandic is based for the most part on that represented by Cleasby and Vigfusson in their Icelandic-English Dictionary, as it is this or the derivative work by Zoëga, A Concise Dictionary of Old Icelandic, that the student is most likely to turn to in the future. We have, however, used some spellings which follow the standard set by the Íslenzk Fornrit series, where the ÍF forms show greater phonological discrimination and derivational clarity, as for example, in the use of the o and in such spellings as byggð 'district', which is more clearly related to the verb byggja 'inhabit' than the Cleasby-Vigfusson spelling bygð. We have, furthermore, followed a principle of alphabetization which does not separate the longs (i.e. á, é, í, ó, ú, ý, æ, ø) from the shorts (i.e. a, e, i, o, u, y, ø, o), as do the Cleasby-Vigfusson and Zoëga dictionaries. That is, our order is vigr, vika, vikingr, not vika, vigr, vikingr. etc. In each lesson the vocabulary is presented alphabetically by classification as to part of speech. The glossary at the back of the book lists all words in consecutive alphabetical order and indicates their point of first occurrence in the Lessons.

Our use of underlying representations in parentheses for inflected stems is intended to serve a pedagogical purpose. The student will quickly learn to produce correct forms, given the stems, endings, and phonological rules, without having to memorize a large number of seemingly unrelated forms. The student will understand the linguistic relationships between the various reflexes of the same stem, for instance, between the neuter noun land (land-) 'land' and the derived verb lenda (land-i/j-) 'to land', or between the strong verb fara (far-) 'go, journey' and the feminine derived noun for (far-a-) 'journey', or between the infinitive spyrja 'ask' and the past tense form spurði 'asked', both from the stem (spur-i/j-).

The translation exercises from English are intended as a review of the vocabulary and of the mode of expression in Old Icelandic. The English has purposely been written in these exercises to follow the style of Old Icelandic and to serve as a basis from which to imitate that style. Thus the often marginal or even bad English of the exercise sentences is merely a device employed to ease the transition to an authentic Old Icelandic sentence and to hinder the student from mechanically arranging Old Icelandic words in English style, which most often would produce inauthentic Old Icelandic.

Each lesson centres on one or two grammatical categories, e.g. the Dative Singular. Concomitant phonological and syntactical points make up the remainder of the lesson. As a result, the individual lessons vary considerably in length, and the student will find some more difficult than others. The instructor should keep this in mind in pacing the student. If only limited time is available, the instructor may choose to read only one selection in each lesson or to assign only part of the drills and translation exercises.

We are greatly indebted, first and foremost, to the Icelandic-English Dictionary by Cleasby and Vigfusson, which is an invaluable sourcebook for all students and scholars of Old Icelandic. The texts from various sagas in our reading selections (Lessons XI-XXVIII, XXX-XXXV) are based on the versions in the series Íslenzk Fornrit published by Hið íslenska fornritafélag. We would like to express our appreciation of the fine work done by the many editors of this series. Our excerpts in Lesson XXIX are based on Íslendingabók Ara fróða as edited by Jón Jóhannesson and published in the series Íslenzk Handrit.

We would like to give special thanks to our colleagues for their advice and encouragement. Professors Haraldur Bessason of the University of Manitoba, Nils Hasselmo of the University of Minnesota, and Frank Hugus of the University of Massachusetts offered invaluable suggestions based on their reading of the text and on their use of the manuscript in class. We would also like to thank the many students who gave us very constructive criticism. Any shortcomings in the present version are, of course, the sole responsibility of the authors.

We would like to acknowledge the role of the American-Scandinavian Foundation in commissioning and financially supporting this book. We owe a special debt of gratitude to Gene G. Gage, former President of the ASF, for the original idea behind this collaboration and for his unfailing support of our efforts.

Although this book represents a close collaboration on all aspects of the final version, Sigrid Valfells had primary responsibility for the Readings, the organization of the Grammar, and the Drills, while Jim Cathey had primary responsibility for the Vocabulary, the Glossary, and the Translations.

SIGRID VALFELLS
JAMES E. CATHEY

CONTENTS

TABLE OF CONTENTS: GRAMMAR	xi
TABLE OF CONTENTS: READING SELECTIONS	xix
INDEX OF GRAMMATICAL TOPICS	xxi
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS AND SYMBOLS	xxiii
PHONOLOGICAL INTRODUCTION	1
Lesson I	13
Lesson II	20
Lesson III	25
Lesson IV	32
Lesson V	38
Lesson VI	45
Lesson VII	52
Lesson VIII	57
Lesson IX	66
Lesson X	74
Lesson XI	80
Lesson XII	92
Lesson XIII	101
Lesson XIV	114
Lesson XV	122
Lesson XVI	128
Lesson XVII	136
Lesson XVIII	143
Lesson XIX	149
Lesson XX	156
Lesson XXI	166
Lesson XXII	172
Lesson XXIII	179
Lesson XXIV	189

Lesson XXV	196
Lesson XXVI	205
Lesson XXVII	212
Lesson XXVIII	221
Lesson XXIX	227
Lesson XXX	236
Lesson XXXI	244
Lesson XXXII	254
Lesson XXXIII	264
Lesson XXXIV	271
Lesson XXXV	279
GLOSSARY	286
KEYS TO DRILLS	352
KEYS TO TRANSLATIONS	365
CONCISE BIBLIOGRAPHY	379

TABLE OF CONTENTS: GRAMMAR

LESSON I

- (A) Gender in Nouns and Adjectives
- (B) Number in Nouns and Adjectives
- (C) Stems and Endings: (1) Nouns and adjectives; (2) Verbs
- (D) Phonological Notes: (1)  $\delta$ ,  $d \rightarrow t$ ; (2) Assimilation of  $r$ ; (3) Assimilation in unstressed syllables; (4)  $nm \rightarrow \delta$  before  $r$ ; (5) Doubling of  $-t$
- (E) Word Order: Simple Declarative Sentences.

LESSON II

- (A) Nominative Plural of Nouns and Adjectives: (1) N. pl. of noun; (2) N. pl. of adjectives; (3) Alternation of  $a$  and  $\varrho$
- (B) Third Person Plural Ending of Verbs
- (C) Augmented Stems
- (D) Word Order: (1) Conjoined phrases; (2) Definite noun-phrases.

LESSON III

- (A) The Dative Singular: (1) Forms: (a) Nouns, (b) Adjectives; (2) Usage: (a) Instrumental, (b) Verbal Object, (c) Prepositional Object
- (B) The Alternation of  $a$  and  $\varrho$  ( $u$ -Umlaut)
- (C) Long  $v$ . Short Syllable Stems: (1) Short stems; (2) Long stems: (a) VCC, (b)  $\acute{V}C(C)$  or VVC(C), (c) VC(C)VC(C)
- (D) Augmented Stems: (1)  $j$ -augment: (a) Short syllable stem, (b) Long syllable stem: (1) long noun stems, (2) long adjective stems; (2)  $v$ -Augment
- (E) Word Order: (1) Position of Adjectives; (2) Appositions.

LESSON IV

- (A) The Dative Plural
- (B) Assimilation of  $r$

- (C) Bisyllabic Stems: (1) Vowel deletion in second syllable;
 (2)  $a \rightarrow u$  in second syllable under conditions of  $u$ -Umlaut
 (D) Feminine  $j$ -Augmented Stems
 (E) Word Order: (1) Dependent clauses; (2) Impersonal constructions.

LESSON V

- (A) The Accusative Singular: (1) Form: (a) nouns, (b) adjectives; (2) Usage: (a) direct object, (b) with verbs of motion, (c) absolute accusative of time, (d) prepositional phrases
 (B) The Past Participle: (1) Masculine nominative singular stems; (2) Supine
 (C) Word Order: Inverted Order.

LESSON VI

- (A) The Accusative Plural: (1) Nominal form: (a) masculine, (b) feminine, (c) neuter; (2) Adjectival form
 (B) Nouns with Thematic  $-u$ -
 (C) Word Order: (1) Subjectless sentences; (2) Appositive adjectives; (3) The infinitive marker  $at$ ; (4) Verbs with associated adverbials.

LESSON VII

- (A) Genitive Singular: (1) Nominal forms; (2) Adjectival forms; (3) Usage: (a) possession, (b) object of verb, (c) prepositional phrases
 (B) Word Order: the auxiliary verb  $hafa$ .

LESSON VIII

- (A) Genitive Plural: (1) Form: (a) nominal form, (b) adjectival form; (2) Usage: (a) partitive, (b) with prepositions ending in  $-an$
 (B) The Supine
 (C) Masculine  $i$ -Thematic Nouns Ending in Velars
 (D) Word Order: (1) Stylistic inversion; (2) Passive constructions; (3) The adverb  $ok$ .

Survey of Regular Noun Declensions*Survey of Adjective Declensions

LESSON IX

- (A) Weak Nouns: (1) Weak nouns v. strong nouns; (2) Case endings of weak nouns, singular: (a) masculine, (b) feminine, (c) neuter
 (B) The Definite Article
 (C) The Postponed Article
 (D) The Preposed Article
 (E) Weak Adjectives, Singular
 (F) Word Order: (1) Order of direct and indirect objects; (2) The auxiliary  $verða$ ; (3) The postponed definite article.

LESSON X

- (A) Plurals of Weak Nouns: (1) Form; (2) Genitive plural of ' $n$ -stems'
 (B) Plurals of Weak Adjectives: (1) Form; (2) Definite meaning of the weak adjective; (3) The definite superlative
 (C) Word Order: position of the emphatic negative.

LESSON XI

- (A) Endings of the Verb, Singular Present Indicative
 (B) Personal Pronouns, Singular: (1) 1st, 2nd, and 3rd person; (2) The reflexive; (3) Epenthetic pronouns
 (C) Possessive Pronouns: (1) Genitive singular of the 3rd person; (2) 1st and 2nd person and reflexive; (3) Inalienable possession
 (D) Word Order: auxiliary verbs: (1) Principal auxiliaries; (2) Relative order of auxiliary and main verb.

LESSON XII

- (A) Personal Endings of the Verb, Plural Present Indicative
 (B) Dual and Plural Forms of the Personal Pronouns
 (C) Plural Possessive Pronouns
 (D) Word Order: stylistic inversion and discontinuous constituents.

LESSON XIII

- (A) Weak Verbs: (1) Past tense marker; (2) Person/number endings; (3) Phonological changes: (a)  $i \rightarrow$  zero, (b)  $u$ -Umlaut, (c)  $\delta \rightarrow d$ , (d)  $\delta \rightarrow t$ , (e)  $dd \rightarrow d$  and  $tt \rightarrow t$ ; (4) Thematic vowels: (a) types: (1)  $a$ -stems, (2)  $i$ -stems, (3)  $i/j$ -stems, (b) formation of  $a$ -stems, (c) formation of  $i$ -stems,

- (d) formation of i/j-stems: (1) long v. short syllable, (2) long v. short syllable and i-Umlaut, (3) verbs ending in a velar consonant
- (B) I-Umlaut
- (C) I-Umlaut and Weak Verbs: (1) Umlaut process and distribution of the thematic vowel: (a) long syllable, (b) short syllable; (2) i/j and acceptable sequences; (3) Paradigms: (a) short stem (spur-i/j-), (b) long stem (stafn-i/j-)
- (D) I-Umlaut and Noun Stems: (1) i-stems; (2) j-augmented nouns and adjectives; (3) Bisyllabic stems
- (E) Word Order: subjectless sentences.

LESSON XIV

- (A) Irregular Weak Verbs: (1) Short syllable irregular forms: flýja, frýja, selja, setja, preyja, heyja; (2) Long syllable irregular forms: (a) kaupa, (b) sækja, (c) þykkja, (d) yrkja; (3) hafa
- (B) The Past Participle
- (C) The Infinitive: (1) Weak verbs; (2) Strong verbs; (3) Preterite-present verbs; (4) Irregular verbs; (5) The sk-ending
- (D) Word Order: (1) The conjunction enda; (2) Dative in first position.

LESSON XV

- (A) Strong Verbs: (1) Strong v. weak verbs; (2) Endings; (3) The four principal parts: (a) 1st principal part, (b) 2nd principal part, (c) 3rd principal part, (d) 4th principal part
- (B) Class I Strong Verbs
- (C) Word Order: (1) Interrogative sentences; (2) vera and verbs of motion.

LESSON XVI

- (A) Class II Strong Verbs: (1) Principal parts: (a) 1st, (b) 2nd, (c) 3rd, (d) 4th; (2) Conditions on the present stem: (a) jú → jó before dental consonants, (b) present singular shows i-Umlaut; (3) Irregularities: (a) alternate forms of the past singular stem, (b) history of alternations and fróri, kóri, (c) lúka, súpa, lúta
- (B) Strong Verb Stems and Derived Nouns.

LESSON XVII

- (A) Class III Strong Verbs: (1) 1st principal part, (2) 2nd principal part, (3) 3rd principal part, (4) 4th principal part
- (B) Variant Forms: (1) ng → kk, nd → tt, ld → lt; (2) e → ja in infinitive; (3) Deletion of v before rounded vowel; (4) v-augment: sökkva, syngva
- (C) Unsystematic Irregularities: (1) brenna, renna; (2) finna; (3) bregða.

LESSON XVIII

- (A) Class IV Strong Verbs: (1) 1st principal part; (2) 2nd principal part; (3) 3rd principal part; (4) 4th principal part
- (B) The Verb vera
- (C) The Verb koma.

LESSON XIX

- (A) Class V Strong Verbs: (1) Characterization: (a) 1st principal part, (b) 2nd principal part, (c) 3rd principal part, (d) 4th principal part; (2) Augmented Class V strong verbs: biðja, sitja; (3) Irregularities: (a) liggja, þiggja, (b) vega, (c) loss of v: (1) initial consonant + v + vowel: sofa, (2) vefa, (d) troða.

LESSON XX

- (A) Class VI Strong Verbs: (1) 1st principal part; (2) 2nd principal part; (3) 3rd principal part; (4) 4th principal part
- (B) Irregularities: (1) standa; (2) sverja, hefja; (3) vaxa, vaða; (4) slá.

Survey of Regular Verbs

LESSON XXI

- (A) Class VII Strong Verbs: characteristics
- (B) Form Types: (1) ganga; (2) fá; (3) falla, halda; (4) Verbs with au: hlaupa, auka, ausa; (5) hoggva, búa.

LESSON XXII

- (A) More Class VII Strong Verbs: verbs with ei: heita, leika
- (B) Preterite-Present Verbs: (1) munu, skulu; (2) þurfa, unna, kunna, muna; (3) mega, knega, eiga; (4) vita.

LESSON XXIII

- (A) More Class VII Strong Verbs: verbs with á: gráta, láta, blása, ráða
 (B) Various Irregular Verbs: (1) hlæja; (2) deyja, geyja; (3) sjá;
 (4) snúa, gnúa, róa, gróa, sá; (5) vilja
 (C) The Present Participle: (1) Form; (2) Usage.

Survey of Class VII Strong Verbs, ri-Verbs, and Preterite-Present Verbs

LESSON XXIV

- Indefinite Pronouns: (1) (all-); (2) (sum-); (3) (ein-); (4) (nein-);
 (5) (annar-); (6) (nokkur-); (7) (báð-); (8) (engi-); (9) (hverj-);
 (10) (ein- + hverj-).

LESSON XXV

- (A) Demonstrative Pronouns: (1) sjá; (2) sá; (3) hinn
 (B) Interrogative Pronouns: (1) (a) hverr, (b) hvat; (2) (hvár-), (hverj-)
 (C) Interrogative Adverbs
 (D) The Imperative.

LESSON XXVI

- (A) The r-Stem Nouns: faðir, móðir, bróðir, systir, dóttir
 (B) The nd-Stem Nouns: eigandi, bóndi, frændi, fjáandi.

LESSON XXVII

- (A) Consonant-Stem Nouns: (1) Masculine: maðr, fótr, fingr, vetr, mánaðr; (2) Feminine: hönd, mörk, kýr, ær, sýr
 (B) Regular Comparison of Adjectives: (1) -ar-, -ast-, (a) case endings of the comparative, (b) case endings of the superlative, (c) adjectives formed with -lig-; (2) -r-, -st-; (3) Dative in conjunction with the comparative.

LESSON XXVIII

- (A) Derivation of Adverbs from Adjectives: (1) Neuter singular form; (2) vel; (3) Neuter comparatives and superlatives
 (B) Irregular Comparatives and Superlatives: (1) Adjectives;
 (2) Adverbs
 (C) Directional Adverbs and Derived Adjectives.

LESSON XXIX

- (A) Cardinal Numbers, 1-4: (1) (ein-); (2) tveir, tvær, tvau;
 (3) (þrjú); (4) (fjórir)
 (B) Ordinal Numbers, 1st to 4th: (1) (fyrst-); (2) (annar-);
 (3) (þriðj-); (4) (fjórð-)
 (C) Cardinal and Ordinal Numbers, 5-1,000
 (D) The Verb valda.

LESSON XXX

- (A) The Subjunctive I, Form: (1) Regular verbs; (2) vera;
 (3) Preterite-present verbs
 (B) The Subjunctive I, Usage: (1) A wish; (2) A condition of negative import; (3) An assumption; (4) A potential, unrealized event; (5) The imperative and subjunctive I.

LESSON XXXI

- (A) The Subjunctive II, Form
 (B) The Subjunctive II, Usage: (1) A wish; (2) A hypothetical situation; (3) A negative condition; (4) An unrealized event in relation to a past event; (5) An indirect past statement; (6) An indirect question concerning indeterminate events.

LESSON XXXII

- (A) The -sk (-mk) Verbal Suffix: (1) Form: (a) 1st person, (b) 2nd and 3rd person; (2) Usage: (a) reflexive: (1) synonymous with reflexive, (2) subject of subordinate clause, (3) reciprocal, (b) middle voice: (1) verbs of change, (2) verbs of the type 'seem', 'appear'; (3) impersonal constructions with a dative object, (c) change of meaning: (1) with associated adverbial, (2) without adverbial
 (B) The Verb þykkja.

LESSON XXXIII

- (A) Impersonal Constructions—Subjectless Sentences: (1) Sentences describing natural forces; (2) General conditions, modals
 (B) Impersonal Constructions—Accusative in Subject Position: (1) Physical and psychological conditions, involuntary change; (2) Transitive verbs of movement

- (C) Impersonal Constructions—Dative in Subject Position:
 (1) Physical or emotional state; (2) With auxiliary verða;
 (3) Impersonal middle voice constructions.

LESSON XXXIV

- (A) Relative Tense: (1) Auxiliary hafa; (2) Subjunctive usage
 (B) Perfective Use of hafa, vera
 (C) Future Tense, the Verb munu
 (D) The Historical Present.

LESSON XXXV

- (A) Derivations: (1) Derived verbs: (a) a-thematic verbs, (b) i/j-thematic verbs; (2) Derived nouns and adjectives
 (B) Compounds: (1) Genitive compounds; (2) Stem form compounds.

TABLE OF CONTENTS:
READING SELECTIONS*Egils saga:*

Chapter	Lesson
27	XIII(A)	Skalla-Grímr siglir til Íslands
30	XIII(B)	Haraldr konungr ok Skalla-Grímr
44	XVII(B)	Egill drekkur með Gunnhildi dróttningu
55	XXXV(A)	Egill við hirð Aðalsteins konungs.
58	XXXIV(B)	Egill ok Skalla-Grímr
71	XVII(A)	Egill at drykkju
78	XXXI(A)	Egill eptir sonarlátit
85	XXXI(B)	Egill ok silfr Aðalsteins konungs

Eiríks saga:

8	XIX(B)	Þorhallr veiðimaðr í Straumfirði
---	--------	----------------------------------

Eyrbyggja saga:

33	XX(A)	Dauði Þórólfs bægifótar
34	XX(B)	Brotin dys Þórólfs

Gísla saga:

22	XXIV(A)	Draumr Gísla
33	XXIV(B)	Annarr draumr Gísla

Grettis saga:

12	XVIII(B)	Hvalskurðr
14	XVI(A)	Hér segir frá Gretti
17	XXI(A)	Grettir í leku skipi
21	XVI(B)	Grettir glímir við björninn
23	XXI(B)	Grettir ok Hjarrandi
48	XVI(C)	Grettir drepr Þorbjörn Óxnamegin

Grœnlendinga saga:

7	XIX(A)	Karlsefni á Vínlandi
---	--------	----------------------

Íslendingabók:

- 4 XXIX(A) 'Frá misseris tali'
5 XXIX(B) 'Frá fjórðunga deild'

Laxdæla saga:

- 12 XXV Høskuldr ok ambáttin
22 XI(A) Kvánfang Óláfs Høskuldssonar
23 XI(B) Egill ok Þorgerðr
28 XXVIII(A) Frá Kjartani Ólafssyni
43 XXX(A) Kjartan ok Óláfr konungr Tryggvason
XXX(B) Kjartan ok Ingibjörg konungssystir
44 XIV(A) Útkváma Kjartans
47 XIV(B) Þorarinns selr Tunguland
XV(A) Kjartan riðr til Saurbæjar
48 XXVI(A) Guðrún Ósvífrsdóttir ok bræðr hennar
53 XXVI(B) Þorgerðr Egilsdóttir ok synir hennar
78 XXVIII(B) Fra Guðrúnu Ósvífrsdóttur

Njáls saga:

- 1 XXII(A) Hallgerðr á barns aldri
11 XXII(B) Hallgerðr ok Þorvaldr, bóndi hennar
19 XXXV(B) Vápnfimi Gunnars
25 XXXV(C) Frá Njálssonum
48 XVIII(A) Frá Hallgerði
62 XXXIII(A) Draumr Gunnars
75 XXXIV(A) Gunnar ok Kolskeggr
78 XXXII(A) Gunnarr í hauginum
92 XXXIII(B) Bardagi við Markarfljót
116 XXIII(A) Hildigunnr ok Flosi
XXIII(B) Eptir dagverðinn
125 XXXII(B) Gandreið
129 XII(A) Í Njálsbrennu
130 XII(B) Eptir Njálsbrennu
136 XV(B) Flosi riðr í Tungu

Óláfs saga helga:

- 1 XXVII(A) Frá Óláfi konungi
85 XXVII(B) Óláfr konungr ok Þorarinns Nefjólfsson

INDEX OF GRAMMATICAL TOPICS

Adjectives: Gender IA; Number IB; Stems and Endings: Nominative Singular IC1, Nominative Plural IIA2, Dative Singular IIIA1b, Dative Plural IVA, Accusative Singular VA1b, Accusative Plural VIA2, Genitive Singular VIIA2, Genitive Plural VIIIA1b; Weak (Definite): Singular IXE, Plural XB; Regular Comparison XXVIIIB; Irregular Comparison XXVIIIIB1; Directional XXVIIIIC.

Adverbs: Derived from Adjectives XXVIII A1; Regular Comparison XXVIII A3; Irregular Comparison XXVIII B2; Interrogative XXVC; vel XXVIII A2.

Articles: Definite IXB; Postponed IXC; Preposed IXD.

Cases: Nominative: Singular IC, Plural IIA; Dative IIIA2; Accusative VA2; Genitive VIIIA2. (See Adjective, Noun, etc. for endings.)

Infinitive: See Verbs.

Morphology: Nouns and Verbs IC; Augmented Stems IIC; Long v. Short Stems IIIC; Derivations XVIB, XXXVA; Compounds XXXVB.

Nouns: Gender IA; Number IB; Stems and Endings: Nominative Singular IC1, Nominative Plural IIA1, Dative Singular IIIA1, Dative Plural IVA, Accusative Singular VA1a, Accusative Plural VIA1, Genitive Singular VIIA1, Genitive Plural VIIIA1a; Weak Singular IXA; Weak Plural XA; u-Stems VIB; r-Stems XXVIA; nd-Stems XXVIB; Consonant-Stems XXVIA; i-Thematic Nouns Ending with Velar Consonants VIIIC.

Numerals: Cardinal XXIXA and C; Ordinals XXIXB-C.

Participles: See Verbs.

Phonology: Assimilation of Consonants ID; a-q Alternation IIA3 and IIIB; a-u Alternation IVC2; Appearance of j IIID1-2 and IVD; Appearance of v IIID2; Syllable Length IIIC and IIIA3d; Vowel Deletion in Bisyllabic Stems IVC; i-Umlaut (Fronting) XIIIB-D. (See also the Phonological Introduction for a survey.)

Pronouns: Personal: Singular XIB1, Dual and Plural XIIB; Singular Possessive XIC; Plural Possessive XIIC; Reflexive XIB2; Indefinite XXIV; Demonstrative XXVA; Interrogative XXVB.

Supine: See Verbs.

Syntax: Word Order IE, IID, IIIE, VIC, VIIID1, IXF1, XC, XID2, XIVD2, XVC1; Dependent Clause IVE; Inverted Order VC; Auxiliaries XID1; hafa VIIB; verða IXF2; vera XVC2; hafa v. vera XXXIVB; Passive VIIID2, XXXIVB; Impersonal Constructions IVE2, XIIIE, XIVD2, XXXIIIA-C.

Verbs: Stems and Endings IC2 and XIA; Endings: Present Singular Indicative XIA, Present Plural Indicative XIIA; Weak: Past Tense XIIIA1, Person/Number Endings XIIIA2, Thematic Vowels XIIIA4; Irregular Weak XIVA; Strong:

XVA1, Endings XVA2, Class I XVB, Class II XVIA, Class III XVIIA-B, Class IV XVIII A, Class V XIX A, Class VI XXA-B, Class VII XXIA, XXIIA, and XXIIIA; Preterite-Present XXII B; Irregular XXIII B; Infinitive XIV C; Past Participle VB1 and XIV B; Supine VB2 and VIII B; Present Participle XXIIC; Imperative XXVD; Subjunctive I XXXA-B; Subjunctive II XXXIA-B; sk- Suffix XXXII A; Future XXXIV C; Historical Present XXXIV D; vera XVIII B; koma XVIII C; vilja XXIII B5; valda XXIX D; þykkja XXXII B; hafa v. vera XXXIV A-B.

LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS AND SYMBOLS

A	accusative
adj	adjective
adv	adverb, adverbial
art	article
aux	auxiliary
C	consonant
comp	comparative
conj	conjunction
D	dative
def	definite
dem	demonstrative
dl	dual
f	feminine
fem	feminine
G	genitive
imp	imperative
impers	impersonal
indef	indefinite
indic	indicative
inf	infinitive
interrog	interrogative
intr	intransitive
intrans	intransitive
irreg	irregular
m	masculine
masc	masculine
n	neuter
N	nominative
neut	neuter
num	numeral
part	participle
past	past tense

pl	plural
poss	possessive
prep	preposition, prepositional
pres	present
pret-pres	preterite-present (verb)
pron	pronoun
refl	reflexive
sg	singular
subj I	subjunctive I
subj II	subjunctive II
superl	superlative
tr	transitive
trans	transitive
v	verb
V	vowel
wk	weak
1st	first person
2nd	second person
3rd	third person
[ ]	grammatical feature or phonetic representation
( - )	underlying representation
(- -)	underlying bound morpheme
+	with, and
/	or
*	hypothetical form
→	becomes

PHONOLOGICAL INTRODUCTION

1. Consonants

It is useful as a learning device to arrange the consonantal phonemes of Old Icelandic in a chart as follows:

	oral cavity
	labials	front	back stops
voiceless	p	t	k
voiced	b	d	g
continuants	f	þ	h
sibilant		s
nasals	m	n
liquids
continuant		l
trilled		r

The orthographic symbols of normalized texts correspond roughly to the phonemes, except that the symbol 'ð' corresponds to a phonetic variant of /þ/ (see section 7, below), the symbol 'z' is an orthographic abbreviation for 't+s' or 'ð+s', and 'x' for 'k+s'.

2. Semivowels

Old Icelandic has two semivowels (glides): labial /v/, and palatal /j/. The semivowels have certain characteristics of both consonants and vowels. Like consonants they cannot carry the peak of sonority in a syllable. Like the vowels u and i in Old Icelandic they affect a preceding stressed vowel, causing umlaut (see section 5, below).

3. Vowels

Vowels in Old Icelandic are either short or long.

(A) The short vowels can be arranged in a chart as follows:

	front		back
	unrounded	rounded	unrounded	rounded
high	i	y		u	non-low
non-high	e	ø		o
			a	ɔ	low.

(B) The long vowels can be arranged in a chart as follows:

	front		back
	unrounded	rounded	unrounded	rounded
high	í	ý		ú	non-low
non-high	é	œ		ó
	æ		á		low.

The five basic vowels—a, e, i, o, u—appear both short and long. The other vowels, originally derived as the result of either i-umlaut or u-umlaut, or both (see section 5, below), cause the formation of an asymmetric system of both long and short vowels in the 'classical' stage of Old Icelandic literary texts. Most normalized texts have an orthographic system that corresponds closely to the phonological system represented above.

(C) Diphthongs:

Old Icelandic has the two basic diphthongs au and ei, and a third diphthong, ey, derived from au by i-umlaut. The diphthongs are equivalent in length to the long vowels in the phonological system.

4. Syllable Structure

A monosyllabic word in Old Icelandic can be as short as á [nominative singular] 'river', and as long as strauksk [3rd person singular past indicative reflexive of strjúka 'rub, stroke']. Initial consonant clusters can maximally consist of two consonants + liquid, if the initial consonant is s, while final consonant clusters can consist of at most a double consonant + s + consonant, as in fannsk [3rd singular past indicative reflexive of finna 'find'].

Minimally a syllable can be a single vowel, short a, i, or u if unstressed, long or a diphthong if stressed. It is important to note that a short vowel cannot immediately precede another short vowel in a sequence of syllables (this does not apply to diphthongs which are structural units equivalent to a long vowel). If the constituent parts of an inflected word-form bring two short vowels into conjunction, the first vowel is dropped. Thus, for example, the verbal stem lifi- (or lif-i-) 'live' has the 3rd person singular present indicative form lifir 'he lives', where lifi- is the stem and -r marks the personal ending, but the 1st person plural form is lifum 'we live', and the 3rd person plural form is lifa 'they live'; the stem final i is lost before the vowel of the endings -um [1st person plural] and -a [3rd person plural].

When a (stressed) long vowel immediately precedes the short vowel of an ending the latter vowel is dropped under specific circumstances (i.e. if both are either front or back vowels).

Syllables in Old Icelandic are grammatically either 'short' or 'long', a distinction which is measured in terms of the vowel and the consonants that follow it. In measuring the grammatical (as distinct from the phonetic) length of a syllable the number of consonants preceding the vowel in the syllable is irrelevant. A short syllable is one that either has a short vowel followed by no more than one consonant, or has a long vowel (or diphthong) followed by no consonants. All other syllables are classified as grammatically long. Examples of short syllables are þat 'that', skip 'ship', ey 'isle, island', á 'river', and strá 'straw'. Examples of long syllables are ár 'year', øx (= øks) 'axe', þykk [feminine] 'thick', land 'land', and austr 'east'. The grammatical length of syllables is an important factor in the operation of phonological rules (see Lessons III, XIII) and the structure of inflected word forms.

5. Vocalic Alternations

There are certain correspondences between the basic vowels, long and short a, e, i, o, u, and the derived vowels, y, ý, ø, æ, æ, and ö, resulting from two processes of partial vowel assimilation, i- and *u-*umlaut:

(A) As the result of i-umlaut, a primarily stressed vowel (see section 6, below) is fronted by a following i or j, while the roundness remains unchanged. Thus the following correspondences arise:

underlying stem vowel	effect of i -umlaut
a	e
o	ø
u	y
á	æ
ó	œ
ú	ý

Note that only certain 'i'-vowels cause this fronting. (For a further discussion see Lesson XIII.) Thus, for example, an i that occurs as a case ending of masculine or neuter nouns does not cause i-umlaut, nor does the i-thematic of noun declensions, or of certain weak verbs. At the time when i-umlaut was a regular phonetic tendency in Norse these vowels were e, the e subsequently shifting to i at a time when i-umlaut had ceased to be an automatic phonetic process.

(B) As the result of u-umlaut, a primarily stressed vowel is rounded by a following u or v, while the relative back or front distinction remains unchanged. Thus short a becomes  $\varnothing$ . However, the long á remains unchanged, since a hypothetical long, low, back rounded vowel ( $\phi$ ) does not occur in the system. In earlier stages of Old Icelandic and Old Norse this vowel existed as a result of u-umlaut, but it merged with long á at a relatively early stage of the literary period in Old Icelandic. Similarly, short and long i and e were rounded to y/ý and  $\varnothing/\text{œ}$ , respectively, by u-umlaut, but the effects of this process are less significant in Old Icelandic and exist only marginally in the grammar.

An unstressed a becomes u as a result of u-umlaut (only the short vowels a, i, or u can occur in unstressed syllables, see section 6, below).

(C) One further alternation can be observed, between o and y. This was originally a regular alternation between u and y by the process of i-umlaut. Subsequently the u was lowered to o in certain positions for reasons no longer systematic in Old Icelandic. Stems of words subject to this sub-regular alternation are represented as having both vowels, e.g. (sun/son-u) 'son'.

6. Stress

All vowels and diphthongs occur in stressed syllables, but in syllables without stress only a, i, and u can occur. Primary stress in Old Icelandic falls on the first syllable of the word stem. In a compounded word the original primary stress of a simplex is reduced to secondary stress when no longer in word-initial position. In a triple compounding the secondary stress falls on the last stressed syllable, and the tertiary stress falls on the second stressed syllable. If there is a syllable in the simplex with no stress, that syllable will also carry no stress in the compounded word. Some examples are:

<sup>1</sup>
út 'out'

<sup>1</sup>
ganga 'course'

<sup>1</sup>
dyrr 'door'

<sup>1</sup>
land 'land'

<sup>1</sup>
nám 'occupation, seizure'

<sup>1</sup>
maðr 'man'

<sup>1</sup> <sup>2</sup>
útganga 'exit'

<sup>1</sup> <sup>3</sup> <sup>2</sup>
útgöngudyrr 'exit door'

<sup>1</sup> <sup>2</sup>
landnám 'settlement of land'

<sup>1</sup> <sup>3</sup> <sup>2</sup>
landnámsmaðr 'settler'

7. Pronunciation

The actual details of how historical Old Norse dialects were pronounced are hypothetical. However, some reasonably reliable conjectures can be made about Old Icelandic:

(A) Consonants

(1) An intervocalic segment or a cluster of segments which does not contain a voiceless stop is voiced. That is, continuants, nasals, and liquids are voiced in such words as gefa 'give', koma 'come',

fara 'go, journey', tala 'speak', ræða 'discuss', kólna 'cool', hardna 'harden', etc. Note that only /p/ has a separate orthographic symbol for its voiced variant, ð. Where a voiceless stop, p, t, or k, occurs in medial clusters contiguous liquids and nasals are voiceless, as in brotna 'break', ætla 'intend', akr 'field', etc. The sibilant s is an exception in that it was probably always voiceless, even when between vowels.

(2) The velars k and g were palatalized before front vowels (see vowel charts in section 3, above). Thus before the back vowel a the words karl 'man' and gaf 'gave' were pronounced with sounds comparable to English [k] and [g], while kerling 'old woman, crone' and gefa 'to give' were [kjerling] and [gjeva]. The voiced velar, g, possibly had one other variant: between two vowels it may have been pronounced as the voiced continuant [ɣ]. That is saga 'saga, tale' was pronounced [sava], etc.

(3) Before k and g the pronunciation of n was [ŋ], as in English 'sing'.

(B) Semi-vowels

While j was a palatal continuant, v was either bilabial, as English w, or labio-dental, as English (and Modern Icelandic) v.

(C) Vowels

(1) Old Icelandic vowels were either long or short, both in their phonological value and in pronunciation. Thus the vowels in bar 'he carried' and báru 'they carried' differed in quantity (length) but not in quality, while the vowels in ráð 'advice, counsel' and rauð fem N sg 'red' differed in quality but were equivalent in length.

(2) Since the thirteenth century a series of changes has affected the Icelandic vowel system and the measurement of quantity, both vowel length and syllabic length (see Lesson III, 1C), so that the difference in pronunciation between long and short vowels is no longer quantitative but qualitative. The long vowels have all been diphthongized and several shifts have also occurred in the pronunciation of diphthongs. These are the Modern Icelandic pronunciations of Old Icelandic long vowels and diphthongs:

Old Icelandic	Modern Icelandic
í	[ij]
é	[je]
æ	[aj]
ú	[uw]
ó	[ow]
á	[aw]
ei	[ej]
ey	[ej]
au	[øj]

Old Icelandic æ has merged with Modern Icelandic æ [aj], both in orthography and pronunciation. In the short vowel system ø and ø have coalesced as Modern Icelandic ö, while in both short and long vowel systems y/ý has become [I/ij].

8. Phonological Representation, Orthography, and Normalized Texts

Phonological representation is of two kinds. First there is the underlying phonological representation, always shown in parentheses in the following chapters, of the word in its basic form with the associated grammatical features that characterize an inflected form. Thus, for instance, the word for 'hall, palace' has the underlying phonological representation (hall-i-), while the nominative singular form of the word is holl. The stressed vowel of the form in parentheses is shown as it is in its basic form, before undergoing the u-umlaut shift of a to ø which automatically applies to all nominative singular forms of feminine strong noun stems, while the thematic -i- only surfaces in the nominative and accusative plural forms, and thus characterizes a certain class of nouns. Such an underlying phonological representation does not necessarily correspond to any actual (surface) form of the word, but is an abstract formula which represents the basic phonological (and grammatical) features of an inflected word. On the other hand, the surface phonological representation of an inflected word, e.g. nominative singular holl, or nominative plural hallir, is ideally the same as its orthographic representation and shows the word as it appears when all the pertinent rules of the phonology have applied to its underlying form. This representation indicates, although not necessarily with total fidelity or consistency, the phonetic properties of the word.

As already mentioned, there is a fairly close correspondence between the phonemes of the surface phonological representation of Old Icelandic and its orthographic symbols. Thus z (= ts or ðs), x (= ks), and ð (= /b/ in non-initial position) are the only orthographic symbols that do not correspond in a one-to-one relationship to Old Icelandic phonemes. The actual spelling in Old Icelandic manuscripts is very heterogeneous, as they were written and copied over a long period in time, and reflect regional or individual variants in pronunciation, a limited tradition of standardization, as well as extensive abbreviational conventions. Modern published texts all involve some degree of editing and normalization of spelling, that is, they usually adopt a single orthographic standard for disparate material. Such normalized texts, then, often adopt an orthographic system that may be more closely phonological than the original manuscripts. The texts in this book are all adapted to a single standard of normalization, although, in fact, many variant versions exist. Thus, for example, the unstressed vowels of Old Icelandic can be represented as either a, e, o, or as a, i, u, since the actual phonetic values of these vowels probably lay somewhere in between the values of the two systems of stressed vowel equivalents. In the texts presented in this book the latter solution is consistently, although essentially arbitrarily, adopted. Similarly, for example, the negating prefix 'un-' can be spelled either ú- or ó-, since they both represent equally well the phoneme/morpheme which historically shifted in pronunciation from a high-vowel to mid-vowel. Here, again somewhat arbitrarily, the first spelling is adopted in all texts.

9. Reference Guide: A Summary of the Principal Phonological Rules

I. Vowels

(A) Umlaut

(1) i-umlaut: a back vowel is fronted if followed by i or j (only certain 'i'-sounds cause umlaut). This occurs particularly in i/j-thematic verbs, certain bisyllabic nouns, and affects the phonology of i-thematic nouns and j-augmented stems of nouns, adjectives, and verbs. I-umlaut is a grammatical feature of the present singular forms of strong verbs and the 'irregular' noun declensions. Examples (land-i/j-+-á) → lenda 'to land' (compare land 'a land'), (draum-i/j-+-a) → dreyma 'to dream' (compare draumr 'a dream'), etc.

(2) u-umlaut: an unrounded vowel is rounded when followed by u or v, and in certain grammatical contexts. Stressed a shifts to ø and unstressed a to u whenever followed by u. Thus (tak-+-um) → tøkum 'we take', (mánað-+-um) → mánuðum 'months [D pl]', etc. Underlying a shifts to ø, e to ø, and i to y when followed by a v-augment. Thus (sekkv-+-a) → søkkva 'to sink', (singv-+-a) → syngva 'to sing', (sangv-a-+-r) → songvar 'songs', etc.

(B) Syncope

(1) A vowel in medial position preceded by a short syllable and followed by one consonant and another vowel is dropped. This affects particularly bisyllabic stems, i-thematic and i/j-thematic verbs, where syncope applies extensively in past tense forms, and vowels in medial morphemes such as the comparative -ar-. Thus, for example, (himin-+-i) → himni 'heaven, sky [D sg]', (lif-i-+-ði) → lifði 'lived', and (líklig-+-ar-+-i) → líkligri 'more likely'.

(2) An unstressed short vowel immediately followed by another unstressed vowel is dropped. Thus (tal-+-ði-+-uð) → tölduð 'counted [2nd person plural past]', (hers-+-ar) → hersar 'chieftains', etc.

(3) An unstressed a or u immediately preceded by a stressed long low vowel is dropped. Thus (á-+-um) → ám 'rivers [D pl]', (snæ-(v)-+-um) → snæm 'snows [D pl]', etc.

(C) Diphthongization (Breaking)

Underlying e → ja before l or r in certain Class III strong verbs (gjalda, bjurga, etc.).

(D) Raising

Underlying e → i in the j-augmented present stem of certain strong verbs of Class V (biðja, sitja).

(E) Lengthening

Any stressed vowel is long when it occurs in final position. Thus, for example, original a in the past stem of vega 'to slay' is lengthened to á at the loss of final g: **vag* → vá 'slew'.

II. Semi-Vowels(A) j

(1) j as an augment or ij-thematic appears following a short syllable, or a long syllable ending in a velar, before a or u. Elsewhere the underlying j does not appear. Thus (var-i/j-+a) → verja 'defend', (hang-i/j-+a) → hengja 'hang', but (land-i/j-+a) → lenda 'to land'.

(2) j as an augment or ij-thematic is realized as i following a long stem-syllable, or a short syllable ending in g. Thus (hersj-+zero) → hersi [A sg] 'chieftain', (sag-i/j-+zero) → segi [1st sg pres] 'I say', etc.

(3) An i-thematic is realized as j following a long syllable ending in a velar and preceding a or u, as is stem-final i of masculine weak declension nouns. Thus, for example, (drykk-i-+ar) → drykkjar [G sg] 'drink', (drykk-i-+um) → drykkjum [D pl] 'drinks', (hofðingi-+ar) → hofðingjar 'chiefs, nobles'.

(4) j is lost before y, as when jú → y by i-umlaut. Thus (fjúk-+r) → fýkr [3rd sg pres] 'blows'.

(B) v

(1) A v-augment appears before a or i. Thus (sekkv-+a) → sökkva 'to sink', (sekkv-+ið) → sökkvið [2nd pl pres] 'you sink', but (sekkv-+um) → sökkum [1st pl pres] 'we sink', (sekkv-+r) → sökkur [3rd sg pres] 'he sinks', etc.

(2) An initial v disappears before stressed u, o, and ó. Thus verða 'become' has past pl urðum 'we became', past participle orðinn 'become'.

(3) Medial v is often lost between initial consonant and stressed vowel, as in forms of koma (past sg kvam) 'to come', sofa (past sg svaf) 'to sleep'. This rule does not apply, e.g., in kveld 'evening', svelgja 'swallow', etc.

III. Consonants(A) Gemination

A -t or -r of an ending attached to a stem terminating in a long stressed vowel is geminated. Thus (ný-+t) → (nýt) → nýtt [neut N sg] 'new', (fá-+ri) → (fári) → fárr [fem D sg] 'few', etc.

(B) Assimilation

(1) -r is assimilated to a preceding l, s, or n in a long syllable. Thus (sæl-+r) → sæll [masc N sg] 'fortunate', (væn-+r) → vænn [masc N sg] 'good, well-made', (fús-+r) → fúss [masc N sg] 'willing', etc.

(2) -ð is assimilated to a preceding ð, resulting in -dd. Thus eyða 'lay waste' has past 3rd sg eyddi, etc. -ð is assimilated to a preceding -t or -s (and, optionally, to a preceding k) resulting in -tt, -st (and -kt), respectively. Thus setja 'to set' has the past 3rd sg setti, kyssa 'to kiss' has kyssti, and kneikja 'to bend backwards' has 3rd past sg kneikti, while merkja 'to mark' has merkði in the 3rd past sg, rekkja 'to go to bed' rekkði, etc.

(3) -ð and -d are assimilated to a following -t, resulting in -tt: thus (kald-+t) → (kaltt) → kalt [neut N sg] 'cold', (harð-+t) → (hartt) → hart [neut N sg] 'hard' (see C, below).

(4) nn → ð before -r (optionally). Thus (mann-+r) → máðr [N sg] 'a man', (ann(a)r-+ar) → aðrar [fem N pl] 'others', but munnr [N sg] 'mouth', etc.

(5) -k-+ð → tt (marginal rule). Thus sækja 'to seek' has the past 3rd sg sótti, þykkja 'to seem' has þótti, but see 2, above.

(C) Simplification

A double consonant is simplified when preceded by a third consonant. Thus (akr-+r) → (akrr) → akr [N sg] 'field', (jarl-+r) → (jarll) → jarl [N sg] 'earl', (fagr-+rar) → fagr [fem G sg] 'fair'.

(D) Devoicing

In the second principle part of certain Class III and VII strong verbs a final consonant cluster is devoiced (and assimilated): -nd

→ tt, -ng → -kk, -ld → -lt. Thus binda 'to bind' has the past 3rd sg batt, stinga 'to sting' has the past 3rd sg stakk, gjalda 'to pay' has galt, ganga 'to go, walk' has gekk, halda 'to hold' has helt, etc.

(E) Loss of Consonant

In certain unstressed short syllables a n or l is lost before final -t. Thus (mikil-+ -t) → (mikilt) → mikit [neut N sg] 'great', (búin-+ -t) → (búint) → búit [neut N sg] 'prepared', etc. This rule does not apply generally, as, for example, in (gamal-+ -t) → gamalt [neut N sg] 'old'.

LESSON I

1. Grammar

(A) Gender in Nouns and Adjectives

Each Old Icelandic noun belongs to one of three genders. The adjectives modifying a given noun agree with its gender. The genders are masculine, feminine, and neuter.

(B) Number in Nouns and Adjectives

Except for a few abstract nouns which appear in the singular only, each Old Icelandic noun can be either singular or plural. The adjectives modifying a given noun agree with its number.

(C) Stems and Endings

(1) Nouns and adjectives: the basic form of inflected words is the stem. Many nouns are characterized by a thematic vowel, which follows the basic stem: (víking-a-) 'viking', (bœj-i-) 'farm, settlement'. The thematic vowel is not always apparent in the actual word, but often modifies the phonetic shape of the basic underlying stem. To the nominal and adjectival stems are added case endings whose form varies with gender and number, for each of the four cases: nominative, accusative, genitive, and dative.

The masculine singular nouns that appear in this lesson, and the adjectives modifying them, take the nominative singular (N sg) case ending -r. The feminine singular nouns and adjectives and neuter singular nouns have no ending (a zero ending) in the nominative singular, while the neuter singular adjectives have the ending -t, or -tt when the ending follows a long stressed vowel.

When an ending is added to a stem, a modification of the pronounced and written form of the word very often takes place—while the underlying forms of the stem and ending remain constant. Thus, for example, the thematic vowel of a masculine or feminine noun stem never appears in the actual N sg forms (neuter stems are athematic), and the masculine N sg -r ending is modified in several different ways. Consider the following correspondences between underlying forms and the actual N sg forms of nouns and adjectives:

(basic stem ('root'—thematic)+case ending)
Masc: Nouns	(viking-a-+-r)	vikigr 'viking'
	(mann-+-r)	maðr 'man'
	(fugl-a-+-r)	fugl 'bird'
	(bœj-i-+-r)	bær 'farm, settlement'
Adj.	(norsk-+-r)	norskr 'Norwegian'
	(djarf-+-r)	djarfr 'daring'
Fem: Nouns	(kona-+zero)	kona 'woman, wife'
	(vík+zero)	vík 'bay'
Adj.	(væn-+zero)	væn 'handsome'
Neut: Nouns	(skip-+zero)	skip 'ship'
	(sumar-+zero)	sumar 'summer'
Adj.	(búin-+-t)	búit 'prepared'
	(frið-+-t)	frítt 'fair, beautiful'
	(kald-+-t)	kalt 'cold'
	(góð-+-t)	gott 'good'
	(mikil-+-t)	mikit 'much, plentiful'
	(nýj-+-t)	nýtt 'new'

(2) Verbs: the verbs are also formed of a stem, which is often characterized by a thematic vowel, and an inflectional ending. A verbal thematic vowel usually appears in the actual (surface) form of the verb, and often modifies the phonetic shape of the basic stem. The verbal ending -r indicates the third person singular present indicative (3rd sg pres ind) form of the verb. The verb 'be' is irregular; its 3rd sg pres ind form is er. Some examples of the derivation of verbs from underlying forms of stem and inflectional ending are:

(finn-+-r)	finnr 'finds'
(lif-i-+-r)	lífir 'lives'
(land-i/j-+-r)	lendir 'lands'

(D) Phonological Notes

From the above derivations of words from their underlying basic components we can see the results of some of the phonological rules of Old Icelandic, which can be described as follows:

(1) Assimilation of ð, d: the sounds ð and d become t when they occur before t. The result of this assimilation, tt, is subsequently simplified to a single t if it occurs after a third consonant, since the sequence Consonant+Double Consonant cannot occur phonetically in Old Icelandic. Thus kalt is actually derived by the process (kald-+-t) → (kaltt) → kalt. For an illustration of the change of ð → t, note frítt, above. Note, also, that the neut sg form of (góð-) 'good' is irregular in that the vowel is shortened, gott.

(2) l- in stem-final position: in the masc N sg fugl the final case ending -r does not appear. This happens whenever the basic stem ends in a Consonant +l, as in fugl 'bird', jarl 'earl', etc. On the other hand, when a stem ends in ll- the masc N sg -r does appear, as in (full-+-r) → fullr 'full'. We shall return to this question of assimilation in Lesson IV.

(3) Assimilation in unstressed syllables: in Old Icelandic the primary word stress always falls on the first syllable. In syllables not carrying the primary stress certain assimilations and simplifications occur. Note the derivations (búin-+-t) → (búitt) → búit, and (mikil-+-t) → (mikitt) → mikit.

(4) nn before -r: the N sg form of the stem (mann-) 'man' is always maðr. This assimilation of nn to ð before -r occurs frequently in Old Icelandic, although in many cases both variants are used. Thus we have both munnr and muðr 'mouth', and Unnr and Uðr (feminine personal name), etc.

(5) Doubling of neuter N sg -t: the ending -t (as well as other consonantal endings) is doubled whenever it occurs after a long primarily stressed vowel, as in (nýj-+-t) → nýtt 'new', (há-+-t) → hátt 'high'.

(E) Word Order

The basic structure of a declarative sentence in Old Icelandic has the following order of constituents:

Subject + Verb (+ Adverb) (+ Object).

The Subject and the Object can be a single noun, or pronoun, or a complex noun-phrase, such as Adjective+Noun, or even a complete clause. The verbal form that occurs in the second position in the order of constituents is always a finite form (as distinct from the infinitive and participial forms): 'Ingólfr Arnarson er norskr víkingr.'

An adverb, or adverbial phrase may replace the Subject in the first position, at the head of the sentence; the Verb then remains in second position and the main order of constituents changes to:

Adverb + Verb + Subject (+ Object).

Thus, for example: 'Þar er fugl ok fiskr.'

The adjective modifying a noun may either precede or follow it. When it precedes the noun it is somewhat more emphatic, or more basic an attribute of the noun it modifies. Often the position of adjectives modifying a noun is varied for stylistic purposes, in order to avoid a repetitive or monotonous narrative sequence: 'Ingólfr er norskr víkingr ok maðr ríkr ok djarfr.'

A possessive phrase involving a noun and pronoun always has the pronoun following the noun it modifies, unless special emphasis is being placed upon the pronoun: 'Skip hans er gott.' (When the pronoun is used emphatically, it precedes the noun.)

2. Vocabulary

The basic stem form ('root') and thematic vowel are in parentheses. All nouns and adjectives are listed in the nominative singular form, adjectives in the masculine.

Nouns

Masculine:

Arnarson [Lesson VI, 1A]	patronymic, 'son of Qrn '
bær (bœj-i-)	farm, settlement
fiskr (fisk-a-)	fish
fugl (fugl-a-)	bird, fowl
høfuðstaðr (stað-i-)	capital city
Ingólfr (Ingólf-a-)	personal name
Ingólfs	Ingolf's
maðr (mann-) [irregular]	man
víkingr (víking-a-)	viking

Feminine:

Fróðadóttir [Lesson XXVI, 1A]	patronymic, 'daughter of Fróði '
Hallveig (veig-a-)	personal name
kona (kona-)	woman, wife

Reykjavík (vík-)	place-name, 'Bay of Smokes'
Neuter:
fólk (fólk-)	people
gras (gras-)	grass
hús (hús-)	house
Ísland (land-)	Iceland
Íslands	of Iceland
land (land-)	land
skip (skip-)	ship
sumar (sumar-)	summer
vatn (vatn-)	water

Adjectives

búinn (búin-)	prepared, equipped
djarfr (djarf-)	daring
fagr (fagr-)	fair, beautiful
fríðr (fríð-)	beautiful
góðr (góð-)	good
grœnn (grœn-)	green
heitr (heit-)	hot
kaldr (kald-)	cold
kallaðr (kallað-)	called
margr (marg-)	many (a)
mikill (mikil-)	great, plentiful
nógr (nóg-)	enough, sufficient
norskr (norsk-)	Norwegian
nýr (nýj-)	new
ríkr (rík-)	powerful, rich
vænn (væn-)	handsome, well-made

Pronouns

eitt [neut N sg]	one, a certain
engi [masc N sg]	no, no one hann [N sg]	he
hans [G sg]	his
hon [N sg]	she
honum [D sg]	him
þat [neut N sg]	it

Article

-it [neut N sg]	the
-----------------	-----

Verbs

byggir (bygg-i/j-)	builds
--------------------	--------

er [Lesson XI]	is
finnr (finn-)	finds
fylgir (fyllg-i/j-)	follows
lendir (land-i/j-)	lands
lifir (lif-i-)	lives
siglir (sigl-i/j-)	sails

Adverbs

nú	now
síðan	afterwards, then
vel	well
víða	widely, in many places
þar	there

Prepositional Phrases

frá Nórgei	from Norway
til Íslands	to Iceland
til vestrs	to the west

Conjunctions

bæði	both
ok	and

3. Text

Ingólfr Arnarson er norskur víkingur ok maðr ríkr ok djarfr. Kona hans er Hallveig Fróðadóttir. Hon er góð kona ok væn. Skip hans er gott ok vel búit. Hann siglir sumar eitt frá Nórgei til vestrs ok finnr land eitt. Þat er nýtt land ok engi maðr lifir þar. Landit er fagrt ok frítt. Þar er fugl ok fiskr nógr. Vatn er þar bæði heitt ok kalt. Gras er grœnt ok mikit. Ingólfr lendir þar ok byggir hús. Margt fólk fylgir honum síðan til Íslands ok byggir þar víða. Bœr Ingólfs er kallaðr Reykjavík. Þar er nú höfuðstaðr Íslands.

4. Drills

Convert the following adjective and noun stems into N sg forms.

Example: (norsk-) (víking-a-) = norskr víkingr.

Masculine: (A)	(djarf-)	(víking-a-)
(B)	(nýj-)	(fisk-a-)

(C)	(norsk-)	(konung-a-)	'king'
(D)	(góð-)	(gest-i-)	'guest'
(E)	(kald-)	(drykk-i-)	'drink'
(F)	(heit-)	(eld-a-)	'fire'
(G)	(ríkj-)	(jarl-a-)	'earl'
(H)	(fagr-)	(sal-i-)	'hall'
Feminine: (I)	(mikil-)	(vík-)	'bay'
(J)	(góð-)	(veig-a-)	'brew'
(K)	(nýj-)	(borg-i-)	'fortification, city'
Neuter: (L)	(fagr-)	(land-)
(M)	(norsk-)	(skip-)
(N)	(heit-)	(sumar-)
(O)	(grœn-)	(hús-)
(P)	(góð-)	(sverð-)	'sword'
(Q)	(nýj-)	(vápn)	'weapon'
(R)	(kald-)	(vatn-)

5. Translation

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) Ingolf Arnarson sails to the west and finds a fair land.
 (B) His wife is good and beautiful.
 (C) Iceland is a new land, and no man lives there.
 (D) There is fish and fowl enough, green grass, and both hot and cold water.

LESSON II

1. Grammar

(A) Nominative Plural of Nouns and Adjectives

(1) The nominative plural of nouns: a large number of masculine and feminine nouns in Old Icelandic are characterized by a thematic vowel, -a-, -i-, or -u-, which appears in certain inflected forms between the initial stem syllable ('root') and the case ending. (Nouns without thematic vowels are discussed in Lessons IX, X, XXVI, and XXVII.) One of the forms which displays the thematic vowel between the 'root' and the inflectional ending is the nominative plural (N pl).

For masculine and feminine nouns the N pl ending is -r. Thus the N pl of vikingr (viking-a-) is vikingar, where the thematic vowel distinguishes the plural form from that of the singular. Similarly (gest-i-) 'guest' is gestr in N sg and gestir in N pl. For the feminine noun stem (veig-a-) 'beverage, brew' the N sg is veig and the N pl veigar. The neuter noun stem is not characterized by a thematic vowel, and the neuter N pl ending is zero. Thus hús and skip are both N singular and plural forms.

(2) The nominative plural of adjectives: the nominative plural endings of adjectives, although similar in appearance to the endings on nouns, function in a different manner, as adjective stems are not characterized by thematic vowels. The masculine N pl ending is always -ir, the feminine N pl ending is always -ar, and the neuter N pl ending is always zero. Thus we have góðir vikingar and góðir gestir, góðar veigar, and góð hús for masculine, feminine, and neuter nominative plurals, respectively.

(3) The alternation of a and o: the stem vowels a and o alternate in certain feminine and neuter forms of nominative nouns and adjectives, as in (marg-) which is mǫrg in fem N sg and neut N pl, or (land-) which appears as lǫnd in N pl. This alternation will be further discussed in Lesson III.

(B) The Third Person Plural Ending of Verbs

The third person plural ending of verbs is -a, which is added to the stem form. Note again, that the verb 'be' is irregular and has the form eru in the 3rd pl pres ind 'they are'.

(C) Augmented Stems

Some initial stem-syllables ('roots') have a terminal j or v, such as (hersj-a-) 'chieftain', (frægj-) 'famous', (miðj-) 'middle, central', (nýj-) 'new', or (ǫlv-) 'ale'. These are called augmented stems. The j-augment appears under specific conditions when an a or u directly follows it. Thus we have for (miðj-) N pl masculine miðir, feminine miðjar, and neuter mið. But in N pl of (hersj-a-) hersar the j-augment does not appear, nor does the v-augment appear in N sg and pl of (ǫlv-) ǫl. For a further discussion of the augmented noun stems, see Lesson III.

(D) Word Order

(1) When two phrases or sentences are conjoined, the normal word order prevails. When both contain the same verb it may be deleted in parallel constructions: 'Jarlar konungs eru margir, en frægir vikingar eru gestir hans.' 'Hús þeira eru hátimbruð ok salir konungs stórir.'

An important exception to the rule of normal word order in conjoined constructions occurs in the case of ok 'and'. When two sentences are conjoined by ok, this conjunction is immediately followed by the verb of the second sentence, as would be the case in those constructions beginning with an adverbial, that is, ok has the same syntactic position as an adverbial: 'Frægir vikingar eru gestir hans ok færa þeir honum góðar gjafar.' 'Hús þeira eru hátimbruð ok (eru) salir konungs stórir.' (For the use of ok as an adverb, 'also', see Lesson VIII.)

(2) Certain nouns with a single or unambiguous referent, such as nouns indicating rank or position, do not normally have the definite article in Old Icelandic: konungr 'the king', sól 'the sun', etc. In general, the definite article is used much less than in English.

In possessive phrases the head noun is not accompanied by a definite article: jarlar konungs 'the earls of the king', 'the king's earls', while the noun in the genitive case may or may not be definite, depending on the nature of the referent: konungr Englands 'the king of England', konungr landsins 'the king of the country'.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

bekkr (bekk-i-)	bench
drykkir (drykk-i-)	drink
gestr (gest-i-)	guest
hersir (hersj-a-)	chieftain
húsbúnaðr (búnað-i-)	house furnishings
jarl (jarl-a-)	earl
konungr (konung-a-)	king
langeldr (eld-a-)	long fire
matr (mat-i-)	food
mjǫðr (mjað-u-) [see Lesson VI]	mead
ostr (ost-a-)	cheese
salr (sal-i-)	hall, room
skjǫldr (skjald-u-) [see Lesson VI]	shield

Feminine:

gjǫf (gjaf-a-)	gift
hǫll (hall-i-)	hall, palace
veig (veig-a-)	beverage, brew

Neuter:

borð (borð-)	table
brauð (brauð-)	bread
gólf (gólf-)	floor
hús (hús-)	house
kvæði (kvæðj-)	poem, song
skáld (skáld-)	poet
spjót (spjót-)	spear
sverð (sverð-)	sword
vápn (vápn-)	weapon
öl (ölv-)	ale

Adjectives

frægr (frægj-)	famous
gláðr (gláð-)	glad
hátimbraðr (timbrað-)	high-timbered, high-ceilinged

miðr (miðj-)	middle sterkr (sterk-)	strong
stórr (stór-)	big

Pronouns

aðrar (annar-) [fem N pl] [Lesson XXIV]	other
allr (all-)	all
þeim [D pl]	them
þeir [masc N pl]	they
þeira [G pl]	their

Verbs

brenna (brenn-)	burn
drekka (dreck-)	drink
eru [Lesson XII]	are
færa (fór-i/j-) [+D][+A]	bring (someone) (something)
koma (kom-)	come
kveða (kveð-)	recite
þakka (þakk-a-) [+D][+A]	thank (someone) (for something)

Adverb

hátt	loudly
------	--------

Preposition

á [+D]	on, at, etc.
á miðju gólfi	in the middle of the floor

Conjunction

en	but
----	-----

3. Text

Norskir víkingar eru djarfir ok sterkir. Vápn þeira eru sverð, spjót, ok skjǫldr. Hǫll konungs er hátimbruð ok salir konungs stórir. Borð ok bekkir eru húsbúnaðr þar, en langeldar brenna á miðju gólfi. Jarlar konungs eru margir, en ríkir hersar ok frægir víkingar eru gestir hans ok færa honum góðar gjafar. Matr þeira er ostr ok brauð, fuglar ok fiskar. Mjǫðr ok aðrar veigar eru drykkir þeirra. Mǫrg skáld koma til konungs ok kveða hátt ok vel. Konungr þakkar þeim kvæði þeirra ok allir drekka ok eru glaðir.

4. Drills

Convert the following adjective and noun stems into N pl forms.

Example:

	(kald-)	(bekk-i-) = kaldir bekkir
(A)	(nýj-)	(borð-)
(B)	(marg-)	(fisk-a-)
(C)	(nýj-)	(ost-a-)
(D)	(góð-)	(gjaf-a-)
(E)	(ríkj-)	(jarl-a-)
(F)	(frið-)	(skip-)
(G)	(frægj-)	(víking-a-)
(H)	(sterk-)	(veig-a-)
(I)	(góð-)	(spjót-)
(J)	(frægj-)	(skáld-)
(K)	(marg-)	(hall-i-)
(L)	(djarf-)	(konung-a-)
(M)	(fagr-)	(sal-i-)
(N)	(væn-)	(hús-)
(O)	(stór-)	(flug-a-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) Many vikings are strong.
- (B) His guests are good and daring.
- (C) Their swords are new.
- (D) All earls are famous and powerful.
- (E) His drink is hot and strong.
- (F) Their lands are powerful.
- (G) Many birds and fish are there.
- (H) She is famous and beautiful.
- (I) The king's hall is famous.
- (J) His weapon is new.

LESSON III

1. Grammar

(A) The Dative Singular

(1) Form

(a) Nouns: to the stem of masculine and neuter nouns (of the types seen thus far) an -i is added for the dative singular (D sg). Feminine nouns take the ending -u, but after monosyllabic stems this ending frequently does not appear. If the feminine stem is bisyllabic, the u-ending generally appears, although there is some variation here as well. (See Lesson IX for the feminine type represented by gersimi 'treasure'.)

(b) Adjectives: when modifying masculine nouns in the D sg, the adjective ending is -um, while the feminine ending is -ri, and the neuter ending is -u. If the basic stem ends in a long vowel the r of the feminine ending is doubled: (há-) D sg hárr, (nýj-) nýrri.

(2) Usage

(a) Instrumental, e.g. supplanting the function generally served by the English preposition 'with'. Examples: búinn hjálmi 'equipped with a helmet', hlaðinn gulli 'laden with gold', rekinn silfri 'inlaid with silver'.

(b) Verbal object: many verbs, among them verbs of causation, take a dative object. Examples: sigla/stýra skipi 'sail/steer a ship', bana úvini 'kill an enemy', eyða borg 'lay waste a city'.

(c) Prepositional object: certain prepositions, especially those indicating direction or placement, take dative objects. Examples: frá landi 'from land', at hausti 'in the autumn', á vári 'in the spring'.

(B) The Alternation of a: ø (u-umlaut)

The change of a → ø, otherwise known as (the effect of) u-umlaut, occurs when the stressed short a of an underlying stem is followed by a u in the next syllable. Thus the D sg adjective endings of masculine and neuter forms, -um and -u, cause a basic stem form with a to show with ø in the surface form. From (skarp-) 'sharp' we get masc N sg skarpr, but masc D sg skørpum; the neuter N sg is skarpt, but the neuter D sg skørpu. The process of u-umlaut also occurs in nominal and verbal forms under the same conditions. As was mentioned in Lesson II, 1A3, this alternation can take place even when an earlier u has been lost in an ending. This umlaut of underlying a to ø where no overt u-ending is present takes place in the following cases: nominative and accusative sg of feminine nouns whose root forms end in a consonant, nominative sg only of feminine adjectives, nominative and accusative pl of both neuter nouns and adjectives. Examples: From the feminine noun stem (hall-i-) we have N sg høll, D sg høllu or høll (see A1a, above); (marg-) 'many' is mørg in both fem N sg and neut N/A pl; (land-) 'land' has the N/A pl lønd; (skarp-) 'sharp' is skørp in both fem N sg and neut N/A pl.

(C) Long v. Short Stems

(1) Short stems are those that end in a stressed long vowel or diphthong or in a stressed short vowel followed by one consonant (j and v-augments and thematic vowels are discounted in measuring the length of stems). Any consonants preceding the stressed vowel are immaterial in determining the length of a stem syllable. Some examples of short stems are: (stað-i-) 'town, place', (skip-) 'ship', (mjað-u-) 'mead', (miðj-) 'middle', (hverj-) 'every, each', and (nýj-) 'new'.

(2) Long stems are those which differ from the description of the short stems. They include the following types:

(a) a short vowel with more than one following consonant (again discounting augmented j or v) such as (fagr-) 'fair', (sigl-i/j-) 'to sail', (bekk-i-) 'bench', etc.

(b) a long vowel or diphthong and one or more following consonants, as in (spjót-) 'spear', (vápn-) 'weapon', (góð-) 'good', (frægj-) 'famous', (brauð-) 'bread', etc.

(c) more than one syllable, like (rekin-) 'inlaid', (timbrað-) 'timbered', etc.

The distinction between long and short stems is important in dealing with nominal and adjectival forms augmented by j (see below) as well as with verbal forms with an -i/j- thematic (see Lesson XIII).

(D) Augmented Stems

In Lesson II we discussed the fact that some basic stems have a terminal j, which in the underlying form represented in parentheses appears between the 'root' syllable and the thematic vowel. This is called a j-augment, and the stem type is termed a j-augmented stem. There is also a v-augment, and stems with terminal v are called v-augmented stems. As already mentioned, a j or v-augment is not taken into account in determining the length of the stem syllable, and it appears in surface forms only under very specific conditions. Neuter noun stems as well as masculine and feminine a-thematic stems can be augmented, as can adjectival, verbal, and pronominal stems. The augments appear in the inflected forms under the following conditions:

(1) The j-augment

(a) The j appears following a short-syllable stem when a back vowel (a or u) directly follows. The j-augment disappears, however, when a front vowel (i), a consonant, or zero follows. Thus from the stem (miðj-) 'middle' we have the masc N sg miðr, D sg miðjum; fem N sg mið, N pl miðjar; neuter N sg mitt, D sg miðju, etc. From (hverj-) 'every' we derive masc N sg hverr, N pl hverir; fem N pl hverjar, D sg hverri; neuter D sg hverju, N pl hver, etc.

(b) Following a long-syllable stem the j-augment is either realized as i, or it fails to appear, or it is realized as j under specific conditions:

(1) In long noun stems, like the neuter (kvæðj-) 'poem' and (ríkj-) 'dominion' or the masculine (hersj-) 'chieftain', the j-augment appears as i before a consonant or zero. Thus we have N sg and pl (kvæðj-+zero) → kvæði, (ríkj-+zero) → ríki, and N sg (hersj-a-+r) → hersir.

When the (case) ending begins in a vowel the augment does not appear. Thus we have masculine D sg (hersj-a-+i) → hersi, N pl (hersj-a-+r) → hersar, neuter D sg (kvæðj-+i) → kvæði. But, when the long syllable stem ends in a velar, k or g, as in (ríkj-) 'dominion', the augment appears as j before a following a or u (compare with short-syllable stem). Thus the dative pl form of (ríkj-), with the D pl ending -um, is rikjum.

(2) In long adjective stems the j-augment never appears except when it follows a stem ending in k or g, and precedes a or u. Thus (frægj-) 'famous' has masculine N sg (frægj-+r) → frægr, N pl (frægj-+ir) → frægir, but D sg (frægj-+um) → frægjum, etc. (These long-syllable adjective stems with a j-augment are archaic; in later forms of Old Icelandic the j often disappears entirely, thus giving, for example, the fem N pl form frægar.)

(2) The v-augment

The v-augment appears whether the stem is long or short whenever a vowel other than u follows it. Thus from the neuter noun stem (ǫlv-) 'ale' we derive the N sg (ǫlv-+zero) → ǫl, D sg (ǫlv-+i) → ǫlvi; from the adjective stem (rǫskv-) 'brave, vigorous' we derive masculine N sg (rǫskv-+r) → rǫskr, N pl (rǫskv-+ir) → rǫskvir, feminine N sg (rǫskv-+zero) → rǫsk, N pl (rǫskv-+ar) → rǫskvar, neuter N sg (rǫskv-+t) → rǫskt, D sg (rǫskv-+u) → rǫsku, etc.

(E) Word Order

(1) As mentioned in Lesson I, the adjective that precedes the noun is more emphatic or prominent. But sometimes the position of the adjective may be determined by stylistic consideration of balance and rhythm. Putting all adjectives in the same position in a series of sentences and parallel constructions creates a more monotonous effect than when they are placed sometimes preceding, sometimes following the noun.

Similarly, the adverb at the head of the sentence is brought into greater prominence than when it follows the verb. But in longer narrative sequences the adverbial, whether a single word or a longer phrase, may be positioned at the head of the sentence intermittently in order to avoid repetitive constructions.

(2) An apposition or appositive phrase always agrees in case with the noun it modifies, and it always follows the noun: 'Hann siglir skipi sínu, traustu ok fogru...'

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

hermaðr (mann-)	warrior
hjálmr (hjálm-a-)	helmet
Nóregr (Nóreg-a-)	Norway
úfriðr (frið-u-)	strife, war
úvinr (vin-i-)	enemy

Feminine:

borg (borg-i-)	city, fortification
Danmörk (mark-)	Denmark
ferð (ferð-i-)	trip, voyage
gersimi (gersimi-)	treasure
Svíþjóð (þjóð-i-)	Sweden

Neuter:

England (land-)	England
gull (gull-)	gold
haust (haust-)	fall, autumn
klaustr (klaustr-)	cloister, abbey
ríki (ríkj-)	dominion
silfr (silfr-)	silver
suðr (suðr-)	south
Valland (land-)	France
vár (vár-)	spring

Adjectives

hlaðinn (hlaðin-)	laden
hvass (hvass-)	sharp, keen
langr (lang-)	long
rekinn (rekin-)	inlaid
rǫskr (rǫskv-)	brave, vigorous
skarpr (skarp-)	sharp
traustr (traust-)	trusty
völdugr (völdug-)	mighty, powerful

Pronouns

annarr (annar-)	other
hverr (hverj-)	every, each
sinn [Lesson XI]	his, her, their (own)

Verbs

banar [3rd sg pres ind of bana (ban-a-)] [+ D]	kills, slays (someone)
--	------------------------

eyðir [3rd sg pres ind of eyða (auð-i/j-)] [+D]	lays waste, devastates (something)
ferr [3rd sg pres ind of fara (far-)]	journeys, goes stýrir [3rd sg pres ind of stýra (stýr-i/j-)] [+D]	steers (something)

Adverbs

heim	homewards
þaðan	thence, from there

Prepositions

af [+D]	of, from, etc.
at [+D]	at, towards
frá [+D]	from
í [+D]	in, inside
með [+D]	with

Conjunction

eða	or
-----	----

3. Text

Hverr víkingr er hermaðr góðr, búinn fögurum hjálmi, skörpu sverði, ok hvössu spjóti. Skjöldr hans er silfri eða gulli rekinn. Hann siglir skipi sínu, traustu ok föguru, frá landi á vári hverju. Í suðri eru mörq völdug ríki. Þar eru frægjar borgir, stórar hallir, ok mikil klaustr. Í langri ferð sinni ferr hann víða með úfriði. Hann banar mörqum úvini ok eyðir margri borg á Englandi ok Vallandi. At hausti stýrir hann skipi sínu, hlöðnu gulli ok annarri gersimi, heim. Hann lendir síðan skipi sínu í Nóregi eða Danmörku, í Svíþjóð eða á Íslandi, en þaðan koma allir røskvir víkingar.

4. Drills

Convert the following adjective and noun stems into D sg forms.

Example: (fagr-) (hjálm-a-) = fögurum hjálmi.

- |     |          |             |
|-----|----------|-------------|
| (A) | (djarf-) | (konung-a-) |
| (B) | (frægj-) | (kvæðj-)    |
| (C) | (nýj-)   | (hall-i-)   |

(D)	(røskv-)	(víking-a-)
(E)	(lang-)	(haust-)
(F)	(völdug-)	(borg-i-)
(G)	(nýj-)	(úvin-i-)
(H)	(væn-)	(gjaf-a-)
(I)	(sterk-)	(ölv-)
(J)	(lang-)	(bekk-i-)
(K)	(ríkj-)	(jarl-a-)
(L)	(sterk-)	(veig-a-)
(M)	(traust-)	(skip-)
(N)	(völdug-)	(ríkj-)
(O)	(góð-)	(ost-a-)
(P)	(lang-)	(ferð-i-)
(Q)	(fagr-)	(gull-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- Every viking is equipped with a trusty sword.
- His ship is laden with silver and gold.
- In his house are many earls from Norway and Denmark.
- Vikings lay waste many a town on a long voyage.
- His sharp sword is inlaid with gold.
- In many a country in the south are famous abbeys.
- The king thanks a famous chieftain.
- Ingolf is equipped with a good weapon.
- Reykjavik is in Iceland.
- A warrior slays (the) king's enemy.

LESSON IV

1. Grammar

(A) The Dative Plural

The dative plural takes the ending -um in all genders of both nouns and adjectives. When the stem contains the stressed vowel a, this will become ǫ as described in Lesson III, 1B. When the ending -um directly follows a long stressed vowel, only -m appears, as in the feminine noun á (á-a-) 'river' with the D pl form ám.

(B) Assimilation of r

The r of an ending assimilates to an immediately preceding l, n, r, or s of a long stem form. (See, however, Lesson I, 1D2.) Thus we have the masculine N sg forms (jǫkul-a-+-r) → jǫkull 'glacier', (jǫtun-a-+-r) → jǫtunn 'giant', (búin-+-r) → búinn 'equipped', etc. But note that we get (akr-a-+-r) → akr 'field', not **akrr*, (fugl-a-+-r) → fugl 'bird', not **fugll* (hvass-+-r) → hvass, not **hvasss*, etc. These last three forms appear as they do because a terminal double consonant is simplified to a single consonant if another consonant directly precedes.

(C) Bisyllabic Stems

Two phonological processes must be considered in the case of bisyllabic stems: vowel deletion and u-umlaut.

(1) The second vowel of a bisyllabic stem is dropped when it follows a short, primarily stressed syllable and precedes a single consonant and a third vowel in the underlying form of a word. Thus (jǫtun-a-) 'giant' has N pl jǫtnar, D sg jǫtni, D pl jǫtnum, etc.; (gamal-) 'old' has feminine N pl gamlar, D pl gǫmlum, etc. If two consonants follow, the second vowel is not dropped, as in feminine D sg (gamal-+-ri) → gamalli, etc. Note that a stem like (mánað-) 'month', with a long primarily stressed syllable, does not drop the second vowel: D sg mánaði.

(2) An a in the second syllable of a bisyllabic stem undergoes a shift of a → u under the same u-umlaut conditions that cause a shift in primarily stressed syllables of a to ǫ. (See Lesson I, 1D3, Lesson II, 1A3, and Lesson III, 1B.) Thus the neuter noun stem (sumar-) 'summer' has the N pl sumur (compare with the neuter N pl lǫnd), the adjective (timbrað-) 'timbered' has the feminine N sg and neuter N pl timbruð (compare with the fem N sg and neut N pl kǫld), and the masculine noun stem (mánað-) 'month' has the D pl form mánuðum. When a bisyllabic stem has a in both syllables, a double u-umlaut shift takes place. Thus (gamal-) 'old' has the feminine N sg and neuter N pl gǫmul, (kallað-) 'called' appears as kǫlluð in fem N sg and neut N pl, kǫlluðum in the masculine D sg, etc.

(D) Feminine j-Augmented Stems

In addition to the masculine and neuter j-augmented noun stems, such as (hersj-), (kvæðj-), or (ríkj-), there are also feminine a-stems with a j-augment. The short-syllable stems are completely regular: from (eyj-a-) 'isle, island' we get N sg (eyj-a-+-zero) → ey, N pl (eyj-a-+-r) → eyjar, D pl (eyj-a-+-um) → eyjum, etc. (see Lesson III, 1D1a). On the other hand, the long-syllable stems are irregular; while regular feminine noun stems have in the N sg a zero-ending (with u-umlaut) (see Lesson II, 1A3, and Lesson III, 1B), and in the D sg the ending -u which appears principally after bisyllabic stems (see Lesson III, 1A1a), these feminine stems have the N sg ending -r, and show a final i in the D sg form: N sg heiðr 'heath, moor', D sg heiði. For various reasons, these long-syllable feminine a-stems can be classified as having an underlying j-augment, with the irregular N sg ending -r and D sg ending zero. Thus from an underlying stem form (heiðj-a-) we can derive D sg (heiðj-a-+-zero) → heiði, N pl (heiðj-a-+-r) → heiðar, D pl (heiðj-a-+-um) → heiðum, etc.

A very large number of compounded feminine personal names belong to this irregular stem type, with second components such as -gerðr, -hildr, -gunnr: Þorgerðr, Þjóðhildr, Hildigunnr, etc. (In two such compound constituents the final N sg -r is usually lost; -unnr and -diss appear as -unn and -dis in numerous personal names: Þórunn, Sæunn, Freydis, Þórdis, etc.) A small number of these irregular j-augmented feminine stems are often ascribed to the i-thematic stem type. Thus, for instance, vætrr 'supernatural being' has the N pl vættir as well as the expected N pl vættar.

(E) Word Order

(1) The order of words in a dependent clause, following the conjunction or relative pronoun, etc., which introduces the clause, is always the same as in simple declarative sentences: Subject + Verb (+ Adverb) (+ Object), or Adverb + Verb + Subject, etc. Thus we have the dependent clause 'er sól ríss á himni', where the introducer is the relative adverb er followed by Subject + Verb + Adverbial. In those cases where the Subject of the dependent clause is a relative pronoun that introduces the clause, the order of constituents may be either: rel pron + Verb (+ Adverb), etc., or rel pron + Adverb + Verb, etc.

(2) An impersonal construction of the type which in English begins with 'there is, there are' does not have a word corresponding to 'there' in Old Icelandic. Instead the sentence begins with the noun or noun-phrase of the topic under consideration: 'Margar sagnir eru af þeim.' 'There are many stories . . .'. Þar 'there' at the head of a sentence has a clear adverbial function indicating a point in space: 'Þar er nú hqfuðstaðr Íslands', 'Þar er fugl ok fiskr nóg' (Lesson I).

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

akr (akr-a-)	field
álfr (álf-a-)	elf
dvergr (dverg-a-)	dwarf
gangr (gang-a-)	course, passage
hóll (hól-a-)	hill
himinn (himin-a-)	sky, heaven
jökull (jökul-a-)	glacier
jötunn (jötun-a-)	giant
mánaðr (mánað-)	month
menn [N/A of maðr (mann-)]	men
skógr (skóg-a-)	forest
snær (snæv-a-)	snow
steinn (stein-a-)	stone
sumardagr (dag-a-)	summer day
vetr (vetr-)	winter

Feminine:

á (á-a-)	river
byggð (byggð-i-)	district, settlement
heiðr (heiðj-a-)	heath
sól (sól-i-)	sun
gangr sólar	course of the sun
sögn (sagn-i-)	tale
úbyggð (byggð-i-)	uninhabited district
vættir (vættj-a-)	(supernatural) being

Neuter:

fjall (fjall-)	mountain
goð (goð-)	divinity, god, goddess
Jótlund (land-)	Jutland
norðrland (land-)	northland; in pl: Nordic countries
skipti [pl]	dealings
tún (tún-)	home meadow
vatn (vatn-)	water, lake
veðr (veðr-)	weather, wind
qræfi (qræfj-)	harbourless coast

Adjectives

blíðr (blíð-)	pleasant, mild
gamall (gamal-)	old
skammr (skamm-)	short, brief
þakinn (þakin-)	covered [participle of þekja (þak-i/j-)]

Pronoun

þessum [D pl]	these
---------------	-------

Verbs

búa [Lesson XXI]	live
ríss [3rd sg pres ind of rísa (ris-)]	rises
skiptir [3rd sg pres ind of skipta (skipt-i/j-)]	shifts, changes
svá mánuðum skiptir	for months

Preposition

við [+A]	with
----------	------

Conjunctions

svá	as
svá sem	just as

3. Text

Í norðrlandum er gangr sólar skammr á vetrum, en langr á sumrum. Land eru þar víða þakin snæm svá mánuðum skiptir, en er sól ríss á himni eru veðr blíð á löngum sumardögum. Í byggðum eru akrar ok tún, en víða eru úbyggðir, með skógum ok vötnum ok ám, svá sem í Svíþjóð; með heiðum ok oræfum, svá sem á Jótlandi í Danmörku; eða með fjöllum ok jöklum, svá sem í Nóregi ok á Íslandi. Margar vættir búa í úbyggðum þessum: dvergar í steinum, jötnar í fjöllum, ok álfar í hólum. Margar sagnir, bæði gamlar ok nýjar, eru af skiptum þeira við goð ok menn.

4. Drills

Convert the following adjective and noun stems into D pl forms.

Example: (lang-) (ferð-i-) = löngum ferðum.

- |     |           |             |
|-----|-----------|-------------|
| (A) | (kald-)   | (vatn-)     |
| (B) | (völdug-) | (konung-a-) |
| (C) | (frægj-)  | (jarl-a-)   |
| (D) | (fagr-)   | (heiðj-a-)  |
| (E) | (marg-)   | (stein-a-)  |
| (F) | (góð-)    | (vættj-a-)  |
| (G) | (ríkj-)   | (víking-a-) |
| (H) | (lang-)   | (sumar-)    |
| (I) | (sterk-)  | (veig-a-)   |
| (J) | (grœn-)   | (akr-a-)    |
| (K) | (nýj-)    | (land-)     |
| (L) | (frægj-)  | (hall-i-)   |
| (M) | (kald-)   | (dag-a-)    |
| (N) | (gamal-)  | (dverg-a-)  |
| (O) | (gamal-)  | (kvæðj-)    |
| (P) | (fagr-)   | (himin-a-)  |
| (Q) | (völdug-) | (ríkj-)     |

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) Summers are short in northern countries.
 (B) Summer days are long in Sweden.

- (C) The weather is mild in the summer.
 (D) Norwegian forests are covered with snow in the winter.
 (E) Water in Iceland is both cold and hot.
 (F) Fields, hills, and meadows are green in the summer.
 (G) Dwarfs live in stones and elves in hills.
 (H) There are dwarfs, elves, and giants in old tales.
 (I) There are tales of their dealings with gods and men.
 (J) There are large fish in Iceland's rivers.

LESSON V

1. Grammar

(A) Accusative Singular

(1) Form

(a) Nouns: for masculine and neuter nouns the accusative singular (A sg) ending is zero. In fact, for neuter nouns and adjectives the accusative is always identical with the nominative in Old Icelandic. For feminine nouns the A sg is formed like the D sg, that is, the ending -u occurs mostly with bisyllabic stems, although it is optional with monosyllabic stems, and u-umlaut takes place whenever possible. Feminine long-stemmed j-augment nouns form the A sg as the D sg, with a zero ending.

Thus for masculine N sg Eiríkr 'Eric' we have A sg Eirík, for masculine N sg fjörðr 'firth' we have A sg fjörð, for masculine N sg akr 'field' we have A sg akr, for masculine N sg himinn 'sky', A sg himin, etc. For feminine N sg gjaf 'gift' we have A sg gjaf, for feminine N sg Danmörk 'Denmark', A sg Danmörku, and for feminine N sg heiðr 'heath' we have A sg heiði, etc. For neuter N sg land we have A sg land, etc.

(b) Adjectives: here all three genders have different endings. To the adjective stem are added the A sg endings -an for masculine, -a for feminine, and -t (or -tt, see Lesson I, 1D5) for neuter. Thus we have: Hann drekkur sterkan mjöð 'He drinks strong mead'; Hann gefur dýra gjaf 'He gives a valuable present'; Hann finnr nýtt land 'He finds a new land.'

Note that the A masc sg of mikill (mikil-) 'great' is the irregular form mikinn instead of the expected **miklan*.

(2) Usage

(a) Direct object: for verbs taking a direct object, that object appears in the accusative: Hann vegr djarfan viking 'He slays a brave viking'; Hann drekkur sterka veig 'He drinks a strong brew'; Hann nemur nýtt land 'He settles new land.'

(b) With verbs of motion: the accusative is used with verbs of motion to describe the path taken: Hann siglir langa leið 'He sails a long way'; Þeir ganga nýjan veg 'They walk a new road'; Hon ferr skamma ferð 'She takes a short journey.'

(c) Absolute accusative of time: here the accusative is not motivated by a verb, but simply appears as an accusative in adverbial usage: dag nokkurn 'on a certain day, one day'; þat sumar 'that summer', etc.

(d) Prepositional phrases: many of the prepositions with a dative object can also take an accusative object. In the case of í 'in' and á 'on', the accusative indicates motion to a place, while the dative generally indicates location at a place. The preposition við in the sense of 'near to, against' takes the accusative, but takes the dative when it translates as 'with, by means of'. Except when it means 'in front of' with the dative, the preposition fyrir 'for' takes the accusative.

(B) The Past Participle

We have in this lesson the past participle stems (kallað-) 'called', (nefnd-) 'named', and (vegin-) 'slain'. These stems take adjectival case endings and can function as follows:

(1) With the verb 'be': a past participle stem can occur in conjunction with the verb vera 'be'. The stem then agrees in gender, case, and number with the subject of the verb: thus, for example, maðr er nefndr 'a man is named' has both the subject noun and the participle form in N sg, the participle taking the masculine ending -r.

(2) Supine: the neuter N sg form of the past participle of a verb occurs in conjunction with a form of the verb hafa 'have'. This function of the neut N sg form of the past participle is called the supine. In this lesson the stem (vegin-) occurs with a form of hafa and thus takes the neut N sg -t: 'eptir at hafa vegit . . .' 'after having slain . . .'.

(C) Word Order

Although the basic word order of a declarative sentence can be said always to place the verb in second position, there are exceptions to this rule in the formation of independent clauses. (In dependent clauses the verb always follows either subject or adverbial.) Frequently, in independent clauses, the verb is placed at the head of the sentence: 'Gefr hann landi því nafn 'He gives that land a name'; 'Nemr hann land við Eiriksfiörð' 'He settles land at Eric's Firth.' This placing of the verb can occur in a narrative sequence, but not in the first sentence of a clause or chapter. It is most common when the subject is a single noun or pronoun. As in other cases of free choice of word order, the verb put at the head of the sentence may be placed there for emphasis or greater prominence in the narrative, but it may also be placed there for purely stylistic reasons, such as the wish to avoid repetitive structures in a longer narrative sequence, or for considerations of rhythm.

The normal word order of independent clauses may be further inverted by putting the object at the head of the sentence, and consequently producing the order:

Object + Verb + Subject (+ Adverb)

as in 'Dóttur áttu þau . . .' They had a daughter . . .'. Here, again, the reversed order is motivated by considerations of style and balance as well as of emphasis.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

bólstaðr (stað-i-)	farm, homestead
Breiðifjörðr (fjarð-u)	place-name, 'Broad Firth'
drengr (drenc-i-)	valiant man
Eiríkr (Eirík-a-)	personal name, 'Eric'
Eiríksfjörðr (fjarð-u-)	place-name, 'Eric's Firth'
Eiríksstaðir [pl]	place-name, 'Eric's Stead'
Eyjólfr (-ólf-a-)	personal name
Hólmǫngu-Hrafn (Hrafn-a-)	personal name (and nickname), 'Duel-Hrafn'
Leifr (Leif-a-)	personal name
saurr (saur-a-)	filth; nickname 'filthy'
skǫrungr (skǫrung-a-)	enterprising person
sonr [Lesson VI]	son
Þorsteinn (stein-a-)	personal name
Þorvaldsson [Lesson VI]	patronymic, son of Þorvaldr

Feminine:

Brattahlíð (hlíð-i-)	place-name, 'Steep Slope'
dóttur [A sg of dóttir, Lesson XXVI]	daughter
Freydís (dísj-a-)	personal name
leið (leið-i-)	way, path
Þjóðhildr (hildj-a-)	personal name

Neuter:

Grœnland (land-)	Greenland
nafn (nafn-)	name
Vatnshorn (horn-)	place-name, 'Lake's Corner'
Þórnessþing (þing-)	assembly at Þórsmes, 'Thor's Headland'

Adjectives

annan [masc A sg of annarr (annar-)]	(an)other
efniligr (efnilig-)	promising
grimmúðigr (úðig-)	fierce, ferocious
heppinn (heppin-)	lucky
inn heppna [masc A sg definite, see Lesson IX]	the lucky hugðjarfr (ðjarf-)	courageous mikinn [masc A sg of mikill (mikil-)]	great nefndr (nefnd-) [past participle of nefna (nafn-i/j-)]	named
rauðr (rauð-)	red
inn rauði [masc N sg definite, see Lesson IX]	the red
sekr (sekj-)	guilty, condemned to outlawry
stórráðr (ráð-)	ambitious
úbyggðr (byggð-)	uninhabited

Pronouns

aðra [masc A pl of annarr (annar-), see Lesson XXIV]	others
sér [3rd D reflexive, see Lesson XI]	himself (herself, themselves)
sitt [neut N/A sg, see Lesson XI]	his, her, their (own)
þá [A pl of hann, Lesson XII]	them
þá Eyjólf	them, including Eyjólf
þau [neut N/A pl of þat]	they því [neut D sg of þat]	that
landi því	to that land

Article

inn (in-) [masc N/A sg, Lesson IX] the

Verbs

átti [3rd sg past ind of eiga,
Lesson XXII] had, had for a wifeáttu [3rd pl past ind of eiga,
Lesson XXII] hadbjó [3rd sg past ind of búa, Lesson
XXI] livedbýr [3rd sg pres ind of búa, Lesson XXI] preparesgefr [3rd sg pres ind of gefa (gef-)] gives

hafa [Lesson XIV] have kalla (kall-a-) call

nemr [3rd sg pres ind of nema
(nem-)] takes, settlesreisir [3rd sg pres ind of reisa
(reis-i/j-)] raises, establishesvar [3rd sg past ind of vera (ver-)] wasvarð [3rd sg past ind of verða
(verð-)] became, wasvegit [supine of vega (veg-)] slain

Adverb

mjök greatly, very

Prepositions

há [+D] near, by

í [+A] into, towards

í vestr towards the west

við [+A] at

Conjunctions

eptir at after

eptir at hafa vegit after having slain

er who(m)

3. Text

Maðr er nefndr Eiríkr Þorvaldsson, kallaðr inn rauði. Hann bjó við Breiðafjörð, á Eiríksstöðum hjá Vatnshorni. Eptir at hafa vegit þá Eyjólf saur ok Hólmgöngu-Hrafn ok aðra, varð hann sekr á Þórsnessþingi. Þat sumar býr hann skip sitt ok siglir langa leið í vestr ok finnr nýtt land ok úbyggt. Gefr hann landi því nafn ok kallar þat Grœnland. Nemr hann land við Eiríksfjörð ok reisir sér bólstað við Brattahlíð. Eiríkr átti Þjóðhildi, skörung mikinn. Sonr þeirra var Þorsteinn, efniligr mjök. Dóttur áttu þau, Freyðisi, konu stórráða ok grimmúðga. Annan son áttu þau, Leif, hugdjarfan ok dreng góðan, er menn kalla Leif inn heppna.

4. Drills

Convert the following adjective and noun stems into A sg forms.

Example: (góð-) (vættj-a-) = góða vætti

- |                  |             |
|------------------|-------------|
| (A) (lang-)      | (leið-i-)   |
| (B) (nýj-)       | (skip-)     |
| (C) (gamal-)     | (dverg-a-)  |
| (D) (grimmúðig-) | (jötun-a-)  |
| (E) (heit-)      | (vatn-)     |
| (F) (frægj-)     | (hall-i-)   |
| (G) (ríkj-)      | (konung-a-) |
| (H) (grœn-)      | (heiðj-a-)  |
| (I) (frægj-)     | (víking-a-) |
| (J) (mikil-)     | (ferð-i-)   |
| (K) (völdug-)    | (ríkj-)     |
| (L) (mikil-)     | (fjall-)    |
| (M) (lang-)      | (bekk-i-)   |
| (N) (mikil-)     | (sal-i-)    |
| (O) (nýj-)       | (snæv-a-)   |
| (P) (skamm-)     | (ferð-i-)   |
| (Q) (grœn-)      | (akr-a-)    |
| (R) (rauð-)      | (himin-a-)  |
| (S) (skamm-)     | (sumar-)    |
| (T) (ríkj-)      | (borg-i-)   |
| (U) (frægj-)     | (kvæðj-)    |
| (V) (góð-)       | (dreng-i-)  |

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Eric had a homestead at Broad Firth which (sem) was called 'Eric's Stead'.

(B) Eric the Red had (hafði) slain a man who was named Filthy Eyjólf, and others.

(C) He was outlawed and afterwards he prepares his ship and sails to the west.

(D) He settles new land in Greenland at 'Eric's Firth'.

(E) He establishes a farmstead, which is called 'Steep Slope', with Thjodhild.

(F) Thjodhild was an enterprising person, and she had a son, Thorstein, a daughter, Freydis, and another son, Leif, with Eric.

(G) Their son Leif was a good, valiant man.

(H) Men call him (hann) Leif the Lucky.

LESSON VI

1. Grammar

(A) The Accusative Plural

(1) Nominal form

(a) Masculine: the A pl of masculine nouns is the full form of the stem, including the thematic vowel, if any, while the case ending is zero. Thus we have N pl vikingar, A pl vikinga, from (viking-a-) 'viking'; N pl dalir, A pl dali from (dal-i-) 'dale, valley', etc.

(b) Feminine: the A pl of feminine nouns displays the full stem with the case ending -r, and therefore is identical with the N pl form. Thus we have the N/A pl eyjar 'islands' from the underlying form (eyj-a-); N/A pl sveitir 'districts' from the underlying stem (sveit-i-); N/A pl víkr 'bays' from the underlying form (vík-), etc.

(c) Neuter: the A pl form of a neuter noun is always identical with the N pl form. Thus (land-) has N/A pl lönd 'lands', (kvæðj-) has N/A pl kvæði 'poems', etc.

(2) Adjectival form: here all three genders have different endings. To the adjectival stem is added -a for A pl masculine, -ar for A pl feminine, and zero (with u-umlaut) for neuter A pl. Examples are: Hann vegr marga úvini 'He slays many enemies'; Hann drekkur dýrar veigar 'He drinks expensive beverages'; Þeir nema fagra lönd 'They settle fair countries.'

(B) Nouns with Thematic -u-

The phonological history of these forms is rather complex. The outcome of this history for Old Icelandic is such that the u-stem category is really a mixture of stem types with various case forms showing the influence of -u-, -i-, or no thematic. Those cases where a u-thematic characterizes the stem show u-umlaut of a stem vowel a to ø. But the D sg and the N pl show the effects of i-umlaut (see Phonological Introduction, 5A), while the genitive sg and pl forms have no vowel change. Stems containing the sequence -ja- show i under i-umlaut conditions instead of the expected \-je-*.

Furthermore, in some words an historical stressed u in the stem has since become o in certain case forms, thus giving rise to an alternation between o and y within the paradigm.

As examples for u-thematic nouns, such as (vall-u-) 'plain', (fjarð-u-) 'firth', and (son-u-) 'son', we list the following full paradigms (note that all u-stem nouns are masculine in gender):

	(vall-u-)	(fjarð-u-)	(son-u-)
Sg N	vǫllr	fjarðr	sonr
A	völl	fjarð	son
G	vallar	fjarðar	sonar
D	velli	fjarði	syni
Pl N	vellir	fjarðir	synir
A	völlu	fjarðu	sonu
G	valla	fjarða	sona
D	völlum	fjarðum	sonum

Those forms that do not reflect a u-thematic are italicized.

Note that in compounded patronymics the stem (son-u-) does not show the N sg ending -r: Ingólfr Arnarson, Leifr Eiríksson, etc.

(C) Word Order

(1) An impersonal construction in Old Icelandic can be a subjectless sentence with the word order:

Verb (+ Adverb) + Object.

A construction of this type is best translated into English with a passive construction: 'Skal hér nefna suma þeira' (Lit.: 'Shall here name some of them') corresponds to English 'Here some of them shall be named.' (For a general survey of impersonal constructions see Lesson XXXIII.)

(2) Adjectives indicating degree or direction in the comparative or superlative function as appositions in Old Icelandic in a manner that essentially corresponds to that of adverbs in English: 'Landnámabók telr Naddoddr fyrstan hafa fundit Ísland' 'The book of Settlements considers Naddoddr to have found Iceland first', where both Naddoddr and fyrstan are in the A sg, since the appositive adjective always agrees in gender, case, and number with the noun it follows (see Lesson III).

(3) As in English, many verbs take complements where the verb of the complement is in the infinitive, with or without the infinitive marker at 'to'. Thus, for example, telja 'consider, assume' takes a complement in the infinitive, but without at: 'Landnámabók telr Naddoddr hafa . . .' where the infinitive hafa is the verbal complement of telr.

(4) A large number of verbs in Old Icelandic form a new semantic unit when associated with an adverbial, such as telja 'count, number' v. telja upp 'enumerate'. Although such verbs as telja upp form a single semantic and syntactic constituent, they are not necessarily contiguous in the sentence: 'Síðan telr Landnámabók upp marga fleiri' 'Then the Book of Settlements enumerates many more.' Since the rule for simple sentences headed by an adverb is that the subject must immediately follow the finite verb, the subject intervenes in the construction above between telr and upp.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Aurriðaaróss (ós-a-)	place-name, 'mouth of Salmon-Trout River'
Austfirðir [pl] (fjarð-u-)	regional name, 'Eastern Firths'
Borgarfjarðr (fjarð-u-)	place-name, 'Borg Firth', see borg , below
Breiðibólstaðr (stað-i-)	place-name, 'Broad Stead'
dalr (dal-i-)	dale, valley (also regional name in pl)
Geirmundr (mund-u-)	personal name
Helgi (Helgi-)	personal name
Hornafjarðr (fjarð-u-)	place-name, 'Crooked Firth'
Hrollaugr (laug-a-)	personal name
hvammr (hvamm-a-)	grassy hollow (also place-name)
höngur (höng-i-)	male-salmon, also nickname
Ketill (Katil-a-)	personal name
landnámsmenn [N/A pl of landnámsmaðr (mann-)]	settlers
Mcerjarl (jarl-a-)	titular name, 'Earl of Mœri' (in Norway)
Naddoddr (odd-a-)	personal name

Rangárvellir [pl] (vall-u-)	place-name, 'Crooked River Plains'
Rognvaldr (vald-u-)	personal name
Skalla-Grímr (Grím-a-)	personal and nickname, 'Bald-Grím'
Feminine:
Aðalvík (vík-)	place-name, 'Main Bay'
almenning (almenning-a-)	common land, also place-name
Auðr (Auðj-a-)	personal name
Barðsvík (vík-)	place-name, 'Edgehill Bay'
borg (borg-i-)	fortification, dome-shaped hill, also place-name
Breiðafjarðareyjar [pl] (eyj-a-)	place-name, 'Broad Firth Isles'
Eyjaíjarðarsveitir [pl] (sveit-i-)	place-name, 'Isle Firth Districts'
Kjaransvík (vík-)	place-name, 'Kjaran's Bay'
Landnámabók (bók-)	Book of Settlements
mýrr (mýrj-a-)	bog, mire (regional name in pl)
strönd (strand- or strand-i-)	strand, beach (regional name in pl)
Þjórsá (á-a-) [G sg Þjórsár ]	place-name, 'Bull's River'
Neuter:
bú (bú-)	house, household
Heljarskinn (skinn-)	nickname, 'Hell-Skin'
hof (hof-)	heathen temple, also place-name
Kristnes (nesj-)	place-name, 'Christ Headland'
Markarfljót (fljót-)	place-name, 'Forest River'
Suðrnes [pl] (nesj-)	regional name, 'South Headlands'
Adjectives
djúpúðigr (úðig-)	deep-minded
in djúpúðga [definite, see Lesson IX]	the deep-minded
fleiri [irregular]	more fyrstr (fyrst-)	first
magr (magr-)	thin, meagre
magri [definite]	nickname, 'the Thin'
sumr (sum-)	some
öll (all-) [neut N/A pl]	all Pronoun
þeir [G pl, Lesson X]	of them
Article
in (in-) [fem N sg]	the

Numerals
einn (ein-)	one
fjögur [neut N/A sg of fjórir , Lesson XXIV]	four Verbs
byggði [3rd sg past ind of byggja (bygg-i/j-)]	settled
byggðu [3rd pl past ind of byggja (bygg-i/j-)]	settled
fór [3rd sg past ind of fara (far-)]	went, journeyed
fundit (fundin-) [supine of finna (finn-)]	found gerði [3rd sg past ind of gera , Lesson XIV]	did, made
getit (getin-) [supine of geta (get-)]	mentioned
nam [3rd sg past ind of nema (nem-)]	took, settled
nefna (nafn-i/j-)	name
skal hér nefna	here shall be named
nema (nem-)	take, settle
reisa (reis-i/j-)	raise, establish skal [3rd sg pres ind of skulu , Lesson XXII]	shall telr [3rd sg pres ind of telja (tal-i/j-)]	considers
telr upp	enumerates
varð [3rd sg past ind of verða (verð-)]	became varð fyrstr til	became the first
Adverbs
áður	before
hér	here
Preposition
milli [+G]	between
Prepositional Phrase
fyrir innan [+A]	in from Conjunction
sem	as, which

3. Text

Landnámabók telur Naddodd, norskan víking, fyrstan hafa fundit Ísland. En Ingólfr Arnarson varð fyrstr til at nema land ok reisa bú, sem áðr er getit. Nam hann Suðrnes öll ok bjó í Reykjavík. Síðan telur Landnámabók upp marga fleiri landnámsmenn, ok skal hér nefna suma þeira. Skalla-Grímr nam Mýrar við Borgarfjörð ok bjó at Borg. Auðr in djúpúðga byggði Dali fyrir innan Breiðafjarðareyjar ok bjó í Hvammi við Auriðááros. Geirmundur Heljarskinn fór vestr á Strandir ok nam land; hann gerði þar fjögur bú, í Aðalvík, í Kjaransvík, á Almennungum, ok í Barðsvík. Helgi magri nam Eyjafjarðarsveitir ok bjó at Kristnesi. Margir byggðu Austfjörðu. Einn þeira var Hrollaugr, sonr Rognvaldar Mœrajarls. Hann nam land í Hornafirði ok bjó at Breiðabólstað. Ketill hœngr nam Rangárvellu, öll lönd milli Þjórsár ok Markarfljóts, ok bjó at Hofi.

4. Drills

Convert the following adjective and noun stems into A pl forms.

Example:

(fagr-) (himin-a-) = fagra himna.

- |     |          |             |
|-----|----------|-------------|
| (A) | (kald-)  | (vatn-)     |
| (B) | (sterk-) | (veig-a-)   |
| (C) | (fagr-)  | (fjarð-u-)  |
| (D) | (grœn-)  | (vall-u-)   |
| (E) | (lang-)  | (bekk-i-)   |
| (F) | (frægj-) | (kvæðj-)    |
| (G) | (fagr-)  | (á-a-)      |
| (H) | (góð-)   | (vættj-a-)  |
| (I) | (lang-)  | (dal-i-)    |
| (J) | (mikil-) | (jökul-a-)  |
| (K) | (nýj-)   | (land-)     |
| (L) | (frægj-) | (hall-i-)   |
| (M) | (gamal-) | (borg-i-)   |
| (N) | (hvass-) | (sverð-)    |
| (O) | (marg-)  | (gjaf-a-)   |
| (P) | (grœn-)  | (hvamm-a-)  |
| (Q) | (nýj-)   | (drykk-i-)  |
| (R) | (sterk-) | (jötun-a-)  |
| (S) | (skamm-) | (sumar-)    |
| (T) | (ríkj-)  | (konung-a-) |

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) (The) Book of Settlements enumerates many Norwegian men who settled Iceland.
 (B) Ingolf Arnarson took land and settled a large farmstead.
 (C) (The) Book of Settlements enumerates some who settled the East Firths.
 (D) One of them was Hrollaug, who settled at 'Broad Farmstead'.
 (E) A settler takes enough land and raises many houses there.
 (F) Helgi the Thin took (the) Isle Firth Districts and lived at 'Christ Headland'.

LESSON VII

1. Grammar

(A) Genitive Singular

(1) Nominal forms: the genitive singular (G sg) appears as either -s or -ar. Masculine a-stems and all neuters add -s to the stem. For example, N sg konungr, G sg konungs; N sg land, G sg lands. Masculine i- and u-stems as well as feminine a- and i-stems all take -ar as the normal G sg ending. Some examples are: N sg úfríðr, G sg úfríðar; N sg völlr, G sg vallar; N sg veig, G sg veigar; N sg heiðr, G sg heiðar; N sg sveit, G sg sveitar, etc.

As an exception to this general rule, some masculine i-stems (and consonant-stems, see Lesson XXVII) take genitive -s. Among the more common are, for example, (gest-i-) 'guest' G sg gests, (dal-i-) 'dale, valley' G sg dals. We will mark such stem forms with: [G sg -s].

Note: the word dóttir 'daughter' (a so-called r-stem noun, see Lesson XXVI) is not subject to this general rule. It has the G sg form dóttur. The feminine personal name Bera (Bera-), G sg Beru, belongs to the large class of so-called weak declensions (see Lessons IX and X).

(2) Adjectival forms: there are two endings for the G sg of adjectives: -s for all masculine and neuter forms, and -rar for feminine adjectives. Examples are: djarfs manns 'of a daring man', góðs barns 'of a good child', for masculine and neuter.

Examples for feminine are: góðrar veigar 'of a good beverage', grænnar sveitar 'of a green district' (note in G sg grænnar (græn-+-rar) the assimilation of r to n, see Lesson IV, 1B). When the ending -rar is added to a stem ending in a long, stressed vowel, the first r is doubled. Thus (nýj-+-rar) becomes the G sg nýrrar.

(3) Usage

(a) The genitive is used to denote attribution or possession, as in Hann er úvinr konungs 'He is the king's enemy'; Gangr sólar er

skammr á vetrum 'The course of the sun is short in the winter(s)'; Egill var sonr Skalla-Grimms 'Egill was the son of Skalla-Grimr'.

(b) Some verbs take a genitive object. This group of verbs is small and not clearly definable by any semantic or syntactic criteria. Thus far we have fá [+G] 'to get in marriage', geta [+G] 'to mention', and hefna [+G] 'to avenge'.

(c) Prepositional phrases: some prepositions always take a genitive. Among the most common are til 'to, into' and milli 'between'.

(B) Word Order

The verb hafa as an auxiliary verb takes the supine (the neuter singular of the past participle) of the main form to form a perfective construction. Typically the participle follows the finite verb in the sentence: 'Hann hafði fengit Beru...' 'He had got Bera...', but other sequences of auxiliary and main verb are possible (see Lesson XI).

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Bjálfason [Lesson VI]	patronymic, 'son of Bjálfi '
Egill (Agil-a-)	personal name
Haraldr (Harald-a-)	personal name
Kveld-Úlfsson [Lesson VI]	patronymic, 'son of Kveld-Úlfr '
menn [N/A pl of maðr (mann-)]	men
Yngvarr (Yngvar-a-)	personal name
Þórólfr (Þórólf-a-)	personal name

Feminine:

Bera (Bera-)	personal name
Berölu-Káradóttir [Lesson XXVI]	patronymic, 'daughter of Berölu-Kári '
saga (saga-)	saga, story
Salbjörg (bjarg-a-)	personal name
Sæunn (unnj-a-) [see Lesson IV, 1D]	personal name
Þórunn (unnj-a-)	personal name

Neuter:

barn (barn-)	child
Borgarhraun (hraun-)	place-name, 'Lava Field of Borg '

dráp (dráp-)	slaying
fall (fall-)	fall, death in battle
Hafnarfjall (fjall-)	place-name, 'Harbour Mountain'
Selalón (lón-)	place-name, 'Seal Inlet'

Pronoun

sín [3rd G reflexive, Lesson XI]	himself, herself, themselves
----------------------------------	------------------------------

Article

-(i)n [fem N sg, Lesson IX]	the
sagan	the saga

Verbs

drap [3rd sg past ind of drepa (drep-)]	slew
fengit (fengin-) [supine of fá [+ G], Lesson XXI]	got in marriage, married (someone)
getr [3rd sg pres ind of geta (get-)] [+ G]	mentions (something) hafði [3rd sg past ind of hafa , Lesson XIV]	had hefnði [3rd sg past ind of hefna (hefn-i/j-)] [+ G]	avenged (someone)
segir [3rd sg pres ind of segja (sag-i/j-)]	says
svá sem áðr segir	as is (has been) said before siglði [3rd sg past ind of sigla (sigl-i/j-)] [+ D]	sailed (something)
váru [3rd pl past ind of vera (ver-)]	were

Preposition

eptir [+ A]	after
-------------	-------

Prepositional Phrase

fyrir sakir [+ G]	on account of, for the sake of
-------------------	--------------------------------

3. Text

Svá sem áðr segir nam Skalla-Grímr Mýrar allar milli Selalóns ok Borgarhrauns, suðr til Hafnarfjalls. Hann var sonr Kveld-Úlfs Bjálfasonar ok Salbjargar Berðlu-Káradóttur. Skalla-Grímr hafði fengit Beru, dóttur Yngvars í Fjörðum, konu góðrar ok vænnar. Hann siglði til Íslands fyrir sakir úfriðar milli sín ok Haralds konungs eptir fall Þórólfs Kveld-Úlfssonar. Hefnði hann dráps Þórólfs ok drap marga menn konungs. Børn Gríms ok Beru váru mörg. Getr sagan Þórólfs ok Egils, Þórunnar ok Sæunnar.

4. Drills

Convert the following adjective and noun stems into G sg forms.

Example: (ríkj-) (hall-i-) = ríkrar hallar.

(A)	(fagr-)	(himin-a-)
(B)	(góð-)	(vættj-a-)
(C)	(nýj-)	(land-)
(D)	(hvass-)	(sverð-)
(E)	(mikil-)	(jötun-a-)
(F)	(frægj-)	(konung-a-)
(G)	(nýj-)	(leið-i-)
(H)	(skamm-)	(ferð-i-)
(I)	(ríkj-)	(jarl-a-)
(J)	(góð-)	(barn-)
(K)	(frægj-)	(ríkj-)
(L)	(grœn-)	(heiðj-a-)
(M)	(lang-)	(fjarð-u-)
(N)	(góð-)	(son/syn-u-)
(O)	(mikil-)	(eyj-a-) fem. 'isle'
(P)	(traust-)	(vápn-)
(Q)	(lang-)	(mýrj-a-)
(R)	(fagr-)	(skip-)
(S)	(góð-)	(dag-a-)
(T)	(skamm-)	(dal-i-)
(U)	(dýr-)	(gjaf-a-)
(V)	(mikil-)	(fjall-)
(W)	(nýj-)	(gest-i-)
(X)	(grœn-)	(vall-u-)
(Y)	(lang-)	(kvæðj-)
(Z)	(roskv-)	(víking-a-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Bera was the wife of Skalla-Grim and the daughter of Yngvar in the Firths.

(B) She was a good and beautiful woman.

(C) Skalla-Grim was the son of Kveld-Ulf Bjalfason.

(D) On account of the killing of Thorolf Kveld-Ulfsson he sailed a ship to Iceland.

(E) He avenged Thorolf and killed many of the king's men.

(F) Skalla-Grim settled 'The Bogs' between Seal Inlet and the lava field of Borg south to Harbour Mountain.

(G) The saga mentions the children (barna) of Skalla-Grim and Bera: Thorolf, Egil, Thorunn, and Sæunn.

LESSON VIII

1. Grammar

(A) Genitive Plural

(1) Form

(a) Nominal form: the ending for all genders is -a. As examples we have: (mann-) 'man' G pl manna, (sveit-i-) 'district' G pl sveita, (eyj-a-) 'island' G pl eyja, (sverð-) 'sword' G pl sverða, (rikj-) 'dominion' G pl rikja, etc.

(b) Adjectival form: the ending for all genders is -ra. Examples are: Hann er úvinr margra manna 'He is the enemy of many men'; Hver er stærst allra norrænna borga? 'Which is the largest of all northern cities?'; Hann siglir til margra nýrra landa 'He sails to many new lands.'

(Note that the r in -ra is assimilated to a preceding n, or doubled, under the same conditions as those described for the G sg ending -rar, see Lesson VII, 1A2.)

(2) Usage

(a) Apart from the usage described in Lesson VII for the genitive singular, the genitive plural is also used as a partitive. The partitive defines the member(s) of a class in relation to the class as a whole. An illustration of this usage is the sentence: Kaupmannahöfn er stærst allra borga í Danmörku 'Copenhagen is the biggest of all cities in Denmark.'

(b) Further use of the genitive occurs with prepositions of an adverbial nature which end in -an. These indicate a spatial relation with reference to a point which is always referred to in the genitive. Thus we have, for example, austan Svíþjóðar '(to the) east of Sweden', vestan Færeyja '(to the) west of the Faroes', etc.

(B) The Supine

In Lesson V we discussed the fact that the form of the participle occurring with any form of hafa 'have' is neuter in gender, singular in number, and is called the supine. In this lesson we have an example of the supine of a participle whose stem ends in ð: (leitað-) 'sought, turned'. When the neuter singular marker -t is added to a stem of this type, we have the following derivation: (leitað-+-t) → (leitatt-+-t) → (leitatt) → leitatt (see Lesson I, 1D1 and D3).

(C) Masculine i-Thematic Nouns Ending in Velar

In a masculine i-thematic noun with a long-syllable stem that ends in either k or g the thematic -i- appears as j before a following a or u. (Compare with long-syllable j-augmented stems ending in k or g, as discussed in Lesson III, 1D1 b2.) Thus N sg drykkir (drykk-i-) 'drink' has N pl drykkir, but D pl drykkjum, G pl drykkja; N sg bekkr (bekk-i-) 'bench' has N pl bekkir, D pl bekkjum, G pl bekkjja. The j appearing here is not an augment, as it does not appear as i in the A sg. Compare the A sg forms of (hersj-a-) and (bekk-i-), which are hersj and bekk, respectively.

(This clear distinction between i-thematic stems and j-augmented -a- stems is not so easily drawn in the case of a handful of short-syllable stems which form N pl with -i-+-r but otherwise behave as j-augmented stems. Thus masculine bær 'farm' has the N pl bæir, but D pl bæjum, G pl bæja. The j here appears under the conditions that apply to such short-syllable augmented stems as (miðj-) 'middle' or (nýj-) 'new' (see Lesson III, 1D1 a). Such irregular stems can be represented as having the underlying stem form (bœj-i-), etc.)

(D) Word Order

(1) As mentioned in Lesson IV, the word order of a dependent clause places the verb in second position after the subject or adverb. When the word that introduces the dependent clause is a relative pronoun which simultaneously is the subject of the clause, the verb immediately follows the relative. Consider, though, a case where the relative pronoun er 'who, which, that' is followed by a present form of the verb vera 'be': the sequence ... er er ... '... which is ...' that results may be considered undesirable for stylistic reasons. This may be avoided by moving another constituent, an adverbial or modifier, into position between the two words, resulting in a sequence such as: 'Hólmgarðr, er stærst er borga þar . . .' 'Holmgard, which is the largest of (the) cities there . . .'.

(2) A passive construction in Old Icelandic is formed with the auxiliary verb vera 'be' and a past participle form of the main verb, which agrees in gender and number with the subject. When the object noun of an active clause, such as konungr vegr marga menn 'the king slays many men', is shifted to become the subject noun of a corresponding passive: margir menn eru vegnir af konungi 'many men are slain by the king', then the direct object, which appears in the accusative case in the active sentence, becomes the subject in the nominative case of a passive construction. However, indirect objects, in the dative or genitive in active sentences, also appear in the dative or genitive in corresponding passive constructions, and the participle of the main verb appears in the supine: margra vikinga er getit 'many vikings are mentioned'. (For further discussion of passive constructions see Lesson XXXIII.)

(3) The adverb ok 'also' is not to be confused with the conjunction ok 'and', since the former can only occur after the verb in an independent clause, or following the subject when the clause is conjoined by ok 'and': 'Vikingar hafa ok leitatt til annarra landa' 'Vikings have also sought other lands', as distinct from: '. . . ok hafa vikingar ok leitatt til annarra landa . . .' '... and vikings have also . . .', etc.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Hólmgarðr (garð-a-)	place-name, 'Islet Stronghold' (now Novgorod)
kaupmaðr (mann-)	merchant
Kænugarðr (garð-a-)	place-name, 'Skiff Stronghold' (now Kiev)
Mikligarðr (garð-a-)	place-name 'Great Stronghold' (now Istanbul)
Væringjar [pl] (Væringi-)	Varangians, Norsemen who served in the Imperial Byzantine Guard

Feminine:

Færeyjar [pl] (eyj-a-)	Faroe Islands
Orkneyjar [pl] (eyj-a-)	Orkney Islands
Suðreyjar [pl] (eyja-a-)	Hebrides Islands

Neuter:

Bretland (land-)	Wales, Britain
Garðaríki (ríkj-)	Russia
Hjaltland (land-)	Shetland Islands
Írland (land-)	Ireland
lið (lið-)	troops, host
rit (rit-)	writing
Skotland (land-)	Scotland
Svartahaf (haf-)	the Black Sea

Adjectives

fjarlæg (læg-)	distant
hraustr (hraust-)	valiant
nálæg (læg-)	nearby
norrœnn (norrœn-)	Norse, northern
stærstr (stærst-)	biggest

Verbs

byggja (bygg-i/j-)	settle, inhabit
fara (far-)	journey, go
getit (getin-) [supine of geta (get-)] [+ G]	mentioned
er getit	there are tales of
leggja (lag(g)-i/j-)	lay
leggja leið sína	make one's way
leitit (leitað-) [supine of leita (leit-a-)]	sought
leitit til	turned to
liggr [3rd sg pres ind of liggja (lig(g)-i/j-)]	lies
segir [3rd sg pres ind of segja (sag-i/j-)]	tells; impersonal use: is told
verit [supine of vera (ver-)]	been

Adverbs

ok	also
út	out, towards the west
þangat	thither

Prepositions

austan [+ G]	east of
sunnan [+ G]	south of
vestan [+ G]	west of

Conjunction

er	which, that
----	-------------

3. Text

Norrœnir menn byggja Nóreg, Svíþjóð, ok Danmörku. Í mörgum ritum segir af ferðum norrœnna víkinga til margra annarra landa, nálægra ok fjarlæggra. Austan Svíþjóðar liggir Garðaríki ok fara margir kaupmenn ok víkingar þangat, til Hólmgarðs ok Kænugarðs, er stærstar eru borga þar í landi. Síðan leggja sumir þeira leið sína þaðan suðr til Svartahafs, eða til Miklagarðs. Er getit margra hraustra víkinga er hafa verit í liði Væringja þar. Norrœnir víkingar hafa ok leitit út til annarra landa vestan eða sunnan Noregs: til Íslands, Færeyja, Orkneyja, ok Hjaltlands, ok suðr til Skotlands, Englands, Bretlands, Írlands, Suðreyja, ok Vallands.

4. Drills

Convert the following noun and adjective stems into G pl forms.

Example: (hvass-) (spjót-)=hvassra spjóta.

(A) (góð-)	(vættj-a-)
(B) (sterk-)	(drykk-i-)
(C) (völdug-)	(jarl-a-)
(D) (grœn-)	(hlíð-i-)
(E) (fjarlæg-)	(eyj-a-)
(F) (mikil-)	(lið-)
(G) (nýj-)	(rit-)
(H) (lang-)	(mýrj-a-)
(I) (ríkj-)	(konung-a-)
(J) (góð-)	(dreng-i-)
(K) (nálæg-)	(heiðj-a-)
(L) (frægj-)	(garð-a-)
(M) (mikil-)	(jökul-a-)

(N)	(frægj-)	(ríkj-)
(O)	(gamal-)	(kvæðj-)
(P)	(mikil-)	(hall-i-)
(Q)	(nýj-)	(bœj-i-)
(R)	(dýr-)	(gjaf-a-)
(S)	(lang-)	(fjarð-u-)
(T)	(norrœn-)	(land-)
(U)	(sterk-)	(jötun-a-)
(V)	(hraust-)	(víking-a-)
(W)	(skarp-)	(sverð-)
(X)	(góð-)	(barn-)
(Y)	(lang-)	(bekk-i-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Norse vikings have journeyed (farit) to many close and distant lands east of Sweden.

(B) Many valiant vikings and merchants journey to Novgorod and Kiev, which are in Russia.

(C) From there they journey to the south to the Black Sea and Istanbul, where (þar er) many have been in the troop of the Varangians.

(D) To the south and the west of Norway and Sweden the Norsemen have journeyed out to other lands.

(E) South of Norway the Norwegian vikings sail (sigla) to the Faroe Islands, the Orkney Islands, the Shetland Islands, and Scotland.

6. A Survey of Regular Noun Declensions in Lessons I-VIII

(A) Masculine Nouns

Endings: N	Sg	-r	Pl	thematic + -r
	A	zero		thematic + zero
	G	-s, -ar		-a
	D	-i		-um

Stems: (garð-a-) (himin-a-) (hersj-a-) (snæv-a-)

Forms:

Sg N	garðr	himinn	hersir	snær
A	garð	himin	hersir	snæ

G	garðs	himins	hersis	snæs
D	garði	himni	hersir	snævi
Pl N	garðar	himnar	hersar	snævar
A	garða	himna	hersa	snæva
G	garða	himna	hersa	snæva
D	gørðum	himnum	hersum	snæm

Stems: (stað-i-) (gest-i-) (bekk-i-) (bœj-i-)

Forms:

Sg N	staðr	gestr	bekkr	bœr
A	stað	gest	bekk	bœ
G	staðar	gests	bekkjjar	bœjar
D	staði	gesti	bekki	bœi
Pl N	staðir	gestir	bekkir	bœir
A	staði	gesti	bekki	bœi
G	staða	gesta	bekkjja	bœja
D	støðum	gestum	bekkjum	bœjum

(B) Feminine Nouns

Endings: N	Sg	(u-umlaut), -r	Pl	thematic + -r
	A	(-u), zero		thematic + -r
	G	-ar		-a
	D	(-u), zero		-um

Stems: (gjaf-a-) (eyj-a-) (mýrj-a-) (hall-i-)

Forms:

Sg N	gjöf	ey	mýrr	höll
A	gjöf(u)	ey(ju)	mýri	höll(u)
G	gjafar	eyjar	mýrar	hallar
D	gjöf(u)	ey(ju)	mýri	höll(u)
Pl N	gjafar	eyjar	mýrar	hallir
A	gjafar	eyjar	mýrar	hallir
G	gjafa	eyja	mýra	halla
D	gjöfum	eyjum	mýrum	höllum

(C) Neuter Nouns

Endings: N/A	Sg	zero	Pl	(u-umlaut)
	G	-s		-a
	D	-i		-um

Stems:	(land-)	(sumar-)	(nesj-)	(kvæðj-)
Forms:
Sg N/A	land	sumar	nes	kvæði
G	lands	sumars	ness	kvæðis
D	landi	sumri	nesi	kvæði
Pl N/A	lond	sumur	nes	kvæði
G	landa	sumra	nesja	kvæða
D	londum	sumrum	nesjum	kvæðum
Stems:	(ríkj-)	(ólv-)
Forms:
Sg N/A	ríki	ól
G	ríkis	óls
D	ríki	ólvi
Pl N/A	ríki	ól
G	ríkja	ólva
D	ríkjum	ólum

7. A Survey of Adjective Declensions in Lessons I-VIII

(A) Masculine Forms

	Endings:	N	Sg	-r	Pl	-ir
		A		-an		-a
		G		-s		-ra
		D		-um		-um
Stems:	(sterk-)	(væn-)	(gamal-)	(nýj-)	(frægj-)	(röskv-)
Forms:
Sg N	sterkr	vænn	gamall	nýr	frægr	röskr
A	sterkan	vænan	gamlan	nýjan	frægjan	röskvan
G	sterks	væns	gamals	nýs	frægs	rösks
D	sterkum	vænum	gömlum	nýjum	frægjum	röskum
Pl N	sterkir	vænir	gamlir	nýir	frægir	röskvir
A	sterka	væna	gamla	nýja	frægja	röskva
G	sterkra	vænna	gamalla	nýrra	fræggra	röskra
D	sterkum	vænum	gömlum	nýjum	frægjum	röskum

(B) Feminine Forms

	Endings:	N	Sg	(u-umlaut)	Pl	-ar
		A		-a		-ar
		G		-rar		-ra
		D		-ri		-um
Stems:	(sterk-)	(væn-)	(gamal-)	(nýj-)	(frægj-)	(röskv-)
Forms:
Sg N	sterk	væn	gömul	ný	fræg	rösk
A	sterka	væna	gamla	nýja	frægja	röskva
G	sterkrar	vænnar	gamallar	nýrrar	frægjar	röskrar
D	sterkri	vænni	gamalli	nýrri	frægri	röskri
Pl N/A	sterkar	vænar	gamlar	nýjar	frægjar	röskvar
G
D

AS MASCULINE FORMS

(C) Neuter Forms

	Endings:	N/A	Sg	-t	Pl	(u-umlaut)
		G		-s		-ra
		D		-u		-um
Stems:	(sterk-)	(væn-)	(gamal-)	(nýj-)	(frægj-)	(röskv-)
Forms:
Sg N/A	sterkt	vænt	gamalt	nýtt	frægt	röskt
G	sterks	væns	gamals	nýs	frægs	rösks
D	sterku	vænu	gömlu	nýju	frægju	röskju
Pl N/A	sterk	væn	gömul	ný	fræg	rösk
G
D

AS MASCULINE FORMS

LESSON IX

1. Grammar

(A) Weak Noun Declensions

(1) Weak nouns v. strong nouns: all nouns in Old Icelandic are classified as either 'strong' or 'weak' depending on the form of the stem. Those nouns entered in the glossary as having an underlying stem ending in the vowel i or a, such as masculine (bani-) 'death, bane', (flótti-) 'flight'; feminine (kona-) 'woman, wife', (gersimi-) 'treasure'; or neuter (auga-) 'eye', are weak nouns and take case endings different from those of the so-called strong nouns. Almost all the nouns in Lessons I-IX are strong nouns, and the great majority of the masculines and feminines among the strong nouns are characterized by a thematic vowel, such as (víking-a-), (veig-a-), (sveit-i-), (vall-u-), etc. It is important to distinguish between the N sg of a weak noun ending in a or i, which is represented in parentheses as the basic underlying stem form, and the thematic -a- or -i- that characterizes a strong noun stem.

(2) Case endings of weak nouns—singular

(a) Masculine: in the masculine gender the weak nouns are characterized by a N sg (and underlying stem) form ending in i, while the other cases, A, G, and D, have a. Thus for (bani-) 'bane' we have:

N sg bani, A/G/D bana.

(b) Feminine: there are two types of weak noun in the feminine singular. The more common of these is characterized by a N sg (and stem) ending in a, while the other cases, A, G, and D, have u. Thus for (saga-) 'saga, tale' we have:

N sg saga, A/G/D sögu.

The second feminine type has a stem ending in i, and is identical in all case forms. Thus for (hreysti-) 'valour' we have:

N/A/G/D hreysti.

This second class of weak feminines consists of abstract nouns (compare hreysti 'valour' with the adjective hraustr 'valiant') which rarely occur in the plural.

(c) Neuter: the neuter gender has a weak noun type characterized by a final a. All cases show identical forms in the singular. Thus for (auga-) 'eye' we have:

N/A/G/D sg auga.

(B) The Definite Article

The definite article in Old Icelandic has the stem (in-). As is shown by the table below, the definite article is declined like an adjective (see Lesson VIII, 7) in case, gender, and number:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Sg N	sterkr : inn	sterk : in	sterkt : it
A	sterkan : inn	sterka : ina	sterkt : it
G	sterks : ins	sterkrar : innar	sterks : ins
D	sterkum : inum	sterkri : inni	sterku : inu
Pl N	sterkir : inir	sterkar : inar	sterk : in
A	sterka : ina	sterkar : inar	sterk : in
G		sterkra : inna
D		sterkum : inum

Note that the r of the case ending is assimilated, wherever possible, to preceding n (see Lesson IV, 1B). In the neuter sg N/A (in- + -t) → it. Note also that the derivation of the masculine A sg (in- + -an) → inn involves the loss of the unstressed vowel.

(C) The Postponed Article

The definite article is normally suffixed to the noun. When the noun ends in a vowel, the initial i of the article is dropped, as in masculine A sg (bana + inn) → banann 'the bane, death'. When a bisyllabic form of the article with two short syllables (i.e. inir, inar, inum) is suffixed to a poly- or bisyllabic word form, the initial i of the article is lost: (víkingar + inir) → víkingarnir, (deilur + inar) → deilurnar, etc. Moreover the D pl ending -um is assimilated to the D pl form of the article and (-um + inum) → unum, as in (víkingum + inum) → víkingunum, (deilum + inum) → deilunum, etc.

Otherwise the process of suffixing the article is straightforward: vikigr—vikigrinn; barns—barnsins; veigar—veigarinnar; þörn—þörnin; vinga—vinganna; veiga—veiganna, etc.

(D) The Preposed Article

When the noun is modified by an adjective, the definite article frequently precedes both the adjective and the noun: inn hrausti vikingr 'the valiant viking', til ins unga barns 'to the young child', inna föguru kvenna 'of the beautiful women'. The article can, of course, also be suffixed here: unga konan, 'the young woman', etc.

(E) Weak Adjectives

As can be seen in D, above, the form of the adjective modifying a definite noun differs from the adjective modifying an indefinite noun. The definite forms of the adjective belong to the so-called 'weak' declension of adjectival stems, as their endings are identical with those of the weak nouns under A2 (the sg forms) above. Thus the weak adjectival endings are:

Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
N sg -i: A/G/D -a	N sg -a: A/G/D -u	N/A/G/D sg: -a.

Some examples are: sterkr vikingr 'a strong viking', inn sterki vikingr 'the strong viking'; fögr kona 'a beautiful woman', in fagra kona 'the beautiful woman'; skarpt sverð 'a sharp sword', it skarpa sverð 'the sharp sword'; hrausts vikings 'a valiant viking's', ins hrausta vikings 'the valiant viking's'; vænnar konu 'a handsome woman's', innar vænu konu 'the handsome woman's'; skörpu sverði '(with) a sharp sword', inu skarpa sverði '(with) the sharp sword', etc.

Note: The words allr 'all', annarr 'other', sjálf 'self', and sumr 'some', which thus far have been classified as adjectives, occur only in the strong forms. They are more properly analysed as indefinite pronouns (see Lesson XXIV).

(F) Word Order

(1) When a transitive verb takes both a direct object (accusative) and an indirect object (dative), the relative order of the object noun-phrases is governed by various criteria. A dative normally precedes an accusative object, but the A may be shifted in front of the D in order to emphasize it, or because it is the simpler and shorter constituent and will thus not be too far removed from the transitive verb by a long noun-phrase in the dative. Thus we have: Hann gefr konungi [D] dýra gjof [A] 'He gives the king a precious gift'; but Flosi býðr útgöngu [A] Njáli ok Bergþóru ok konum ok þörnum [D] 'Flosi offers permission to go out to Njal and Bergthora and women and children.'

(2) The verb verða 'become' is often used in impersonal constructions, where it is best translated as 'come about, take place'. Impersonal constructions with verða are essentially parallel to other impersonal constructions and governed by the same rules of word order: 'Verðr fyrst bardagi . . .' 'First a battle takes place . . .' is similar in structure to 'Skal hér nefna . . .' 'Here shall be named' (Lesson VI). (See Lesson XXXIII for an analysis of Impersonal Constructions.)

(3) In certain instances the definite article is postponed when the noun is modified by an adjective. Thus we can have sveinninn ungi 'the young boy' as well as inn ungi sveinn, sveinsins unga, as well as ins unga sveins, etc. In such constructions the adjective is of somewhat less significance in the noun-phrase than when it precedes the noun.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

bani (bani-)	death, bane
bardagi (bardagi-)	battle
Bergþórshváll (hvál-a-)	place-name, 'Bergthor's Knoll'
Brennu-Njáll (Njál-a-)	personal name, 'Burnt-Njal' ( brenna = 'burning')
dauði (dauði-)	death
eldr (eld-a-)	fire
Flosi (Flosi-)	personal name
þeir Flosi	Flosi and his men, those with Flosi
flótti (flótti-)	flight
á flótta	in flight, by fleeing

Grani (Grani-)	personal name
Grimr (Grim-a-)	personal name
Gunnarr (Gunnar-a-)	personal name
heimamaðr (mann-)	servant
Kári (Kári-)	personal name
skaði (skaði-)	harm, loss
fá mikinn skaða á mönnum	take a great loss of men
skáli (skáli-)	hall, main room
Skarpheðinn (heðin-a-)	personal name
sveinn (svein-a-)	boy, young man
Sölmundr (mund-u-)	personal name
Þórðr (Þórð-u-)	personal name
Feminine:
arfásata (sáta-)	chickweed rick ( arfi = chickweed)
Bergþóra (þóra-)	personal name
dyrr [pl] [A dyrr /G dura /D durum ]	door, opening
för (far-a-)	journey
Helga (Helga-)	personal name
hreysti (hreysti-)	valour
hvíla (hvíla-)	bed
saga (saga-)	saga, tale
útganga (ganga-)	exit, permission to go out
Neuter:
bál (bál-)	fire, pyre
loft (loft-)	loft
Adjectives
kvændr (kvænd-) [participle of kvæna ( kván-i/j- )] [+D]	having (someone) for a wife
ungr (ung-)	young
Pronoun.
sik [3rd A reflexive, Lesson XI]	himself, herself, themselves
Article
-(i)n [neut N/A pl]	the
húsin	the houses
Verbs
bera (ber-)	carry
bíða (bíð-) [+A]	suffer, undergo (something)
brenndu [3rd pl past ind of brenna ( brann-i/j- )]	burned (transitive)

býðr [3rd sg pres ind of bjóða ( bjúð- )] [+D] [+A]	offers (something) (to someone)
fá [Lesson XXI] [+A]	get
ganga [Lesson XXI]	go, walk
gera [Lesson XIV]	do, make
kjósa ( kjús- )	choose
kømsk [3rd sg pres ind of komask ( kom- )]	gets, reaches
kømsk undan	gets away, escapes
loga ( log-a- )	blaze
stendr [3rd sg pres ind of standa , Lesson XX]	stands
taka ( tak- )	take verðr [3rd sg pres ind of verða ( verð- )]	becomes, happens, comes about
verja ( var-i/j- )	defend verjask = verja sik

Adverbs

fyrst	first, at first
inni	inside
lengi	for a long time
þá	then

Prepositions

ásamt [+D]	together with
at [+D]	to
fyrir [+D]	in front of innan [+G]	within
innan skamms	within a short while

Prepositional Phrases

fyrir ofan [+A]	above
inn í [+A]	into

3. Text

Í Brennu-Njáls sögu segir frá för Flösa Þórðarsonar, Grana Gunnarssonar, ok annarra at Bergþórshváli, er þeir brenndu inni Skarpheðin, Grim, ok Helga, sonu Njáls ok Bergþóru, ok Kára Sölmundarson, er kvændr var Helgu Njálsdóttur. Verðr fyrst bardagi milli þeira, en heimamenn verja sik vel ok fá þeir Flösi mikinn skaða á mönnum. Taka þeir þá eld ok gera bál fyrir durum, ok bera þeir síðan arfasátu, sem stendr fyrir ofan húsin, inn í loptit ok leggja eld í. Innan skamms taka skálinn ok öll húsin at loga, en Flosi býðr útgöngu Njáli, konum, ok börnum. En Njáll ok Bergþóra kjósa at ganga til hvílu ásamt sveininum unga Þórði Kárasyni, ok verðr þat dauði þeira. Njálssynir verjask lengi af mikilli hreysti, en biða allir bana, en Kári kœmsk undan á flótta.

4. Drills

Convert the following adjective and noun stems into N sg and A sg forms, both indefinite and definite. Example:

(ung-) (kona-) = ung kona, unga konu, in unga kona, ina ungu konu, unga konan, ungu konuna.

- |              |                            |
|--------------|----------------------------|
| (A) (mikil-) | (skaði-)                   |
| (B) (fagr-)  | (skáli-)                   |
| (C) (fagr-)  | (gersimi-) (feminine)      |
| (D) (lang-)  | (sáta-)                    |
| (E) (góð-)   | (dauði-)                   |
| (F) (frægj-) | (bardagi-)                 |
| (G) (nýj-)   | (hvíla-)                   |
| (H) (grœn-)  | (arfi-) (masculine)        |
| (I) (gamal-) | (saga-)                    |
| (J) (djarf-) | (flótti-)                  |
| (K) (mikil-) | (hreysti-) (feminine)      |
| (L) (góð-)   | (hjarta-) 'heart' (neuter) |

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Flosi Thordarson, Grani Gunnarsson, and others (aðrir) ride (riða) to Bergthor's Knoll.

(B) There Njal's sons defend themselves well, and Flosi and his men take (fá) a great loss of men.

(C) In the house of Njal were Skarphedin, Grim, and Helgi, sons of Njal and Bergthora, together with Kari Solmundarson, who was married to Helga Njal's daughter.

(D) Those with Flosi make a fire before the door-opening and carry a chickweed rick to the loft and lay fire to it.

(E) All the houses begin to (taka at) blaze within a short time, and Flosi offers Njal, (the) children, and (the) women permission to go out.

(F) But Njal and Bergthora together with the young boy Thord Kari's son choose to go to bed in the house, and that becomes their death.

(G) Those with Flosi kill all Njal's sons, but Kari escapes in flight.

LESSON X

1. Grammar

(A) Plurals of Weak Nouns

(1) Form: to the stems of weak nouns are added the following plural endings:

Pl	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
N	-ar	-ur	-u
A	-a	-ur	-u
G		-(n)a
D		-um

Thus we have such forms as masc N pl kappar 'heroes' from (kappi-), sögur 'sagas, tales' from fem (saga-), hjórtu 'hearts' from neuter (hjarta-).

(2) Historically the weak nouns are described as the 'n-stems', but the n that was characteristic of these noun stems (as a thematic) in the earliest Germanic has disappeared virtually everywhere in Old Icelandic and remains only in the G pl ending. Even here it is not always present. The n appears in almost all feminine and neuter G pl forms, but almost never in masculines. Thus we have feminine (saga-) G pl sagna, (vísa-) 'verse, stanza' G pl visna; neuter (hjarta-) G pl hjatna, (eyra-) 'ear' G pl eyrna, but masculine (skáli-) 'hall' G pl skála, (kappi-) G pl kappa, etc. The G pl of (kona-) is kvenna.

A number of feminine weak noun-stems have j preceding the final vowel case-marker: hetja 'hero', kirkja 'church', bylgja 'wave, billow', húsfreyja 'housewife', etc. In those stems that end in a velar, k or g, the j is lost before the G pl -na ending: kirkna, bylgna, etc. But those stems that do not have k or g take the G pl ending -a and retain the j. Thus (hetja-) has the G pl hetja, (húsfreyja-) has the G pl húsfreyja, etc. On the other hand, the stem-final i of masculine weak nouns appears as j when it is preceded by k or g and followed by a or u; thus (Væringi-) 'Varangian' has the n pl Væringjar, D pl Væringjum, etc., (Skrælingi-) 'savage' has the N pl Skrælingjar, G pl Skrælingja, etc. (compare this with Lesson III, 1D1 b1).

(3) In some of the oldest attestations of Norse literature, especially poetry, a more archaic form is often preserved with n in other case forms besides those of G pl. Thus (gumi-) 'man' (poet.) sometimes has the N pl gumnar, G pl gumna, etc., whereas in younger texts we find N pl gumar, G pl guma, etc.

(4) As mentioned in Lesson IX, the feminine weak nouns of the type represented by (hreysti-) 'valour', etc., which are usually abstract in meaning, have no plural forms. Nouns with concrete meaning form plurals like masculine forms: gersimi—gersimar.

(B) Plurals of Weak Adjectives

(1) Form: unlike the singular case endings of weak adjectives, which are the same as the singular case endings of weak nouns (see Lesson IX, 1A and E), the plural endings of weak adjectives differ in three out of four cases from those of weak nouns:

Pl	Masculine/Feminine/Neuter
N/A/G	-u
D	-um

Thus we have, for example, inir hraustu kappar, inar fögur konur, in ungu börn, inna hraustu vikinga, inum fögurum konum, etc.

(2) When the adjective modifies a noun accompanied by the definite article the weak form of the adjective is obligatory. The weak form is thus definite in meaning. When the adjective modifies a personal name, i.e. functions as an epithet, the role of the article is supplementary. Thus Eiríkr rauði means 'Eric the Red' despite the absence of an article. Similarly, we can have both Helga fagra and Helga in fagra 'Helga the Fair', Leifr heppni and Leifr inn heppni 'Leif the Lucky', etc.

(3) In English the superlative of the adjective modifying a noun is always definite, i.e. always accompanied by 'the'. In Old Icelandic the superlative can appear in both the indefinite (strong) and definite (weak) forms. The definite form of the superlative is always used:

(a) when the adjective is modified by a quantifier (or numeral) or demonstrative pronoun, since these categories are inherently definite in meaning: Margar frægstu hetjur Íslendingasagna eru bardagamenn 'Many of the most famous heroes of the Icelandic Sagas are warriors.'

(b) when the adjective indicates the highest degree, but without reference to the group of comparison or attribution in a genitive construction: Freyr er inn ágætasti af ásum 'Frey is the most excellent of (=from among) the gods.'

When, on the other hand, the superlative adjective occurs in a possessive construction where the group of reference or comparison is defined or restricted it occurs in the indefinite form: 'Egill orkti margar kviður . . . , frægst þeira er Hofuðlausn' 'Egil composed many poems . . . , the most famous of them is Hofuðlausn', or Freyr er ágætastr ása 'Frey is the most excellent of (the) gods.' (Compare this with other possessive constructions, which are also indefinite, see Lesson II, 1D2.)

(C) Word Order

When two statements are conjoined and the first is affirmative while the other is negative, the negating word may be moved up to the head of the second clause for stylistic contrast and emphatic effect, occupying the position normally taken by the subject or an adverb. Thus, for example: 'Hann var mikill ofstopamaðr, en engi var hann gæfumaðr' 'He was a man of great vehemence, but he was not a man of good fortune', where the indefinite pronoun engi actually modifies the noun gæfumaðr of the predicate.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Ásmundr (mund-u-)	personal name
Grettir (Grettj-a-)	personal name
Gunnlaugr (laug-a-)	personal name
Hámundr (mund-u-)	personal name
Hlíðarendi (endi-)	place-name, 'Slope's End'
Högni (Högni-)	personal name
Íslendingr (lending-a-)	Icelander
kappi (kappi-)	champion
Laxdœlir [pl]	men of Laxárdalur , 'Salmon River Dale'
ofstopi (ofstopi-)	vehemence, arrogance
Ósvífr (Ósvífr-a-)	personal name
Skrælingi (Skrælingi-)	savage, here = American Indian or Eskimo

svarri (svarri-)	proud, haughty woman
Feminine:
deila (deila-)	disagreement, feud
drápa (drápa-)	a type of heroic poem
fegrð (fegrð-i-)	beauty
Guðrún (rún-a-)	personal name
Gunnhildr (hildj-a-)	personal name
gæfa (gæfa-)	good fortune
Hallgerðr (gerðj-a-)	personal name
hetja (hetja-)	hero
Höfuðlausn (lausn-i-)	name of a poem, 'Head Ransom'
kvenna [irregular, G-pl of kona (kona-)]	women
kviða (kviða-)	poem, ballad
lausavísa (vísa-)	single verse
móðir [Lesson XXVI]	mother
Ormstunga (tunga-)	nickname, 'Serpent's Tongue'
orrusta (orrusta-)	battle
øx (øxj-a-)	axe
Neuter:
blóð (blóð-)	blood
Vínland (land-)	Vinland, North America
Adjectives
frægstr (frægst-) [superlative of frægr (frægj-)]	most famous mestr (mest-) [superlative of mikill (mikil-), Lesson XXVIII]	greatest
Verbs
átti [3rd sg past ind of eiga , Lesson XXII] í bardaga [=D]	engaged, took part in a battle
kømr [3rd sg pres ind of koma (kom-)]	comes kømr við	appears in, bears upon
orti [3rd sg past ind of yrkja (yrk/ork-i/j-)]	composed
Adverbs
annars staðar	elsewhere
þó	yet, nevertheless Preposition
við [+A]	against

3. Text

Margar frægstu hetjur Íslendingasagna eru hraustir kappar ok bardagamenn. Mestr þeira var Grettir inn sterki Ásmundarson. Hann var bæði skáld gott ok mikill ofstopamaðr, en engi var hann gæfumaðr. Synir Skalla-Gríms, Þórólfr ok Egill, váru ok hetjur miklar ok áttu margar orrustur í Englandi ok annars staðar, en þó váru deilur Egils við Eirík konung blóðøxi ok Gunnhildi, konu hans, frægstar. Egill var mikit skáld, orti kviður, drápur, ok margar lausavísur, ok er frægst þeira Höfuðlausn. Margra frægra kvenna er ok getit í Íslendingasögum, ok váru sumar þeira svarrar miklir: Hallgerðr kona Gunnars Hámundarsonar á Hlíðarenda ok móðir Grana ok Högna, eða Freydís Eiríksdóttir ins rauða, er átti í bardaga við Skrælingja á Vínlandi. Margar konur váru ok frægjar fyrir sakir fegrðar: Helga in fagra, er kœmr við Gunnlaugs sögu Ormstungu, ok Guðrún Ósvífrsdóttir í Laxdœla sögu eru þeira frægstar.

4. Drills

(A) Convert the following adjective and noun stems into N pl and D pl forms, both indefinite and definite. Example:

(ung-) (kappi-) = ungir kappar, ungum koppum, inir ungu kappar, inum ungum koppum, ungu kapparnir, ungum koppunum.

- |               |            |
|---------------|------------|
| (1) (gamal-)  | (drápa-)   |
| (2) (frægj-)  | (deila-)   |
| (3) (mikil-)  | (ofstopi-) |
| (4) (fagr-)   | (kviða-)   |
| (5) (hraust-) | (hetja-)   |
| (6) (frægj-)  | (svarri-)  |
| (7) (mikil-)  | (gæfa-)    |
| (8) (lang-)   | (skáli-)   |

Convert the following stems into A pl and G pl forms, both indefinite and definite. Example:

(lang-) (bardagi-) = langa bardaga, langra bardaga, ina löngu bardaga, inna löngu bardaga, löngu bardagana, löngu bardaganna.

- |              |                          |
|--------------|--------------------------|
| (1) (nýj-)   | (vísa-)                  |
| (2) (mikil-) | (skaði-)                 |
| (3) (nýj-)   | (skáli-)                 |
| (4) (lang-)  | (tungu-)                 |
| (5) (djarf-) | (flótti-)                |
| (6) (nýj-)   | (saga-)                  |
| (7) (gamal-) | (kona-)                  |
| (8) (ung-)   | (hjarta-) neuter 'heart' |

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) Some of the valiant vikings sail to Vinland.
 (B) They (þau) with Freydis the daughter of Eric the Red engaged in battle there against the fierce (American) natives.
 (C) The sons of Skalla-Grim were great heroes and valiant champions.
 (D) Egil engaged in a feud (átti í deilu) with King Erik Blood-Axe and his wife Gunnhild.
 (E) Thorolf and Egil together with other (öðrum) valiant champions make (fara) many long journeys to England where (þar sem) they engage in (eiga í) great battles.
 (F) Egil was a great skald who (sem) composed single verses, ballads, and heroic poems.

LESSON XI

1. Grammar

(A) Endings of the Verb: Singular Present Indicative

The verbal stem takes various endings. The finite forms of the verb are derived by adding an ending to the verbal stem which indicates the person and number of the verbal subject. For example, the verbal stem (sigl-i/j-) 'sail' adds the person and number ending -r to indicate that the subject is in the third person singular (3rd sg) in the sentence Hann siglir til Nóregs 'He sails to Norway.' So far we have encountered only forms with a third person subject, either singular or plural, and a variety of different verbal stems: 'Hann lendir skipi sinu'; 'Hann finnr nýtt land'; 'Hann nemr land við Eiriksfiord'; or 'Morg skáld koma þar'; 'Allir drekka'; 'Margar vættir búa í úbyggðum', etc., where the 3rd sg ending is -r and the 3rd pl ending is -a. (The verb 'be' is irregular: hann er 'he is', þeir eru 'they are'.)

The verbal stem takes a personal ending for each of the three persons and two numbers in both present and past forms. The following are the endings for present singular indicative forms of regular verbs (both 'strong' and 'weak' stems, see Lessons XIII, XV), and the corresponding forms of the irregular verb (ver-) 'be':

Ending	Stem
Sg	(hugs-a-) 'think'	(horf-i-) 'look'	(sigl-i/j-) 'sail'	(get-) 'get'	(ver-) 'be'
1st: zero	hugsa	horfi	sigli	get	em
2nd: -r	hugsar	horfir	siglir	getr	ert
3rd: -r	hugsar	horfir	siglir	getr	er (older: es)

Apart from the so-called 'regular' and 'irregular' verbs there are a number of seemingly irregular verbs, the so-called 'preterite-present' verbs (see Lessons XXII and XXIII), that have the second person singular ending -t (or -tt, after a stem ending in a long vowel) and the first and third person singular ending zero. Common among these are the modal verbs 'will', 'shall', 'may', 'can', and others. Consequently we have the forms ek mun, þú

mun, hann mun for 'I will', 'you will', 'he will', ek skal, þú skalt, hann skal for 'I shall', etc., ek má, þú mátt, hann má, for 'I may', etc.

(B) Personal Pronouns: Singular

(1) In Lesson I we encountered the masculine and feminine forms of the third person singular pronoun: hann 'he' and hon 'she'. Other than these there are the neuter third singular þat 'it', the first person singular ek 'I', and the second person singular þú 'you (thou)'. All these personal pronouns are declined for the four cases and all are highly irregular. The following are the forms of the singular pronouns:

	1st	2nd	3rd
			masculine	feminine	neuter
N	ek	þú	hann	hon	þat
A	mik	þik	hann	hana	þat
G	min	þin	hans	hennar	þess
D	mér	þér	honum	henni	því

(2) For all genders, both singular and plural, the reflexive third person pronoun 'him-, her-, itself, themselves' has forms parallel to the first and second person singular pronouns:

A	sik
G	sín
D	sér

Some examples are: Hann verr sik með sverði 'He defends himself with a sword'; Hann reisir sér bólstað 'He builds (for) himself a farmstead'; Hann siglir frá Noregi fyrir sakir úfriðar milli sín ok konungs 'He sails from Norway because of enmity between himself and the king.' The same forms appear when the subject is in the third person plural, as in þeir verja sik vel 'They defend themselves well', etc.

(3) Very often the nominative singular of the second person appears as a suffix (enclitic) on the modal verbs (see A, above) and vera 'be'. When þú is attached to the verb it is reduced to -(t)u. Instead of skalt þú we can have skaltu; mun þú, muntu; mátt þú, máttu; ert þú, ertu, etc. A similar enclitic use of ek results in munk, skalk, mák, or emk, etc., for mun ek, etc., but this is not frequently used in prose literature, although it is quite usual in poetic language.

(C) Possessive Pronouns

(1) The genitive singular of the third person pronoun functions also as a possessive form. Some examples are: Skip hans er gott ok nýtt; Sonr hennar er ungr; Ek sigli skipi hans. These third person possessives are not declined by case and number.

(2) On the other hand, the genitive singular of the first and second person pronouns forms the stem of the first and second person possessive pronouns, respectively. The same is also true of the genitive of the third person reflexive possessive pronoun. These three stems are declined in gender, case, and number like strong (indefinite) adjective stems (see Lesson VIII, 7). Skip mitt 'my ship' is parallel to skip gott, dóttir þín 'your daughter' is declined like kona væn, etc. Thus we have the following forms of the possessive 1st person pronoun, with the 2nd person stem (þín-) and the reflexive 3rd person stem (sín-) declined in a parallel manner:

Stem: (mín-)	masculine	feminine	neuter
Sg N	minn	mín	mitt
A	minn	mína	mitt
G	míns	minnar	míns
D	minum	minni	minu
Pl N	minir	mínar	mín
A	mína	mínar	mín
G		minna
D		minum.

(Note that the stem vowel is shortened before a double consonant, -nn, or -tt.)

The possessive pronoun (sín-) refers to the subject of the clause, denoting 'his own, her own, their own', etc. Note, then, the difference in meaning between the clauses: hann siglir skipi sínu 'he sails his (own) ship' and hann siglir skipi hans 'he sails his (the other person's) ship.'

(3) Although possession is most frequently indicated by the use of the genitive forms and the derived possessives described above, certain forms of so-called 'inalienable possession', such as referring to parts of the body, are indicated by using the dative of the personal pronoun. The phrase til handa þér 'for your hands, for you' is a construction of this kind.

(D) Word Order: The Auxiliary Verbs

(1) The Principal Auxiliary Verbs: the commonest auxiliary verbs in Old Icelandic are vera 'be', which forms the passive voice with the past participle of the main verb; hafa 'have', which forms the perfect with the supine of the main verb; and the modal, or 'preterite-present' verbs (Lesson XXII), such as munu 'will', skulu 'shall', vilja 'want to', and others, which take the infinitive of the main verb. Furthermore, several other verbs function as auxiliaries in that they can take complements with the infinitive form. Among the most common of these are, for example, láta 'make, cause', kveðask 'say of oneself': Hann léttr sigla skipi sínu 'He has his ship sailed', Hann kvezk vilja fara 'He says that he wants to go', etc. A handful of such auxiliaries take complements where the infinitive of the main verb is accompanied by the marker at 'to': ætla at fara 'intend to go', verða at fara 'be compelled to go', etc.

(2) The Relative Order of Auxiliary and Main Verb

(a) Normally the auxiliary verb precedes the main verb. Sometimes they are contiguous in the sentence: e.g. Hoskuldr . . . hefir vakit bönorð . . . 'Hoskuld has brought up a proposal'; Þú vilt gipta mik ambáttarsyni 'You want to marry me to a bondwoman's son.' More frequently, though, one or more constituents of the sentence stand between the auxiliary and the main verb:

- (1) If an adverb occupies the first position in the sentence, the subject must immediately follow the finite verb (i.e. the auxiliary): Lítt hefi ek . . . hugfest 'I have little considered . . .'
- (2) When the object is a pronoun or a single noun, it usually stands between the auxiliary and main verb: Lítt hefi ek þat hugfest 'I have little considered it'; . . . ok hefi ek því heitt . . . ' . . . and I have promised it . . . ' (Lesson XII).
- (3) An adverb of negation stands between the auxiliary and the main verb, except in those cases where it is emphatic and occupies first position in the clause: . . . ek vil eigi lifa . . . ' . . . I do not want to live . . . ' (Lesson XII).
- (4) Other adverbs or prepositional phrases usually stand between auxiliary and main verb, especially those adverbs which specifically narrow or modify the meaning of the main verb, as in the cases of ætla til 'expect, assume'; kveða upp 'announce', etc.: 'Máttu svá til ætla, at ek mun framarla á horfa...' 'You may so assume, that I shall look in a prominent place...'

- (5) When all the conditions (1-4) apply, the distance between the auxiliary and main verb can be considerable, and as a result the main verb frequently occupies the final position in the sentence (while the auxiliary, the finite verb form occupies second position), as in: 'Þessarar konu ætla ek þer til handa at biðja...', where ætla is the auxiliary and biðja the main verb; or: 'En nú þykkir mér þú þat úsanna...', with þykkir the auxiliary and úsanna the main verb.

(b) Inverted order: when the main verb is modified by two auxiliaries such as modal+hafa, kveða+modal, etc., the relative order of the second auxiliary and the main verb is inverted as a rule: 'Þú munt hugsat hafa...' 'You will have thought...'; 'Egill kvað svá vera skyldu...' 'Egil said (it) should be so...'. This rule is not without exceptions, and both auxiliaries may precede the main verb, especially as a stylistic variant, when two such sequences follow in a narrative: 'Þú munt þetta eigi fyrr hafa upp kveðit en þú munt hugsat hafa...' 'You will no sooner have announced this than you will have thought...'

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

áburðarmaðr (mann-)	dandy
faðir [Lesson XXVI]	father
firði [Lesson VI] [D sg]	firth
fundr (fund-i-)	meeting
Höskuldr (Höskuld-a-)	personal name
kostr (kost-i-)	choice, match
Óláfr (Ólaf-a-)	personal name

Feminine:

ambátt (ambátt-i-)	bondwoman
efling (efling-a-)	increase in might, power
hönd (hand-)	hand
þér til handa	for you
fyrir hönd [+G]	on behalf of (someone)

mægð (mægð-i-) Þorgerðr (gerðj-a-) kinship by marriage

personal name

Neuter:

bónorð (orð-)
gjaforð (orð-)
happ (happ-) í [+D]
kvánfang (fang-)
mál (mál-)
ráð (ráð-)
svar (svar-)
tal (tal-)
þing (þing-)

proposal
match in marriage
good luck in (something)
taking a wife
talk, matter
consideration, counsel
answer
talk assembly

Adjectives

albeztr (bezt-)
göfugr (göfug-)
mikit [neut N/A sg of mikill (mikil-)] slíkr (slík-)

very best noble
great such

Pronouns

einnhverr [Lesson XXIV]
frægstr maðr einnhverr
oss [Lesson XII]
sú [fem N sg corresp to sá, Lesson XXV]
þá [A sg of sú]
þá [A pl of sá, Lesson XXV] þessarar [fem N sg of þessi,
Lesson XXV]
þessi [masc N sg, Lesson XXV] þetta [neut N/A sg corresp to þessi]

one (of a group)
one of the most famous men
us
that (one)
that (one)
them, those (ones)
this (one)
this (one)
this (one)
this (one)

Article

-(i)t [neut N/A sg, Lesson IX]

the

Verbs

á [3rd sg pres ind of eiga (pret-pres) Lesson XXII]
beðit [supine of biðja (biðj-)
[+G]
biðja (biðj-) [+G]

has, possesses
asked for (something)
ask for

býr [3rd sg pres ind of búa , Lesson XXI]	lives, dwells
felldr [participle of fella (fall-i/j-)] sem slíkum málum sé vel fellt at svara	fitted, suited, appropriate that it is well appropriate to answer such matters
gekk [3rd past ind of ganga , Lesson XXI]	walked geta (get-) [+A]	get (in marriage) (someone)
geta (get-) [+G]	guess (something)
gipta (gípt-i/j-)	give in marriage
hefi [1st sg pres ind of hafa , Lesson Lesson XIV]	have
hefir [3rd sg pres ind of hafa , Lesson XIV]	has heitir [3rd sg pres ind of heita , Lesson XXII]	is named
heyrtr [supine of heyra (heyr-i/j-)]	heard horfa (horf-i-) á	look
hugfest [supine of hugfesta (fast-i/j-)]	considered, fixed in mind
hugsat [supine of hugsa (hugs-a-)]	thought
kvað [3rd sg past ind of kveða (kveð-)]	said
lízk [3rd sg pres ind of litask (lit-)] [+D]	seems (to someone)
máttu (= mátt þú) [2nd sg pres ind of mega (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	you may mun [1st, 3rd sg pres ind of munu (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	will (shall) munt [2nd sg pres ind of munu (pret-pres)]	will (wilt)
mæla (mál-i/j-)	say, talk
mælti [3rd sg past ind of mæla (mál-i/j-)]	said
rœðir [2nd sg subj I of ræða (rœð-i/j-)]	discuss
sé [3rd sg subj I of vera , Lesson XXX]	would be sitja (sitj-)	sit, be located
skotit [supine of skjóta (skjút-)]	deferred
skyldu [past infinitive of skulu , Lesson XXII]	should

svara (svar-a-)	answer
tók [3rd sg past ind of taka (tak-)] [+D]	took, responded to (something)
tóku [3rd pl past ind of taka (tak-)]	took upp kveðit [supine of kveða (kveð-) upp ]	declared
úsanna (sann-a-)	disprove, refute
vakit [supine of vekja (vak-i/j-)]	brought up, raised
veit [1st sg pres ind of vita (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	know
vekr [3rd sg pres ind of vekja (vak-i/j-)]	brings up, raises vil [1st sg pres ind of vilja (pret-pres), Lesson XXIII]	want vill [2nd, 3rd sg pres ind of vilja (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	want(s) to [+inf]
vita [Lesson XXII]	know
væri [3rd sg subj II of vera , Lesson XXXI]	were, would be ynnir [2nd sg subj II of unna (pret-pres), Lesson XXII] [+D]	loved, would love (someone)
yrði [3rd sg subj II of verða (verð-)]	would become, would accrue
þér yrði þá efling at mægðum við þá	an increase in power would then accrue to you through kinship by marriage with them
þykkir [2nd sg pres ind of þykkja , Lesson XIV]	seem ætla (ætl-a-)	intend
ætla (ætl-a-) til	expect
Adverbs
eigi	not
framarla	prominently, among prominent people
fyr	sooner
görla	clearly
hér til	heretofore
hvar	where
litt	little
niðr	down

rétt	rightly
saman	together
viðara	more widely
þó at viðara væri	and even beyond
vænna	better
því	therefore, for this reason

Prepositions

fyrir [+A]	for um [+A]	about

Conjunctions

at	that
en	than
sem	as if
þó at (=þótt)	although, even if
því at	because

3. Texts

The following two selections from the Laxdæla Saga recount the marriage arrangements between Óláfr, the illegitimate son of Höskuldr Dala-Kollsson and the Irish slave, Melkorka, who was the daughter of King Mýrkjartan, and Þorgerðr, the daughter of Egill Skalla-Grimsson. A proposal of marriage was usually an arrangement between two families, and a relative, most often a father or brother, would act as the representative for each of the principals. Considerations of wealth and birth were of greatest importance, but loveless matches were rare, since the woman usually had a final say in the matter:

(A) Laxdæla Saga (Chapter 22): Kvánfang Óláfs Höskuldssonar

Óláfr svarar: 'Litt hefi ek þat hugfest hér til. Veit ek eigi, hvar sú kona sitr, er mér sé mikit happ í at geta. Máttu svá til ætla, at ek mun framarla á horfa um kvánfangit. Veit ek ok þat gørla, at þú munt þetta eigi fyrr hafa upp kveðit en þú munt hugsat hafa, hvar þetta skal niðr koma.' Höskuldr mælti: 'Rétt getr þú. Maðr heitir Egill. Hann er Skalla-Grimsson. Hann býr at Borg í Borgarfirði. Egill á sér dóttur, þá er Þorgerðr heitir. Þessarar konu ætla ek þér til handa at biðja, því at þessi kostur er albeztur í öllum Borgarfirði, ok þó at viðara væri. Er þat ok vænna, at þér yrði þá efling at mægðum við þá Mýramenn.'

(B) Laxdæla Saga (Chapter 23): Egill ok Þorgerðr

Höskuldr vekr nú bönorðit fyrir hönd Óláfs ok biðr Þorgerðar. Hon var ok þar á þinginu. Egill tók þessu máli vel. . . Höskuldr mælti: 'Þat vil ek, Egill, at þú ræðir þetta við dóttur þína.' Egill kvað svá vera skyldu. Egill gekk nú til fundar við Þorgerði, ok tóku þau tal saman. Þá mælti Egill: 'Maðr heitir Óláfr ok er Höskuldsson, ok er hann nú frægstr maðr einnhverr. Höskuldr, faðir hans, hefir vakit bönorð fyrir hönd Óláfs ok beðit þín. Hefi ek því skotit mjök til þinna ráða. Vil ek nú vita svör þín, en svá lizk oss, sem slíkum málum sé vel fellt at svara, því at þetta gjaforð er gøfugt.' Þorgerðr svarar: 'Þat hefi ek þik heyrt mæla, at þú ynnir mér mest barna þinna. En nú þykkir mér þú þat úsanna, ef þú vill gipta mik ambáttarsyni, þótt hann sé vænn ok mikill áburðarmaðr.'

4. Drills

Construct complete sentences with the appropriate forms of the variable as indicated. Give personal, possessive, or reflexive forms and the person/number endings of verbs:

(A) Personal pronoun (N sg) + (sigl-i/j-) + skipi + possessive.

Example:

1st + (sigl-i/j-) + skipi + 3rd sg masc = Ek sigli skipi hans.

- (1) 2nd + (sigl-i/j-) + skipi + 1st sg
- (2) 3rd fem + (sigl-i/j-) + skipi + 2nd sg
- (3) 3rd fem + (sigl-i/j-) + skipi + 3rd sg fem
- (4) 3rd masc + (sigl-i/j-) + skipi + 3rd sg fem

(B) Personal pronoun (N sg) + form of vera + barn + possessive.

- (1) 1st + (ver-) + barn + 3rd sg fem
- (2) 3rd masc + (ver-) + barn + 2nd sg
- (3) 2nd + (ver-) + barn + 1st sg
- (4) 3rd neuter + (ver-) + barn + 3rd sg masc
- (5) 3rd fem + (ver-) + barn + 1st sg

(C) Personal pronoun (N sg) + (gef-) + personal pronoun (D sg) + gjǫf + possessive.

- (1) 1st + (gef-) + 3rd masc + gjǫf + 1st sg
- (2) 2nd + (gef-) + 1st + gjǫf + 3rd sg fem
- (3) 3rd fem + (gef-) + 2nd + gjǫf + 3rd sg masc
- (4) 3rd masc + (gef-) + 3rd fem + gjǫf + 2nd sg
- (5) 1st + (gef-) + 3rd fem + gjǫf + 3rd sg fem

(D) Úvinr + possessive + (veg-) 'slay' + personal pronoun (A sg) + með vápni + possessive.

- (1) Úvinr + 3rd sg masc + (veg-) + 2nd + með vápni + 2nd sg
- (2) Úvinr + 1st sg + (veg-) + 3rd fem + með vápni + 1st sg
- (3) Úvinr + 3rd sg fem + (veg-) + 3rd sg masc + með vápni + 3rd sg masc
- (4) Úvinr + 2nd sg + (veg-) + 1st + með vápni + 3rd sg fem

(E) Faðir + poss pron + (hefn-i/j-) 'avenge' + personal pronoun (G sg).

- (1) Faðir + 3rd sg fem + (hefn-i/j-) + 3rd sg fem
- (2) Faðir + 3rd sg masc + (hefn-i/j-) + 1st sg
- (3) Faðir + 2nd sg + (hefn-i/j-) + 2nd sg
- (4) Faðir + 1st sg + (hefn-i/j-) + 3rd sg masc

(F) Personal pronoun (N sg) + (mun-) + geta 'mention' + sögu (= G sg) + possessive.

- (1) 1st + (mun-) + geta + sögu + 2nd sg
- (2) 3rd fem + (mun-) + geta + sögu + 3rd sg masc
- (3) 2nd + (mun-) + geta + sögu + 3rd sg masc

5. Translations

Translate the following into Old Icelandic:

(A) Olaf has not considered where that woman would be (sé) whom (er) he may (megi) marry.

(B) Olaf says that Hoskuld may (megi) expect that he will (muni) look for a wife from a prominent family (= in a prominent place).

(C) Hoskuld answers: 'Egil Skalla-Grim's son has a daughter, Thorgerd, who is the very best match in all Borg Firth.'

(D) Hoskuld intends to ask for Thorgerd for Olaf (Óláfi til handa).

(E) At the assembly Hoskuld said to Egil that he should (skyldi) discuss this with his daughter.

(F) To Egil this seems a noble match in marriage.

(G) Thorgerd answers that he seems to her (= to her he seems) to refute the fact (bat) that he loves (unni) her the most of his children.

(H) Thorgerd doesn't want to give herself in marriage to a bondwoman's son, even though he is (sé) handsome and a dandy.

LESSON XII

1. Grammar

(A) Personal Endings of the Verb: Plural Present Indicative

The following are the present indicative plural endings of regular verbs and the corresponding forms of the verb vera (ver-) 'be':

Ending:	Stem:
Pl	(hugs-a-) 'think'	(horf-i-) 'look'	(sigl-i/j-) 'sail'	(get-) 'get'	(ver-) 'be'
1st: -um	hugsum	horfum	siglum	getum	erum
2nd: -ið	hugsið	horfið	siglið	getið	eruð
3rd: -a	hugsa	horfa	sigla	geta	eru

The term 'plural' here refers to the form of the verb as distinct from the singular, but this verbal form occurs with subjects that may be represented by either the dual or plural personal pronouns.

(B) The Dual and Plural Forms of the Personal Pronouns

Old Icelandic makes the distinction between the dual vit 'we two' and vér 'we (more than two)'; and þit 'you two' and þér 'you (more than two)'. The following are the forms of the dual and plural of the 1st and 2nd person pronouns and the plural of the 3rd person pronouns (there is no 3rd person dual):

	1st		2nd		masculine	3rd feminine	neuter
	dual	plural	dual	plural
N	vit	vér	þit	þér	þeir	þær	þau
A	okkr	oss	ykk	yðr	þá	þær	þau
G	okkar	vár	ykkar	yð(v)ar		þeira, þeirra
D	okkr	oss	ykk	yðr		þeim

Often a personal pronoun, dual or plural, stands with a personal name in the singular but refers with that name to a group: vit Bárðr 'Bárðr and I', þit Kári 'you (sg) and Kári', etc. A 3rd person plural pronoun can also stand with two or more personal names and function as a determiner: þeir Egill ok Þórólfr váru synir Skalla-Gríms 'Egill and Þórólfr were the sons of Skalla-Grímr.' Even more frequently the 3rd plural is used with a single personal name and refers inclusively to a group: þeir Flosi 'Flosi and his men, those with Flosi', etc.

(C) Possessive Pronouns: Plural

As in the singular, the genitive case of the 1st and 2nd person of the dual and plural serves to form the stem for a possessive pronoun that is declined in all genders as a strong adjective. The following are the forms of the stems and the N sg:

	Stem	masculine	feminine	neuter
1st dual	(okkar-)	okkarr	okkur	okkart
1st pl	(vár-)	várr	vár	várt
2nd dual	(ykkar-)	ykkarr	ykkur	ykkart
2nd pl	(yð(v)ar-)	yð(v)arr	yður	yð(v)art

For the full paradigm of the declined possessives in the dual and plural compare the stems (okkar-), (ykkar-), and (yð(v)ar-) with the forms of (vár-) below:

	masculine	feminine	neuter
Sg N	várr	vár	várt
A	váran, várn	vára	várt
G	várs	várrar	várs
D	várum	várri	váru
Pl N	várir	várar	vár
A	vára	várar	vár
G		várra
D		várum

Note, however, that the second vowel of the shortened stem (yðar-) is dropped in trisyllabic forms, whereas the full form stem (yðvar-) retains its second syllable everywhere (see the rule for vowel deletion in Lesson IV, 1C1). Thus we have masculine dative singular yðrum, but feminine G sg either yðrar or yðvarrar, etc.

The stems (ykkar-) and (okkar-) optionally drop the second vowel in trisyllabic forms, i.e. the stressed syllable is treated as either long or short. Thus both masculine A sg okkurum, ykkurum, and okkrum, ykkrum occur, etc. The masculine A sg of (vár-) is also optionally shortened to várn instead of the regular váran. Some further examples are: til hvílu okkarrar, til vína yð(var)ra, frá skipum ykk(u)rum, etc.

The genitive plural of the 3rd person pronoun is also used as a possessive, but it is never declined: sonr þeira, sonum þeira, til barns þeira, etc.

(D) Word Order: Stylistic Variation and Discontinuous Constituents

As in those sentences that have a simple verb, the word order in sentences where the verb-phrase contains one or more auxiliaries modifying the main verb is determined by considerations of style and variation. The constituents of the verb-phrase may be contiguous (the auxiliary immediately precedes the main verb) or discontinuous (one or more words are placed between auxiliary and main verb). These two types of relative ordering may often alternate in a narrative sequence in order to avoid monotonous patterns of identical word order: '... hefi ek því heitit honum, at eitt skyldi ganga yfir okkr bæði' '... I have promised him, that one fate should befall us both', where hefi and heitit are discontinuous while skyldi and ganga are contiguous; similarly: 'þik skal bera út, ok skalt þú eigi inni brenna' 'you shall be carried out, and you shall not be burned inside.'

For purposes of emphasis or focus the main verb may precede the auxiliary and be shifted to first position in the sentence: 'ganga munum vit til hvílu okkarrar...' 'we shall go to our bed...'. Another instance of discontinuous constituents occurs when the subject noun-phrase is headed by an interrogative (see Lesson XXI). In such cases the complex noun-phrase may be split up and the discontinuous constituents stand on each side of the finite verb. In the sentence: 'Hversu margt hefir hér fyrirmanna látizk?' 'How many prominent persons have died here?' the subject noun-phrase hversu margt fyrirmanna and the verb phrase hefir látizk are both discontinuous and the basic word order of Subject + Verb + Adverb is entirely reshuffled.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Bárðr (Bárð-u-)
búi (búi-)

personal name
neighbour

fyrirmaður (mann-)
hestr (hest-a-) leysingi (leysingi-) morginn (morgin-a-) í morgin
munr (mun-i-) fyrir engan mun
sveinn (svein-a-)

Feminine:

amma (amma-)
braut (braut-i-) brenna (brenna-)
húsfreyja (freyja-) skömm (skamm-i-)

Neuter:

hár (hár-)
illvirki (virkj-)
klæði (klæðj-)
stórvirki (virkj-)

Adjectives

betri [weak]
dauður (dauð-)
gamall (gamal-)
úkunnari [weak]
úmakligr (maklig-)

Pronouns

ek
ekki [Lesson XXIV]
hinn (hin-) [Lesson XXV]
hvat
hverr (hverj-)
okkarr (okkar-)
okkr [A/D of vit]
sá [masc N sg]
vér [1st N pl]
vit [1st N dual] ykkrr [A/D of þit]
þann [A sg of sá]
þessu [neut D sg]
þér [2nd N pl]
þik [A sg of þú]

prominent person, chief horse, stallion
freedman morning
this morning means
by no means boy, young man

grandmother
way, road burning mistress of the house, wife shame

hair
evil deed
cloth, [pl] clothes
great deed, achievement

better
dead
old
less known (=more unknown)
undeserving

I
nothing
that (other) what who our (two)
us (two)
that (one)
we we (two)
you (two)
that (one)
this you
you

Numeral

eitt [neut N/A sg, Lesson XXIV]	one, one fate
eitt skyldi ganga yfir okkr bæði	one (fate) should befall us both

Verbs

bera (ber-)	carry
þik skal út bera	you shall be carried out
bjóða (bjúð-)	offer
brunninn [participle of brenna (brenn-)]	burnt
deyja [Lesson XXIII]	die
em [1st sg pres ind of vera , Lesson XI]	am
fekk [3rd sg past ind of finna (finn-)] [+D] [+A]	gave (someone) (something)
fundum [1st pl past ind of finna (finn-)]	found gakk [sg imperative of ganga , Lesson XXI]	go, walk
gefinn [participle of gefa (gef-)]	given, given in marriage
gengu [3rd pl past ind of ganga , Lesson XXI]	went, walked
hafa [Lesson XIV] at ekki má at hafa	act, do nothing can be done
hafð [2nd pl pres ind of hafa , Lesson XIV]	have hefna (hefn-i/j-) [+G]	avenge (someone) heitit [supine of heita , Lesson XXII] [+D] [+D]	promised (something) (to someone)
komizk [supine of komask (kom-)]	reached, got
komizk á braut	got away, escaped
látizk [supine of látask , Lesson XXIII]	perished, died
leggjask (lag(g)-i/j-)	lay oneself down
lífa (líf-i-)	live
má [3rd sg pres ind of mega (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	is possible
munum [1st pl pres ind of munu (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	will skilja (skil-i/j-)	part, separate skulum [1st pl pres ind of skulu (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	shall skyldi [3rd sg subj II of skulu , Lesson XXII]	should

skyldim [1st pl subj II of skulu , Lesson XXII]	should taka (tak-)	take
taka til ráða	adopt a plan
talat [supine of tala (tal-a-)]	talked til búinn [participle of búa (Lesson XXI) til ]	prepared, ready
unnit [supine of vinna (vinn-)]	done, accomplished
vitum [1st pl pres ind of vita (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	know

Adverbs

aldri	never
hversu	how
inn	in úgörla	not clearly
því	for that reason, therefore

Adverbial Phrases

á braut	away
miklu betra	much better

Preposition

yfir [+A]	over
-----------	------

3. Texts

These passages are taken from the dramatic climax of Njáls Saga, where Njáll and most of his family were burnt to death at their farm, Bergþórshváll. The reluctant leader of the brennumenn, Floši Þórðarson, is a great and noble chieftain compelled to this act of revenge by considerations of honour. Njál's son-in-law, Kári, escaped from the fire and lived to avenge the death of his kinsmen.

(A) Njáls Saga (Chapter 129): Í Njálsbrennu

Floši mælti 'Útgöngu vil ek þér bjóða, því at þú brennr úmakligr inni.' Njáll mælti: 'Eigi vil ek út ganga, því at ek em maðr gamall ok lítt til búinn at hefna sona minna, en ek vil eigi lífa við skömm.' Floši mælti til Bergþóru: 'Gakk þú út, húsfreyja, því at ek vil þik fyrir engan mun inni brenna.' Bergþóra mælti: 'Ek var ung gefin

Njáli, ok hefi ek því heitit honum, at eitt skyldi ganga yfir okkr bæði.' Síðan gengu þau inn bæði. Bergþóra mælti: 'Hvat skulum vit nú til ráða taka?' Njáll svarar: 'Ganga munum vit til hvílu okkarrar ok leggjask niðr.' Síðan mælti hon við sveininn Þórð Kárason: 'Þik skal bera út, ok skalt þú eigi inni brenna.' 'Hinu hefir þú mér heitit, amma', segir sveinninn, 'at vit skyldim aldri skilja, ok skal svá vera, því at mér þykkir miklu betra at deyja með ykk . . . .'

(B) Njáls saga (Chapter 130): Eptir Njálsbrennu

(Geirmundr) mælti: 'Þér hafið mikit stórvirki unnit.' Flosi svarar: 'Bæði munu menn þetta kalla stórvirki ok illvirki. Ok má nú ekki at hafa.' Geirmundr mælti: 'Hversu margt hefir hér fyrimanna látizk?' Flosi svarar: 'Hér hefir látizk Njáll ok Bergþóra, Helgi ok Grímr ok Skarpheðinn Njálssynir, Þórð Kárason ok Kári Sölmundarson, Þórðr leysingi. En þat vitum vér úgörla um fleiri menn, þá er oss eru úkunnari.' Geirmundr mælti: 'Dauðan segir þú þann mann, er vér vitum, at á braut hefir komizk ok ek hefi talat við í morgin.' 'Hverr er sá?' segir Flosi. 'Kára Sölmundarson fundum vit Bárðr, búí minn,' segir Geirmundr, 'ok fekk Bárðr honum hest sinn ok var brunnit af honum hárit ok svá klæðin.'

4. Drills

Construct complete sentences with the appropriate forms of the variables as indicated. Give personal, possessive, or reflexive forms and person/number endings of verbs or the appropriate form of vera (ver-):

(A) Personal pronoun (N) + (sigl-i/j-) + skipum + possessive.

Example:

3rd pl masc + (sigl-i/j-) + skipum + 1st pl = Þeir sigla skipum várum.

- (1) 2nd pl + (sigl-i/j-) + skipum + 3rd pl
- (2) 1st dl + (sigl-i/j-) + skipum + 1st dl
- (3) 3rd pl fem + (sigl-i/j-) + skipum + 2nd pl
- (4) 1st pl + (sigl-i/j-) + skipum + 2nd dl

(B) Personal pronoun (N) + form of vera + þörn + possessive.

- (1) 1st dl + (ver-) + þörn + 3rd pl
- (2) 3rd pl masc + (ver-) + þörn + 2nd dl
- (3) 2nd pl + (ver-) + þörn + 1st dl
- (4) 3rd pl neuter + (ver-) + þörn + 2nd pl
- (5) 3rd pl fem + (ver-) + þörn + 1st pl

(C) Personal pronoun (N) + (gef-) + personal pronoun (D) + gjafar + possessive (A).

- (1) 1st pl + (gef-) + 2nd pl + gjafar + 1st pl
- (2) 3rd pl fem + (gef-) + 1st dl + gjafar + 3rd pl fem
- (3) 2nd dl + (gef-) + 1st pl + gjafar + 1st sg
- (4) 2nd pl + (gef-) + 3rd sg fem + gjafar + 2nd pl
- (5) 1st dl + (gef-) + 2nd dl + gjafar + 1st dl

(D) Úvinir + possessive + (veg-) + personal pronoun (A) + með vápnum + possessive.

- (1) Úvinir + 3rd sg masc + (veg-) + 1st pl + með vápnum + 3rd sg masc
- (2) Úvinir + 1st pl + (veg-) + 3rd pl masc + með vápnum + 1st pl
- (3) Úvinir + 2nd dl + (veg-) + 1st dl + með vápnum + 3rd pl masc
- (4) Úvinir + 1st dl + (veg-) + 2nd pl + með vápnum + 2nd pl
- (5) Úvinir + 2nd dl + (veg-) + 3rd pl fem + með vápnum + 2nd dl

(E) Vinir + possessive + hefna + personal pronoun (G).

- (1) Vinir + 1st pl + hefna + 2nd pl
- (2) Vinir + 2nd dl + hefna + 1st dl
- (3) Vinir + 1st sg + hefna + 3rd pl fem
- (4) Vinir + 3rd pl masc + hefna + 2nd dl

(F) Personal pronoun (N) + (get-) + sögu (= G) + possessive (G).

- (1) 1st dl + (get-) + sögu + 2nd pl
- (2) 3rd pl neuter + (get-) + sögu + 1st dl
- (3) 2nd pl + (get-) + sögu + 3rd sg fem
- (4) 3rd pl masc + (get-) + sögu + 3rd pl masc
- (5) 1st pl + (get-) + sögu + 1st pl

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Flosi wants to offer Njal permission to go out, but Njal does not want to go out and live in shame.

(B) Njal is an old man and is little prepared to avenge his sons.

(C) Bergthora does not want to go out, because she has promised to Njal that one fate (eitt) should befall both of them.

(D) The boy Thord, Kari's son, does not want to part from (við) them because to him it seems much better to die with them.

(E) Geirmund wants to know how many prominent men have died there.

(F) Flosi considers (telr + A) Kari Solmundarson dead after the house is burned (brunnit).

(G) But Geirmund and Bard found (fundu) Kari this morning, and the hair was burned off him and also his clothes.

LESSON XIII

1. Grammar

(A) Weak Verbs

All regular verbs in Old Icelandic are either weak or strong. (There are also verbs that can be labelled preterite-present and irregular.) This nomenclature is in no way related to the classification of nouns and adjectives as weak or strong, but serves to distinguish between two different ways of forming the past tense. Note that the weak verb stems are all characterized by a thematic vowel (or semi-vowel), while the stems of strong verbs are athematic.

(1) Past tense marker: the past tense of weak verbs is formed by suffixing a -ði- to the full stem of the verb, which in turn is followed by a person/number ending. Thus we have:

Stem	+ Past tense	+ Person/number	=
(kall-a-) 'call'	-ði-	-r	kallaðir 'you called'
(lif-i-) 'live'	-ði-	-um	lifðum 'we lived'
(sigl-i/j-) 'sail'	-ði-	-a	siglða 'I sailed'

(2) Person/number endings: in the present tense the person/number endings are the same for all regular verbs, weak or strong (see Lessons XI, XII). The past tense has the following endings for weak verbs:

	Past	(present)
Sg 1st	-a kallaða 'I called'	(zero kalla )
2nd	-r kallaðir 'you called'	(-r kallar )
3rd	zero kallaði 'he called'	(-r kallar )
Pl 1st	-um kølluðum 'we called'	(-um køllum )
2nd	-uð kølluðuð 'you called'	(-ið kallið )
3rd	-u kølluðu 'they called'	(-a kalla )

(3) Phonological changes: the thematic vowel of the verb and the past tense suffix can be affected by phonological rules. Here are listed the pertinent changes which may take place:

(a) i-deletion: the vowel of the -ði- suffix is deleted before a following vowel. Thus we have, for example, (kall-a-+-ði-+-a) yielding kallaða 'I called', etc. Furthermore, the thematic vowel -i- or -i/j- is dropped before adding the past tense suffix -ði-. This dropping of the thematic occurs under the rule that drops an unstressed vowel before a single consonant and a third vowel (see Lesson IV, 1C1). Thus we have (lif-i-+-ði-+-u) → lifðu 'they lived', etc.

(b) u-umlaut: when followed by u, the unstressed thematic vowel -a- becomes -u- (see Lesson IV, 1C2). Furthermore, whenever the stressed stem vowel a is followed by u it becomes ø. Thus we have the verb kanna 'explore' with the stem (kann-a-) yielding the past tense forms kannaða 'I explored', but kønnuðuð 'you explored'; kasta 'cast', with the stem (kast-a-) has kastaði 'he cast', but køstuðu 'they cast'. Verbs of the type telja (tal-i/j-) 'count, consider' have forms like talða 'I considered', but tøldum 'we considered', etc.

(c)  $\delta \rightarrow d$ : when an  $\delta$  at the end of a stem comes next to the  $\delta$  of an ending the two  $\delta$ s each become d. Thus we have eyða (auð-i/j-) 'lay waste, devastate' with the past tense forms eydda 'I laid waste', eyddum 'we laid waste', etc.; leiða (leið-i/j-) 'lead' has the past forms leidda 'I lead', leiddum 'we lead', etc. Following a stem-final n the  $\delta$  of the past tense marker sometimes appears as d: mundi 'he would', but often remains unchanged: stefna (stafn-i/j-) 'set course' appears as stefndi 'he set course', stefndu 'they set course', etc. in the past tense. This variation probably reflects an ongoing phonological change:

(d)  $\delta \rightarrow t$ : when a t or s (and, optionally, p, k, f, or l) at the end of a stem comes into contact with the  $\delta$  of the past tense marker the  $\delta$  becomes t. Thus we have flytja (flut-i/j-) 'move', flutta 'I moved'; sæta (sát-i/j-) 'undergo', sætti 'he underwent'; þeysa (þaus-i/j-) 'gush forth', þeysti 'he gushed forth', etc. In the case of the other voiceless consonants, p, k, and f, the situation is comparable to the rule for  $\delta$  following n (see c, above), that is, the past tense marker appears sometimes as t, sometimes as  $\delta$ , with no clearcut rules of distribution. Thus we have kaupa (kaup-i/j-) (Lesson XIV) 'buy, purchase', keypti 'he bought', but gapa (gap-i-) 'gape', gapði 'he gaped'; merkja (mark-i/j-) 'signify', merkði '(it) signified', but yrkja (yrk/ork-i/j-) 'compose', orktu, ortu, (see Lesson XIV) 'they composed'; hafa 'have', hafði 'he had', but þurfa (preterite-present) 'need', þurfti 'he needed'; vilja (preterite-present, see Lesson XXIII) 'want', vildi 'he wanted', but mæla (mál-i/j-) 'say, speak', mælti 'he said, spoke', etc. This fluctuation in the past tense  $\delta$  following p, k, f, n, and l is probably due to a number of factors: an ongoing sound-change, different manuscript sources, and dialect variation, etc. The tendency for the shift from  $\delta$  to t is more marked following a long stem-syllable, but this is not a rule without exceptions.

(e)  $dd \rightarrow d$ , and  $tt \rightarrow t$ : whenever double dd- or tt arise (by c and d, above) but are preceded by a consonant, the double consonant is simplified. Thus we have senda (send-i/j-) 'send', sendi 'he sent'; skipta (skipt-i/j-) 'change, shift', skipti 'he changed', etc.

(4) Thematic vowels

(a) Types: there are three different types of weak verb stem, characterized by three different thematic vowel types:

- (1) a-stems: (kall-a-) 'call', (kast-a-) 'cast, throw', etc.
- (2) i-stems: (lif-i-) 'live', (þor-i-) 'dare', (ná-i-) 'reach', etc.
- (3) i/j-stems: (flut-i/j-) 'move', (sigl-i/j-) 'sail', (skipt-i/j-) 'change, shift', etc.

The first and third classes are much larger than the second class. They consist of the so-called derived verbs, i.e. their stems are formed from the stems of nouns, adjectives, or other verbs (strong verbs). Thus we have the noun kall [neuter] 'a call' and kalla 'to call'; stafn [masculine] 'a prow' and stefna 'to head for'; lág [adjective] 'low' and lægja (lág-i/j-) 'to lower'; lita 'to look' and the feminine leit 'search' are related to the derived verb leita 'to look for'. In most cases the semantic relation between the noun, adjective, or verb and derived verb is quite clear and straightforward. (For a further discussion of verbal derivation, see Lesson XXXV.)

(b) Formation of a-stems: the thematic -a- appears except where dropped before a vowel (see 1A3 a, above) or where it is changed to -u- by u-umlaut (see Lesson IV, 1C2). Thus we have:

	Present	past
Sg 1st	kalla	kallaða
2nd	kallar	kallaðir
3rd	kallar	kallaði
Pl 1st	køllum	kølluðum
2nd	kallið	kølluðuð
3rd	kalla	kølluðu

(c) Formation of i-stems: the thematic -i- appears in the present tense forms unless a vowel immediately follows in the person/number ending (see 1A3 a, above). In the 3rd pl of stems ending in á, e.g. (ná-i-) 'reach', the 3rd plural ending -a as well as the thematic -i- is deleted. In the past forms the thematic -i- is always dropped (see 1A3 a, above). Thus we have:

	present	past
Sg 1st	lif/nái	lifða/náða
2nd	lifir/náir	lifðir/náðir
3rd	lifir/náir	lifði/náði
Pl 1st	lifum/ná(u)m	lifðum/náðum
2nd	lifid/náið	lifðuð/náðuð
3rd	lifa/ná	lifðu/náðu

(d) Formation of i/j-stems: the third class of weak verbs, which is characterized by thematic -i/j-, is phonologically the most complex. The quality of the thematic (vocalic or non-vocalic) depends on the length of the stem syllable, and so does its presence or absence in the past tense forms. We can define the basic conditions as follows:

- (1) If the stem syllable is long, the thematic is -i-; if the stem syllable is short, the thematic is -j-. Examples:

stem	thematic	infinitive form
(var- i/j- ) 'defend'	-j-	verja
(sigl- i/j- ) 'sail'	-i-	sigla
(skil- i/j- ) 'part'	-j-	skilja
(stafn- i/j- ) 'head for'	-i-	stefna
(sát- i/j- ) 'undergo'	-i-	sæta

- (2) The thematic occurs as part of the underlying stem in both past and present forms of long-syllable stems. In short-syllable stems the thematic characterizes only the underlying stem of present tense forms and is absent in the past tense forms. This is of great importance phonologically, since the thematic -i/j- causes the shift in the stem vowel from back to front known as i-umlaut (see B, below). Examples:

underlying stem	present stem	past stem
(var- i/j- )	(ver- j- )	(var-)
(sigl- i/j- )	(sigl- i- )	(sigl- i- )
(skil- i/j- )	(skil- j- )	(skil-)
(stafn- i/j- )	(stefn- i- )	(stefn- i- )
(sát- i/j- )	(sæt- i- )	(sæt- i- )

- (3) In those verbs where the stem syllable ends in g or k the thematic is variously realized as either -i- or -j-, depending on the context in which it occurs. When a long-syllable stem ends in either g or k, the thematic is normally -i-, but appears as j before a following a or u. Thus (lág-i/j-) 'lower' has the 3rd singular present form lægir 'he lowers', but the 3rd pl present lægja 'they lower', etc. (Compare this with j-augmented noun and adjective-stems ending in g or k, see Lesson III, 1D1 b2). On the other hand, when a short-syllable stem ends in g (but not k) the thematic is normally j in the present stem and absent in the past stem, but appears as i in the present stem before a following consonant or zero-ending. Thus (sag-i/j-) 'say' has the present stem (seg-j-) (and the past stem (sag-)). The 1st present plural form is segjum 'we say', the 3rd pl is segja 'they say', but the 1st sg is segi 'I say', and the 3rd sg is segir 'he says'; similarly (þag-i/j-) 'be silent' has the 1st pl present þegjum 'we are silent', but 1st sg present þegi 'I am silent', þegir 'you are silent, he is silent', etc.

Furthermore, a number of short-syllable stems ending in g double the final g in the present stem forms, but otherwise behave like fully regular short-syllable stems, both in present and past forms. Such a verb is, for example leggja 'lay', where the stem can best be represented as (lag(g)-i/j-). It has the present stem (legg-j-), and 1st sg present legg 'I lay', 2nd, 3rd sg leggr 'you lay, he lays', etc., and the past stem (lag-), lagða 'I laid', lagði 'he laid', logðum 'we laid', etc.

(B) I-Umlaut

The presence of -i- or -j- in conjunction with the weak verb stem of class III will cause a back vowel in the stem to be shifted to a corresponding front vowel. In terms of the phonological pattern of Old Icelandic we get the following shifts:

short:	a → e	long:	á → æ
	o → ø		ó → œ
	u → y		ú → ý
			au → ey

Note: with respect to weak verbs, this shift takes place only in the -i/j- stems. The thematic -i- of the second class of weak verbs derives from an earlier underlying -e-, and only the high vowels (and the corresponding semi-vowels) were the cause of umlaut. The change of the thematic -e- to -i- occurred only after the umlaut (fronting) process had ceased to be an automatic phonetic tendency and had been incorporated into the grammar of the language as a morphological process. A large number of other i sounds in Old Icelandic come from earlier e sounds and thus do not cause i-umlaut (see D, below).

(C) I-Umlaut and Weak Verbs

(1) The umlaut process combines with the distribution of the thematic vowel to produce the following results:

(a) in long syllable i/j- stems a back vowel never appears, as all underlying back vowels are automatically fronted. Thus the underlying stem (sát-i/j-) 'undergo' has the forms sæti 'I undergo', sætta 'I underwent', etc.

(b) In short syllable i/j- stems an underlying back vowel appears in past tense forms but is fronted in the present tense forms: spyr 'I ask', spurða 'asked', etc., from (spur-i/j-). (Note the irregular flýða 'fled', see Lesson XIV.)

(2) The thematic -i- or -j- is subject to rules similar to those already described. The j appears under the same conditions as in noun stems (see Lesson III, 1D1 b3), and the i is dropped in unstressed syllables before a single consonant and following vowel or immediately preceding another vowel (see 1A3 a, above).

(3) Under the conditions presented in 1A4 d1 and 2, and in B and C, above, applied in the order given, we get the following paradigms for a weak i/j- stem verb:

(a) Short stem: (spur-i/j-) 'ask, find out'

	present	past
Sg 1st	spyr	spurða
2nd	spyrir	spurðir
3rd	spyrir	spurði
Pl 1st	spyrjum	spurðum
2nd	spyrði	spurðuð
3rd	spyrja	spurðu

(b) Long stem: (stafn-i/j-) 'aim, head for'

	present	past
Sg 1st	stefni	stefnða
2nd	stefnir	stefnðir
3rd	stefnir	stefnði
Pl 1st	stefnum	stefnðum
2nd	stefnið	stefnðuð
3rd	stefna	stefnðu

(D) I-Umlaut and Noun Stems

(1) In a process similar to that of weak verbs the thematic -i- of noun stems caused fronting of the stressed vowel in long-syllable stems, while the short syllable stems were not subject to i-umlaut. Thus the earlier forms of the stem of gestr 'guest' was (gast-i-). But since i-umlaut affected every form of the stem the original underlying stem vowel a never appeared in any actual form and in effect changed to e, resulting in the Old Icelandic stem (gest-i-). A short-syllable stem, on the other hand, as in staðr 'place, stead', retained the back vowel in all forms of the word and in the underlying stem (stað-i-). Old Icelandic then has the generalized rule: i-thematic nouns have the same stressed vowel throughout the paradigm, and in long-syllable stems this is, in many instances, a front(ed) vowel.

In some cases the underlying back vowel of a long-syllable stem survived. Thus finna 'to find' has the past plural stem (fund-), and the noun derived from the verb was either fyndr or the irregular fundr 'meeting'. The latter form gradually replaced the former, reinforced by the fact that i-umlaut had ceased to be an automatic phonetic process. We cannot therefore speak of i-umlaut as a regular vocalic alternation in the grammar of Old Icelandic noun-declensions.

(2) J-augmented nouns and adjectives, such as (hersj-a-) 'chieftain', (nýj-) 'new', or (miðj-) 'middle', etc., invariably have a front(ed) stem vowel, as the result of umlaut caused by the augment in long and short-syllable stems alike. Note that the augment is realized as either i or j under conditions almost identical with those of the -i/j- thematic of weak verbs.

(3) In bisyllabic stems where the second vowel is i, a back vowel is usually fronted in the first syllable. But the second syllable i may be dropped under the conditions of the general syncopation rule (see Lesson IV, 1C1) and as a result i-umlaut does not take place. Thus ketill 'kettle' [masculine] has the underlying stem form (katil-a-), where the second syllable i causes fronting in the N sg, G sg ketils, and A sg ketil. But in D sg (katil-a-+-i) → (katl-+-i) → katli, as the syncopation rule applies before the fronting rule; similarly we have N pl (katil-a-+-r) → katlar, D pl koþlum, etc.

(E) Word Order: Subjectless Sentences

Many verbs in Old Icelandic take no subject noun phrase. (For a closer analysis of some impersonal constructions see Lesson XXXIII.)

(1) If the verb phrase of a subjectless sentence contains an auxiliary verb, the auxiliary may precede the main verb and occupy the first position at the head of the sentence: '... eptir monnum þeim, er verit hoþðu i ráðum ...' '... After those men, that had been in consultation ...'.

(2) In other instances of subjectless sentences an accusative object often occupies the first position and immediately precedes the verb: 'Veðr [A] gerði hvasst' 'the weather became windy'; 'veðr [A] lægði' 'the weather abated'.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

áróss (ós-a-)	mouth of a river
bústaðr (stað-i-)	dwelling place
farmr (farm-a-)	cargo
feðgar [pl]	father and son(s)

fjandskapr (fjandskap-i-) á [+D]	enmity towards (someone)
frændi [Lesson XXVI] N/A pl	kinsman
frændr
nauðleytamaðr (mann-)	near kinsman
sær (sæv-i-)	sea
með sæ	along the seacoast
tilbeini (beini-)	furtherance, help
Feminine:
eiga (eiga-)	possession
flœðr (flœðj-a-)	flood-tide
Gufuá (á-a-)	place-name, river named for Ketill
	Gufa
jörð (jarð-i-)	estate, land
refsing (refsing-a-)	punishment
vinátta (átta-)	friendship
væta (væta-)	rain, wetness
þoka (þoka-)	fog, mist
Neuter:
akkeri (akkerj-)	anchor
fé [G sg ffjár ]	money, possession, sheep
hæli (hælj-)	shelter, refuge
sker (skerj-)	skerry, small rocky islet
ráð (ráð-)	plan, counsel
Reykjanes (nesj-)	place-name, 'Smoky Cape'
verk (verk-)	deed, work
vitorð (orð-)	privity
Adjectives
allkærr (kær-)	very dear, beloved
hárfagr (fagr-)	with beautiful hair, fine-haired Pronouns
allr (all-)	all
með öllu	altogether
annat [neut N/A sg of annarr ]	other báðir (báð-)	both
noðkurr (noðkur-)	certain
Verbs
átt [supine of eiga (pret-pres)]	left behind eptir
báru [3rd pl past ind of bera (ber-)]	carried

biðu [3rd pl past ind of biða (bið-)] [+G]	awaited (something)
bjuggusk [3rd pl past ind of búask , Lesson XXI] um	encamped
flýja [Lesson XIV]	flee
flytja (flut-i/j-)	move
gera [Lesson XIV]	make, do, become (impers.)
gera hvasst	become sharp, windy (concerning weather)
gera ljóst	become light, bright (concerning weather)
hataðisk [3rd sg past ind of hata (hat-a-)] við [+A]	was full of hatred against (someone)
høfðu [Lesson XIV]	had
kanna (kann-a-)	explore
kasta [kast-a-] [+D]	cast, throw (something)
komnir [masc N pl participle of koma (kom-)]	come
váru komnir	had come, arrived
kómu [3rd pl past ind of koma (kom-)]	came kølluð [fem N sg participle of kalla (kall-a-)]	called
leggja (lag(g)-i/j-)	lay
leggja eigu sína á	lay claim to, take possession of
leiða (leið-i/j-)	lead
leita (leit-a-) eptir	look for, search for leita (leit-i/j-) [+G]	seek (something)
leita sér hælís	seek refuge for oneself
lúka (lúk-) upp [+D]	open up (something)
lægja (lág-i/j-)	abate, lower
ná (ná-i-)	reach, get hold of
sáu [3rd pl past ind of sjá (Lesson XXIII)]	saw
sigla (sigl-i/j-)	sail
skilðusk [3rd pl past ind of skiljask (skil-i/j-)]	parted, separated from each other
spurt [supine of spyrja (spur-i/j-)]	found out
stefna (stafn-i/j-)	head, set course
sæta (sát-i/j-) [+D]	suffer, undergo (something)
tekit [supine of taka (tak-)]	taken
unnu [3rd pl past ind of vinna (vinn-)]	did, accomplished

varð [3rd sg past ind of verða (verð-)]	became, came about
fjandskapr er konungi varð á þeim feðgum	enmity which the king came to have towards the father and son
vissi [3rd sg past ind of vita (Lesson XXII)]	knew
þraut [3rd sg past ind of þrjóta (þrjú-)]	came to an end
[+A] þraut	(something) came to an end

Adverbs

innanlands	within the country
sunnan	from the south
undan	away
upp	up
við	by, near to

Adverbial Phrase

á brott (= á braut)	away
---------------------	------

Prepositions

á [+A]	onto
af [+D]	off
eptir [+D]	along
fyrir [+A]	past
vestr fyrir landit	to the west coast of the land
úr [+D]	out of
við [+A]	near to

Conjunctions

áðr	before
svá sem	as
svá sem gekk	as (far as) it went
til þess er	until

3. Texts

The first half of Egils Saga is an account of the feud between King Haraldr Hárfagri of Norway and his recalcitrant subject Kveld-Úlfr. This feud comes to a temporary halt after Þórólfr, son of Kveld-

Úlfr, has been murdered by the king's men and Kveld-Úlfr leaves Norway with his other son, Skalla-Grímr, to settle in Iceland. The feud is resumed in the next generation by Egill Skalla-Grimsson and King Eiríkr. The following passages describe the arrival of the settlers in Iceland and King Harald's reaction after their departure:

(A) Egils saga (Chapter 27): Skalla-Grímr siglir til Íslands

En er þeir váru komnir við Ísland, þá sigldu þeir sunnan at landi. Þeir sigldu vestr fyrir landit, því at þeir höfðu þat spurt, at Ingólfr hafði sér þar bústað tekit. En er þeir kómu fyrir Reykjanes ok þeir sáu firðinum upp lúka, þá stefna þeir inn fjorðinn báðum skipunum. Veðr gerði hvasst ok væta mikil ok þoka. Skilðusk þá skipin. Sigldu þeir inn eptir Borgarfirði, til þess er þraut sker öll, kustuðu þá akkerum, til þess er veðr lægði ok ljóst gerði. Þá biðu þeir flæðar. Síðan fluttu þeir skipit upp í áros nokkurn. Sú er kolluð Gufuá. Leiddu þar skipit upp eptir ánni, svá sem gekk, báru síðan farm af skipinu ok bjuggusk þar inn fyrsta vetr. Þeir kǫnnuðu landit með sæ, bæði upp ok út.

(B) Egils saga (Chapter 30): Haraldr konungr ok Skalla-Grímr

Haraldr konungr inn hárfagri lagði eigu sína á jarðir þær allar, er þeir Kveld-Úlfr ok Skalla-Grímr höfðu eptir átt í Noregi, ok allt þat fé annat, er hann náði. Hann leitaði ok mjök eptir mǫnnum þeim, er verit höfðu í ráðum ok vitorðum eða nokkurum tilbeina með þeim Skalla-Grími um verk þau, er þeir unnu, áðr Skalla-Grímr fór úr landi á brott, ok svá kom sá fjandskapr, er konungi varð á þeim feðgum, at hann hataðisk við frændr þeira, eða alla nauðleytamenn, eða þá menn, er hann vissi at þeim höfðu allkærir verit í vináttu. Sættu sumir af honum refsingum, ok margir flýðu undan ok leituðu sér hælís, sumir innanlands, en sumir flýðu með öllu af landi á brott.

4. Drills

Convert the verbal stems:

(leit-a-), (stafn-i/j-), (skil-i/j-), (kast-a-), (lág-i/j-), (flut-i/j-), (sigl-i/j-), and (hat-a-)

into the following indicative forms:

- (A) 1st pl past
- (B) 3rd sg present
- (C) 2nd pl present
- (D) 1st sg past
- (E) 2nd sg past
- (F) supine

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) Skalla-Grim sailed to Iceland and west around the land, because they had found out that Ingolf had made (tekit) himself a dwelling-place there.
- (B) They came along Reykjanes and set course with both ships in along Borg Firth.
- (C) The ships separated, and they moved their ship up into (i) a certain river mouth and up along the river, which is called Gufu River.
- (D) They carried the cargo off the ship and encamped there the first winter [accusative].
- (E) In Norway King Harald the Finehaired laid his claim to (á) all estates and all possessions which Skalla-Grim had left behind there.
- (F) Harald the Finehaired searched for those men who had been in on the plans concerning the deeds which Skalla-Grim carried out (vann) before he went away out of the country.
- (G) Many took refuge within the country, and some fled altogether out of the country.

LESSON XIV

1. Grammar

(A) Irregular Weak Verbs

In Lesson XIII we noted that the 3rd person plural past indicative form of the short stem verb flýja 'flee' has the irregular form flýðu. This form is irregular in that it violates the rule for i-umlaut in short-syllable stems. In fact, several weak verbs with a thematic ijj are irregular in this respect, and we list them as follows:

(1) Short-syllable stems with irregular forms: apart from flýja with i-umlaut in both present and past stems, there are the verbs frýja 'taunt, challenge', selja 'sell', and setja 'set', with a front vowel in all forms: e.g. frýða, selða, setta 'I taunted, sold, set', etc. The original back vowel is seen only in the forms of the stems from which the verbs are derived, as in the feminine noun sala 'sale', the past singular forms sat 'sat' (from sitja (sitj-) 'to sit'), and the like. We further note that the verbal stems of the type of breyja 'desire, long for', and heyja 'carry on, discharge' are irregular in the past forms, which have the stems (þrá-) and (há-), respectively.

(2) Long-syllable stems with irregular forms:

(a) The verb kaupa 'buy' has irregular present stem and infinitive forms, with a back diphthong au, while the past stem forms have the expected fronted diphthong, ey. Thus the present stem has such forms as kaupi 'I buy', kaupir 'you buy, he buys', kaupum 'we buy', etc., while the past has such forms as keypta 'I bought', keypti 'he bought', keyptum 'we bought', etc.

(b) The verb sækja 'seek, fetch' has no fronted vowels in the past forms, but the assimilation of stem-final k to the past tense marker: (k- + -ð) → (kt) → tt. Thus we have present sæki 'I fetch', sækjum 'we fetch', sækið 'you (pl) fetch', etc., but past tense sóttu 'I fetched', sótti 'he fetched', sóttum 'we fetched', etc.

(c) The verb þykkja 'seem' has irregular past forms like those of sækja. Thus we have present þykki 'I seem', þykkjum 'we seem', etc., but past tense þóttu 'I seemed', þótti 'he seemed', etc.

(d) The verb yrkja (yrk/ork-i/j-) 'compose, cultivate' has a similar irregularity in the past tense with the assimilation of kt, so that the cluster (rk- + -t) → (rtt) → rt. Thus we have the present forms yrki 'I compose', yrkjum 'we compose', but past tense ortu 'I composed', ortum 'we composed', etc.

(3) The verb hafa 'have' is formed like a weak verb of the i-thematic class, such as lifa (lif-i-), except for the forms of the present singular, where a is fronted to e. Thus we have hefi 'I have', hefir 'you have, he has', but høfum 'we have', hafði 'you (pl) have', hafa 'they have', and the regular past tense forms: hafðu 'I had', hafði 'he had', høfum 'we had', etc.

(4) The verb gera 'do' has a variant form gøra. Underlying these two forms are the stem variants (ger-i-) and (gerv-i-), where the v-augment of the latter causes rounding of the underlying e to ø. The v-augment is lost in all but the most archaic forms, so that the verbal stem is re-analysed as (gør-i-). The two verbs gera and gøra both occur in normalized texts of Old Icelandic with corresponding past forms, such as gerðu/gørðu 'I did, made', gerðum/gørðum 'we did, made', etc.

(B) The Past Participle

The past participle stem of weak verbs is formed from the past stem + ð. To this participle stem are added the endings of strong adjectives which agree in number, case, and gender with the form being modified by the participle. The neuter N sg form of the participle also functions as the supine (see Lessons V and VIII). Thus from kalla (kall-a-) 'call' we have the past participle stem (kallað-), with masculine N sg kallaðr, feminine N sg kolluð, neuter N sg kallat, etc. From spyrja (spur-i/j-) 'ask, find out' we have the past participle stem (spurð-), with masc N sg spurðr, fem N sg spurd, neut N sg spurt, etc. From stefna (stafn-i/j-) 'head, aim' we have the past participle stem (stefnð-), with masc N sg stefnðr, fem N sg stefnð, neut N sg stefnt, etc. The i-thematic type, such as lifa (lif-i-) does not obey this general rule. The past participle stem of e.g. (lif-i-) is (lifað-), with masc N sg lifaðr, fem N sg lifuð, neut N sg lifat, etc. The i-thematic type represented by ná (ná-i-) 'reach, get hold of' shows coalescence of the stem vowel and the a of the past participle stem, with masc N sg náðr etc. Finally, it is appropriate to note that the irregular hafa 'have' has the past participle stem (hafð-): masc N sg hafðr, fem N sg høfð, neut N sg haft, etc.

(C) The Infinitive

Verbal infinitives in Old Icelandic are formed by suffixing -a to the present stem. In the process a number of phonetic modifications take place:

(1) Weak verbs: in weak verbs where the present stem is characterized by a vowel, i.e. a-stems, i-stems, and long-syllable i/j-stems, the vowel is lost before the infinitive suffix -a. Thus for the stems (kall-a-), (lif-i-) and (stafn-i/j-), the infinitive formation is (kall-a- + -a) → kalla, (lif-i- + -a) → lifa, and (stefn-i- + -a) → stefna. In short-syllable i/j-thematic stems, and in long-syllable i/j-thematic stems ending in a velar (g or k), the thematic is realized as j in the present stem before a following a. Thus for e.g. (spur-i/j-), (lag(g)-i/j-), (lág-i/j-) the infinitive is derived as (spyr-j- + -a) → spyrja, (legg-j- + -a) → leggja, (læg-j- + -a) → lægja. (See Lesson XIII for a general discussion of the present stems of weak verbs.) When the stem syllable ends in a long low back á the -a of the infinitive is assimilated to the stressed vowel. Thus (ná-i-) has the infinitive form ná 'reach, fetch'.

(2) Strong verbs: strong verb stems (see Lessons XV–XXX) have no thematic vowel and the infinitive marker is simply added to the present stem. Thus from the stem (tak-) 'take' we derive the infinitive form taka, from (vax-) 'grow' we form vaxa, etc.

(3) Preterite-Present verbs: these verbs also have no thematic vowels and the infinitive marker is simply added to the present stem. But since some preterite-present stems form irregular infinitives they must be treated separately and are listed without stems in the present exposition (see Lesson XXII). The same applies to various other irregular verbs.

(4) Note that the -sk ending, the so-called 'reflexive' or 'middle-voice', is suffixed to the infinitive form and should be subtracted when determining the infinitive form of a verb. (For a discussion of the -sk suffix see Lesson XXXII.)

(D) Word Order

(1) The conjunction enda: the conjunction enda 'and besides' is like ok 'and' in that it functions syntactically as an adverb and occupies the first position of an independent conjoined clause, and is followed immediately by the finite verb: 'enda þótti honum mjök

vaxa þústr . . .' 'and besides he thought the hostility increased greatly . . .'

(2) Dative in first position: in several instances a dative normally occupies the first position (subject position) in a sentence. This is characteristic of a number of verbs that enter into impersonal constructions that translate as 'seem', 'appear' in English: 'henni þótti hann eigi hafa sér allt satt til sagt' 'it seemed to her that he had not told her all truthfully'. Such verbs are further discussed in Lesson XXXIII.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Bolli (Bolli-)	personal name
búandi [Lesson XXVI]	farmer
fjöldi (fjöldi-)	multitude
háttir (hátt-u-)	custom, habit
Hjarðhyllingr (hylling-a-)	person from Hjarðarholt
Kjartan (irregular N) (Kjartan-a-)	personal name
Þórarinn (Þórarin-a-)	personal name
þústr (þúst-a-)	hostility, enmity

Feminine:

Laugar [pl]	place-name, 'Hot Springs'
staðfesta (festa-)	permanent residence
Tunga (Tunga-)	place-name, 'Tongue (of land)'
útkváma (kváma-)	coming out, arrival (in Iceland from Norway)

Neuter:

boð (boð-)	invitation, banquet
fjár [G sg of fé ]	money, possessions; sheep
heimboð (boð-)	invitation
herað (herað-)	district
Hjarðarholt (holt-)	place-name, 'Herd's Wood'
kaup (kaup-)	purchase
lausafé (fé-) [G sg fjár ]	movable property

Adjectives

ásáttir (sátt-)	agreed
dýrr (dýr-)	expensive
fár (fá-)	few

feginn (fegin-)	gladdened, joyful
verða feginn [+D]	be gladdened (by something)
kærr (kær-)	dear
[+D] er kært við [+A]	(someone) is fond of (someone)
samr (sam-)	same

Pronouns

hvárr (hvár-)	each of two
skyldu sitt haust hvárir aðra heim sækja	each should visit the other in the autumn alternately hvárrtveggja	each of two
þessir [masc N pl of þessi , Lesson XXV]	these

Numeral

tólf	twelve
------	--------

Verbs

heldu [3rd pl past ind of halda , Lesson XXI] [+D]	held, kept
kaupa [Lesson XIV]	buy, purchase
kemr (=kømr) [3rd sg pres ind of koma (kom-)]	comes láta [Lesson XXIII] [+inf+object of inf]	have [+obj of participle+ participle]
lætr flytja fé sitt	has his property moved
lýsa (lýs-i/j-)	announce, give notice of
mæla (mál-i/j-)	say, speak
mæla til kaups	make a verbal agreement of purchase
réðu [3rd pl past ind of ráða , Lesson XXIII]	deliberated
réðu um [+A]	deliberated on (something)
riða (rið-)	ride
riðu [3rd pl past ind of riða (rið-)] [+D]	rode (something)
segja (sag-i/j-) til	tell
selja [Lesson XIV]	sell
skyldu [3rd pl past ind of skulu (pret-pres)]	should, were to sækja [Lesson XIV] heim [+A]	visit (someone)
sækja [+A] til boðs	visit (someone)

urðu [3rd pl past ind of verða (verð-)]	became
vaxa (vax-)	grow
vildi [3rd sg subj II of vilja , Lesson XXIII]	wanted to [+inf]
þurfa [pret-pres, Lesson XXII] at [+inf]	need to [+inf]
þurru [3rd pl past ind of þverra (þverr-)]	decreased, grew less
honum þurru lausafé	he ran short of ready property
þykkja [Lesson XIV] [+D]	seem (to someone)
þykkjask [Lesson XXXII]	think oneself

Adverb

satt	truthfully
henni þótti hann eigi hafa sér allt satt til sagt	she thought he had not told her all truthfully

Preposition

um [+A] (time)	for, during
----------------	-------------

Prepositional Phrase

í móti	in exchange
--------	-------------

Conjunction

enda	and besides, moreover
------	-----------------------

3. Texts

These selections from Laxdæla Saga tell of the return home of Kjartan, son of Óláfr Høskuldsson and Þorgerðr Egilsdóttir, from Norway after his beloved, Guðrún Ósvífrsdóttir, had married Kjartan's best friend and foster-brother, Bolli Þórleiksson. Bolli, in fact, had told Guðrún that Kjartan had found another love in Norway. This marriage leads to a feud between the two men and their families, and one of the most decisive incidents occurs when Bolli attempts to buy the farmstead at Tunga, only to be preempted by the vengeful Kjartan.

(A) Laxdæla saga (Chapter 44): Útkváma Kjartans

Kjartan riðr ok frá skipi ok vestr í Dali. Þeir váru tólf saman. Kemr Kjartan heim í Hjarðarholt, ok verða allir menn honum fegnir. Kjartan lætr flytja fé sitt sunnan frá skipi um haustit. Þessir tólf menn, er vestr riðu með Kjartani, váru allir í Hjarðarholti um vetrinn. Þeir Óláfr ok Ósvífr heldu inum sama hætti um heimboð; skyldu sitt haust hvárir aðra heim sækja. Þetta haust skyldi vera boð at Laugum, en Óláfr til sækja ok þeir Hjarðhylltingar. Guðrún mælti nú við Bolla, at henni þótti hann eigi hafa sér allt satt til sagt um útkvámu Kjartans.

(B) Laxdæla saga (Chapter 47): Þórarinn selr Tunguland

Þórarinn búandi í Tungu lýsir því, at hann vildi selja Tunguland. Var þat bæði at honum þurru lausafé, enda þótti honum mjök vaxa þústr milli manna í heraðinu, en honum var kært við hváratveggju. Bolli þóttisk þurfa at kaupa sér staðfestu, því at Laugamenn höfðu fá lön, en fjölda fjár. Þau Bolli ok Guðrún riðu í Tungu at ráði Ósvífrs. . . . Síðan réðu þau Þórarinn um kaup þetta ok urðu ásátt, hversu dýrt vera skyldi, ok svá þat, er í móti skyldi vera, ok var mælt til kaups með þeim Bolla.

4. Drills

Present the verbs kaupa, sækja, hafa, þykkja, segja, mæla, selja, and lýsa in the following forms:

- (A) 1st sg past
- (B) 3rd sg present
- (C) 2nd pl present
- (D) 1st pl past
- (E) 2nd sg past
- (F) supine

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) Kjartan comes to Iceland and rides home to Hjarðarholt with twelve men.

(B) All are gladdened by his arrival, and Kjartan and his men were all in Hjarðarholt during the winter.

(C) Olaf and Osvífr kept the same custom with respect to invitations, so that each (group) should visit the other alternately in the autumn.

(D) This autumn Olaf and the group from Hjarðarholt should visit at Laugar.

(E) Gudrun at Laugar thought Bolli had not told her the whole truth concerning the arrival of Kjartan.

(F) They, Bolli and the men of Laugar, had few lands but a multitude of sheep, and Bolli thought he needed to buy himself a permanent residence.

(G) Thorarin wanted to sell the land at Tunga, and Gudrun and Bolli made a verbal agreement with Thorarin concerning this purchase and how expensive the land should be.

LESSON XV

1. Grammar

(A) Strong Verbs

(1) Strong v. weak verbs: in contrast with the weak verbs, the strong verb stem has no thematic vowel, and the strong verb forms the past tense by changing the vowel of the stem-syllable from that which appears in the present tense stem. Historically this alternation came about in the same way as the changing of stem vowels in such English verbs as 'sit—sat', 'take—took', etc. Whereas in Modern English these verbs are essentially irregular, in Old Icelandic the strong verbs are 'regular' in the sense that large numbers of them undergo the same changes, and from certain features of the present stem the other forms of a given verb are predictable.

(2) Endings: the person/number endings attached to the stem are the same for all verbs, weak or strong, in the present tense (with the exception of the preterite-present verbs, see Lesson XI). But in the past tense the endings for the singular forms of strong verbs are distinct from those of weak verbs:

1st sg	zero	gaf	'I gave'	(1st pl -um)
2nd sg	-t	gaft	'you gave'	(2nd pl -uð)
3rd sg	zero	gaf	'he gave'	(3rd pl -u).

Note: when the stem ends in ð, d, or t, the 2nd sg past indicative ending is generally -st, as in (lít-) 'look' with the past sg stem (leit-): leizt 'you (sg) looked'.

(3) The four principal parts: as many as four different vowels can alternate in the stems of a strong verb, e.g. bresta, brast, brustu, brostinn 'burst', and there are seven different classes of regular strong verbs. The present stem serves to distinguish between and define the different classes, while each class has four basic stems (the four principal parts) which are as follows:

(a) The first principal part is the present stem, which is also the stem of the infinitive and subjunctive I (see Lesson XXX).

(b) The second principal part serves as the stem for the past singular forms.

(c) The third principal part is the stem for the past plural and also the stem from which are derived the subjunctive II forms, both singular and plural (see Lesson XXXI).

(d) The fourth principal part is the stem for the past participle. The complete form for the participle of strong verbs is derived by suffixing -in- to the stem form and adding the appropriate case (number and gender) ending to the participle suffix.

(B) Class I Strong Verbs

The vowels for the four principal parts in the first class of strong verbs are i—ei—i—i. Thus we have the following forms for the verbs (rið-) 'ride', (stíg-) 'step', (lít-) 'look', and (bíð-) 'wait':

- (1) Infinitive: riða, stiga, lita, bíða; present tense: ek bíð, hann stígr, vér litum, þér bíðið, etc.
- (2) Past singular: ek reið, þú steigt, þú leizt, hann beið, etc.
- (3) Past plural: vér riðum, þér stiguð, þeir litu, þær bíðu, etc.
- (4) Past Participle: riðinn, stiginn, litinn, etc. in the masculine nominative singular.

Class I strong verbs with a stem-syllable ending in g often display variant forms in the 1st and 3rd of the past singular. For example, that form of stiga can be either steig or sté, hníga 'fall, sink', can have the past sg forms hneig or hné, etc.

Note: The verb bíða 'abide, wait' has an irregular participle bedinn, instead of the expected bíðinn.

(C) Word Order and Auxiliaries

(1) Word order in interrogative sentences: interrogative sentences that are introduced by a question word ('who, which, what', etc.) have the finite verb form in second position, following the question word, which may be subject, object, or adverbial:

'Hvat skulum vit nú til ráða taka?' (Lesson XII).

'Hversu margt hefir hér fyrimanna látizk?' (Lesson XII).

'Hverja skaltu leið riða?' (Lesson XV).

In a yes/no question the order of subject and verb is inverted and the verb occupies the first position, while the subject occupies the second position: Skalt þú ríða? 'Shall you ride?', etc.

(2) Vera and intransitive verbs of motion: While the construction of hafa + supine of main verb normally expresses the perfective aspect, indicating a completed act, the auxiliary vera is used with intransitive verbs of motion to indicate an already completed act:

'Er þeir váru komnir við Ísland . . .' (Lesson XIII).

'Þórarinn var ríðinn á annan bæ' (Lesson XV).

'Þann sama dag var þar komin Þórhalla málga . . .' (Lesson XV).

Note that the participle of the main verb is declined for number and gender with the auxiliary vera, while the auxiliary hafa always takes the supine (N sg neuter) form of the participle. For a further discussion of relative tense marking and aspect, see Lesson XXXIV.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Án [irregular N] (Án-u-)	personal name
Ásgrímr (grím-a-)	personal name
pallr (pall-a-)	a raised platform at the end of the hall
páskar [pl]	Easter
Saurbær (bæj-i-)	place-name, 'Dirt Farm'
skuldarstaðr (stað-i-)	location of debt
játa skuldarstöðum	acknowledge a deposit of debt
Svinadalr (dal-i-)	place-name, 'Swine Dale'
Sælingsdalr (dal-i-)	place-name, named for Þórir Sælingr ('the Wealthy')

Feminine:

fjárreiður [pl]	money matters
hríð (hríð-i-)	while
stufa (stufa-)	sitting-room
Þórhalla (halla-)	personal name

Neuter:

þili (þilj-, irregular)	partition, interior wall
-------------------------	--------------------------

Adjectives

heimull (heimul-)	free for the taking
máligr (málig-)	talkative

reiðubúinn (búin-)	ready, prepared
svartur (svart-)	swarthy, black

Numeral

þriði [weak]	third
--------------	-------

Pronoun

hverja [fem A sg of hverr (hverj-)]	which
--	-------

Verbs

bað [3rd sg past ind of biðja (biðj-)]	requested, asked
biða (bið-) [+G]	await (someone)
dveljask (dval-i/j-)	remain, dwell
fylgja (fylg-i/j-) [+D]	follow, accompany (someone)
játa (ját-a-) [+D]	acknowledge (something)
kominn [fem N sg participle of koma (kom-)]	come
kvazk [3rd sg past ind of kveðask (kveð-)]	said of himself
kveðja (kvað-i/j-)	greet, welcome
líta (lít-) á	look at
ríði [3rd sg subj I of ríða (ríð-)]	should ride
ríðinn [masc N sg participle of ríða (ríð-)]	ridden
sá [3rd sg past ind of sjá , Lesson XXIII]	saw
sat [3rd sg past ind of sitja (sitj-)]	sat
sett [neut N pl participle of setja , Lesson XIV]	set up, placed
spyrja (spur-i/j-)	ask, find out
sté [variant form of steig , 3rd sg past ind of stíga (stíg-)]	stepped
stíga undir borð	sit down at table
stíga (stíg-)	step
vill [3rd sg pres ind of vilja , Lesson XXIII]	wants, wishes
þurfu [3rd pl pres ind of þurfa (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	need

Adverbs

heiman	from home
hvert	where, whither

Adverbial Phrases

um daginn	during the day
vestan Svínadal	from the west by way of Svínadalr
vestr Sælingsdal	(to the) west by way of Sælingsdalr

3. Texts

The first selection is from Laxdæla Saga. After Kjartan has thwarted Bolli in his attempt to purchase the land at Tunga he intends to pay Thorarin with money owed him at Saurbær. Riding there through Svínadalr he meets his death at the hand of the men from Laugar, Gudrun's brothers and Bolli, who have had news of Kjartan's journey from Þórhalla málga.

In the second selection, from Njáls Saga, Flosi Þórðarson rides to a farmstead (also called Tunga) which belongs to Ásgrímur Elliða-Grímsson, his foe. Flosi visits there deliberately to taunt Asgrim, as the unwritten laws of hospitality and honour required each visitor, whether friend or foe, to be offered food and shelter.

(A) Laxdæla saga (Chapter 47): Kjartan ríðr til Saurbæjar

Inn þriðja dag páska reið Kjartan heiman við annan mann. Fylgði honum An svarti. Þeir koma í Tungu um daginn. Kjartan vill, at Þórarinn ríði með honum vestr til Saurbæjar at játa þar skuldarstöðum, því at Kjartan átti þar miklar fjárreiður. Þórarinn var riðinn á annan bæ. Kjartan dvalðisk þar um hríð ok beið hans. Þann sama dag var þar komin Þórhalla málga. Hon spyr Kjartan, hvert hann ætlaði at fara. Hann kvazk fara skyldu vestr til Saurbæjar. Hon spyr: 'Hverja skaltu leið ríða?' Kjartan svarar: 'Ek mun ríða vestr Sælingsdal, en vestan Svínadal.'

(B) Njáls saga (Chapter 136): Flosi ríðr í Tungu

Flosi reið í tún ok bað menn stiga af hestum ok ganga inn. Þeir gerðu svá. Þeir Flosi kómu í stufuna, en Ásgrímur sat á pelli. Flosi leit á bekkina ok sá at allt var reiðubúið, þat er menn þurftu at hafa. Ásgrímur kvaddi þá ekki, en mælti til Flosa: 'Því eru borð sett, at heimull er matr þeim, er hafa þurfu.' Flosi sté undir borð ok allir hans menn, en lögðu vápn sín upp til þilis.

4. Drills

Present the verbs ríða, stiga, biða, lita, ætla, setja, and játa in the following forms:

- (A) 3rd pl past
- (B) 1st sg present
- (C) 3rd sg past
- (D) 3rd sg present
- (E) supine

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) Kjartan had money matters in Saurbær and rode with An the swarthy to Tunga, because he wanted Thorarin to acknowledge a deposit of debts there.
- (B) But Thorarin had ridden to another farm; and Kjartan stayed and awaited him a while.
- (C) Thorhall the talkative had also come there that same day.
- (D) She asked Kjartan which road he intended to ride, and he told her that.
- (E) In Njal's Saga Flosi rides to Tunga and Flosi and his men step from their horses and go inside.
- (F) Asgrim sat on the raised platform in the sitting-room and Flosi and all his men came in and saw (sáu) that everything was ready.
- (G) The tables were set with all that (which) men needed to have.
- (H) Asgrim does not greet them but says to Flosi that food is (sé) available for those who need it, and they and Flosi lay their weapons up against the wall and sit down at the tables.

LESSON XVI

1. Grammar

(A) Class II Strong Verbs

(1) Principal parts: Class II strong verbs are characterized by the presence of jú in the present stem, but under given circumstances (see below) this may be replaced by jó. The four principal parts have the following stem vowels: jú/jó-au-u-o. Thus we have the following forms of the verbs (rjúk-) 'smoke, rush', and (brjút-) 'break':

- (a) 1st principal part: infinitive, rjúka, brjóta.
 (b) 2nd principal part: ek rauk, þú raukt, þú brauzt, hann braut, etc.
 (c) 3rd principal part: vér rukum, þér brutuð, þeir ruku, etc.
 (d) 4th principal part: rokinn, brotinn, etc.

(2) Conditions affecting the present stem (1st principal part):

(a) When the consonant following the stem vowel is a dental consonant (i.e. ð, d, s, or t), then jú is replaced by jó, as in brjóta 'break', ljóta 'smite', skjóta 'shoot', bjóða 'offer', þrjóta 'come to an end', kjósa 'choose', etc.

(b) The present singular forms of strong verbs show fronting (i-umlaut) of the stem vowel, so that instead of jú/jó (as in the infinitive or present plural forms) these forms have y. Thus the full paradigm of a Class II strong verb in the present tense is:

Stem:	(rjúk-)	(bjúð-)	(skjút-)	(kjús-)
Sg 1st	rýk	býð	skýt	kýs
2nd	rýkr	býðr	skýtr	kýss
3rd	rýkr	býðr	skýtr	kýss
Pl 1st	rjúkum	bjóðum	skjótum	kjósum
2nd	rjúkið	bjóðið	skjótið	kjósið
3rd	rjúka	bjóða	skjóta	kjósa.

This rule for the fronting of the stem vowel in the present singular holds for all strong verbs where applicable (i.e. Classes II, VI, and VII of strong verbs).

(3) Irregularities

(a) Just as we have an apparent irregularity in the Class I strong verbs of the type of stíga (with the past sg stem variant (sté-)), so a final g can also disappear in Class II strong verbs. Thus, e.g. fljúga (fljúg-) 'fly' has a past singular stem (fló-) besides the regular variant (flaug-), smjúga (smjúg-) 'creep' has both past sg stems (smó-) and (smaug-): ek fló, þú flótt, hann smó; ek flaug, þú flaugt, hann smaug, etc. are the past sg forms of these verbs.

(b) These apparent irregularities arose from a regularity in an earlier state of the language when the final stem consonant was alternately g (as in the present and past plural stems) or h (in the past sg stem), and eventually the h was lost. Similarly an alternation existed between s and z (phonetic [z], not orthographic 'z' (=ts)). The [z] variant changed to r in Old Icelandic and a new irregularity arose. Thus the Class II strong verbs ending in s, e.g. frjósa (frjús-) 'freeze', and kjósa (kjús-) 'choose' have the past sg (2nd principal part) stem variants (frør-) and (kør-), respectively: ek frøri, þú kørir, etc. occur beside the regular ek fraus, þú kaust, etc.

(c) Three verbs of Class II are irregular in that there is no j in the present stem. These are lúka 'close, finish', súpa 'sip', and lúta 'bow down'. Otherwise these verbs are fully regular.

(B) Strong Verb Stems and Derived Nouns

Noun stems can be derived from or cognate with the various stems of a strong verb, with or without the addition of a derivational morpheme. Thus boð 'invitation' is formed from the 4th stem of bjóða (bjúð-) 'invite', reykr (reyk-i-) 'smoke' is derived from the 2nd stem of rjúka (rjúk-) 'smoke' with i-umlaut of the stem vowel, flug (flug-) 'flight' is cognate with the 3rd stem of fljúga (fljúg-) 'fly', etc. For more on derivations from strong verbs, see Lesson XXXV.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Arnórr (Arnór-a-) bakki (bakki-)

personal name
back edge of a sword

barnsaldr (aldr-a-)	childhood
björn (bjarn-u-)	bear
fœti [D sg of fótr (fót-), Lesson XXVII]	foot
hauss (haus-a-)	skull
heili (heili-)	brain
hrammr (hramm-a-)	bear's paw
piltr (pilt-a-)	boy, lad
stúfr (stúf-a-)	stump
uppvöxtr (vaxt-u-)	growth, growing up
Þorbjörn (bjarn-u-)	personal name
Feminine:
afraun (raun-i-)	trial by strength
grimmð (grimmð-i-)	fierceness
hlust (hlust-i-)	ear
klœr [N/A pl of kló (kló-), Lesson XXVIII]	claws
sýn (sýn-i-)	sight, appearance
fríðr sýnum	handsome in appearance
tiltekð (tekð-i-)	expedient, design
Neuter:
ástriki (ríkj-)	love, parental love
berg (berg-)	precipice; rock
bjarg (bjarg-)	rock, boulder
dýr (dýr-)	animal
einstigi (stigj-)	single-file path
fang (fang-)	grasp
flug (flug-)	flight
höfuð (höfuð-)	head
höggfæri (færi-)	sword's reach
orð (orð-)	word
rúm (rúm-)	space, room
sax (sax-)	short, one-edged sword
skapt (skapt-)	shaft
skotmál (mál-)	shooting range
Øxnamegin (megin-)	nickname, 'Might of Oxen'
Adjectives
bellinn (bellin-)	tricky
bráðgærr (gærv-)	precocious
breiðleitr (leit-)	broad of face
fátalaðr (talað-)	reticent, of few words
freknótttr (freknótt-)	freckled

heill (heil-)	whole, healthy
lausara [comparative of lauss (laus-), Lesson XXVII]	looser
lítit [neut N/A sg of lítill (lítill-)]	little, small lægri [comparative of lágr (lág-), Lesson XXVII]	lower
rauðhærðr (hærð-)	red-haired
skammeitr (leit-)	short of face
údæll (dæll-)	unruly, quarrelsome
úpýðr (þýð-)	unfriendly

Pronoun

þeim [masc D sg of sá , Lesson XXV]	that one
--	----------

Verbs

bíta (bít-)	bite
brá [3rd sg past ind of bregða , Lesson XVII] [+D]	drew (a sword)
brazk [3rd sg past ind of brjótask (brjútask-)]	struggled
brotna (brotn-a-)	break, be broken
drepr [3rd sg pres ind of drepa (drep-)]	slays
fell [3rd sg past ind of falla , Lesson XXI]	fell
geiga (geig-a-)	take the wrong direction
gerðr [participle of gera , Lesson XIV]	done
glíma (glím-i/j-)	wrestle
halda [Lesson XXI] [+D]	hold (something)
helt [3rd sg past ind of halda , Lesson XXI] [+D]	held (something)
hjó [3rd sg past ind of höggva , Lesson XXI]	hewed, struck
hljóp [3rd sg past ind of hlaupa , Lesson XXI]	leapt
kenna (kann-i/j-)	recognize
kljúfa (kljúf-)	cleave
ljósta (ljúst-)	strike
ná (ná-i-) [+inf]	manage, be able to
reiða (reið-i/j-)	raise in the air, brandish
rjúka (rjúk-)	rush, go flying

sagt [supine of segja (sag-i/j-)]	said
setti [3rd sg past ind of setja , Lesson XIV]	set skauzk [3rd sg past ind of skjótask (skjút-)]	jumped suddenly skjóta (skjút-) [+D]	shoot (with something) sneri [3rd sg past ind of snúa , Lesson XXIII]	turned stóð [3rd sg past ind of standa , Lesson XX]	stood
sveipa (sveip-a-) til [+D]	sweep around (with something) unni [3rd sg past ind of unna (pret-pres), Lesson XXII] [+D]	loved (someone)
vildi [3rd sg past ind of vilja , Lesson XXIII]	wanted to [+inf]
þóttisk [3rd sg past ind of þykkjask , Lesson XXXII]	thought himself
þrifa (þrif-)	grab, grasp

Adverbs

fast	hard, firmly
fírr [comparative of fjarri ]	farther from
fram	forward
hart	hard
hátt	high
næsta	very
nökkut	somewhat, a bit
um	about, around
þegar	at once

Adverbial Phrase

í móti	back, in return
--------	-----------------

Prepositions

fyrir [+A]	in front of meðal [+G]	between
mót [+D]	towards

Prepositional Phrases

á baki [+D]	in the back of, behind á móti [+D]	against
í móti [+D]	towards
ofan fyrir [+A]	down over

Conjunctions

með því at	because, since
meðan	while
þegar	when

3. Texts

The following three passages are from Grettis Saga. The first describes Grettir as a youth, the second recounts the incident when he fought a wild bear that had been killing off farm-animals while hiding out in a cave on a steep sea-side cliff, accessible only by a narrow path. In the third passage Grettir avenges the death of his older brother Atli who had been slain by Þorbjörn Þoxnamegin in a dastardly manner. Grettir seeks Thorbjorn out at his home and finds him farming in a nearby boggy field, along with his son Arnórr.

(A) Grettis saga (Chapter 14): Hér segir frá Gretti inum sterka

Annan son áttu þau, er Grettir var kallaðr. Hann var mjök údæll í uppvexti sínum, fátalaðr ok úþýðr, bellinn bæði í orðum ok tiltekðum. Ekki hafði hann ástriki mikit af Ásmundi, fōður sínum, en móðir hans unni honum mikit. Grettir Ásmundarson var friðr maðr sýnum, breiðleitr ok skammleitr, rauðhærðr ok næsta freknótt, ekki bráðgørr, meðan hann var á barnsaldri.

(B) Grettis saga (Chapter 21): Grettir glímir við björninn

Hann gekk þegar í einstigit, en er dýrit sá manninn, hljóp þat upp með grimmð mikilli ok í móti Gretti ok laust til hans með hramminum, þeim er fírr var berginu. Grettir hjó í móti með sverðinu ok kom á hramminn fyrir ofan klœrnar ok tók þar af. Þá vildi dýrit ljósta með þeim foetinum, sem heill var, skauzk á stúfinn, ok var hann lægri en hann ætlaði, ok fell þá dýrit í fang Gretti. Hann þríf þá meðal hlusta dýrinu ok helt því frá sér, svá at þat náði eigi at bíta hann. Svá hefir Grettir sagt, at hann þóttisk þá afraun mesta gert hafa, at halda dýrinu. En með því at dýrit brauzk um fast, en rúmit lítit, þá ruku þeir báðir ofan fyrir bjargit.

(C) Grettis saga (Chapter 48): Grettir drepr Þorbjörn Óxnamegin ok Arnór, son hans

Grettir gekk á mýrina, ok þegar hann kemr í skotmál við þá, skaut hann spjóti at Þorbirni. En þat var lausara á skaptinu en hann ætlaði ok geigaði á fluginu ok hljóp af skaptinu ok niðr í jörðina. Þorbjörn tók skjöldinn ok setti fyrir sik, en brá sverðinu ok sneri á móti Gretti, er hann kenndi hann. Grettir brá þá saxinu ok sveipaði því til nokkut, svá at hann sá, hvar piltrinn stóð á baki honum. . . . En er hann sá, at piltrinn var kominn í höggfæri við sik, þá reiddi hann hátt saxit. Laust hann bakkanum saxins í höfuð Arnóri svá hart, at haussinn brotnaði, ok var þat hans bani. Þá hljóp Þorbjörn mót Gretti ok hjó til hans, en hann . . . hjó fram saxinu ok klauf skjöldinn af Þorbirni ok kom saxit í höfuðit honum svá hart, at í heilanum stóð, ok fell hann af þessu dauðr niðr.

4. Drills

Present the verbs ljósta, skjóta, brjóta, rjúka, kljúfa, prífa, and bíta in the following forms:

- (A) 1st pl present
- (B) 3rd sg past
- (C) 2nd pl past
- (D) 1st sg present
- (E) supine

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) Grettir Asmundarson was very quarrelsome, reticent, unfriendly, and tricky both in words and deeds in his youth.
- (B) He became a strong man and wrestled with a bear.
- (C) The bear struck at Grettir with its paw, and Grettir struck towards the bear with his sword and took off the paw above the claws.
- (D) After that the animal fell into Grettir's [D] grasp, and he grasped between the ears of the animal and held it away from himself, so that it wasn't able to bite him.
- (E) Grettir also kills Arnor, the son of Thorbjorn Might-of-Oxen.

(F) He first shot the spear at Thorbjorn, but it was lower than he intended and leapt off the shaft and fell down into the ground.

(G) Thorbjorn drew his sword and turned against Grettir, but Grettir saw that the boy had come into sword's reach.

(H) Grettir struck with the back of the sword into the head of Arnor, and that was his death. Then he struck forward with the sword and clove the shield off Thorbjorn, and the sword came into his [D] head and from this he fell down dead.

LESSON XVII

1. Grammar

(A) Class III Strong Verbs

Class III strong verbs are characterized by a stem that ends in two consonants, and which has a present stem vowel e or i. The four principal parts have the stem vowels: e/i-a-u-o. The present stem vowel is normally e, but when it is immediately followed by an n the vowel is i (but see C1, below). The past participle normally has the stem vowel u, but his appears as o when immediately followed by an l or r. Thus we have the following forms for the verbs (drekk-) 'drink', (verð-) 'become', (finn-) 'find', (spring-) 'burst, spring', and (þverr-) 'decrease':

- (1) Infinitive: drekka, verða, finna, springa, þverra; present tense: ek drekk, þú verðr, hann finnr, vit springum, þeir þverra, etc.
- (2) ek fann, þú varðst, hann þvarr, þat sprakk, þú drakkt, etc.
- (3) vér drukkum, þér sprunguð, þeir fundu, þær urðu, etc.
- (4) sprunginn, drukkinn, þorrinn, orðinn, etc.

(B) Variant Forms

Many Class III verbs display variant forms, either in the stem vowels, or in the two final consonants, or in a sequence of v + vowel:

(1) The ng and nd that occur stem-finally in Class III become kk and tt, respectively, in the second stem (past singular stem). Thus for the verbs binda 'bind' and springa 'burst, spring' we have the past singular forms ek batt, þú batzt (= battst), and þat sprakk, etc. Similarly, ld becomes lt in the past singular stem, so that e.g. gjalda 'pay' (see B2, below) has the past forms ek galt, þú galzt, hann galt; vér guldum, þér gulduð, þeir guldu.

(2) Several verb stems of Class III end in a consonant cluster where the first of the two consonants is a liquid, l or r. These verbs always have, as mentioned already, an o in the past participle stem. But some of them display a further deviance in that the vowel of the infinitive and present plural forms is diphthongized from e to ja. Thus we have, for example, such forms as infinitive gjalda 'pay' and bjarga 'rescue'; present ek geld, þú geldr, hann bergr, vér gjöldum, þér bjargið, þeir gjalda; past sg: ek barg, þú bargt, þú galzt, hann galt; past pl: vér burgum, þér gulduð, þeir burgu; participial goldinn, borginn, etc. The verb skjálfa 'shiver, tremble' has a lengthened vowel in the present plural and infinitive, other forms are like those of gjalda: ek skelf, ek skalf, vér skulfum, skolfinn, but vér skjálfum, etc.

(3) There is a regular deletion of v before o or u in Old Icelandic (as in the rules for the v-augment in noun and adjective stems). Thus loss of v characterizes the principal parts of such verbs as verða 'become', which has the stem forms (verð-), (varð-), (urð-), (orð-): ek verð, vér verðum, ek varð, vér urðum, orðinn, etc.

(4) Several Class III strong verbs have a v-augment added to the two final consonants of the stem of the 1st and 2nd principal parts. This v causes rounding (u-umlaut) of the preceding stem vowel whenever possible: a → o, i → y, and e → ø. Although at first sight they look entirely different, the following verbs with v-augmented stems are essentially regular:

- (a) (sekkv-) 'sink': hann sökkr, þeir sökva, etc.
(singv-) 'sing': hann syng, þeir syngva, etc.
- (b) (sakkv-) hann sök, etc.: (sangv-) hann song, etc. (note that rule B1, above, does not apply to this stem).
- (c) (sukk-) þeir sukku, etc.; (sung-) þeir sungu, etc.
- (d) sökkinn (irregular), sunginn, etc.

(C) Unsystematic Irregularities

A number of verbs that are traditionally ascribed to Class III are best described as irregular, as they display numerous irregularities that cannot be accounted for systematically:

(1) The verbs brenna 'burn' and renna 'run' have e rather than the expected i in the present stem. Otherwise they behave in a regular manner.

(2) The verb finna 'find' originally had the present stem *(finþ-). The stem final þ alternated with ð in a manner equivalent to the alternation s-z and g-h in Proto-Norse (see Lesson XVI, 1A3 b). As a result of two divergent changes, the verb now has the following four stem forms: (finn-), (fann-), (fund-), (fund-).

(3) The verb bregða 'cause to move quickly' is irregular in the past singular stem, which is (brá-), owing to a process comparable to that operating in (sté-), (fló-), etc. (see Lesson XV, 1B, and Lesson XVI, 1A3 a): ek brá þú brátt, hann brá, but vér brugðum, þér brugðuð, þeir brugðu.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Ármóðr ( Ármóð-a- )	personal name
einmenningr ( menning-a- )	a feat done alone
drekka einmenning	to empty the drinking vessel by oneself
formáli ( máli- )	preamble, toast
forunautr ( naut-a- )	travelling companion
gaumr ( gaum-a- )	heed, attention
gefa gaum at [+D]	pay attention to (something, someone)
hálmr ( hálm-a- )	straw (covering the floor)
húskarl ( karl-a- )	house servant
knífr ( kníf-a- )	knife
lófi ( lófi- )	palm of the hand
munnr ( munn-a- )	mouth
stafr ( staf-i- )	post
sveitungr ( sveitung-a- )	comrade, man from the same district
vegr ( veg-a-, veg-u- )	way

Feminine:

bringa ( bringa- )	chest
dróttning ( dróttning-a- )	queen
drykkja ( drykkja- )	drinking
nøs ( nas-i- )	nostril
rún ( rún-a- )	rune
spýja ( spýja- )	vomit
öselja ( selja- )	female cup-bearer
önd ( and-i- )	breath
öxl ( axl-i- )	shoulder

Neuter:

andhlaup ( hlaup- )	suffocation
andlit ( lit- )	face

auga ( auga- )	eye
full ( full- )	full drinking vessel
drekka full	toast; drink from a full cup
horn ( horn- )	horn
mungát ( gát- )	ale
úlyfjan ( lyfjan- )	poison

Adjectives

drukknir [masc N pl of drukinn ]	drunk
sterkastr ( sterkast- ) [superlative of ( sterk- )]	strongest
úfœrr ( foer- )	incapacitated

Article

it [neut N/A sg]	the
------------------	-----

Verbs

blanda ( bland-a- )	mix, blend eggja ( eggj-a- )	egg on, urge
eira ( eir-i- )	hold out, tolerate
[+D] eirir	(someone) tolerates
at honum myndi eigi svá búit eira	that he would not tolerate such a situation
fekk [3rd sg past ind of fá , Lesson XXI] [+D]	gave, delivered
fenginn [masc N sg participle of fá , Lesson XXI]	got, procured
finna ( finn- )	find, discover föru [3rd pl past ind of fara ( far- )]	went
borð föru brott	the tables were taken away
gerask [Lesson XIV]	become
gjósa ( gjús- )	gush
hrundit [supine of hrinda ( hrind- )]	thrown inn borinn [masc N sg participle of bera ( ber- ) inn ]	carried in
kneikja ( kneik-i/j- )	bend backwards
komask ( kom- ) undan	escape, get away
máttu [3rd pl past ind of mega ( pret-pres ), Lesson XXII]	were able to myndi [3rd sg subj II of munu ( pret-pres ), Lesson XXII]	might, would
renna ( renn- )	run
ríða ( ríð- ) [+D]	smear (with something)
rísta ( rist- )	carve

segði [3rd sg subj II of segja (sag-i/j-)]	said, would say
signa (sign-i/j-)	bless with the sign of Thor's hammer
skyldi [3rd sg past ind of skulu (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	should springa (spring-)	burst, split
stinga (sting-)	stick, thrust
tók [3rd sg past ind of taka (tak-)] í [+A]	took hold of (something)
tók [3rd sg past ind of taka (tak-)] við [+D]	took hold of, received (something)
verða (verð-) við [+D] verðr við [+A]	come close to (someone) comes close to (something)
þeysa (þeys-i/j-)	gush out (transitive)
þyrsta (þurst-i/j-) [+A] þyrstir	become thirsty (someone) becomes thirsty
Adverbs
aldregi	never
brátt	soon
ofan	from above, down
skjótt	quickly
svá	thus, so
úsleitiliga	unhesitatingly
drekka úsleitiliga	drain the drinking vessel
Adverbial Phrases
í sundr	asunder, apart
sem ákafast	as fast as possible
svá búit	in such a condition
til þess er	until
því næst	next (to that)
Preposition
um [+A]	over, about

3. Texts

In the first of these two selections from Egils Saga, Egill Skalla-Grimsson enjoys the somewhat reluctant hospitality of Ármóðr, a rich farmer with whom Egil and his men are staying on a trip into Vermaland (now Värmland in Sweden) where they are to collect taxes for the Norwegian king from his unwilling subjects.

In the second passage Egil is a guest at a royal manor where King Eiríkr and Queen Gunnhildr are visiting. The royal steward, Bárðr, has also shown reluctance in inviting Egil and his companions to the royal table. The passage shows that Egil is well versed in the magical powers of runes and poetry. A stanza that Egil composes to counter the effect of the poisonous drink is omitted from the text here.

(A) Egils saga (Chapter 71): Egill at drykkju

Því næst var ǫl inn borit, ok var þat it sterkasta mungát. Var þá brátt drukkinn einmenningr. Skyldi einn maðr drekka af dýrshorni. Var þar mestr gaumr at gefinn, er Egill var ok sveitungar hans, skyldu drekka sem ákafast. Egill drakk úsleitiliga fyrst langa hríð. En er fǫrunautar hans gerðusk úfœrir, þá drakk hann fyrir þá, þat er þeir máttu eigi. Gekkk svá til þess er borð fóru brott. Gerðusk þá ok allir mjök drukkni, þeir er inni váru. En hvert full er Ármóðr drakk, þá mælti hann: 'Drekk ek til þín, Egill.' En húskarlar drukku til fǫrunauta Egils ok hǫfðu inn sama formála. Maðr var til þess fenginn at bera þeim Agli hvert full, ok eggjaði sá mjök, at þeir skyldi skjótt drekka. Egill mælti við fǫrunauta sína, at þeir skyldi þá ekki drekka, en hann drakk fyrir þá, þat er þeir máttu eigi annan veg undan komask. Egill fann þá, at honum myndi eigi svá búit eira. Stóð hann þá upp ok gekkk um gólf þvert, þangat er Ármóðr sat. Hann tók í axlir honum ok kneikði hann upp at stǫfum. Síðan þeysti Egill upp úr sér spýju mikla ok gaus í andlit Ármóði, í augu ok nasirnar ok í munninn. Rann svá ofan um bringuna, en Ármóði varð við andhlaup, ok er hann fekk ǫndinni frá sér hrundit, þá gaus upp spýja.

(B) Egils saga (Chapter 44): Egill drekkir með Gunnhildi dróttningu

Þá gekkk Bárðr til dróttningar ok sagði henni, at þar var maðr sá, er skǫmm fœrði at þeim ok aldregi drakk svá, at eigi segði hann sik þyrsta. Dróttning ok Bárðr blönduðu þá drykkinn úlyfjani ok báru þá inn. Signði Bárðr fullit, fekk síðan ǫlseljunn. Fœrði hon Agli ok bað hann drekka. Egill brá þa knífi sínum ok stakk í lófa sér. Hann tók við horninu ok reist á rúnar ok reið á blóðinu. . . . Hornit sprakk í sundr, en drykkjinn fór niðr í hálm.

4. Drills

Present the verbs drekka, renna, verða, bregða, stinga, springa, finna, hrinda, gjósa, and rista in the following forms:

- (A) 1st sg past
- (B) 3rd pl past
- (C) 2nd pl present
- (D) 3rd sg past
- (E) supine

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) It was the custom that one man should drink from an animal's horn, and the greatest heed was paid where Egil was and his comrades; they should drink as fast as possible.

(B) When Egil's companions became incapacitated, he drank for them what (=that which) they were not able to drink.

(C) Armod said: 'I drink to you, Egil', with every filling of the cup he drank, and his house-servant had the same toast to Egil's companions.

(D) The house-servant of Armod who brought them each full cup urged greatly that Egil and his men should drink quickly, but Egil drank for his companions.

(E) Egil found then that he could not tolerate such a situation, and he stood up and went where Armod sat.

(F) Egil bent him backwards up against the posts, and he made a great vomit spew out of himself, and it gushed in Armod's [D] face.

(G) Queen Gunnhild and Bard mixed Egil's drink with poison, and after Bard blessed the full vessel with the sign of Thor's hammer, the cup-bearer brought it to Egil and bade him drink.

(H) Egil stuck his knife into his palm, carved runes on the horn and smeared blood on the runes.

(I) The horn burst apart, and the drink fell down into the straw on the floor.

LESSON XVIII

1. Grammar

(A) Class IV Strong Verbs

Class IV strong verbs are characterized by a stem ending in a single liquid or nasal consonant, i.e. in l, r, m, or n, while the present stem vowel is e. Only a small number of verbs belong to this class. The four principal parts have the following stem vowels: e-a-á-o. Thus we have the following forms for the verbs (ber-) 'bear, carry', (nem-) 'take', and (stel-) 'steal':

- (1) Infinitive: bera, nema, stela; present: ek nem, þú stelr, hann berr, vér nemum, þér berið, þeir stela, etc.
- (2) ek bar, þú stalt, hann nam, etc.
- (3) vér bárum, þér námuð, þær stálu, etc.
- (4) borinn, stolinn, etc.

Note: The past participle stem of the verb nema has the form (num-) rather than the regular (nom-).

(B) The Verb vera 'be'

This verb coincides partially with the verbal forms of this class, but—as we have seen in Lessons XI and XII—it is highly irregular in the present forms. The past singular and plural forms are, however, exactly in accordance with the shape of the Class IV strong verbs:

Sg 1st	var	'I was'
2nd	vart	'you were'
3rd	var	'he was'
Pl 1st	várum	'we were'
2nd	váruð	'you were'
3rd	váru	'they were'

The past participle stem of vera is (ver-). The older form of the verb was vesa, with the verbal stems (ves-), (vas-), (vás-), (ves-) as the verb belonged to those classified as Class V strong verbs (see Lesson XIX).

(C) The Verb koma 'come'

This verb belongs to Class IV strong verbs historically, since an earlier form of the stem was *(kvem-), and the internal vowel alternated as for any verb of Class IV. The sequence (consonant + v + stressed vowel) is unstable in Old Icelandic, resulting in several new variants of the verb. The following stems occur in normalized texts of Old Icelandic literature:

- (1) *(kvem-): infinitive koma; present: (kom-), (køm-), (kem-).
- (2) *(kvam-): (kom-).
- (3) *(kvám-): (kvám-), (kvóm-), (kóm-).
- (4) *(kvom-): (kom-).

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Drangar [pl]	place-name, 'Rock Pillars'
flöskubakr (bak-a-)	nickname, 'Bottle-back'
háls (háls-a-)	neck
hvalr (hval-a-, hval-i-)	whale
hvalskurðr (skurð-i-)	flensing of a whale
Kaldbeklingr (bekling-a-)	person from Kaldbakr , 'Cold-back'
Kirkjubær (bœj-i-)	place-name, 'Church Stead'
Melkólfr (melkólf-a-)	personal name
morðingi (morðingi-)	murderer
skurðr (skurð-i-)	cutting, flensing
Víkramaðr (mann-)	inhabitant of Vík , 'Bay'
þjófr (þjóf-a-)	thief
þræll (þræl-a-)	slave, thrall

Feminine:

brautflutning (flutning-a-)	carrying off
sendiför (far-a-)	errand
vangeymsla (geymsla-)	negligence

Neuter:

ofrlið (lið-)	overwhelming force
bera ofrliði [+A]	overwhelm (someone)
skipti (skiptj-)	dividing, sharing
smjör (smjörv-)	butter

spor (spor-)	track
tilkall (kall-)	claim
útibúr (búr-)	storehouse

Adjectives

rekin (rekin-) [participle of reka (rek-)]	driven (ashore), beached
váandr (vánd-)	wicked

Numerals

tvá [masc A of tveir , Lesson XXIX]	two
---	-----

Verbs

dreginn [participle of draga (drag-)]	dragged fyrirbjóða (bjúð-) [+D] [+A]	forbid (someone) (something)
fœri [3rd sg subj II of fara (far-)]	would go hafi [3rd sg subj I of hafa , Lesson XIV]	has, will have hét [3rd sg past ind of heita , Lesson XXII]	was called heyr [sg imperative of heyra (heyr-i/j-)]	hear
heyr endemi!	for shame!
hugat [supine of huga (hug-a-)]	intended, planned
láta [Lesson XXIII]	let
láta [+inf] [+obj]	have [+obj] [+participle]
láta drepa þik	have you killed
munu [3rd pl pres ind of munu (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	will réð [3rd sg past ind of ráða , Lesson XXIII]	proceeded
skera (sker-)	cut
stela (stel-) [+D]	steal (something)
taka (tak-) til [+G]	take up, begin (something)
veita (veit-i/j-)	offer, aid, support
veita tilkall til	lay claim to
þora (þor-i-)	dare
ætla (ætl-a-)	suppose

Adverbs

ella	otherwise
fyrir	earlier, before

innan	from within
innan fram á nesinu	from within (the bay) forward on the outer point of the cape
Adverbial Phrases
í því	at that moment
þessu næst	next (to this)
Preposition
við [+A]	by, at, near
Conjunction
ef	if

3. Texts

The first selection, from Njáls Saga, recounts an incident involving Hallgerðr, daughter of Höskuldr Dala-Kollsson of Laxdæla Saga, who is now wife of Gunnarr Hámundarson. Gunnar, having run short of food, had attempted to buy some from the neighbouring farmer at Kirkjubær who had refused to sell him any of his plentiful provisions. Instead the farmer sold Gunnar the slave Melkólfr, a man of dubious virtue.

In the second selection, from Grettis Saga, a beached whale, a common source of meat in Iceland, becomes a bone of contention between two rival groups.

(A) Njáls saga (Chapter 48): Frá Hallgerði

Nú er þar til at taka, at Hallgerðr kemr at máli við Melkólfr þræl: 'Sendiför hefi ek þér hugat', segir hon. 'Þú skalt fara í Kirkjubæ.' 'Hvat skal ek þangat?' segir hann. 'Þú skalt stela þaðan mati á tvá hesta ok hafa smjör ok ost, en þú skalt leggja eld í útibúrit, ok munu allir ætla, at af vangeymslu hafi verit.' Þrællinn mælti: 'Vánder hefi ek verit, en þó hefi ek aldri þjófr verit.' 'Heyr endemi!' segir hon. 'Þú gerir þik góðan, þar sem þú hefir verit bæði þjófr ok morðingi, ok skalt þú eigi þora annat en fara, ella skal ek láta drepa þik.' Hann þóttisk vita, at hon myndi svá gera, ef hann fœri eigi.

(B) Grettis saga (Chapter 12): Hvalskurðr

Þorsteinn hét maðr, er bjó á Reykjanesi. Hann fann hval rekinn innan fram á nesinu. . . . Flosi kom fyrst ok þeir Víkrmenn. Þeir tóku þegar til skurðar, ok var dreginn á land upp sá, er skorinn var. . . . í því kómu Kaldbeklingar með fjögur skip. Þorgrímr veitti tilkall til hvalsins ok fyrirbauð Víkrmönnum skurð ok skipti ok brautflutning á hvalnum. . . . Þorgeirr floşkubakr réð fyrst upp á hvalinn at húskorlum Flosa. Þorfinnr, er fyrr var getit, skar hvalinn. Hann var fram við höfuðit ok stóð í spori, er hann hafði gert sér. Þorgeirr mælti: 'Þar fœri ek þér øxi þína.' Síðan hjó hann á hálsinn, svá at af tók höfuðit. . . . Fáir menn höfðu þar vápn nema øxar þær, er þeir skáru með hvalinn. . . . Þessu næst kómu þeir Óláfr frá Dröngum með mörgum skipum. Þeir veittu Flosa. Urðu Kaldbeklinga þá bornir ofrliði.

4. Drills

Present the verbs stela, bera, skera, vera, koma, and fyrirbjóða in the following forms:

- (A) 3rd sg present
- (B) 1st pl past
- (C) 2nd sg past
- (D) 3rd pl present
- (E) supine

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Hallgerd wanted Melkolf the thrall to go (at M. færi) to Church Stead and he should (skyldi) steal food from there on (á) two horses, butter and cheese.

(B) Afterwards the thrall should (skyldi) set fire to the store-house, so that all would (myndi) suppose that it had (hefði) burned from negligence.

(C) Nobody (engi) would (myndi) know that Melkolf had (hefði) stolen there.

(D) The thrall said that he had (hefði) been wicked but never a thief.

(E) But Hallgerd considers him both a thief and a murderer, and she will have him killed, if he dare (þorir) not go.

(F) Flosi and the men from Vik took first to cutting the whale, but the men from Kaldbakr laid claim to the whale and forbade cutting to Flosi and his men.

(G) Thorfinn, the house-servant of Flosi, stood in a track forward at the head of the whale, when Thorgeir from Kaldbakr struck him on the neck with a sword so that it took his head off, but they with Flosi had no (engi) weapons except those axes which they cut the whale with.

(H) But the men from Kaldbakr were overpowered by Olaf and his men from Drangar, who came with many ships and aided Flosi.

LESSON XIX

1. Grammar

(A) Class V Strong Verbs

(1) Principal parts: Class V strong verbs are characterized by a stem ending in a single consonant (other than r, l, m, or n; see Lesson XVIII, 1A), while the present stem vowel is e. The four principal parts have the following stem vowels: e-a-á-e. Thus we have the following forms for the verbs kveða 'say, recite', gefa 'give', reka 'drive', eta 'eat', and geta 'mention':

(a) 1st principal part: ek kveð, þú gefr, hann etr, vér gefum, þér rekið, þeir geta, etc.

(b) 2nd principal part: ek kvað, þú gaft, þú gatz, hann rak, etc.

(c) 3rd principal part: vér gáfum, þér rákuð, þeir átu, þeir kváðu, etc.

(d) 4th principal part: kveðinn, gefinn, rekinn, etinn, getinn, etc.

Note that the past sg stem of eta 'eat' is (át-) rather than the regular (at-): ek át, þú ázt, hann át.

(2) Augmented Class V strong verbs: the first principal part (present tense and infinitive stem) of a few Class V strong verbs is extended by a j-augment. This j-augment affects the stem vowel of the first principal part, raising it from e to i. This can be observed, for example, in two extremely common verbs, biðja (biðj-) 'bid, ask' and sitja (sitj-) 'sit'. These verbs have i throughout all present stem forms, but look like other Class V strong verbs in all other stem forms. Thus we have: ek bið, þú sitr, vér sitjum, þér sitið, þeir biðja, etc., but ek bað, þú sazt, vér sátum, þér báðuð, þeir sátu; bedinn, setinn, etc.

(3) Irregularities

(a) Two verbs, liggja 'lie, recline' and þiggja 'accept, receive', are j-augmented in the present stem and have doubling of the stem-final g as well, so that the present stems are (liggj-) and (þiggj-) respectively. The doubling, however, does not appear in the un-augmented past or participle stems. On the contrary, the single final

g of the underlying past singular stem is lost (see Lesson XV, 1B, Lesson XVI, 1A3 a, and Lesson XVII, 1C3). The past plural and participle stems are otherwise regular. Consequently we have the following forms:

- (1) 1st principal part: ek ligg, hann þiggr, vér liggjum, þér þiggið, þeir liggja, etc.
- (2) 2nd principal part: ek lá, þú látt, hann þá, etc.
- (3) 3rd principal part: vér lágum, þér lágud, þeir þágu, etc.
- (4) 4th principal part: leginn, þeginn, etc.

(b) The verb vega (veg-) 'slay' also shows the effect of the loss of terminal g in the second stem. Thus we have ek veg, hann veg, but hann vá, etc.

(c) Loss of v: the sequence (initial consonant + v + vowel) was unstable in the Old Icelandic period, as was the sequence (v + back vowel). As a consequence two Class V strong verbs, sofa 'sleep' (with the original present stem *(svef-)) and vefa (vef-) 'weave' have developed the following irregularities:

- (1) sofa
  - (a) 1st principal part *(svef-): ek sof, hann søfr, vér sofum þér sofið, etc.
  - (b) 2nd principal part (svaf-): ek svaf, þú svaft, etc.
  - (c) 3rd principal part (sváf-): vér sváfum, þér sváfud, etc.
  - (d) 4th principal part *(svef-): sofinn, etc.
- (2) vefa
  - (a) 1st principal part (vef-): ek vef, þú vefr, vér vefum, etc.
  - (b) 2nd principal part *(vaf-): ek óf, þú óft, etc.
  - (c) 3rd principal part *(váf-): vér ófum, þér ófuð, etc.
  - (d) 4th principal part *(vef-): ofinn, etc.

(d) The verb troða: the verb troða 'tread' is irregular in both the present and past participle stems, where o has replaced e as the stem vowel. The past tense stems are regular:

- (1) 1st principal part: ek trøð, þú trøðr, vér troðum, þér troðið, etc.
- (2) 2nd principal part: ek trað, þú traszt, etc.
- (3) 3rd principal part: vér tráðum, þér tráðuð, etc.
- (4) 4th principal part: troðinn, etc.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

fénaðr (fénað-i-)	sheep, cattle, livestock
fulltrúi (trúi-)	trustworthy one
griðungr (griðung-a-)	bull
Grœnlendingr (lending-a-)	Greenlander
guð (guð-i-) [irregular N, G sg: -s]	God
Kristr (Krist-a-)	Christ
landkostr (kost-i-)	quality of the land
matsveinn (svein-a-)	cook
skáldskapr (skap-i-)	poetry
Straumfjörðr (fjarð-u-)	place-name, 'Stream Firth'
veiðimaðr (mann-)	hunter, fisher
viðr (við-u-)	tree, wood, timber
Þórhallr (hall-a-)	personal name
Þórr (Þór-a-)	name of god 'Thor'

Feminine:

búð (búð-i-)	temporary housing
hamargnípa (gnípa-)	peak of a crag
hendr [N/A pl of hönd (hand-), Lesson XXVII]	hands
þeim bar brátt í hendr [+A]	they soon had (something) in their hands
reyðr (reyðj-a-)	finback whale
veðráttá (veðráttá-)	state of the weather
veiðr (veiðj-a-)	hunting, fishing
þurrkun (þurrkun-a-)	drying
Neuter:
dægrr (dægrr-)	a 24-hour period
fang (fang-)	catch (of fish)
gráðfé (fé-)	uncastrated cattle
gœði [pl]	good things, benefits
haf (haf-)	ocean, sea
halda [Lesson XXI] [+D] í haf	steer (something) out to sea
húðfat (fat-)	hammock made of hides
kaf (kaf-)	a plunge into water
bera á kaf	throw into the water
Karlsefni (efnj-)	nickname, 'Makings of a Man'
lopt (lopt-)	air, sky
vínber (berj-)	grape

Adjectives

drjúgari [comparative of drjúgr ( drjúg- )]	more substantial
verða drjúgari en	do better than
heill (heil-)	whole, hale
með heilu ok höldnu	safe and sound
rauðskeggjaðr (skeggjað-)	red-bearded
inn rauðskeggjaði	the red-bearded one (referring to Thor)
úrigr (úrig-)	ill-tempered

Pronoun

nökkut [neut N/A sg of nökkurr ( nökkur- )]	something
--	-----------

Numeral

þrjú [neut N/A sg corresponding to þrír ]	three
---	-------

Verbs

batna (batn-a-)	get better, improve bera (ber-) í hendr [+D] [+D] berr í hendr [+A]	befall (someone) (someone) comes by (something)
biðja (biðj-)	request, ask
biðja [+A] [+G]	ask (someone) (for something)
biðja [+A] [+inf]	ask (someone) (to do something)
eta (et-)	eat
fella (fall-i/j-)	fell
föru [3rd pl past ind of fara (far-)] til [+G]	went to (something)
gapa (gap-i-)	gape, open wide
gefa (gef-)	give
gera (ger-i/j-) mikit um sik	make a great deal of noise
haldinn [participle of halda , Lesson XXI]	held, kept heitit [supine of heita , (heit-), Lesson XXI] á [+A] til [+G]	called on (someone) for (something)
hverfa (hverf-)	disappear
kveða (kveð-)	say; recite

kvezk [3rd sg pres ind of kveðask ( kveð- )]	says of himself
kvezk ljá mundu húsin	says that he would lend the houses
ljá (lé-i-, irr inf) [+D] [+A]	lend (someone) (something) mundu [past infinitive of munu (pret-pres), Lesson XXI]	would sjóða (sjúð-)	cook, boil
skjóta (skjút-) máli	transfer a matter
skorta (skort-i/j-, irr) [+A] skortir [+A]	be lacking (someone) is short of (something)
telgja (talg-i/j-)	hew, cut
varða (varð-a-) [+A]	matter to, concern (someone)
varða [+A] engu	be of no concern, no importance (to someone)
[+D] verðr (verð-) illt af [+D]	(someone) becomes ill from (something)
verða (verð-) við	grant
vissu [3rd pl past ind of vita (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	knew
þylja (þul-i/j-)	recite, mutter

Adverb

brott	away
hví	why

Adverbial Phrases

alls konar	of all kinds
hvat [+G pl]	what kind of
litlu síðar	a little later

3. Texts

The first of these two selections, from Grænlandinga Saga, relates how Þorfinnr Karlsefni and his men sailed to Vínland, which Leifr Eiríksson had discovered earlier and where he had built houses. Thorfinn's expedition consisted of sixty men and five women and was intended to establish a permanent settlement.

The second passage is from Eiríks Saga and describes an incident from this same expedition. One of Thorfinn's men is Þórhallr veiðimaðr, who is still a heathen while the others have been converted to Christianity. The expedition has not yet found Leif's houses and they have temporarily settled in a place they call Straumfjörðr. After spending a winter there they have become short of food and the fishing catch is poor.

(A) Grænlandinga saga (Chapter 7): Karlsefni á Vinlandi

Karlsefni bað Leif húsa á Vinlandi, en hann kvezk ljá mundu húsin, en gefa eigi. Síðan heldu þeir í haf skipinu ok kómu til Leifsbúða með heilu ok höldnu ok báru þar upp húðföt sín. Þeim bar brátt í hendr mikil fong ok góð, því at reyðr var þar upp rekin, bæði mikil ok góð. Fóru til síðan ok skáru hvalinn. Skorti þá eigi mat. Fénaðr gekk þar á land upp, en þat var brátt, at graðfé varð úrigt ok gerði mikit um sik. Þeir höfðu haft með sér griðung einn. Karlsefni lét fella viðu ok telgja til skips sins ok lagði viðinn á bjarg eitt til þurrkunar. Þeir höfðu öll gæði af landkostum, þeim er váru, bæði af vínberjum ok alls konar veiðum ok gæðum.

(B) Eiríks saga (Chapter 8): Þórhallr veiðimaðr í Straumfirði

Þá hvarf brott Þórhallr veiðimaðr. Þeir höfðu áðr heitit á guð til matar, ok varð eigi við svá skjótt, sem þeir þóttusk þurfa. Þeir leituðu Þórhalls um þrjú dægr ok fundu hann á hamargnípu einni. Hann lá þar ok horfði í lopt upp ok gapði bæði munni ok nqsum ok þulði nqkkut. Þeir spurðu, hví hann var þar kominn. Hann kvað þá engu þat varða. Þeir báðu hann fara heim með sér, ok hann gerði svá. Litlu síðar kom þar hvalr, ok fóru þeir til ok skáru, ok kenndi engi maðr, hvat hvala var. Ok er matsveinar suðu, þá átu þeir, ok varð öllum illt af. Þá mælti Þórhallr veiðimaðr: 'Drjúgari varð inn rauðskeggjaði nú en Krístr yðvarr? Hefi ek þetta nú fyrir skáldskap minn, er ek orta um Þór, fulltrúann. . . .' Ok er menn vissu þetta, báru þeir hvalinn allan á kaf ok skutu sínu máli til guðs. Batnaði þá veðráttá . . . ok skorti þá síðan eigi fong.

4. Drills

Present the verbs biðja, kveða, gefa, reka, liggja, eta, hverfa, and sjóða in the following forms:

- (A) 3rd sg present
- (B) 1st pl past
- (C) 2nd pl past
- (D) 2nd sg past
- (E) supine

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Leif declares he would lend Karlsefni the houses in Vinland, when Karlsefni asks him for them.

(B) The sea drove up a great and good finback whale at the houses in Vinland, and they had all kinds of benefits from the land, hunting, grapes, and wood.

(C) Those in Stream Firth with Thorhall the Hunter had called on God for food, but none was granted.

(D) Thorhall disappeared, and they sought him for three days and nights and found him on the peak of a crag.

(E) He mumbled something, while he lay there with gaping mouth and nostrils and looked up in the air.

(F) He declares that of no concern to them, when they ask him why he had (var) come there, and he goes home with them.

(G) A little later a whale came there and they went to cut it, but no man recognized what kind of whale it was.

(H) The cooks cooked the whale, but they all became ill from it when they ate.

(I) Then Thorhall says that Thor, the trustworthy one, has done (hafi orðið) better than their Christ.

(J) He said that his poetry, which he composed about the red-bearded one, had (hefði) accomplished this.

(K) Then they threw the whale into the water and transferred their case to God, and afterwards the state of the weather improved and they were not short of catches.

LESSON XX

1. Grammar

(A) Class VI Strong Verbs

Class VI strong verbs are characterized by an a in the present stem: the four principal parts have the following stem vowels: a-ó-ó-a(e). The verbs with a stem-final velar consonant (g, k) have e in the past participle. The underlying a of the present stem is always fronted to e in the present singular forms (as is the underlying jú to y in Class II strong verbs, see Lesson XVI, 1A2 b). Thus for the verbs taka 'take', fara 'go', aka 'drive', and draga 'draw, drag' we have the following forms:

(1) 1st principal part: ek tek, þú ekr, hann dregr, vér tökum, þér farið, þeir aka, etc.

(2) 2nd principal part: ek fór, þú tókt, hann ók, þú drótt, hann dró, etc.

(3) 3rd principal part: vér drógum, þér ókuð, þeir drógu, þær fóru, etc.

(4) 4th principal part: farinn, tekinn, ekinn, dreginn, etc.

Note that the stem-final g of draga is lost in the past singular stem (2nd principal part) in a manner parallel to verbs like stíga, fljúga, etc. (see Lesson XV, 1B, and Lesson XVI, 1A3 a, and Phonological Introduction 9IIIA).

(B) Irregularities

(1) The very common Class VI verb standa 'stand' is irregular in that the final consonants of the present stem are replaced by ð in the other stems (in a manner comparable to the formation of the cognate verb in English). Thus we have the four stems: (stand-), (stóð-), (stóð-), (stað-).

(2) Two verbs of this class have a present stem augmented by j. The j fronts the a of the present stem to e in the present plural forms, as well as the present singular forms (which are always fronted in this verb class). Thus we have for sverja (svarj-) 'swear' and hefja (hafj-) 'heave' the forms: ek sver, vér sverjum, þér sverið, etc. and ek hef, þú hefr, þér hefð, þeir hefja, etc. Furthermore, sverja shows the regular loss of v before round vowels (compare Lesson XVII 1B3) in the past singular and plural forms, yielding ek sór, þú sórt, vér sórum, þeir sóru, etc.

(3) For the same reason that v is lost in some forms of the Class V strong verb vefa 'weave', the Class VI verbs vaxa (vax-) 'grow, wax', and vaða (vað-) 'wade' have the past singular and plural stems (óx-) and (óð-), respectively.

(4) The verb slá 'beat, strike, slay', which earlier had the alternating stem forms (slag-/slah-), with the loss of stem final h has reformed the stem of the first principal part in Old Icelandic to (slá-). Otherwise the past tense stems and participial stem are formed like those of e.g. draga:

	present	past	participle
Sg 1st	slæ	sló	sleginn
2nd	slær	slótt
3rd	slær	sló
Pl 1st	slám	slógum
2nd	sláið	slóguð
3rd	slá	slógu

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

afismunr (mun-i-)	difference in strength
Arnkell (Arnkell-a-) [D: Arnkatli]	personal name
bægifótr (fót-) [Lesson XXVII]	nickname, 'lame-foot'
eldaskáli (skáli-)	hall where long-fires burn
háls (háls-a-)	neck (of land), ridge
sleði (sleði-)	sledge
úpokki (þokki-)	disfavour, abhorrence
ollum þótti úpokki	all felt abhorrence
uxi [irr pl: yxn] (uxi-)	ox
vegg (vegg-i-)	wall

Feminine:

dys (dysj-a-)	cairn
gróf (graf-a-, graf-i-)	grave

herðar [pl]	shoulders
nábjargir [pl]	service of closing eyes, nostrils, and mouth of the dead
siðvenja (venja-)	custom
Neuter:
andlát (lát-)	last breath, death
hásæti (sætj-)	high seat, place of honour
kveld (kveld-)	evening
um kveldit	in the evening
set (set-)	aisle or platform along the side walls of the hall
Úlfarsfell	place-name, 'Ulfar's Mountain'
öndvegi (vegj-)	high-seat, place of honour

Adjectives

illiligstr (illiligst-) [superlative of illiligr (illilig-)]	most hideous
óttafullr (full-)	terrified, fearful
úfúinn (fúin-)	unrotten
víss (vís-)	certain
verða (verð-) víss [+G]	become certain of, ascertain (something)

Pronouns

aðrir [masc N pl of annarr (annar-), Lesson XXIV]	other(s)
hvern [masc A sg of hverr (hverj-)]	each (one)

Verbs

aka (ak-) [+D]	drive (something)
beita (beit-i/j-)	harness
beittir [masc N pl of beittr (beit-), participle of beita , (beit-i/j-)]	harnessed
bjó [3rd sg past ind of búa , Lesson XXI] um [+A]	prepared, arranged (something)
brjóta (brjút-)	break
draga (drag-)	draw, drag, pull
kenna (kann-i/j-) [+G]	feel, experience
kœmi [3rd sg subj II of koma (kom-)] [+D] undir	overcame (someone)
matask (mat-a-)	eat, take a meal

segja (sag-i/j-)	say
senda (send-i/j-)	send
setjask [Lesson XIV]	seat oneself, sit down
sofa (sof-)	sleep
sveipa (sveip-a-)	wrap
teknir [masc N pl of tekinn (tekin-), participle of taka (tak-)]	taken
varask (var-a-)	beware of
varask at ganga	beware of going
veittar [fem N/A pl of participle of veita (veit-i/j-)]	given, performed
verða (verð-) at [+inf]	be obliged to [+inf]
þrotnir [masc N pl of participle of þrjóta (þrjút-)]	exhausted

Adverbs

enn	still
eptir	behind
sat eptir	remained sitting
framan	from the front

Preposition

eptir [+D]	along; according to
------------	---------------------

Prepositional Phrase

á bak [+D]	behind, to the back of
------------	------------------------

Conjunction

áðr	before
-----	--------

3. Texts

These selections from Eyrbyggja Saga recount the events surrounding the death and burial of Þórólfr bægifótr, a malicious and quarrelsome man, who antagonized his neighbours and his own son, Arnkell, by his injustice and evil acts. In death he becomes more awful, even supernaturally so. In accordance with their superstitious beliefs, people are afraid of approaching the dead man for fear of his evil gaze. By having him removed from the house through a hole cut in the wall, Arnkel prevents the dead man from returning to haunt the house by entering through a regular door or entryway. In fact, Thorolf haunted the vicinity after his burial, and the second passage describes how he is removed from his original cairn to be re-buried in a remote spot.

(A) Eyrbyggja saga (Chapter 22): Dauði Þórólfs bægifótar

Þórólfr bægifótr kom heim um kveldit ok mælti við engan mann. Hann settisk niðr í ǫndvegi sitt ok mataðisk eigi um kveldit. Sat hann þar eptir, er menn fóru at sofa. En um morguninn, er menn stóðu upp, sat Þórólfr þar enn ok var dauðr. Þá sendi húsfreyja mann til Arnkels ok bað segja honum andlát Þórólfs. Reið þá Arnkell upp í Hvamm ok nokkurir heimamenn hans. Ok er þeir kómu í Hvamm, varð Arnkell þess viss, at faðir hans var dauðr ok sat í hásæti, en fólk allt var óttafullt, því at ǫllum þótti úpokki á andláti hans. Gekk Arnkell nú inn í eldaskálann ok svá inn eptir setinu á bak Þórólfi. Hann bað hvern at varask at ganga framan at honum meðan honum váru eigi nábjargir veittar. Tók Arnkell þá herðar Þórólfi, ok varð hann at kenna aflsmunar, áðr hann kœmi honum undir. Síðan sveipaði hann klæðum at höfði Þórólfi ok bjó um hann eptir siðvenju. Eptir þat lét hann brjóta vegginn á bak honum ok draga hann þar úr. Síðan váru yxn fyrir sleða beittir. Var Þórólfr þar í lagðr, ok óku honum upp í Þórsárdal.

(B) Eyrbyggja saga (Chapter 34): Brotin dys Þórólfs

Þeir fóru upp yfir hálsinn ok kómu í Þórsárdal ok til dysjar Þórólfs, brjóta dysina ok finna Þórólfr þar úfúinn, ok var hann nú inn illiligsti. Þeir tóku hann upp úr gröfinni ok lögðu hann í sleða ok beittu fyrir tvá sterka yxn ok drógu hann upp á Úlfarsfells háls, ok váru þá þrotnir yxninir ok teknir aðrir ok drógu hann inn á hálsinn.

4. Drills

Present the verbs standa, taka, aka, fara, draga, sofa, sitja, þrjóta in the following forms:

- (A) 3rd pl present
- (B) 1st sg past
- (C) 1st pl past
- (D) 2nd sg present
- (E) supine

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences in Old Icelandic:

(A) Thorolf lame-foot came home to Hvamm in the evening, set himself down in his place of honour, spoke with no man, did not eat, and remained sitting there when men went to sleep.

(B) He was still sitting there in the morning, when men got up, and was dead.

(C) The mistress of the house sent a man to Arnkel, and he then rode with some of his house-servants up into Hvamm.

(D) After Arnkel had ascertained the death of Thorolf, he asked them to beware of going in front of him while the service of closing his eyes, nostrils, and mouth was not (= had not been) performed.

(E) Arnkel went behind Thorolf and took hold of his [D] shoulders, and he had to experience their difference in strength.

(F) Afterwards he wrapped cloths about his [D] head and prepared him according to custom.

(G) After that they broke the wall behind Thorolf, pulled him out, and drove him up Thor's River Valley to his cairn.

(H) Then they broke Thorolf's cairn and took him from the grave.

(I) Two (tveir) strong oxen were taken and harnessed before a sledge, and they moved Thorolf up on the ridge of Úlfar's Mountain.

6. Survey of Regular Verbs in Lessons XI-XX

Endings:

Present	Sg 1st	zero with
	2nd	-r i -umlaut
	3rd	-r in strong verbs
Pl	1st	-um
	2nd	-ið
	3rd	-a
Past	Sg 1st	-a (weak); zero (strong)
	2nd	-r (weak); -t (strong)
	3rd	zero
Pl	1st	-um
	2nd	-uð
	3rd	-u

(A) Weak Verbs

Stems:	(sveip-a-)	(kall-a-)	(þor-i-)
Present:
Sg 1st	sveipa	kalla	þori
2nd	sveipar	kallar	þorir
3rd	sveipar	kallar	þorir
Pl 1st	sveipum	køllum	þorum
2nd	sveipið	kallið	þorið
3rd	sveipa	kalla	þora
Past:
Sg 1st	sveipaða	kallaða	þorða
2nd	sveipaðir	kallaðir	þorðir
3rd	sveipaði	kallaði	þorði
Pl 1st	sveipuðum	kølluðum	þorðum
2nd	sveipuðuð	kølluðuð	þorðuð
3rd	sveipuðu	kølluðu	þorðu
Supine:	sveipat	kallat	þorat
Stems:	(var-i/j-)	(þul-i/j-)	(sag-i/j-)
Present:
Sg 1st	ver	þyl	segi
2nd	verr	þylr	segir
3rd	verr	þylr	segir
Pl 1st	verjum	þyljum	segjum
2nd	verið	þylið	segið
3rd	verja	þylja	segja
Past:
Sg 1st	varða	þulða	sagða
2nd	varðir	þulðir	sagðir
3rd	varði	þulði	sagði
Pl 1st	vörðum	þulðum	sögðum
2nd	vörðuð	þulðuð	sögðuð
3rd	vörðu	þulðu	sögðu
Supine:	varit	þulit	sagt
Stems:	(fall-i/j-)	(beit-i/j-)	(talg-i/j-)
Present:
Sg 1st	felli	beiti	telgi
2nd	fellir	beitir	telgir
3rd	fellir	beitir	telgir

Pl 1st	fellum	beitum	telgjum
2nd	fellið	beitið	telgið
3rd	fella	beita	telgja
Past:
Sg 1st	fellða	beitta	telgða
2nd	fellðir	beittir	telgðir
3rd	fellði	beitti	telgði
Pl 1st	fellðum	beittum	telgðum
2nd	fellðuð	beittuð	telgðuð
3rd	fellðu	beittu	telgðu
Supine:	felld	beitt	telgt

(B) Strong Verbs:

Stems:	(bít-) (I)	(hníg-) (I)	(rjúk-) (II)
Present:
Sg 1st	bít	hníg	rýk
2nd	bítr	hnígr	rýkr
3rd	bítr	hnígr	rýkr
Pl 1st	bítum	hnígum	rjúkum
2nd	bítið	hnigið	rjúkið
3rd	bíta	hníga	rjúka
Past:
Sg 1st	beit	hneig, hné	rauk
2nd	beizt	hneigt, hnétt	raukt
3rd	beit	hneig, hné	rauk
Pl 1st	bitum	hnígum	rukum
2nd	bituð	hniguð	rukuð
3rd	bitu	hnigu	ruku
Supine:	bitit	hnigit	rokit
Stems:	(brjút) (II)	(drekk-) (III)	(spring-) (III)
Present:
Sg 1st	brýt	drekk	spring
2nd	brýtr	drekk	springr
3rd	brýtr	drekk	springr
Pl 1st	brjótum	drekkum	springum
2nd	brjótið	drekkið	springið
3rd	brjóta	drekka	springa

Past:
Sg 1st	braut	drakk	sprakk
2nd	brauzt	drakkt	sprakkt
3rd	braut	drakk	sprakk
Pl 1st	brutum	drukkum	sprungum
2nd	brutuð	drukkuð	sprunguð
3rd	brutu	drukku	sprungu
Supine:	brotit	drukkit	sprungit

Stems:	(finn-) (III)	(sekkv-) (III)	(ber-) (IV)
Present:
Sg 1st	finn	sökk	ber
2nd	finnr	sökkr	berr
3rd	finnr	sökkr	berr
Pl 1st	finnum	sökkum	berum
2nd	finnið	sökkvið	berið
3rd	finna	sökkva	bera

Past:
Sg 1st	fann	sökk	bar
2nd	fannt	sökkt	bart
3rd	fann	sökk	bar
Pl 1st	fundum	sukkum	bárum
2nd	funduð	sukkuð	báruð
3rd	fundu	sukku	báru
Supine:	fundit	sokkit	borit

Stems:	(gef-) (V)	(biðj-) (V)	(lig(gj-) (V)
Present:
Sg 1st	gef	bið	ligg
2nd	gefr	biðr	liggr
3rd	gefr	biðr	liggr
Pl 1st	gefum	biðjum	liggjum
2nd	gefið	biðið	liggið
3rd	gefa	biðja	liggja
Past:
Sg 1st	gaf	bað	lá
2nd	gaft	bazt	látt
3rd	gaf	bað	lá

Pl 1st	gáfum	báðum	lágum
2nd	gáfuð	báðuð	láguð
3rd	gáfu	báðu	lágu
Supine:	gefit	beðit	legit
Stems: (tak-) (VI) (far-) (VI) (hafj-) (VI)
Present:
Sg 1st	tek	fer	hef
2nd	tekr	ferr	hefr
3rd	tekr	ferr	hefr
Pl 1st	tökum	förum	hefjum
2nd	takið	farið	hefið
3rd	taka	fara	hefja
Past:
Sg 1st	tók	fór	hóf
2nd	tókt	fórt	hóft
3rd	tók	fór	hóf
Pl 1st	tökum	fórum	hófum
2nd	tókuð	fóruð	hófuð
3rd	tóku	fóru	hófu
Supine:	tekit	farit	hafit

LESSON XXI

1. Grammar

(A) Class VII Strong Verbs: General Characteristics

Class VII consists of several small groups of more or less dissimilar verbs that are grouped together partly for historical reasons. (They derive from the so-called 'reduplicating verbs'.) These verbs usually share the common feature that the first and fourth principal parts have the same stem forms, as do the second and third principal parts. Some verbs of this class are among the most common in Old Icelandic.

(B) Form Types

(1) The verb ganga 'walk' has the present stem (gang-) with (geng-) in all other stem forms. In the past singular stem, terminal ng becomes kk (see Lesson XVII, 1B1). Thus we have the forms (showing i-umlaut in the present singular, see Lesson XVI 1A2b):

(a) ek geng, þú gengr, hann gengr, vér gongum, þér gangið, þeir ganga.

(b) ek gekk, þú gekkt, hann gekk.

(c) vér gengum, þér genguð, þeir gengu.

(d) genginn, etc.

(2) The verb fá 'get; hand over' has the same stem formation in past and participial stems as ganga, i.e. (feng-), while the present stem is (fá-). Thus it has the forms:

(a) ek fæ, þú fær, hann fær, vér fám, þér fáið, þeir fá.

(b) ek fekk, etc.

(c) vér fengum, etc.

(d) fenginn, etc.

(3) The verbs falla 'fall' and halda 'hold' have a in the present and participle stems, with e in the past singular and plural. In the past singular stem, terminal ld becomes lt (see Lesson XVII, 1B1). Thus we have such forms as:

(a) ek fell, þú heldr, hann fellr, vér höldum, þér fallið, þeir halda, etc.

(b) ek helt, þú helzt, hann helt, ek fell, þú fellt, etc.

(c) vér fellum, þér helduð, þeir heldu, etc.

(d) fallinn, haldinn, etc.

(4) Verbs with au in the present stem belong to Class VII, such as hlaupa 'leap', auka 'increase', and ausa 'ladle, pump'. These verbs have jó in the past forms and au in the participial stem. Thus we have the four principal parts:

(a) ek hleyp, þú eykr, hann eyss, vér ausum, þér aukið, þeir hlaupa, etc.

(b) ek jók, þú hljópt, hann jós, etc.

(c) vér jókum, þér hljópuð, þeir jósu, etc.

(d) aukinn, hlaupinn, ausinn, etc.

(5) The verbs hoggva 'hew, chop', and búa 'dwell, prepare' can be grouped together, although they are dissimilar in the present stem forms, (haggv-) and (bú-) respectively. Unlike other Class VII strong verbs, these verbs have different stem forms for past singular and past plural: (hjó-) and (bjó-) for past singular, (hjugg-) and (bjugg-) for past plural. The participial stems are the same as the infinitive and present tense stems:

(a) ek hegg, þú heggr, hann heggr, vér hoggum, þér hoggvið, þeir hoggva; ek bý, þú býr, hann býr, vér búum, þér búið, þeir búa.

(b) ek bjó, þú hjótt, hann bjó, etc.

(c) vér bjuggum, þér hjugguð, þeir hjuggu, etc.

(d) hoggvinn, búinn, etc.

3. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Arnbjörn (bjarn-u-)	personal name
austr (austr-a-)	bailing
Hjarrandi (Hjarrandi-)	personal name
stampr (stamp-a-)	large tub

Feminine:

bytta (bytta-)	pail
dæla (dæla-)	ship's pump
leið (leið-i-)	way
á sömu leið	in the same way
mœði (mœði-)	weariness

raun (raun-i) at lítill raun myndi (vera) bezt um þat	trial, test that a little test would be best concerning that
Neuter:
garðshlið (hlið-)	gate
herðarblað (blað-)	shoulder blade
kné (kné-)	knee
sár (sár-)	wound
stræti (strætj-)	street
ganga úti um stræti	walk about in the streets
Adjectives
bezt (bezt-)	best
erfiðr (erfið-)	difficult
fastr (fast-)	firm
lekr (lek-)	leaky
lítill (lítill-)	little, small
reiddr (reidd-) [participle of reiða (reið-i/j-)]	raised
seinn (sein-)	slow, late
vássamr (vássam-)	wet and laborious
Pronouns
einskis [G sg of ekki , Lesson XXIV]	nothing
önnur [fem N sg of annarr , Lesson XXIV]	other
önnur ... önnur	the one ... the other Numerals
áttá	eight
fjórir [masc N]	four
tveim [D of tveir , tvær , tvau , Lesson XXIX]	two tvær [fem N]	two
Verbs
ausa (aus-)	bail
ausa upp [+A]	bail out (something)
fá [Lesson XXI]	get
fá [+A] til at [+inf]	get (someone) to [+inf]
geta (get-) [+supine]	be able to [+inf]
heldusk [3rd pl past ind of haldask (hald-) við]	held out

hrinda (hrind-) [+D]	shove, throw
kippa (kipp-i/j-)	snatch, draw quickly
honum var seint at sér at kippa	he was slow in pulling (it) to himself
lúka (lúk-) [Lesson XVI]	conclude, come to an end
mætti [3rd sg subj II of mega (pret-pres), Lesson XXII]	might renna (rann-i/j-)	slip
reyna (raun-i/j-)	try, test
sét [supine of sjá , Lesson XXIII]	seen
gat sét	could see
skemmta (skemmt-i/j-) [+D]	amuse (someone)
snarask (snar-a-) við	turn quickly
sökkva (sökkv-i/j-) [+D]	sink (something)
vara (var-i-)	be aware
[+A] varir [+G] um [+A]	(someone) is aware of, expects (something) about (something)
yfirkoma (kom-)	overcome
Adverbs
áfram	forward
seint	slowly, late
Prepositional Phrases
til móts við [+A]	against uppi við [+A]	up by Conjunction
áðr en	before

3. Texts

In the first of these passages from Grettis Saga, Grettir is sailing from Iceland to Norway. The weather turns bad and as the ship starts leaking Grettir has a chance to display fully his physical strength.

In the second passage Grettir is in Brándheimr (Trondheim, Norway). He has killed a man whose brother, Hjarrandi, a courtier of the Earl, is also in town. Hjarrandi is so vengeful that Grettir's friends have arranged for a man, Arnbjörn, to escort him wherever he goes as a safeguard.

(A) Grettis saga (Chapter 17): Grettir í leku skipi

Þá var ekki dæluaustr á hafskipum. Kolluðu menn þat byttuaustr eða stampaustr. Hann var bæði vássamr ok erfiðr. Skyldi þar hafa byttur tvær. Fór þá qnnur niðr, er qnnur fór upp. Sveinar báðu, at Grettir skyldi sökva byttunum, kváðu nú reyna skyldu, hvat hann mætti. Hann segir, at lítil raun myndi bezt um þat. Ferr hann þá niðr ok sökva byttunum ok váru þá fengnir til tveir at ausa til móts við hann. Heldusk þeir eigi lengi við, áðr þeir váru yfirkomnir af mœði. Þá gengu til fjórir, ok fór allt á sömu leið. Svá segja sumir menn, at átta jósu þeir við hann, áðr en lauk. Var þá ok upp ausit skipit.

(B) Grettis saga (chapter 23): Grettir ok Hjarrandi

Þat var einn dag, er Grettir ok Arnbjörn gengu úti um stræti at skemmta sér, ok er þeir kómu fram fyrir garðshlið nokkut, hljóp maðr fram úr garðshliðinu með reidda øxi ok hjó til Grettis tveim hqndum. Hann varði einskis um þetta ok gekk undan seint. Arnbjörn gat sét manninn, þreif til Grettis ok hratt honum áfram svá hart at hann fell á kné. Øxin kom á herðarblaðit ok renndi út undir hqndina. Var þat mikit sár. Grettir snaraðisk við fast ok brá saxinu. Hann kenndi, at þar var kominn Hjarrandi. Øxin stóð fóst í strætinu, ok var honum seint at sér at kippa. Ok í því hjó Grettir til Hjarranda, ok kom á hqndina uppi við øxl, svá at af tók.

4. Drills

Present the verbs ganga, fá, halda, falla, ausa, hlaupa, and hoggva in the following forms:

- (A) 3rd pl past
- (B) 1st sg past
- (C) 2nd pl present
- (D) 3rd sg present
- (E) supine

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) Ocean ships then had no ship's pump, but they had two pails, such that when one went down the other went up.
- (B) The boatswains asked Grettir to bail, because they wanted to see (sjá) what he was able to do (mætti).
- (C) Grettir sank the pails, and two bailed against him.
- (D) Soon those two were overcome, and four went to it, but everything went the same way.
- (E) Some say that eight were got to bail against him before it came to an end, and then the ship was bailed out.
- (F) One day Grettir and Arnbjörn walked about the streets when Hjarrandi leapt from a gate with a raised axe and hewed at Grettir with both hands.
- (G) Arnbjörn could see the man and shoved Grettir forward.
- (H) Grettir didn't expect anything, and the axe came onto his shoulder-blade and made a great wound.
- (I) Afterwards Hjarrandi's axe stuck fast in the street, and before Hjarrandi pulled it (henni) to himself, Grettir drew his short sword and struck at him so that it took off the arm (hqndina) at the shoulder.

LESSON XXII

1. Grammar

(A) More Class VII Strong Verbs

The sixth type of Class VII strong verbs has ei in the present and past participle stems and é in the past singular and plural stems. Two of these verbs are heita 'call, be called; promise' and leika 'play'. Apart from its several different meanings, heita has two variant present stems: (heit-) and (heiti-). The latter is more usual. The principal parts for these verbs yield the following forms:

- (1) ek heit(i), þú leikr, hann heit(i)r, vér leikum, þér heitið, etc.
- (2) ek lék, þú hézt, þú lékt, hann hét, etc.
- (3) vér lékum, þér hétuð, þeir léku, etc.
- (4) heitinn, leikinn, etc.

(B) Preterite-Present Verbs

In Lesson XI we noted that a number of verbs, including the very common modal auxiliaries, have different person/number endings in the present tense from those of other verbs, e.g. ek mun, þú munt, hann mun, v. ek gef, þú gefr, hann gefr. In fact, the present tense endings of these verbs are the same as the past tense endings of strong verbs, e.g. ek gaf, þú gaft, hann gaf. These so-called 'preterite-present' verbs form the present tense as strong verbs do the past tense (preterite), while in the past tense they resemble weak verbs, generally attaching -ði- (or its equivalent) as the past tense marker and suffixing the person/number endings of weak verbs. Furthermore, just as the past tense forms of strong verbs usually have different vowels in the singular and plural forms, so the present singular and present plural of the preterite-present verbs normally have different vowels, and these vowel alternations fall into several sub-groups.

(1) The verbs meaning 'will' and 'shall' have the present infinitive forms munu and skulu, respectively, and the unusual past infinitive forms mundu and skyldu. The present tense forms are as follows:

Sg 1st	mun	skal
2nd	munt	skalt
3rd	mun	skal
Pl 1st	munum	skulum
2nd	munuð	skuluð
3rd	munu	skulu

The past tense forms, corresponding in meaning and function to English 'would' and 'should', respectively, are:

Sg 1st	munda	skylda
2nd	mundir	skyldir
3rd	mundi	skyldi
Pl 1st	mundum	skyldum
2nd	munduð	skylduð
3rd	mundu	skyldu

The past participle stems are not attested.

(2) The verbs þurfa 'need, require', unna 'love', kunna 'know, be able to', and muna 'remember' have a in the present singular forms and u elsewhere. Thus we have the present forms:

Sg 1st	þarf	kann	ann	man
2nd	þarft	kannt	annt	mant
3rd	þarf	kann	ann	man
Pl 1st	þurfum	kunnum	unnum	munum
2nd	þurfuð	kunnuð	unnuð	munuð
3rd	þurfu	kunnu	unnu	munu

While þurfa has the perfectly 'regular' weak past tense forms þurfta, þurftir, etc., and the past tense forms of muna are identical with those of munu 'will', the verbs unna and kunna have no trace of ð in the past tense. Thus we have ek unna, þú kunnir, hann unni, vér unnum, etc. The stems of the past participles are, respectively, (þurft-), (kunnað-), (unnað-), and (munað-).

(3) The modal auxiliaries mega 'may, be able to' and the rarely used knega 'be able to', as well as the verb eiga 'own, possess; be obliged to' have essentially similar forms:

	Present			Past
Sg 1st	má	kná	á	mátta	knátta	átta
2nd	mátt	knátt	átt	máttir	knáttir	áttir
3rd	má	kná	á	mátti	knátti	átti
Pl 1st	megum	knegum	eigum	máttum	knáttum	áttum
2nd	meguð	kneguð	eiguð	máttuð	knáttuð	áttuð
3rd	megu	knegu	eigu	máttu	knáttu	áttu

The participle stems are (mátt-), knátt-), and (átt-).

(4) The verb vita 'know' has the present singular stem (veit-), the present plural stem (vit-), the past tense stem (viss-), and the participle stem (vitað-):

	Present	Past
Sg 1st	veit	vissa
2nd	veizt	vissir
3rd	veit	vissi
Pl 1st	vitum	vissum
2nd	vituð	vissuð
3rd	vitu	vissu

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

aldr (aldr-a-)	age
bónið [Lesson XXVI]	husband
búskortr (skort-i-)	scarcity, shortage of household supplies
Hrútr (Hrút-a-)	personal name

Feminine:

Bjarneyjar [pl]	place-name, 'Bear Islands'
kverk (kverk-)	underside of chin, throat
mey (meyj-a-) [irr N sg]	maiden, girl
mær [=mey]	maiden, girl
nánd (nánd-i-)	proximity, neighbourhood
skreið (skreið-i-)	dried fish
skúta (skúta-)	small boat, skiff
ætt (ætt-i-)	family, extraction

Neuter:

belti (beltj-)	belt
----------------	------

mjöl (mjölv-)	meal, flour
silki (silkj-)	silk
sinn (sinn-)	time, occasion
einhverju sinni	at one time
sukk (sukk-)	extravagance
hafa [+A] í sukki	squander (something)
vinaboð (boð-)	feast for friends
þjófsauga (auga-)	thief's eye

Adjectives

fengsamr (fengsam-)	demanding
stórlýndr (lýnd-)	haughty, arrogant
vanr (van-)	accustomed, usual

Pronouns

hitt [neut N/A sg of hinn (hin-), Lesson XXV]	that (other)
sjá [masc, fem N sg, Lesson XXV]	this

Numeral

annat [neut N/A sg of annarr (annar-), Lesson XXIX]	second
---	--------

Verbs

blæða (blóð-i/j-)	bleed
endask (end-i/j-)	last
far [sg imperative of fara (far-)]	go, proceed
fara (far-) at [+D]	pay heed to (something)
gjalda [Lesson XVII] [+G]	pay for, suffer on account of (something)
hafir [2nd sg subj I of hafa, Lesson XIV]	have, may have kalla (kall-a-) á [+A]	call out to (someone)
kalla (kall-a-) til [+G]	lay claim to (something)
kveðja (kvað-i/j-) [+A] með sér	summon (someone) (to come) with oneself, along
kyssa (kyss-i/j-)	kiss
leika (leik-) sér	play
lítask (lít-) á [+D] lízk á [+A]	have an opinion of (someone) has an opinion of, likes (someone)
hversu lízk þér á mey þessa?	what do you think of, how do you like this girl?

reiðask (reið-i/j-)	become wroth, angry
reru [3rd pl past ind of róa , Lesson XXIII]	rowed rœða (rœð-i/j-)	speak, discuss
sitja (sitj-) til [+G]	wait for (something) to come
svelta (svalt-i/j-)	starve [transitive]
svelta sik til [+G]	starve oneself for the sake of (something)
taka (tak-) ofan á [+A]	reach down to (something)
taka (tak-) undir [+A]	take hold under (something)
vára (vár-a-) [impersonal]	spring comes
þegja (þag-i/j-) við	remain silent
þykkir [3rd sg pres ind of þykkja , Lesson XIV] [+D]	seems (to someone)
Adverbs
allt	all the way
hingat	hither, here
hvaðan	whence, from where
minna	less
cerit	sufficiently
Adverbial Phrases
á sumar fram	into summer
í braut	away
Prepositional Phrase
it næsta [+D]	next to

3. Texts

The first selection introduces one of the main characters of Njáls Saga, Hallgerðr Høskuldsdóttir, and foreshadows the incident related in the text selection in Lesson XVIII. The second passage describes her dealings with her first husband, Þorvaldr Ósvifrsson, whom she had reluctantly consented to marry. After the incident recounted here, Hallgerd's confidential friend and foster-father, Þjóstólfr, slays Thorvald with her silent consent.

(A) Njáls saga (Chapter 1): Hallgerðr á barns aldri

Þat var einhverju sinni, at Høskuldr hafði vinaboð, ok þar var Hrútr, bróðir hans, ok sat it næsta honum. Høskuldr átti sér dóttur, er Hallgerðr hét. Hon lék sér á gólfinu við aðrar meyjar. Hon var fríð sýnum ok mikil vexti ok hárit svá fagrt sem silki ok svá mikit, at þat tók ofan á belt. Høskuldr kallar á hana: 'Far þú hingat til mín', sagði hann. Hon gekk þegar til hans. Hann tók undir kverkina ok kyssti hana. Síðan gekk hon í braut. Þá ræddi Høskuldr til Hrúts: 'Hversu lízk þér á mey þessa? Þykkir þér eigi fōgr vera?' Hrútr þagði við. Høskuldr mælti til hans annat sinn. Hrútr svaraði þá: 'Ærit fōgr er mær sjá, ok munu margir þess gjalda, en hitt veit ek eigi, hvaðan þjófsaugu eru komin í ættir vórar.'

(B) Njáls saga (Chapter 11): Hallgerðr ok Þorvaldr bóndi hennar

Hallgerðr var fengsöm ok stórlynd, enda kallaði hon til alls þess, er aðrir áttu í nánd, ok hafði allt í sukki. En er váraði, var þar búskortr ok skorti bæði mjöl ok skreið. Hallgerðr kom at máli við Þorvald ok ræddi: 'Eigi muntu þurfa at sitja til alls, því at bæði þarf í búit mjöl ok skreið.' Þorvaldr mælti: 'Ekki fekk ek nú minna til bús en vant var, ok endisk þá allt á sumar fram.' Hallgerðr mælti: 'Ekki fer ek at því, þó at þú hafir svelt þik til fjár ok faðir þinn.' Þá reiddisk Þorvaldr ok laust hana í andlitit, svá at blœddi, ok gekk síðan í braut ok kvaddi húskarla sína með sér, ok hrundu fram skútu ok hljópu þar á átta karlar ok reru út í Bjarneyjar ok tóku þar skreið sína ok mjöl.

4. Drills

Present the verbs munu, þurfa, eiga, vita, heita, and leika in the following forms:

- (A) 3rd pl present
- (B) 2nd sg present
- (C) 1st sg past
- (D) 2nd pl past
- (E) supine (if attested)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Hoskuld had a feast, and Hrut, his brother, sat next to him.

(B) Hallgerd, Hoskuld's daughter, was playing on the floor with (við) other girls, and Hoskuld called to her that she should (skyldi) come to him, and he kissed her.

(C) Hoskuld asked Hrut whether (hvárt) the girl seemed (þætti) to him to be pretty, but Hrut kept silent.

(D) Hoskuld asks a second time, and Hrut answers that the girl is (sé) sufficiently pretty, but that he doesn't know (vitti) from where thief's eyes have (séu) come into their families.

(E) When Hallgerd grew (óx) up, she was demanding and arrogant, and she laid claim to all that which others possessed in the neighbourhood.

(F) One time there was a shortage of household supplies, and Hallgerd said to Thorvald, her husband (bónða), that he would (myndi) not need to wait for everything to come to him, because both meal and dried fish were lacking.

(G) Thorvald answered that he had not supplied (hefði eigi fengit) less for the household than was usual, but Hallgerd said that he and his father had (hefði) starved themselves for the sake of money.

(H) Thorvald becomes very angry and strikes her in the face so that it bleeds, but he then goes with his house-servants, and they push forth the skiff and row (róa) out to Bear Islands and there take dried fish and meal.

LESSON XXIII

1. Grammar

(A) More Class VII Strong Verbs

A seventh type of Class VII strong verb is formed with á in the present and past participle stems, and with é in the past singular and plural stems. These verbs are gráta 'weep, cry', láta 'let', blása 'blow', and ráða 'govern; counsel'. Thus we have the following forms for the four principal parts:

- (1) ek græt, þú lætr, hann blæss, vér ráðum, þér grátid, þeir láta, etc.
- (2) ek grét, þú blést, þú lézt, hann réð, etc.
- (3) vér grétum, þér réðuð, þeir létu, etc.
- (4) grátinn, látinn, blásinn, ráðinn, etc.

(B) Various Irregular Verbs

(1) The verb hlæja 'laugh' is quite irregular in its forms. A strong verb that is sometimes assigned to Class VII, historically it belongs among the Class VI strong verbs, with the stem originally ending in g/h (compare with slá, Lesson XX, 1B4). It has the following forms in Old Icelandic texts:

- (a) 1st principal part: (hlæj-); ek hlæ, þú hlær, hann hlær, vér hlæjum, þér hlæid, þeir hlæja.
- (b) 2nd principal part: (hló-); ek hló, þú hlótt, hann hló.
- (c) 3rd principal part: (hlóg-); vér hlógum, þér hlóguð, þeir hlógu.
- (d) 4th principal part: (hleg-); hleginn, etc.

(2) The verbs deyja 'die' and geyja 'bark' are similar to hlæja in the stem forms, but derive from j-augmented stems of the Class VII type with au in the present stem (compare with ausa, etc. Lesson XXII). Deyja has the following forms (geyja is a rare verb and little attested):

- (a) 1st principal part: (deyj-); ek dey, þú deyr, hann deyr, vér deyjum, þér deyið, þeir deyja.
- (b) 2nd principal part: (dó-); ek dó þú dótt, hann dó.

- (c) 3rd principal part: (dó-); vér dóm, þér dóuð, þeir dóu.
 (d) 4th principal part: (dá-); dáinn, etc.
 (3) The very common verb sjá 'see' is also quite irregular. Historically it could be classified among the Class V strong verbs, since an earlier form of the stem was *(seh-), but the various stems have undergone so many divergent changes as to make the verb irregular. These are the four stem forms:
 (a) 1st principal part: (sé-, sjá-); ek sé, þú sér, hann sér, vér sjám, þér sjáið, þeir sjá.
 (b) 2nd principal part: (sá-); ek sá, þú sátt, hann sá.
 (c) 3rd principal part: (sá-); vér sám, þér sàoð, þeir sá.
 (d) 4th principal part: (sé-); sénn, etc.

Note that the supine is sét.

(4) A few verbs in Old Icelandic are entirely irregular in that they form the past tense with an r-suffix and the person/number endings of the weak verbs. These verbs all have a stem that ends in a long vowel, which is fronted in the present singular like the strong verbs, and shifts to ø (or the variant e) in the past tense. These verbs are snúa 'turn', gnúa 'rub', róa 'row', gróa 'grow', and sá 'sow'. Snúa, róa, and sá have the following forms (with gnúa and gróa parallel with the first two):

	Present				Past
Sg 1st	sný	rœ	sæ	snœra (snera, etc.)	rœra (rera, etc.)	sœra
2nd	snýr	rœr	sær	snœrir	rœrir	sœrir
3rd	snýr	rœr	sær	snœri	rœri	sœri
Pl 1st	snúm	ró(u)m	sám	snœrum	rœrum	sœrum
2nd	snúið	róið	sáið	snœruð	rœruð	sœruð
3rd	snúa	róa	sá	snœru	rœru	sœru

Note that the present singular forms of sá are sometimes sái, sáir, as in regular weak verbs. Both the ø and e occur in the past tense in all forms. The past participle stems are (snúin-), (róin-), (sáin-), etc.

(5) The verb vilja 'want', basically a preterite-present verb with the stem-vowel i in all forms, is irregular in the person/number ending of the second singular present indicative, which is either -t (as in preterite-present verbs) or -r ( $\rightarrow$  -l) as in a regular weak verb. We find both the forms þú vilt and þú vill in Old Icelandic texts. The past participle stem is (vilja-), and there is a past infinitive vildu. Elsewhere the verbal forms are those of a regular weak verb.

(C) The Present Participle

(1) Form: the present participle of the verb is formed by adding -ndi to the infinitive of the verb: þegja 'be silent'—þegjandi 'being silent, silently'; hlæja 'laugh'—hlæjandi 'laughing'; ganga 'walk'—gangandi 'walking'; gráta 'weep'—grátandi 'weeping', etc.

(2) Usage: the use of the present participle as a verbal form is much more restricted in Old Icelandic than that of -ing forms in English. As a verbal participle the forms with the -ndi suffix are used adverbially with verbs of motion or with other verbs indicating progression or duration: hon gekk þegjandi, hann kom gangandi, 'ek skal (vera) þess ráðandi 'I shall prevail in that' (Lesson XXIV). These adverbial participles are invariant in form.

The -ndi forms derived from verbs indicating progression or duration can also be used adjectivally to modify nouns: riðandi maðr, logandi brandr 'a blazing brand' (Lesson XXXII), etc. In their adjectival function the -ndi forms are declined like weak (definite) adjectives: N sg riðandi maðr, A sg riðanda mann, etc.

A number of masculine nouns are derived directly from the present participle, e.g. búandi 'farmer', eigandi 'owner', gefandi 'giver, donor', etc. Some of these nouns have undergone phonological modification so that they are no longer clearly of participial origin, e.g. bónði (= búandi) 'farmer, husband', frændi 'kinsman', etc. These nouns form a separate declensional class, the so-called 'nd-stems'. For a further discussion of this noun type see Lesson XXVI.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

bræðr [Lesson XXVI]
 dagverðr (verð-i-) Forsárskógar [pl]
 Freysgoði (goði-)
 garðr (garð-a-) grimmleikr (leik-a-) hlátr (hlátr-a-) hugr (hug-i-) heill hugr

brothers
 main meal of the day
 place-name 'Fall River Woods' priest of the god Freyr
 yard, courtyard
 cruelty, savageness
 laughter
 mood, mind sincerity

Kolbeinn (bein-a-)	personal name
Ornólfr (-ólf-a-)	personal name
Feminine:
Hildigunnr (gunnj-a-)	personal name
kista (kista-)	chest
liðveizla (veizla-)	help by the means of troops; support
skikkja (skikkja-)	cloak
sætt (sætt-i-)	reconciliation, settlement
tilkváma (kváma-)	arrival
Neuter:
eptirmæli (mælj-)	a suit on behalf of the slain against the slayer
hjarta (hjarta-)	heart
lög [pl]	law(s)
til fullra laga	to the full extent of the law
mál (mál-)	matter, suit
mark (mark-)	significance
ekki er enn mark at	there is nothing yet of significance (in this)
Skaptafell (fell-)	place-name, 'Skapti's Mountain'

Adjectives

mettr (mett-)	satiated, full
sjálfr (sjálf-)	self
skapþungr (þung-)	depressed, in a heavy mood
[+D] er skapþungt	(someone) is depressed
staddr (stadd-) [participle of staðja (stað-i/j-)]	standing, situated
sæll (sæl-)	happy, fortunate.
kom heill ok sæll	(a form of greeting) 'welcome'
sæmðr (sæmð-) [participle of sæma (sóm-i/j-)]	honoured

Pronoun

hvert [neut N/A sg of hverr (hverj-)]	what
---	------

Verbs

binda (bind-)	tie, bind
dynja (dun-i/j-)	gush, pour, fall
gangask [Lesson XXI] nær	come to closer quarters
gráta (grát-) [+A]	weep (for someone)

greiða (greið-i/j-)	untangle
hlæja [Lesson XXII]	laugh
lasta (last-a-)	blame, speak ill of leyfa (leyf-i/j-)	praise, speak well of
þá mun sjálf t leyfa sik	then it will speak well for itself
misgera [Lesson XIV] við [+A]	transgress against (someone)
mislíka (lík-a-)	dislike
[+D] mislíkar [+N]	(someone) dislikes (something)
mæla (mál-i/j-) eptir [+A]	sue on behalf of (someone)
ræsta (ræst-i/j-)	clean, sweep
sém [1st pl subj I of vera , Lesson XXX]	are, will be spotta (spott-a-)	mock
sækja [Lesson XIV] mál	prosecute a case
tjalda (tjald-a-)	hang tapestries
varðveita (veit-i/j-)	keep, preserve
vega (veg-)	slay
veita (veit-i/j-) til [+G]	grant (something)
veita til þeira sætta, er	grant those settlements, which
ætta [3rd sg subj II of eiga (pret-pres)] at [+inf]	would have to [+inf]

Adverbs

illa	ill, badly
þat er illa (farit)	it is a pity
nær	nearer, closer
vel	well
ef (þat) er vel (hugat)	if (it) is well (meant)
þegjandi [present participle of þegja (þag-i/j-)]	without speaking, silently

Adverbial Phrase

í alla staði	in all respects
--------------	-----------------

Preposition

af [+D]	by [in passive constructions]
---------	-------------------------------

Prepositional Phrase

innar í [+A]	farther into
--------------	--------------

Conjunction

hvárki . . . né	neither . . . nor
-----------------	-------------------

3. Texts

These passages from Chapter 116 of Njáls Saga relate a situation common in the sagas: the vengeful woman egging on a reluctant man to avenge himself on his enemies and restore the honour of his name, accusing him of cowardice when he is unwilling to break the peace of a settlement by taking up arms. In this case the woman is Hildigunnr, widow of Hoskuldr Hvítanessgoði and niece of Flosi Þórðarson. Hoskuld had been Njal's foster son, but had been killed by the sons of Njal, owing to the evil slander of Mjörðr-Valgarðsson.

(A) Njáls saga (Chapter 116): Hildigunnr ok Flosi

Hildigunnr var úti ok mælti: 'Nú skulu allir heimamenn mínir vera úti, er Flosi ríðr í garð, en konur skulu ræsta húsin ok tjalda ok búa Flosa öndvegi.' Síðan reið Flosi í túnit. Hildigunnr sneri at honum ok mælti: 'Kom heill ok sæll, frændi, ok er nú fegit hjarta mitt tilkvámu þinni.' Flosi mælti: 'Hér skulum vér eta dagverð ok riða síðan.' Þá váru bundnir hestarnir. Flosi gekk inn í stofuna ok settisk niðr ok kastaði í pallinn hásetinu undan sér ok mælti: 'Hvarki em ek konungr né jarl, ok þarf ekki at gera háseti undir mér, ok þarf ekki at spotta mik.' Hildigunnr var nær stödd ok mælti svá: 'Þat er illa, ef þér mislíkar, því at þetta gerðum vér af heilum hug.' Flosi mælti: 'Ef þú hefir heilan hug við mik, þá mun sjálft leyfa sik, ef vel er. Mun ok sjálft lasta sik ef illa er.' Hildigunnr hló kaldan hlátr ok mælti: 'Ekki er enn mark at, nær munum vit gangask, áðr lýkr.'

(B) Njáls saga (Chapter 116): Eptir dagverðinn

Þá kom Hildigunnr í stofuna ok gekk fyrir Flosa ok greiddi hárit frá augum sér ok grét. Flosi mælti: 'Skapþungt er þér nú, frændkona, er þú grætr, en þó er þat vel, at þú grætr góðan mann.' 'Hvert eptirmæli skal ek nú af þér hafa eða liðveizlu?' segir hon. Flosi mælti: 'Sækja mun ek mál þitt til fullra laga eða veita til þeira sætta, er góðir menn sjá, at vér sém vel sœmðir af í alla staði.' Hon mælti: 'Hefna myndi Hoskuldr þín, ef hann ætti eptir þik at mæla.' Flosi svaraði: 'Eigi skortir þik grimmeik, ok sét er, hvat þú vill.' Hildigunnr mælti: 'Minna hafði misgert Arnórr Ornlólfsson úr Forsárskógum við Þórð Freysgoða, föður þinn, ok vágu bræðr þínir hann á Skaptafellspingi, Kolbeinn ok Egill.' Hildigunnr gekk þá fram í skála ok lauk upp kistu sinni. Tók hon þá upp skikkjuna, er Flosi hafði gefit Hoskuldi, ok í þeirri hafði Hoskuldr veginn verit, ok hafði hon þar varðveitt í blóðit allt. Hon gekk þá innar í stofuna með skikkjuna. Hon gekk þegjandi at Flosa. Þá var Flosi mettr ok fram borit af borðinu. Hildigunnr lagði þá yfir Flosa skikkjuna. Dunði þá blóðit um hann allan.

4. Drills

Present the verbs hlæja, gráta, snúa, sjá, vilja, búa, and skulu in the following forms:

- (A) 1st sg present
- (B) 3rd sg past
- (C) 1st pl past
- (D) 2nd pl present
- (E) supine

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Hildigunn knew that Flosi, her kinsman, would (myndi) come there for the purpose of (til þess at +inf) discussing her suit on behalf of the slain.

(B) She had women sweep the house, hang tapestries, and prepare a place of honour for Flosi.

(C) When Flosi and his group rode into the yard, she turned to him and said, 'Now my heart is gladdened at your arrival.'

(D) But Flosi was not glad and said that they intended to (skyldi) eat dinner and ride afterwards.

(E) Hildigunn wept and wanted to know what suit on behalf of the slain or support she would (myndi) have from Flosi.

(F) Flosi said that he would (myndi) prosecute her case to the full extent of the law or grant those settlements which good men see that they would be (væri) well honoured by.

(G) Hildigunn says that Hoskuld would (myndi) avenge Flosi, if he had (ætti) to sue on behalf of him, and that Arnor Ornlólfsson had (hefði) transgressed less against Thord, Flosi's father, and yet (en þó) Flosi's brothers slew Arnor.

(H) Hildigunn becomes so angry that she goes to her chest and takes up the cloak which Flosi had given Hoskuld and in which Hoskuld had been slain.

(I) She had kept all Hoskuld's blood in the cloak, and now she goes without speaking to Flosi and lays it (hana) over him, so that the blood falls all over him.

6. Survey of Class VII Strong Verbs, ri-Verbs, and Preterite-Present Verbs in Lessons XXI-XXIII

(A) Class VII Strong Verbs and Verbs of the Type snúa

Infinitive:	ganga	auka	hoggva
Stems:	(gang-) (fall-) (hald-) (fá-)	(auk-) (aus-) (hlaup-) [(deyj-)] [(geyj-)]	(haggv-) [(bú-)]
Present:
Sg 1st	geng	eyk	hegg
2nd	gengr	eykr	heggr
3rd	gengr	eykr	heggr
Pl 1st	gongum	aukum	hoggum
2nd	gangið	aukið	hoggvið
3rd	ganga	auka	hoggva
Past:
Sg 1st	gekk	jók	hjó
2nd	gekk	jókt	hjött
3rd	gekk	jók	hjó
Pl 1st	gengum	jókum	hjuggum
2nd	genguð	jókuð	hjugguð
3rd	gengu	jóku	hjuggu
Supine:	gengit	aukit	hoggvit
Infinitive:	leika	blása	snúa
Stems:	(leik-) (heit(i)-)	(blás-) (lát-) (grát-) (ráð-)	(snú-) (gnú-) (ró-) (gró-) (sá-)

Present:
Sg 1st	leik	blæs	sný
2nd	leikr	blæss	snýr
3rd	leikr	blæss	snýr
Pl 1st	leikum	blásum	snúm
2nd	leikið	blásið	snúið
3rd	leika	blása	snú(a)
Past:
Sg 1st	lék	blés	snøra (snera, etc.)
2nd	lékt	blést	snørir
3rd	lék	blés	snøri
Pl 1st	lékum	blésum	snørum
2nd	lékuð	blésuð	snøruð
3rd	léku	blésu	snøru
Supine:	leikit	blásit	snúit

(B) Preterite-Present Verbs

Infinitive:	munu, muna	skulu	þurfa
Past Infinitive:	mundu	skyldu
Present:
Sg 1st	mun, man	skal	þarf
2nd	munt, mant	skalt	þarft
3rd	mun, man	skal	þarf
Pl 1st	munum	skulum	þurfum
2nd	munuð	skuluð	þurfuð
3rd	munu	skulu	þurfu
Past:
Sg 1st	munda	skylda	þurfta
2nd	mundir	skyldir	þurftir
3rd	mundi	skyldi	þurfti
Pl 1st	mundum	skyldum	þurftum
2nd	munduð	skylduð	þurftuð
3rd	mundu	skyldu	þurftu
Supine:	—, munat	—	þurft
Infinitive:	unna (kunna)	mega (knega)	eiga
Present:
Sg 1st	ann	má	á
2nd	annt	mátt	átt
3rd	ann	má	á

Pl 1st	unnum	megum	eigum
2nd	unnuð	meguð	eiguð
3rd	unnu	megu	eigu
Supine:	unnat	mátt	átt
Infinitive:	vita	vilja
Past Infinitive:	—	vildu
Present:
Sg 1st	veit	vil
2nd	veizt	vilt (vill)
3rd	veit	vil (vill)
Pl 1st	vitum	viljum
2nd	vituð	viljuð (vilið)
3rd	vitu	vilju (vilja)
Past:
Sg 1st	vissa	vilda
2nd	vissir	vildir
3rd	vissi	vildi
Pl 1st	vissum	vildum
2nd	vissuð	vilduð
3rd	vissu	vildu
Supine:	vitat	viljat

LESSON XXIV

1. Grammar

Indefinite Pronouns

In general, indefinite pronouns are formed in the same way as strong (indefinite) adjectives. The stem takes the same case endings in all genders and both numbers as an adjective (see Lesson VIII, 7). In a number of instances, however, the stem is subject to modification, or other irregularities appear. These are the most common indefinite pronouns:

(1) (all-) 'all' is formed exactly like a regular adjective: masc N sg allr, pl allir; fem N sg öll, pl allar; neut N sg allt, pl öll, etc.

(2) (sum-) 'some; (a) certain' is also formed like a regular adjective: masc N sg sumr, pl sumir; fem N sg sum, pl sumar; neut N sg sumt, pl sum, etc.

(3) (ein-) 'one' as a pronoun is distinct in meaning and function from the numeral (ein-) 'one'. It has the meaning 'indefinite' and as such occurs only in the singular. It is formed exactly like a regular strong adjective, except that the neut N and A sg forms are eitt, rather than the expected **eint*.

(4) (nein-) 'none, not any' is formed exactly as (ein-), except that it also has plural forms.

(5) (annar-) 'other' as a pronoun is distinct in meaning and function from the numeral annarr 'second'. The stem form has a variant (aðr-) which occurs whenever the case ending begins in a vowel. Furthermore, the masc A sg is contracted to annan, and assimilation occurs in the neut N/A sg form annat. The full paradigm is:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Sg N	annarr	önnur	annat
A	annan	aðra	annat
G	annars	annarrar	annars
D	öðrum	annarri	öðru

Pl N	aðrir	aðrar	önnur
A	aðra	aðrar	önnur
G		annarra
D		öðrum

Note that the English locution 'one ... the other' is (annar-) ... (annar-) in Old Icelandic: 'Skyldi hafa byttur tvær, fór þá önnur niðr, er önnur fór upp.' (Lesson XXI)

(6) (nökkur-) 'any, some' is formed as a regular strong adjective, except that masc A sg is contracted to nökkurn and neut N/A sg is nökkut. Thus we have the forms: masc N sg nökkurr, pl nökkurir; fem N sg nökkur, pl nökkurar; neut N sg nökkut, pl nökkur, etc. When used adjectivally, i.e. modifying a noun, (nökkur-) also has the meaning 'a certain': dag nökkurn 'a certain day, one day'.

(7) (báð-) 'both' occurs only in plural forms and is irregular in the neut N/A and in all G forms. The full paradigm is:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Pl N	báðir	báðar	bæði
A	báða	báðar	bæði
G		beggja
D		báðum

(8) (engi-) 'no, none' has several highly irregular forms. The full paradigm is:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Sg N	engi	engi	ekki
A	engan	enga	ekki
G	einskis, engis	engrar	einskis, engis
D	engum	engri	engu
Pl N	engir	engar	engi
A	enga	engar	engi
G		engra
D		engum

Note that the neuter singular form ekki 'none, nothing' should not be confused with the negation word ekki 'not', which is identical in meaning with eigi.

(9) (hverj-) 'each, every' is declined like a regular adjective except in masc A sg which is contracted to hvern. Thus we have masc N sg hverr, pl hverir; fem N sg hver, pl hverjar; neuter N sg hvert, pl hver, etc.

(10) The two pronominal stems (ein-) and (hverj-) often form a unit pronoun with the meaning 'one, some'. The stem (ein-) is either fully declined or remains an invariable prefix to the stem (hverj-). Thus we have, e.g., masc G sg einshvers or einshvers, etc. Compare 'Hann er nú frægstr maðr einnhverr' (Lesson XI) and 'einhverja nótt um sumari' 'one night during the summer' (Lesson XXIV). This compound pronoun is very common.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

draumamaðr (mann-)	man who has dreams
draumavetr [pl]	winters foreseen in dreams
draumur (draum-a-)	dream
frændr [A pl of frændi, Lesson XXVI]	kinsmen
galdr (galdr-a-)	magic charm; [pl] witchcraft
Gísli (Gísli-)	personal name
siðr (sið-u-)	custom, religious practice
forn siðr	heathendom
svefn (svefn-a-)	sleep
vinr (vin-i-)	friend

Feminine:

draumkona (kona-)	dream-woman, woman who appears in dreams
forneskja (forneskja-)	old lore, heathenism
nótt (nótt-)	night
sekð (sekð-i-)	outlawry, exclusion from legal rights

Neuter:

gagn (gagn-)	use, advantage
[+N] verðr [+D] at gagni	(something) is of advantage (to someone)
jarðhús (hús-)	underground dwelling
skjól (skjól-)	shelter

Adjectives

berdreymr (dreym-)	having prophetic dreams
betri [weak]	better
bjartastr (bjartast-)	brightest
sem bjartastir	as bright as possible

brunnir [masc N pl of brunninn (brunnin-), participle of brenna (brenn-)]	burnt down
daufr (dauf-)	deaf
fáráðr (ráð-)	helpless
fátœkr (tœk-)	poor
forn (forn-)	ancient
görvallr (all-)	entire, whole
haltr (halt-)	halt, lame
illr (ill-)	bad
lengri [comparative of langr (lang-), Lesson XXVII]	longer
úlifaðr (lifað-)	unlived
varr (var-)	aware, wary
vera varr um sik	be on one's guard
verri [weak, Lesson XXVIII]	worse
vittr (vittr-)	wise
Pronoun
ekki	nothing
ekki þess	nothing of that Numeral
sjau	seven
Verbs
bera (ber-) til	happen
þat berr enn til	it happens yet again
bregða [Lesson XVII] [+D]	change (something)
dreyma (draum-i/j-)	dream
[+A] dreymir [+A]	(someone) dreams (something)
fjúka (fjúk-)	blow, drift, snow
fokit er í skjól qll	it has blown, snowed into all shelters; no more shelters are safe
ganga (gang-) í sekð	be an outlaw
kemr (kom-) þat saman með [+D]	it is agreed upon by (someone)
láta (lát-) illa	be restless
leiðask (leið-i/j-)	be led away, pass
láta leiðask	let pass, renounce
líða (líð-)	elapse
lífða [1st sg subj II of lifa (lif-i-)]	lived, would live
merkja (mark-i/j-)	signify
nema (nem-)	take up, learn

ráða (ráð-)	advise, counsel; govern
ráðandi [present participle of ráða (ráð-)]	prevailing
skal ek þess ráðandi	I shall prevail in that
spá (spá-i-)	prophecy
vakna (vakn-a-)	wake up [intransitive]
vera [Lesson XVIII] vel við [+A]	be kind to (someone) þóttumk [1st sg past ind of þykkjask , Lessons XIV, XXXII]	thought myself
ætla (ætl-a-) í brott	intend to go away
ætta [1st sg subj II of eiga (pret-pres)] eptir	had remaining, would have remaining

Adverbs

eina	only
jafnan	constantly, always
lengst [superlative of lengi ]	longest
verr	worse

Conjunction

né	nor
----	-----

3. Texts

These two passages are from Gísla Saga Súrssonar. Gíslí was an outlaw who managed to evade his enemies with great daring and ingenuity, often hiding out at the farm of his resourceful wife Auðr. The Icelanders attached great significance to the prophetic powers of dreams, although these were always to be interpreted symbolically. Often supernatural beings appear in such dreams, and many such are embodiments of a person's fate. Such a being was called a fylgja 'follower', and was said to accompany a person from birth to death.

The intervening period between the two incidents described is seven years.

(A) Gísla saga Súrssonar (Chapter 22): Draumr Gísla

Gíslí var vittr maðr ok draumamaðr mikill ok berdreymr. Þat kemr saman með qllum vitrum mōnnum, at Gíslí hafi lengst allra manna í sekð gengit annarr en Grettir Ásmundarson. Frá því er sagt eitt haust, at Gísli lét illa í svefni nótt eina, þá er hann var á bœ Auðar, ok er hann vaknar, spurði hon, hvat hann dreymði. Hann svarar: 'Ek á draumkonur tvær,' sagði hann, 'ok er þunur vel við mik, en þunur segir mér þat nokkut jafnan, er mér þykkir verr en áðr, ok spár mér illt eina. En þat dreymði mik nú, at ek þóttumk ganga at húsi einu, eða skála, ok inn þóttumk ek ganga í húsit, ok þar kennda ek marga inni frændr mína ok vini. Þeir sátu við elda ok drukku, ok váru sjau eldarnir, sumir váru mjök brunnir, en sumir sem bjartastir. Þá kom inn draumkona mín in betri ok sagði, at þat merkði aldr minn, hvat ek ætta eptir úlifat, ok hon réð mér þat, meðan ek lifða, at láta leiðask fornan sið ok nema enga galdra né forneskju ok vera vel við daufan ok haltan ok fátæka ok fáraða. Eigi var draumrinn lengri.'

(B) Gísla saga Súrssonar (Chapter 33): Annarr draumr Gísla

Líðr svá nú sumarit, at Gísli er í jarðhúsum sínum ok er varr um sik, ok ætlar hann nú ekki í brott. Þykkir honum nú fokit vera í ǫll skjól. Nú eru ok liðnir draumavetr hans ǫrvallir. Þat berr enn til einhverja nótt um sumarit, at Gísli lætr illa í svefni. En er hann vaknar, spyrr Auðr, hvat hann hefði dreymt. Hann segir, at nú kom at honum draumkonan sú in verri ok mælti svá: 'Nú skal ek því ǫllu bregða, er in betri draumkonan mælti við þik, ok skal ek þess ráðandi, at þér skal þess ekki at gagni verða, er hon hefir mælt.'

4. Drills

(A) Convert the following pronominal and nominal stems into the A sg:

- (1) (annar-) (skjól-)
- (2) (ein-) (hús-)
- (3) (engi-) (kona-)
- (4) (nokkur-) (vin-i-)
- (5) (sum-) (galdr-a-)
- (6) (einhverj-) (kista-)
- (7) (all-) (draum-a-)

(B) Convert the following stems into the D sg:

- (1) (ein-) (skjól-)
- (2) (annar-) (hús-)
- (3) (einhverj-) (vin-i-)
- (4) (sum-) (galdr-a-)
- (5) (nokkur-) (kona-)
- (6) (all-) (draum-a-)
- (7) (engi-) (hús-)

(C) Convert the following stems into the G pl:

- (1) (all-) (skjól-)
- (2) (annar-) (hús-)
- (3) (engi-) (vin-i-)
- (4) (nokkur-) (draum-a-)
- (5) (sum-) (kona-)
- (6) (einhverj-) (galdr-a-)
- (7) (all-) (kista-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) One night, when Gísli was at Aud's farm, he was restless in his sleep, and he told her that he had (ætti) two dream-women.

(B) One was kind to him, but the other prophesied only ill for him.

(C) In his dream he went into a certain house, and there he saw his kinsmen and friends who sat by seven fires and drank.

(D) The fires signified Gísli's age, what he had remaining un-lived, and some were brighter (bjartari) than others.

(E) The better dream-woman advised him to renounce ancient custom and be kind to the deaf and lame, and poor and helpless.

(F) Later, one night the worse dream-woman comes to him, and she says that she will change all that which the better dream-woman said to him.

(G) None of that which the better dream-woman spoke shall be of advantage to him.

LESSON XXV

1. Grammar

(A) Demonstrative Pronouns

There are three demonstrative pronouns in Old Icelandic:

(1) sjá 'this' exists only in the N sg of the masculine and feminine. There is a full paradigm, however, for þessi 'this'. Þessi is basically formed from the stem (þessi-) with the endings of a strong (indefinite) adjective (see Lesson VIII, 7), but various phonological processes have occurred, and a highly irregular paradigm has resulted. The following is a full set of forms:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Sg N	þessi, sjá	þessi, sjá	þetta
A	þenna	þessa	þetta
G	þessa	þessar, þessarar	þessa
D	þessum	þessi	þessu
Pl N	þessir	þessar	þessi
A	þessa	þessar	þessi
G		þessa
D		þessum

(2) sá 'that' is formed in an irregular manner in the singular. The plural forms and the neuter singular are identical with the corresponding forms of the personal pronouns (see Lesson XI and Lesson XII). These are the forms of the masculine and feminine singular:

	Masculine	Feminine
N	sá	sú
A	þann	þá
G	þess	þeir(r)ar
D	þeim	þeir(r)i

Note the difficulty of correctly distinguishing between þeir, þær, þau, etc. as either personal or demonstrative pronouns. The demonstrative usually modifies a noun, but often the noun is omitted. Whereas þeir, þær, þau standing with a personal name in the singular, e.g. þeir Flosi, þeir Kjartan, etc., has the meaning 'Flosi and his men', 'Kjartan and his group', etc., and the pronouns function as personal pronouns, the same forms function as a determiner or demonstrative when they modify a noun or noun-phrase in the plural: þeir forunautar 'they, the travelling companions, those companions', þeir fleiri bræðr 'they, the other brothers, those other brothers'.

(3) hin (hin-) 'the other, that other' is declined for the most part like the definite article inn (in-), while the neuter N/A sg form is hitt. Thus we have the following nominative forms:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Sg	hin	hin	hitt
Pl	hinir	hinar	hin

See Lesson IX, 1B for the rest of the paradigm.

(B) Interrogative Pronouns

(1) Corresponding to the English 'who' Old Icelandic uses the pronouns hverr (masculine), hver (feminine) to refer to animate beings. The underlying stem is (hverj-), which has the same forms as the indefinite pronoun (hverj-) 'each' (see Lesson XXIV), except that the masculine has several irregular variant forms that occur especially in archaic or poetic texts. Thus the masculine sg interrogative 'who' has the forms:

N	hverr
A	hverjan, hvern
G	hvers, hves(s)
D	hverjum, hveim

Corresponding to English 'what' Old Icelandic uses the irregular singular forms:

N/A	hvat
G	hvers, hves(s)
D	hví

In the plural the stem (hverj-) is regularly declined like the indefinite pronoun, but the D pl form is sometimes contracted to hveim.

(2) For English 'which' Old Icelandic has two regularly formed pronouns: (hvár-) 'which of two' and (hverj-) 'which of many'. (hvár-) is declined like a regular strong adjective with, for example, the nominative forms:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Sg	hvárr	hvár	hvárt
Pl	hvárir	hvárar	hvár

(hverj-) has the same forms as the indefinite pronoun 'each' (see Lesson XXIV). The locution (hvár-) tveggja, as in hvárr tveggja, hvár tveggja, hvárt tveggja, etc. has the meaning 'each of the two, both'.

(C) Interrogative Adverbs

Old Icelandic has various interrogative adverbs which derive from certain case forms of the interrogative pronouns or which are otherwise related to them. The following are the most common interrogative adverbs:

hvaðan	'whence'
hvar	'where'
hvert	'whither'
hvárt	'whether (or not)'
hvé	'how'
hvenær	'when'
hví	'why'
hversu	'how'
hvernig	'how, by what means'

Finally, the conjunction hvárki ... né 'neither ... nor' can be mentioned here.

(D) The Imperative

A command or wish directly addressed to another person can be expressed with the singular imperative form. This form corresponds to the present stem of the verb including the thematic of weak verbs, but with no person/number suffix: (kall-a-) has the imperative kalla, etc. Thus we have such imperative forms as tel corresponding to telja [(tal-i/j-) → (talj) → (telj) → tel by the ordered rules of the phonology of weak verbs], kjós corresponding to kjósa 'choose', far corresponding to fara 'go', tak corresponding to taka 'take', etc. Note that the verb gjalda (Lesson XVII) 'pay' has the irregular imperative form gjalt, while the irregular verb sjá (= sé-a) 'to see' has the imperative form sé. As a sentence containing the singular imperative form has no regular subject noun or noun-phrase other than that included in the meaning of the verb itself, the imperative form occupies the first position in the word order of the sentence, whether or not a supplementary þú is included in the sentence: 'Far þú hingat til mín' (Lesson XXII), 'Kjós nú einhverja . . .' (Lesson XXV).

A direct command in addressing someone in the plural or dual is usually expressed in the indicative, a less direct command or wish in the subjunctive (see Lesson XXX).

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Gilli (Gilli-)	personal name (Irish, 'servant')
guðvefr (vefj-i-)	costly fabric
hatt (hatt-a-)	hat
hlutr (hlut-i-)	thing
ljóðr (ljóð-a-)	defect
sjóðr (sjóð-a-)	money bag, purse
vegr (veg-a-)	way
marga vega	in many ways

Feminine:

hönd (hand-)	hand
minni hendi	on my part
mörk (mark-) [pl merkr , Lesson XXVII]	mark, eight ounces
reizla (reizla-)	scales
skor (skar-a-)	edge, rim
vág (vág-i-)	scale, balance
ætlan (ætlan-i-)	estimate

Neuter:

fortjald (tjald-)	curtain
kaup (kaup-)	purchase, bargain
slá [Lesson XX] kaupi	strike a bargain
kaupmannalög [pl]	league of merchants
kenningarnafn (nafn-)	surname, nickname
mál (mál-)	matter, transaction

meifang (fang-)	trouble
leita (leit-i/j-) [+D] meifanga	embarrass (someone)
nafn (nafn-)	name
ráð (ráð-)	condition
tjald (tjald-)	tent; curtain, hanging
verð (verð-)	worth, price
Adjectives
auðgastr (auðgast-) [superlative of auðigr (auðig-)]	richest, wealthiest
dýrlagðr (lagð-)	dearly priced
gerzkr (gerzk-)	from Garðaríki , Russian klæddr (klædd-) [participle of klæða (klæð-i/j-)]	clad ráðinn (ráðin-) [participle of ráða (ráð-)]	determined, certain skrautligr (skrautlig-)	magnificent, fancy
úmáli [weak]	speechless, mute
þverr (þver-)	across, crosswise
Numerals
ellifu	eleven
þriggja [G of þrír , þrjár , þrjú ]	three, of three þrjár [fem N/A corresponding to þrír ]	three
Verbs
bera (ber-) t!	happen, be the case
fala (fal-a)	request for purchase
falsa (fals-a-)	defraud
geta (get-) [+G]	mention (something)
gjalt [sg imperative of gjalda , Lesson XVII]	pay
hafa (Lesson XIV) af máli	behave in a matter
hafa (Lesson XIV) til	have available
heyra (heyr-i/j-)	hear
hyggja (hug(g)-i/j-) at [+D]	attend to (something)
kalla (kall-a-)	say
kannask (kann-a-) við [+A]	recognize (someone)
kjós [sg imperative of kjósa (kjús-)]	choose
kunna (pret-pres) at [+inf]	know how to [+inf]
kunni [3rd sg subj I of kunna (pret-pres)]	will be able to, may be able to

lát [sg imperative of láta (lát-)]	bring forth
fram
leita (leit-a-) at [+D]	look for (something)
leizk [3rd sg past ind of litask (lít-)] [+D]	appeared (to someone)
lypta (lypt-i/j-) [+D]	lift (something)
meta (met-)	estimate, value
munir [2nd sg subj I of munu (pret-pres)]	will nefnask (nafn-i/j-)	name oneself, be named
reiða (reið-i/j-)	pay; weigh on a scale
rekkja (rekk-i/j-)	go to bed
sé [3rd sg subj I of vera , Lesson XXX] eptir	shall remain (behind)
sitja (sitj-) fyrir	be present
sjá [Lesson XXIII] á [impersonal]	be seen
ef nokkut mátti á sjá	if anything could be seen
sláim [1st pl subj I of slá , Lesson XX]	strike
spyrja (spur-i/j-) at [+D]	ask about (something)
tak [imperative of taka ]	take taka (tak-) við [+D]	receive, accept (something) takask (tak-) til	happen, come about vega (veg-)	weigh
vera á [+D]	be present in (something)
virða (virð-i/j-)	estimate
vitir [2nd sg subj I of vita (pret-pres)]	know, may know
Adverbs
drengiliga	honourably, generously
dýrra	more expensively
heldr	rather
opt	often
úvélt	without guile
vandliga	carefully
Adverbial Phrases
at visu	indeed; certainly
marga vega	in many ways
þar fyrir	for that

Prepositions

af [+D]	concerning
af máli þessu	concerning this matter
fjarri [+D]	far from hjá [+D]	with, by

Prepositional Phrase

fyrir innan	inside (of)
-------------	-------------

Conjunction

hvárt	whether
-------	---------

3. Text

This passage from Laxdæla Saga tells of the first encounter of Hoskuld Dala-Kollsson and the Irish bondwoman Melkorka, who became the mother of his son Olaf (see Lesson XI). Hoskuld is visiting a trading centre in Brenneyjar (islands off the south-western coast of Sweden). The cosmopolitan flavour of such trading posts in Viking times is reflected in the fact that the merchant has an Irish name despite his nickname 'the Russian'.

Laxdæla saga (Chapter 12): Hoskuldr ok ambáttin

Ok einn dag, er Hoskuldr gekk at skemmta sér með nokkura menn, sá hann tjald eitt skrautligt fjarri öðrum búðum. Hoskuldr gekk þangat ok í tjaldit, ok sat þar maðr fyrir í guðvefjarklæðum ok hafði gerzkan hatt á hofði. Hoskuldr spurði þann mann at nafni. Hann nefndisk Gilli,—‘en þá kannask margir við, ef heyra kenningarnafn mitt. Ek em kallaðr Gilli inn gerzki.’ Hoskuldr kvazk opt hafa heyrt hans getit. Kallaði hann þeira manna auðgastan, sem verit hofðu í kaupmannalögum. Þá mælti Hoskuldr: ‘Þú munt hafa þá hluti at selja oss, er vér viljum kaupa.’ Gilli spyrr, hvat þeir vilja kaupa forunautar. Hoskuldr segir, at hann vill kaupa ambátt nokkura,—‘ef þú hefir at selja’. Gilli svarar: ‘Þar þykkisk þér leita mér meinfanga um þetta, er þér falið þá hluti, er þér ætlið mik eigi til hafa, en þat er þó eigi ráðit, hvárt svá berr til.’ Hoskuldr sá at um þvera búðina var fortjald. Þá lypti Gilli tjaldinu, ok sá Hoskuldr at tólf konur sátu fyrir innan tjaldit. Þá mælti Gilli, at Hoskuldr skyldi þangat ganga ok líta á, ef hann vildi nokkura kaupa af þessum konum. Hoskuldr gerir svá. Þær sátu allar saman um þvera búðina. Hoskuldr hyggr vandliga at konum þessum. Hann sá, at kona sat út við tjaldskorina. Sú var illa klædd. Hoskuldi leizk konan fríð sýnum ef nokkut mátti á sjá. Þá mælti Hoskuldr: ‘Hversu dýr skal sjá kona, er ek vil kaupa?’ Gilli svarar: ‘Þú skalt reiða fyrir hana þrjár merkr silfrs.’ ‘Svá virði ek’, segir Hoskuldr, ‘sem þú munir þessa ambátt gera heldr dýrlagða, því at þetta er þriggja verð.’ Þá svarar Gilli: ‘Rétt segir þú þat, at ek met hana dýrra en aðrar. Kjós nú einhverja af þessum ellifu ok gjalt þar fyrir mörk silfrs, en þessi sé eptir í minni eigu.’ Hoskuldr segir: ‘Vita mun ek fyrst, hversu mikit silfr er í sjóði þeim, er ek hefi í balti mér’,—biðr Gilla taka vágina, en hann leitar at sjóðnum. Þá mælti Gilli: ‘Þetta mál skal fara úvélt minni hendi, því at á er ljóðr mikill um ráð konunnar. Vil ek, at þú vitir þat, Hoskuldr, áðr vit sláim kaup þessu.’ Hoskuldr spyrr, hvat þat væri. Gilli svarar: ‘Kona þessi er úmála. Hefi ek marga vega leitat máls við hana, ok hefi ek aldri fengit orð af henni. Er þat at visu mín ætlan, at þessi kona kunni eigi at mæla.’ Þá segir Hoskuldr: ‘Lát fram reizluna ok sjám, hvat vegr sjóðr sá, er ek hefi hér.’ Gilli gerir svá, reiða nú silfrit ok vátu þat þrjár merkr vegnar. Þá mælti Hoskuldr: ‘Svá hefir nú til tekizk, at þetta mun verða kaup okkart. Tak þú fê þetta til þin, en ek mun taka við konu þessi. Kalla ek, at þú hefir drengiliga af máli þessu haft, því at visu vildir þú mik eigi falsa í þessu.’ Síðan gekk Hoskuldr heim til búðar sinnar. Þat sama kveld rekkði Hoskuldr hjá henni.

4. Drills

(A) Convert the following pronominal and nominal stems into both D and G sg:

- (1) (þessi-) (hatt-a-)
- (2) (sá-) (kona-)
- (3) (hverj-) (reizla-)
- (4) (sá-) (tjald-)
- (5) (hverj-) (kaup)
- (6) (hvár-) (sjóð-a-)

(B) Convert the following stems into both the N and A pl:

- (1) (þessi-) (tjald-)
- (2) (hvár-) (reizla-)
- (3) (sá-) (kaup-)
- (4) (hverj-) (sjóð-a-)
- (5) (sá-) (hlut-i-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Hoskuld went one day to amuse himself with some men, and he came to a magnificent tent far from other housing.

(B) In the tent there was present a man clad in costly fabric, and he had a Russian hat on his head.

(C) He was called Gilli the Russian and was the wealthiest of those who had been in the league of merchants.

(D) Gilli asked what they, the companions, wanted to buy, and Hoskuld answered that he wanted to buy a bondwoman.

(E) The bondwomen sat together inside the tent, and Hoskuld wanted to buy an ill-clad one who seemed beautiful to him.

(F) Hoskuld should pay for her three marks of silver, because Gilli valued her more dearly than others, whom (er, sem) one (maðr) pays one mark of silver for.

(G) Hoskuld looked for the purse which he had in his belt, but Gilli said that a great defect was in the condition of the bondwoman.

(H) That defect was that this woman was mute.

(I) Gilli wants Hoskuld to know (at Hoskuldr viti) this before they strike (slái) this bargain.

(J) Hoskuld thanked Gilli for that and said that Gilli had (hefði) behaved honourably in this transaction.

(K) Hoskuld took the bondwoman to his temporary housing, and that same evening he went to bed with her.

LESSON XXVI

1. Grammar

Irregular Nouns

In Lessons I–VIII we surveyed the declension of the strong nouns, which all share the same case-endings. In Lessons IX and X we treated the weak nouns, which are distinctively defined by the vowel case-endings of the singular. Apart from these two groups of ‘regular’ nouns, a number of nouns exist that can best be labelled ‘irregular’. For historical reasons they fall into three small sub-groups that are named ‘r-stems’, ‘nd-stems’, and ‘consonant-stems’, respectively. In this lesson we will consider the first two of these three groups.

(A) The r-stem Nouns

This group contains most of the terms for kinship relations in Old Icelandic, namely faðir ‘father’, móðir ‘mother’, bróðir ‘brother’, systir ‘sister’, and dóttir ‘daughter’. Although faðir and bróðir are masculine, while the others are feminine, this gender distinction is semantic rather than grammatical, as the r-stem nouns are all declined in the same manner and all show fronting (i-umlaut) of the stem vowel in the plural forms. These are the full paradigms:

Sg N	faðir	bróðir	móðir	systir	dóttir
A/G/D	fǫður	bróður	móður	systur	dóttur
Pl N/A	feðr	bræðr	mæðr	systr	ðætr
G	feðra	bræðra	mæðra	systra	ðætra
D	feðrum	bræðrum	mæðrum	systrum	ðætrum.

Note that the remaining kinship term, sonr ‘son’, is not an r-stem but a u-stem noun (see Lesson VI, 1A1).

(B) The nd-stem Nouns

The nd-stem nouns are masculine nouns formed from the present participle of the verb and are declined like weak masculine nouns in the singular forms, i.e. ending in N -i, A/G/D -a. In the plural the nd-stem nouns are, however, declined in a manner parallel to that of the r-stem nouns. A number of very common nouns in Old Icelandic belong to the group. Although derived from the present participle, e.g. búandi 'farmer', eigandi 'owner' (see Lesson XXIII, 1D), some of them have undergone considerable phonological modification, which sometimes obscures their relationship to the verb from which they were originally derived. Some examples are bóndi (= búandi) 'farmer; husband', frændi 'kinsman', which derives from the obsolete verb frjá (fria) 'love' (compare English 'friend'), and fjándi (fjandi) 'fiend, foe' from the obsolete verb fjá (fia) 'hate'. These are the full paradigms of some nd-stem nouns:

Sg N	eigandi	bóndi	frændi	fjandi
A/G/D	eiganda	bónða	frænða	fjanda
Pl N/A	eigendr	bœndr	frændr	fjendr
G	eigenda	bœnda	frænða	fjenda
D	eigendum	bœndum	frændum	fjendum

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

aukvisi (aukvisi-)	degenerate person, weakling
bóndi [Lesson XXVI]	farmer
bróðurbani (bani-)	brother's slayer
fótr (fót-) [Lesson XXVII]	foot
Halldórr (-dór-a-)	personal name
móðurfaðir [Lesson XXVI]	mother's father, maternal grandfather
Óspakr (Óspak-a-)	personal name
verknaðr (verknað-i-)	work, deed

Feminine:

sonæign (eign-i-)	begetting of sons
svívirðing (virðing-a-)	dishonour, insult
systir [Lesson XXVI]	sister
Sælingsdalstunga (tunga-)	place-name, 'Tongue' in Sælingsdalr
úgipta (gipta-)	ill luck
ván (ván-i-)	hope, expectation
rekin ván	past hope

Neuter:

mein (mein-)	harm
láta hvárki at sér verða gagn né mein	do neither anything gainful nor harmful
mótmæli (mælj-)	contradiction, protest
skaplyndi (lyndj-)	disposition, temper
svínsminni (minnj-)	the memory of swine, short memory
tíðindi [pl]	tidings, events
þat var tíðinda	it happened

Adjectives

auðsæstr (sæst-) [superlative of auðsær (sæj-)]	most obvious
dáðlauss (laus-)	spiritless, craven
fátt [neut N/A sg of fár (fá-)]	few things
felldr (felld-) [participle of fella (fall-i/j-)] til [+G]	suited, fitted for (something)
gipt (gipt-)	married (of a woman)
kyrr (kyrr-)	calm, quiet
halda [Lesson XXI] kyrru fyrir	take it easy
úlíkr (lík-) [+D]	unlike (someone, something)
þvílíkr (lík-)	such

Numeral

fimm	five
------	------

Verbs

blása (blás-) við	sigh, heave a sigh
glepjask (glap-i/j-)	be deceived, mistaken
[+D] glepsk [+N]	(someone) blunders in (something) hafask [Lesson XIV] at	do, be at hefðið [2nd pl subj II of hafa , Lesson XIV]	had, would have
gott skaplyndi hefðið þér fengit	you would have had a good disposition
klæðask (klæð-i/j-)	dress oneself
koma (kom-) at því [impersonal]	come to that; the point is borne out
kveða (kveð-) [+A] [+infinitive]	say (that someone) (does something)
láta (lát-) [+adverb]	behave [+adverb]

ofra (ofr-a-) [+D]	raise (something)
þegar er sólu var ofrat	as soon as the sun had risen
riði [3rd sg subj I of riða (rið-)]	ride, may ride
at hann riði	although he rides
spyrja (spur-i/j-) [+G]	ask (about something)
sækja [Lesson XIV] [+A] heim	attack (someone) at his home
taka (tak-) á [+D]	touch, grasp (someone)
taka (tak-) mikit af	make much of vakna (vakn-a-) við [+A]	awake at (something)
vildu [past infinitive of vilja (pret-pres)]	to want to [+inf]
værið [2nd pl subj II of vera , Lesson XXXI]	were, would be

Adverbs

betr	better
furðu	wondrously, amazingly
heima	at home
hölzti	far too
snemma	early
víst	certainly
vænliga	handsomely, promisingly
æ	ever, always

Adverbial Phrases

af því	because of that
hverr at qðrum	each after the other
eigi at minna	none the less

Conjunction

þegar er	as soon as
----------	------------

3. Texts

These two selections from Laxdæla Saga contain the stock episode of women egging reluctant men on to revenge and battle. Guðrún Ósvífrsdóttir is eager to avenge the insults Kjartan Olafsson had inflicted upon her and members of her family (see Lesson XIV), and the first episode takes place just after she has had news from Þórhalla málga of Kjartan's travels (see Lesson XV). The second episode takes place after Kjartan has been slain by Guðrún's brothers and her husband Bolli.

(A) Laxdæla saga (Chapter 48): Guðrún Ósvífrsdóttir ok bræðr hennar

Þat var tíðinda at Laugum í Sælingsdal, at Guðrún var snemma á fótum, þegar er sólu var ofrat. Hon gekk þangat til, er bræðr hennar sváfu. Hon tók á Óspaki. Hann vaknaði skjótt við ok svá þeir fleiri bræðr. Ok er Óspakr kenndi þar systur sína, þá spurði hann, hvat hon vildi, er hon var svá snemma á fótum. Guðrún kvazk vildu vita, hvat þeir vildu at hafask um daginn. Óspakr kvazk mundu kyrru fyrir halda,—‘ok er nú fátt til verknaðar.’ Guðrún mælti: ‘Gott skaplyndi hefðið þér fengit, ef þér værið dætr einshvers bónda ok láta hvárki at yðr verða gagn né mein. En slíka svívirðing ok skömm, sem Kjartan hefir yðr gert, þá sofið þér eigi at minna, at hann riði hér hjá garði við annan mann, ok hafa slíkir menn mikit svínsminni. Þykkir mér ok rekin ván, at þér þorið Kjartan heim at sækja, ef þér þorið eigi at finna hann nú, er hann ferr við annan mann eða þriðja, en þér sitið heima ok látið vænliga ok eruð æ hólzti margir.’ Óspakr kvað hana mikit af taka, en vera illt til mótmæla, ok spratt hann upp þegar ok klæddisk ok hverr þeira bræðra at qðrum.

(B) Laxdæla saga (Chapter 53): Þorgerðr Egilsdóttir ok synir hennar

Þau váru fimm saman. Halldórr fylgði móður sinni. Fara nú, til þess er þau koma fyrir bæinn í Sælingsdalstungu. Þá sneri Þorgerðr hestinum upp at bænum ok spurði: ‘Hvat heitir bæer sjá?’ Halldórr svarar: ‘Þess spyrr þú eigi af því, móðir, at eigi vitir þú áðr. Sjá bæer heitir í Tungu.’ ‘Hverr býr hér?’ segir hon. Hann svarar: ‘Veiztu þat, móðir.’ Þá segir Þorgerðr ok blés við: ‘Veit ek at vísu’, segir hon, ‘at hér býr Bolli bróðurþani yðvarr, ok furðu úlíkir urðuð þér yðrum frændum gofgum, er þér vilið eigi hefna þvilíks bróður, sem Kjartan var, ok eigi myndi svá gera Egill, móðurfaðir yðvarr, ok er illt at eiga dáðlausa sonu. Ok víst ætla ek yðr til þess betr fellda, at þér værið dætr fqður yðvars ok værið giptar. Kemr hér at því, Halldórr, sem mælt er, at einn er aukvisi ættar hvernna, ok sú er mér auðsæst úgipta Óláfs, at honum glapðisk svá mjök sonaeignin.’

4. Drills

(A) Convert the following pronominal and nominal stems into the A sg:

- (1) (annar-) (faðir-)
- (2) (nøkkur-) (bóndi-)
- (3) (sá-) (móðir-)
- (4) (sjá-) (frændi-)
- (5) (hverj-) (dóttir-)
- (6) (ein-) (systir-)

(B) Convert the following stems into the G pl:

- (1) (annar-) (móðir-)
- (2) (nøkkur-) (systir-)
- (3) (nein-) (bróðir-)
- (4) (sá-) (bóndi-)
- (5) (engi-) (dóttir-)
- (6) (sjá-) (faðir-)
- (7) (hverj-) (systir-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Gudrun was on her feet early and went (there) where her brothers slept, and she touched Ospak, who awakened quickly.

(B) Gudrun said she wanted to know what they, the brothers, wanted to do during the day, and Ospak answered that they would (myndi) take it easy, because now there was (væri) little work.

(C) Then Gudrun became angry and said that such men had (hefði) the memory of swine and would sleep (svæfi) even if (eigi at minna, at) Kjartan himself, who had done them such dishonour and shame, rode (riði) there by the yard.

(D) Ospak said that she made much of it, but he and they, the brothers, jumped up at once and got dressed.

(E) Halldor and his brother followed their mother, Thorgerd Egil's daughter, to Bolli's farm.

(F) Thorgerd sighed and said that they were (kvað þá vera) unlike their noble kinsmen, if they didn't want to avenge Kjartan, their brother.

(G) Thorgerd supposed that it would be (væri) better if they were (væri) their father's daughters and were (væri) married.

(H) She said that her sons were (kvað sonu sína vera) craven, and she told Halldor that it was (væri) the ill luck of Olaf that he blundered so much in the begetting of sons.

LESSON XXVII

1. Grammar

(A) Consonant-Stem Nouns

The final group of nouns is that comprising the 'consonant-stems', or 'athematic nouns', so called because there is no thematic vowel intervening between the basic stem and the case endings, which are parallel to those of other strong declension nouns. Consonant-stem nouns are either masculine or feminine in gender.

(1) Masculine: some of the most common nouns in Old Icelandic belong to this group: maðr (mann-) 'man', fótr (fót-) 'foot', vetr (vetr-) 'winter', and fingr (fingr-) 'finger', among others. The nominative and accusative plural forms are subject to fronting (i-umlaut) of the stem-vowel, as is the dative singular of fótr. The genitive singular ending is either -s or -ar. Thus we have the following paradigms:

Sg N	maðr	fótr	fingr	vetr
A	mann	fót	fingr	vetr
G	manns	fótar	fingrs	vetrar
D	manni	fœti	fintri	vetri
Pl N	menn	fœtr	fingr	vetr
A	menn	fœtr	fingr	vetr
G	manna	fóta	fingra	vetra
D	mönnum	fótum	fingrum	vetrum

The masculine mánaðr, mánuðr (mánað-, mánuð-) 'month' is a consonant-stem noun belonging to this group. It takes the G sg ending -ar, but can also occur as an i-stem form.

(2) Feminine: this group also contains some very common nouns. The genitive singular ending is either -r with fronting (i-umlaut) of the stem-vowel, or -ar. The nominative and accusative plural forms have fronting of the stem vowel. These are the full paradigms of the two types (defined in terms of the G sg):

(hand-) 'hand', G sg -ar      (mark-) 'field', G sg -r

Sg N	hönd	mörk
A	hönd(u)	mörk(u)
G	handar	merkr
D	hönd(u), hendi (irr)	mörk(u)
Pl N/A	hendr	merkr
G	handa	marka
D	höndum	mörkum

As in the case of strong feminine nouns (a-stems and i-stems), the u-ending of the A/D sg is mostly found in polysyllabic nouns, e.g. Danmörku 'Denmark', and in archaic or poetic usage.

Some of the most frequently used nouns of the hönd-type are, e.g. strönd 'coast, strand', tönn 'tooth', rönd 'edge', stong 'pole', bók 'book', brók 'breeches', rót 'root', tá 'toe', and kló 'claw'. The stems ending in s and n assimilate the N/A pl -r ending, and so we have, e.g. gás 'goose', gæss 'geese'; lús 'louse', lýss 'lice'; mús 'mouse', mýss 'mice'; brún 'brow', brýnn 'brows', etc.

To the mörk-type belong, e.g. nótt 'night', vik 'bay', sæng 'bed', and mjólk 'milk', among others.

(3) A third type of feminine athematic noun is just like the mörk-type but with fronting of a stem vowel and -r in the N sg form. This group contains only three nouns: kýr (kú-) 'cow', ær (á-) 'ewe', and sýr (sú-) 'sow'; the full paradigms are:

Sg N	kýr	ær	sýr
A	kú	á	sú
G	kýr	ær	sýr
D	kú	á	sú
Pl N/A	kýr	ær	sýr
G	kúa	áa	súa
D	kúm	ám	súm

Note that sýr is not declined when it is a man's nickname.

(B) Regular Comparison of Adjectives

There are two sets of comparative and superlative suffixes:

(1) The great majority of adjectives form the comparative by adding -ar- + case ending to the stem, and the superlative by adding -ast- + case ending.

(a) The case endings of the comparative are as follows:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Sg N	-i	-i	-a
A/G/D	-a
Pl N/A/G		-i
D		-um

Thus we have, for example, ljótari maðr N sg 'an uglier man', ljótara mann A sg, ljótari menn N/A pl, ljóturum monnum D pl; ljótari hönd N/A sg 'an uglier hand', ljótari hendr N/A pl; ljótara andlit N/A sg 'an uglier face', ljótari andlit N/A pl, ljóturum andlitum D pl, etc.

(b) The case endings of the superlative are those of regular adjectives, both definite and indefinite (strong and weak declension). Thus we have, for example, indefinite: masc N sg ljótastr 'ugliest' N pl ljótastir; feminine N sg ljótust, N pl ljótastar; neut N sg ljótast, N pl ljótust, etc., all declined in a manner parallel with the declension of such a stem as e.g. (gamal-) 'old'. The definite superlative forms, which modify definite nouns, are formed like weak adjectives: masculine N sg inn ljótasti 'the ugliest', N pl inir ljótustu; feminine N sg in ljótasta, N pl inær ljótustu; neut N sg it ljótasta, N pl in ljótustu, etc. (see Lessons IX and X for the declension of weak adjectives). For a discussion of the use of the two forms of superlatives see Lesson X, 1B3.

(c) Note that those adjectives which are formed with the derivational component -lig- drop the a of the comparative and superlative suffixes when it occurs in the position where syncope applies, i.e. when it occurs in an unstressed syllable and is followed by a single consonant and another vowel. Under these conditions the a of the comparative and superlative is always lost when followed by a case ending that contains a vowel. Thus we have, for example, from gørviligr 'accomplished' and líkligr 'likely', the forms líkligr 'more likely' and gørviligr 'more accomplished', but masc N sg líkligast 'most likely', fem N sg gørviligust 'most accomplished', etc.

(2) A number of adjectives form the comparative and superlative by a different process, adding -r- + case ending to the stem to form the comparative, -st- + case ending for the superlative, while in both cases the stem vowel is subject to fronting (i-umlaut). The case endings are the same as for adjectives with -ar- and -ast-. Thus the stem (lang-) 'long' has the masculine N sg forms lengri and lengsti, lengstr in the comparative and superlative, respectively; the stem (ung-) 'young' has the masc N sg forms yngr and yngsti, yngrstr, etc. Apart from (lang-) and (ung-) the following are the most common of the adjectives belonging to this group:

Stem	Masc N sg	Comparative	Superlatives
(fá-) 'few'	fár	færi	fæsti, fæstr
(fagr-) 'fair'	fagr	fegri	fegrsti, fegrstr
(há-) 'high'	hár	hæri	hæsti, hæstr
(lág-) 'low'	lágr	lægri	lægsti, lægrstr
(sein-) 'late'	seinn	seinni	seinsti, seinstr
(skamm-) 'short'	skammr	skemmri	skemmsti, skemmstr
(smá-) 'small'	smár	smæri	smæsti, smæstr
(stór-) 'big'	stór	stœri	stœrsti, stœrstr

A small number of adjectives can form the comparative and superlative by adding -ar-, -ast-, or by adding -r-, -st- with fronting of the stem-vowel. Thus, for example, from djúpr 'deep' we can derive either djúpari, djúpasti, djúpastr, or dýpri, dýpsti, dýpstr; from frægr 'famous' we can form either frægjari, frægjasti, frægjastr, or frægri, frægsti, frægstr.

(3) Old Icelandic can form a comparison with the marker en 'than', or by using the dative case in conjunction with the comparative form: hverjum manni betri 'better than each (every) man'.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

búsýslumaðr (mann-)	farmer
farmaðr (mann-)	seafaring man
Hrani (Hrani-)	personal name
kaupstaðr (stað-i-)	market town
meðalmaðr (mann-)	average man
munr (mun-i-)	difference
engum mun	by no difference, in no measure
Nefjólfr (-ólf-a-)	personal name
Sigurðr (Sigurð-u-)	personal name
stjúpfaðir [Lesson XXVI]	step-father
vøxtr (vaxt-u-)	stature; growth

Feminine:

Ásta (Ásta-)	personal name
bœn (bœn-i-)	favour
kjósa bœn	ask (choose) a favour
hrið (hrið-i-)	while
um hrið	for a while
smíð (smíð-i-)	craft, work of skill
sýr (sú-)	sow (also nickname, see 1A3)
tá (tá-)	toe

Neuter:

boð (boð-)	invitation
hafa [+A] í boði sínu	entertain (someone)
eng (eng-)	field
fóstr (fóstr-)	fostering
veita fóstr [+D]	bring (someone) up
herbergi (bergj-)	lodgings
starf (starf-)	work
veðfé (fê-)	proceeds from a wager

Adjectives

djarfmæltr (mælt-)	bold of speech
ferligr (ferlig-)	hideous
grenskr (grensk-)	from Grenland , a district in Norway
gørviligr (gørvilig-)	accomplished
helgr (helg-)	holy
íslenzkr (lenzk-)	Icelandic
jafnljótr (ljót-)	equally ugly
kynjaðr (kynjað-)	descended, from a family
líkligr (líklig-)	likely
limaðr (limað-)	limbed
ljóss (ljós-)	light
ljótr (ljót-)	ugly
orðsnjallr (snjall-)	eloquent
orðspakr (spak-)	wise-spoken
sannr (sann-)	true
hafa sannara	be in the right
tiginn (tigin-)	high-born, noble
úfagr (fagr-)	ugly
verðr (verð-) [+G]	worth (something)
þykkja mikils vert um [+A]	consider (something) remarkable
viðföruull (föruul-)	widely-travelled

ættstórr (stór-)	high-born, of noble kin
örvænn (væn-)	beyond expectation

Pronouns

annarr (annar-)	one (of the two)
eitthvat [neut N/A sg]	something

Numerals

einna [G pl of einn (ein-)]	single, one
fátt er svá einna hluta	few things are so singular
fjórar [fem N/A corresp to fjórir ]	four

Verbs

bera (ber-) frá	stand out
eiga (pret-pres) at [+inf]	be supposed, obliged to [+inf]
fásk [Lesson XXI]	be found, be available
fulltingja (fullting-i/j-) [+D] at	maintain (something)
fœðask (fœð-i/j-) upp	be brought up
hitta (hitt-i/j-)	hit upon, find hyggja (hug(g)-i/j-)	think, believe myni [3rd sg subj I of munu (pret-pres)]	will
rétta (rétt-i/j-)	stretch out
sanna (sann-a-)	affirm
sé [sg imperative of sjá , Lesson XXIII]	see, look
sjá [Lesson XXIII] á [+A]	look at (something)
sjá [Lesson XXIII] um [+A]	look after (something)
starfa (starf-a-)	work at sýnask (sýn-i/j-) [+D]	seem (to someone)
vaka (vak-i-)	be awake
veðja (veðj-a-) um [+A]	lay a wager on (something)
vekja (vak-i/j-)	awaken [transitive]

Adverbs

lönqum	for long periods
miklu	by far
optliga	often, frequently
snimma (=snemma)	early
útanlendis	abroad

Adverbial Phrase

lítt þat	a small amount
sól var farin lítt þat	the sun had risen only a bit

Preposition

undan [+D] from under, from beneath

Prepositional Phrase

norðan um [+A] from somewhere in the north of

3. Texts

These passages are from Óláfs Saga helga, one of the lives of Norwegian kings comprising Heimskringla, the masterpiece of Snorri Sturluson (d. 1241). King Olaf was a great fighter and warrior who was originally nicknamed digri 'the stout'. After his death in the battle of Stiklastaðir (1030) miraculous events were associated with his remains; he then became known as Óláfr helgi 'the holy' and soon became the patron saint of Norway.

Old Icelandic literature is replete with short episodes or stories such as the second selection, describing an encounter between a Norwegian king and a resourceful and independent-minded Iclander.

(A) Óláfs saga helga (Chapter 1): Frá Óláfi Haraldssyni

Óláfr, sonr Haralds ins grenska, fœddisk upp með Sigurði sýr, stjúpfaður sínum, ok Ástu, móður sinni. Hrani inn víðfœrli var með Ástu. Hann veitti fœstr Óláfi Haraldssyni. Óláfr var snimma gœrviligr maðr, friðr sýnum, meðalmaðr á vœxt. Vittr var hann ok snimma orðsnjallr. Sigurðr sýr var bússýslumaðr mikill ok hafði menn sína mjök í starfi, ok hann sjálftr fór optliga at sjá um akra ok eng eða fœnað ok enn til smíða eða þar, er menn stœrfuðu eitthvat.

(B) Óláfs saga helga (Chapter 85): Konungr ok Þórarinn Neffjölfsson

Maðr er nefndr Þórarinn Neffjölfsson. Hann var islenzkr maðr. Hann var kynjaðr norðan um land. Ekki var hann ættstórr ok allra manna vitrastr ok orðspakastr. Hann var djarfmæltr við tigna menn. Hann var farmaðr mikill ok var lœngum útanlendis. Þórarinn var manna ljótastr, ok bar þat mest frá, hversu illa hann var limaðr. Hann hafði hendr miklar ok ljótar, en fœtrnir vœru þó miklu ljótari. . . . Óláfr konungr hafði Þórarinn í boði sínu nœkkura daga ok talaði við hann. Svaf Þórarinn í konungsherbergi. Þat var einn morgin snimma, at konungrinn vakði, en aðrir menn sváfu í herberginu. Þá var sól farin lítt þat, ok var ljóst mjök inni. Konungr sá, at Þórarinn hafði rétt fœt annan undan klæðum. Hann sá á fœtinn um hríð. Þá vœknuðu menn í herberginu. Konungr mælti til Þórarins: 'Vakat hefi ek um hríð, ok hefi ek sét þá sýn, er mér þykkir mikils um vert, en þat er mannsfœtr sá, er ek hygg, at engi skal hér í kaupstaðinum ljótari vera'—ok bað aðra menn hyggja at, hvært svá syndisk. En allir, er sáu þá, sœnnuðu, at svá væri. Þórarinn fann, hvar til mælt var, ok svarar: 'Fátt er svá einna hluta, at œrvænt sé, at hitta annan slíkan, ok er þat líkligast, at hér sé enn svá.' Konungr mælti: 'Heldr vil ek því at fulltingja, at eigi myni fásk jafnljóttr fœtr, ok svá þótt ek skylda veðja um.' Þá mælti Þórarinn: 'Búinn em ek at veðja um þat við yðr, at ek mun finna í kaupstaðinum ljótara fœt.' Konungr segir: 'Þá skal sá okkar kjósa bœn af œðrum, er sannara heftr.' Svá skal vera', segir Þórarinn. Han brá þá undan klæðunum œðrum fœtinum ok var sá engum mun fœgri, ok þar var af in mesta táin. Þá mælti Þórarinn: 'Sé hér nú, konungr, annan fœt, ok er sjá því ljótari, at hér er af ein táin ok á ek veðfœit'. Konungr segir: 'Er hinn fœtrinn því úfœgri, at þar eru fimm tær ferligar á þeim, en hér eru fjórar, ok á ek at kjósa bœn af þér.'

4. Drills

(A) Convert the following adjective and noun stems into the comparative and G sg indefinite:

Example:

(ljót-) (sú-) = ljótari sýr.

- (1) (lang-) (fœt-)
- (2) (fagr-) (hand-)
- (3) (ferlig-) (tá-)
- (4) (stór-) (vik-)
- (5) (lang-) (nótt-)
- (6) (við-) (mark-)
- (7) (vittr-) (mann-)

(B) Convert the following stems into the superlative and A pl definite:

Example:

(snjall-) (mann-) = snjöllustu mennina

- (1) (fagr-) (mark-)
- (2) (ljót-) (tá-)
- (3) (ferlig-) (hand-)
- (4) (stór-) (fót-)
- (5) (lang-) (nótt-)
- (6) (við-) (vík-)
- (7) (stór-) (sú-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic.

(A) King Olaf, son of Harald the Grenlander, was an accomplished man, fair in appearance, an average man in stature, and he was early very eloquent.

(B) Thorarin Neffjolfsson was an Icelandic man, not high-born and the ugliest of men, but he was bold of speech and of all men the wisest and most wise-spoken.

(C) Olaf entertained Thorarin some days and Thorarin slept in the lodgings of the king.

(D) The king was awake one morning early and he saw that Thorarin had stretched one foot from beneath the covers.

(E) Then when other men awakened, the king said to Thorarin that he had (hefði) seen that foot of which he thought (hygði) that none there in the market town could (skyldi) be uglier.

(F) Olaf was prepared to bet that an equally ugly foot would (myndi) not be found, but Thorarin said that he would (myndi) find an uglier foot.

(G) That one of them who was in the right should (skyldi) ask a favour of the other.

(H) Thorarin drew the other foot from beneath the covers, and the largest toe was off.

(I) To Thorarin this foot seemed to be uglier, but to the king it seemed fairer, because it had four hideous toes, while the other foot had five, and so Olaf was (supposed) to choose a favour of Thorarin.

LESSON XXVIII

1. Grammar

(A) Irregular Comparatives and Superlatives

A handful of adjectives form the comparative and superlative from stems unrelated to the positive stem. The stems are:

Positive	Comparative	Superlative
(góð-) 'good'	(betr-)	(bezt-)
(ill-), (vánd-) 'bad'	(verr-)	(verst-)
(mikil-) 'great'	(meir-)	(mest-)
(lítill-) 'little'	(minn-)	(minnst-)
(marg-) 'many'	(fleir-)	(flestr-)
(gamal-) 'old'	(eldr-, ellr-)	(elzt-)

Thus the masculine N sg forms of these adjectives are:

Positive	Comparative	Superlative
góðr	betri	bezt, beztr
illr, vándr	verri	versti, verstr
mikill	meiri	mesti, mestr
lítill	minni	minnsti, minnstr
margr	fleiri	flesti, flestr
gamall	eldri, ellri	elzti, elztr

(B) The Derivation of Adverbs from Adjectives

(1) Many adverbs are derived from adjectival stems, either directly from the neuter N sg form, as e.g. mikit 'much, greatly' from (mikil-), lágt 'low, softly' from (lág-), etc., or by suffixing -a to the adjectival stem, as in e.g. illa 'badly' from (ill-), ferliga 'hideously' from (ferlig-), etc. Adverbs can also be formed from the comparative and superlative stems of adjectives, either from the stem itself or the neuter N sg form.

(2) The adverb corresponding to (góð-) is vel 'well', and the comparative form of the adverb is betr, the superlative bezt;

similarly from the stems of (ill-), (verr-), (verst-) we derive the adverbs illa, verr, verst; from (lítill-), (minn-), (minnst-) we derive lítit, minna, minnst, etc.

(C) Directional Adverbs and Derived Adjectives

Adverbs of placement or direction form comparatives and superlatives indicating degree or distance, with fronting (i-umlaut) of the stem-vowel. Thus we have the following forms:

Adverb	Adverbial Comparative	Adverbial Superlative
út 'out'	ýtra, ytra 'outermore'	ýzt, yzt 'outermost'
aptr 'back'	eptra 'hindmore'	epzt 'hindmost'
inn 'in'	innra 'innermore'	innst 'innermost'
of 'over, above'	øfra 'higher'	øfst 'upmost'
(for-) 'in front' prefix	fyr(a) 'before, earlier'	fyrst 'first'

From the stems of the adverbial comparatives and superlatives Old Icelandic derives adjectives (without corresponding positives), such as e.g. the masculine N sg forms: ytri, yzti, yztr; innri, innsti, innstr; fyrri, fyrsti, fyrstr, etc.

Finally, the commonly used adverbial comparative and superlative heldr 'rather' and helzt 'preferably' have no cognate positive stem.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

fóstbróðir (bróðir-)	foster-brother
höfðingi (höfðingi-)	leader, ruler
lagamaðr (mann-)	lawyer, man of law
lokkr (lokk-a-)	lock of hair
skartsmaðr (mann-)	dandy
Þorkell (Þorkel-a-, D=Þorkatli)	personal name
Þorvaldr (vald-a-)	personal name

Feminine:

einsetukona (kona-)	hermit (female)
forvitni (vitni-)	curiosity
[+D] er forvitni á [+D]	(someone) is curious about (something)

Ingunn (unnj-a-)	personal name
íþrótt (íþrótt-i-)	feat, skill, sport
nunna (nunna-)	nun

Neuter:

almæli (mælj-)	general report
atgørvi (gørvj-)	accomplishment
Helgafell (fell-)	place-name, 'Holy Mount'
sinn (sinn-)	occasion
eitthvert sinn	one time

Adjectives

eygðr (eygð-)	having eyes of a certain kind flestr (flest-)	most
hagr (hag-)	skilful, good with one's hands
hermannligr (mannlig-)	soldier-like
jafnborinn (borin-)	equally-born, of equal birth
kominn (komin-) á sik	constituted
vel á sik kominn	accomplished
kurteisligr (kurteislig-)	courteous
léttúðigr (úðig-)	light-hearted
lítillátr (lát-)	humble
ljóslitaðr (litað-)	light-coloured mikilleitr (leit-)	big of face, large-featured
mildr (mild-)	generous
mildr at fé	liberal with money
syndr (synd-)	able to swim
vel farinn (farin-) [participle of	well favoured
fara (far-) vel ] verstr (verst-)	worst
vigr (víg-)	able to fight
vinsæll (sæl-)	popular, beloved

Verbs

farit [supine of fara (far-)]	constituted
[+ adverb]
[+D] er [+ adverb] farit	(someone) is [+ adverb] constituted, made
finna (finn-)	meet, visit
fæzk [supine of fæðask (fæð-i/j-)]	been born
geta (get-) [+G]	mention (someone)
Þorvalds get ek at engu	I have nothing to say about Thorvald
leyna (laun-i/j-) [+D]	conceal, hide (something)

skilja (skil-i/j-)	understand
skora (skor-a-)	insist on unðrask (unðr-a-)	wonder at
unnask [pret-pres]	love one another velja (val-i/j-) [+A] til [+G]	choose (someone) for (something)
verða (verð-)	become
en hitt verðr enn ekki sagt	but that (other) cannot yet be told

Adverbs

albetr	more perfectly
ávallt	always
fast	strongly, firmly
helzt	preferably
lengr	longer
lǫngum	for a long time
mart (margt)	much
þeim varð margt talat	they came to speak of many things
mest	most

Prepositions

næst [+D]	next to
umfram [+A]	beyond, above

Conjunction

eptir því sem	according to that which, such as
---------------	----------------------------------

3. Texts

The first of these two texts from Laxdæla Saga introduces Kjartan Olafsson to the story. The second episode, which occurs towards the end of the saga, describes the final years of Gudrun, after the death of her fourth husband. Her son Bolli is the son of Bolli Þórleiksson who had been her third husband.

(A) Laxdæla saga (Chapter 28): *Frá Kjartani Ólafssyni

Kjartan Ólafsson vex upp heima í Hjarðarholti. Hann var allra manna fríðastr, þeirra er fœzk hafa á Íslandi. Hann var mikilleitr ok vel farinn í andliti, manna bezt eygðr ok ljóslitaðr. Mikit hár hafði hann ok fagrt sem silki, ok fell með lokkum, mikill maðr ok sterkr, eptir því sem verit hafði Egill móðurfaðir hans, eða Þórólfr. Kjartan var hverjum manni betr á sik kominn, svá at allir unðruðusk, þeir er sáu hann. Betr var hann ok vígr en flestir menn aðrir. Vel var hann hagr ok syndr manna bezt. Allar íþróttir hafði hann mjök umfram aðra menn. Hverjum manni var hann litillátari ok vinsæll, svá at hvert barn unni honum. Hann var léttúðigr ok mildr at fé. Óláfr unni mest Kjartani allra barna sinna. Bolli fóstbróðir hans var mikill maðr. Hann gekk næst Kjartani um allar íþróttir ok atgørvi. Sterkr var hann ok fríðr sýnum, kurteisligr ok inn hermannligsti, mikill skartsmaðr. Þeir unnusk mikit fóstbrœðr.

(B) Laxdæla saga (Chapter 78): *Frá Guðrúnu Ósvífrsdóttur

Hon var fyrst nunna á Íslandi ok einsetukona. Er þat ok almæli, at Guðrún hafi verit gofgust jafnborinna kvenna hér á landi. Frá því er sagt, eitthvert sinn, at Bolli kom til Helgafells, því at Guðrúnu þótti ávallt gott, er hann kom at finna hana. Bolli sat hjá móður sinni lǫngum, ok varð þeim mart talat. Þá mælti Bolli: 'Muntu segja mér þat, móðir, at mér er forvitni á at vita? Hverjum hefir þú manni mest unnat?' Guðrún svarar: 'Þorkell var maðr rikastr ok hǫfðingi mestr, en engi maðr var gørviligr en Bolli ok albetr at sér. Þórðr Ingunnarson var maðr þeirra vitrastr ok lagamaðr mestr. Þorvalds get ek at engu.' Þá segir Bolli: 'Skil ek þetta gørla, hvat þú segir mér, hversu hverjum var farit bænda þinna, en hitt verðr enn ekki sagt, hverjum þú unnir mest. Þarftu nú ekki at leyna því lengr.' Guðrún svarar: 'Fast skorar þú þetta, sonr minn,' segir Guðrún, 'en ef ek skal þat nokkurum segja, þá mun ek þik helzt velja til þess.' Bolli bað hana svá gera. Þá mælti Guðrún: 'Þeim var ek verst, er ek unna mest.'

4. Drills

Convert the following stems into:

- (A) the N pl with the superlative indefinite adjective
 (B) the G sg with the comparative adjective.

- (1) (góð-) (fóstbróðir-)
 (2) (mikil-) (skartsmann-)

- (3) (lítill-) (hófðingi-)
 (4) (marg-) (bóndi-)
 (5) (ill-) (úvin-i-)
 (6) (vittr-) (einsetukona-)
 (7) (góð-) (íþrótt-i-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Kjartan Olafsson grew up in Hjardarholt, and he was well-favoured in face and the handsomest of all men—of those who have been born in Iceland—and strong, as had been his maternal grandfather, Egil.

(B) Kjartan had all skills beyond other men and was humbler than any man, and popular, so that every child loved him.

(C) Bolli, Kjartan's foster-brother, was also handsome in appearance, courteous, and the most soldier-like, but he went next to Kjartan with respect to all skills.

(D) Gudrun, the mother of Bolli Bollason, was the noblest of women of equal birth.

(E) She was the first nun in Iceland, and it always pleased her when her son Bolli came to visit her.

(F) Bolli was curious to know which man Gudrun had (hefði) loved most.

(G) It seemed to Bolli that Gudrun would not need (þyrfti eigi) to conceal it any longer.

(H) Gudrun said that if she would (myndi) tell that to any one, then she would (myndi) choose Bolli, her son, for this.

(I) Bolli asked her to do so, and Gudrun said that she had (hefði) been worst to that one whom she loved most.

LESSON XXIX

1. Grammar

(A) Cardinal Numbers, One to Four

(1) 'One', (ein-), is inflected for gender and number like the indefinite pronoun (Lesson XXIV). In the plural the meaning translates as 'only, alone'. The nominative forms are: masculine sg einn, pl einir; feminine sg ein, pl éinar; neuter sg eitt, pl ein.

(2) The forms of 'two', tveir, tvær, tvau, have the N, A, and D cases exactly parallel to those of the personal pronouns þeir, þær, þau (see Lesson XII, 1B). The G ending is irregular, and there is an alternate D ending, -(u)mr:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
N	tveir	tvær	tvau
A	tvá	tvær	tvau
G		tveggja
D		tveimr, tveim

(3) 'Three' also has the alternate D ending -(u)mr, and the original stem form (þri-) has undergone various phonetic modifications:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
N	þrír	þrjár	þrjú
A	þrjá	þrjár	þrjú
G		þriggja
D		þrimr, þrim

(4) 'Four', (fjór-), is formed like a strong plural adjective, except that the neuter N/A and the G have undergone phonetic changes:

	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
N	fjórir	fjórar	fjögur
A	fjóra	fjórar	fjögur
G		fjögurra
D		fjórum

(B) Ordinal Numbers, First to Fourth

(1) 'First', (fyrst-) is declined like a regular adjective, both definite and indefinite (weak and strong) in all genders and both numbers. Thus we have the nominative forms: masculine sg fyrsti, fyrstr, pl fyrstu, fyrstir; feminine sg fyrsta, fyrst, pl fyrstu, fyrstar; neuter sg fyrsta, fyrst, pl fyrstu, fyrst.

(2) 'Second', (annar-), is declined exactly like the indefinite pronoun 'other' (see Lesson XXIV).

(3) 'Third', (þriðj-), is declined like a definite (weak) adjective. The nominative forms are: masculine sg þriði, pl þriðju, feminine and neuter sg þriðja, pl þriðju.

(4) 'Fourth', (fjórð-), is also declined like a weak adjective and has the N forms: masculine sg fjórði, pl fjórðu; feminine and neuter sg fjórða, pl fjórðu.

(C) Cardinal and Ordinal Numbers, 5-1,000

The cardinal numbers from five onwards are uninflected. The ordinals are inflected like definite adjectives with appropriate endings for case, gender, and number. These are the numerals:

	Cardinal	Ordinal (masculine N sg)
5	fimm	fimmti
6	sex	sétti
7	sjau	sjaundi
8	átta	áttundi (átti)
9	níu	níundi
10	tíu	tíundi
11	ellifu	ellifti
12	tólf	tólfti
13	þrettán	þrettándi
14	fjórtán	fjórtándi
15	fimmtán	fimmtándi
16	sextán	sextándi
17	sjaut(j)án	sjaut(j)ándi
18	átján	átjándi
19	nítján	nítjándi
20	tuttugu	tuttugandi
30	þrír tígir	þrítugandi
40	fjórir tígir	fertugandi
50	fimm tígir	fimmtugandi

60	sex tígir	sextugandi
70	sjau tígir	sjautugandi
80	átta tígir	áttugandi
90	níu tígir	nítugandi
100	tíu tígir	títugandi
110	ellifu tígir	ellifutugandi
120	hundrað	hundraðasti
240	tvau hundruð
960	átta hundruð

The number 1,000 is expressed as fjórir tígir ins níunda hundraðs 'four-tenths of the ninth hundred' (=960+(4×10)). The term þúsund originally indicated a very large quantity, many hundreds, but not specifically 1,000. In later texts, 100 becomes hundrað, while 120 is stórt hundrað; and þúsund takes on the exact meaning 1,000.

(D) The Verb valda

The verb valda 'cause; dominate' is quite irregular. In the present stem (vald-) and the participle stem (valdin-) it is formed like halda 'hold' (Lesson XXI). The past singular stem (oll-) and the past plural stem (ull-) take the endings of a weak verb (see Lesson XIII). Thus we have the forms:

	Present	Past
Sg 1st	veld	olla
2nd	veldr	ollir
3rd	veldr	olli
Pl 1st	völdum	ullum
2nd	valdið	ulluð
3rd	valda	ullu

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Ari (Ari-)

personal name

dagr (dag-a-) [D sg degi]

day

at degi einum vas fleira en

that it was more by one day

than

Eyjafjörðr (fjarð-u-)

place-name, 'Isle Firth'

fjórðungr (fjórðung-a-)	quarter
Gellir (Gellj-a-)	personal name
Hallsteinn (stein-a-)	personal name
landnámamaðr (mann-)	settler
lögsgumaðr (mann-)	law-speaker
máni (máni-)	moon (also nickname)
Mostrarskeggi (skeggi-)	nickname, 'Beard of Mostr' ( Mostr = island in Norway)
Norðlendingr (lending-a-)	inhabitant of the North Quarter of Iceland
Ragabróðir (bróðir-)	nickname, 'Brother of Ragi'
Skagafjörðr (fjarð-u-)	place-name, 'Cape Firth'
sólargangr (gang-a-)	course of the sun
surtur (surt-a-)	nickname, 'swarthy'
tigr (tig-u-)	ten, a counting of ten
vikur tvær ins séttá tigar	two weeks of the sixth (counting of) ten = 52
Úlfheðinn (heðin-a-)	personal name
Þingunautr (naut-a-)	member of the assembly
Þorgils (gils-a-)	personal name
Þrítögnátti (nátti-)	a period of thirty nights
mánuðr tólf þrítögnáttar	twelve months of thirty nights
Feminine:
deild (deild-a-)	division
dómnefna (nefna-)	nomination of judges
lögrettuskipan (skipan-i-)	constitution of the legislature
lögsgaga (saga-)	office of the law-speaker
Ósk (Ósk-a-)	personal name
saksókn (sókn-i-)	lawsuit
vika (vika-)	week
þögn (þagn-i-)	silence
Neuter:
ár (ár-)	year
hlaupár (ár-)	leap-year
hundrað (hundrað-)	120
fjóra daga ins fjórða hundraðs	four days of the fourth (counting of) 120 = 364
Ljósavatn (vatn-)	place-name, 'Light Water'
lögberg (berg-)	the 'Law Rock', where laws were recited at the assembly
Ljósavatn (vatn-)	place-name, 'Light Water'
lögberg (berg-)	the 'Law Rock', where laws were recited at the assembly
misseri (misserj-)	half-year
ráð (ráð-)	counsel, advice
tal (tal-)	number, reckoning, count

Adjectives

breiðfirzkr (firzk-)	from Breiðfjörðr
fjöldmennr (menn-)	with many people, crowded
fróðr (fróð-)	learned
jafn (jafn-)	even
jafnlangr (lang-)	equally long
réttr (rétt-)	right, correct
sátttr (sátt-)	reconciled
verða sátttr á [+A]	come to an agreement concerning (something)
spakr (spak-)	wise

Pronouns

hinn [Lesson XXV]	that (other)
en engu at hinu	but none by the other (count)
hvárr (hvár-)	each (of two)
at hváru tveggja	by each of the two, by both (counts)

Numerals

fimm	five
fjórði [weak]	fourth
sétti [weak]	sixth
sjaundi [weak]	seventh
it sjaunda hvert	each seventh
sjautján	seventeen

Verbs

auka (auk-)	increase, augment
auka (auk-) [+D]	add (something)
aukask (auk-) at [+D]	be augmented by (something)
þá es eykask at viku	when it is augmented by a week
es (=er)	is
freista (freist-a-) [+G]	attempt (something)
gegna (gagn-i/j-) [+D]	amount (to something)
hlýða (hlýð-i/j-)	be appropriate
hygðisk [3rd sg subj II of hyggjask (hug(g)-i/j-)]	thought himself
leiða (leið-i/j-) í lög	make into law
muna (mun-a-)	move
olli [3rd sg past ind of valda , Lesson XXIX] [+D]	was the case (of something)
ráða (ráð-) draum	interpret a dream

róma (róm-a-) [+A]	shout approval (of something), applaud
skipta (skipt-i/j-) [+D]	divide (something)
sofna (sofn-a-)	fall asleep
sækja [Lesson XIV]	attend, come to
talit [supine of telja (tal-i/j-)]	reckoned, counted
vakna (vakn-a-) við [+A]	waken to (something)
varða (varð-a-)	keep, guard
vas (= var )	was vesa (= vera )	be
þagna (þagn-a-)	become silent

Adverbs

aptr	back, backwards
hvar	in each place
hvé	how

Preposition

at [+D]	by
at sólargangi	by the course of the sun
at váru tali	by our reckoning

Prepositional Phrases

á milli [+G]	between
fyr (= fyrir) norðan [+A]	to the north of
fyr (= fyrir) vestan [+A]	to the west of

Conjunctions

at	that
es (= er )	when, which, who nema	except

3. Texts

These selections are from the Íslendingabók of Ari inn fróði Þorgilsson (d. 1148), who is the first identified author of an Icelandic history. Although he wrote other works, Íslendingabók is the only one that survives. Its language and style are noticeably more archaic than those of the family sagas written in the thirteenth century.

Although they spoke of four seasons, vetr, vár, sumar, and haust, the early Norsemen reckoned the year in two seasons (misseri) of twenty-six weeks each, and the first passage here relates an attempt at improving the calendar and correcting the faults which resulted from reckoning in only fifty-two weeks. The second passage selected describes the first division of Iceland into legislative districts, and the number of regional assemblies in each district.

(A) Íslendingabók (Chapter 4): 'Frá misseris tali'

Þat vas ok þá, es inir spökustu menn á landi hér höfðu talit í tveim misserum fjóra daga ins fjórða hundraðs,—þat verða vikur tvær ins sétta tigar, en mánuðr tólf þritögnáttar ok dagar fjórir umfram,—þá merktu þeir at sólargangi, at sumar munaði aptr til vársins; en þat kunni engi segja þeim, at degi einum vas fleira en heilum vikum gengdi í tveim misserum, ok þat olli. En maðr hét Þorsteinn surtr; hann vas breiðfirzkr, sonr Hallsteins Þórólfs sonar Mostrarskeggja, landnámamanns, ok Óskar Þorsteinsdóttur ins rauða. Hann dreymði þat, at hann hygðisk vesa at lögbergi, þá es þar vas fjölmennt, ok vaka, en hann hugði þá alla menn aðra sofa. En síðan hugðisk hann sofna, en hann hugði þá alla menn aðra vakna. Þann draum réð Ósvífr Helgason, móðurfaðir Gellis Þorkelssonar, svá, at allir menn myndi þögn varða, meðan hann mælti at lögbergi, en síðan, es hann þagnaði, at þá myndi allir þat róma, es hann hefði mælt. En þeir váru báðir spakir menn mjök. En síðan es menn kómu til þings, þá leitaði hann þess ráðs at lögbergi, at it sjaunda hvert sumar skyldi auka viku, ok freista, hvé þá hlýddi. En svá sem Ósvífr réð drauminn, þá vöknudu allir menn við þat vel, ok vas þá þat í lög leitt at ráði Þorkels mána ok annarra spakra manna. At réttu tali eru í hverju ári fimm dagar ins fjórða hundraðs, ef eigi es hlaupár, en þá einum fleira; en at váru tali verða fjórir, en þá es eyksk at váru tali it sjaunda hvert ár viku en engu at hinu, þá verða sjau ár saman jafnlöng at hváratveggja. En ef hlaupár verða tvau á milli þeira es auka skal, þá þarf auka it sétta.

(B) Íslendingabók (Chapter 5): 'Frá fjórðunga deild'

Þá vas landinu skipt í fjórðunga, svá at þrjú urðu þing í hverjum fjórðungi, ok skyldu þingunautar eiga hvar saksóknir saman, nema í Norðlendinga fjórðungi váru fjögur, af því at þeir urðu eigi á annat sáttir. Þeir es fyr norðan váru Eyjafjörð, vildu eigi þangat sækja þingit, ok eigi í Skagafjörð, þeir es þar váru fyr vestan. En þó skyldi jöfn dómnefna ok logréttuskipun úr þeira fjórðungi sem úr einum hverjum öðrum. En síðan váru sett fjórðungarþing. Svá sagði oss Úlfheðinn Gunnarsson lögsoğumaðr. Þorkell máni Þorsteins sonr, Ingólfssonar, tók lögsoğu eptir Þórarin Ragabróður ok hafði fimmtán sumur. Þá hafði Þorgeirr at Ljósavatni Þorkelsson sjautján sumur.

4. Drills

(A) Give the dative of the following phrases with cardinal numbers:

- (1) 2 (sumar-)
- (2) 3 (tig-u-)
- (3) 4 (fjórðung-a-)
- (4) 5 (vika-)
- (5) 7 (bróðir-)
- (6) 13 (kona-)
- (7) 17 (mann-)
- (8) 20 (nótt-)

(B) Give the genitive plural of the following phrases with ordinal numbers:

- (1) 1. (vika-)
- (2) 2. (tig-u-)
- (3) 3. (mann-)
- (4) 4. (dag-a-)
- (5) 6. (ár-)
- (6) 7. (sumar-)
- (7) 12. (mánað-)
- (8) 14. (nótt-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) The wisest men in Iceland noticed by the course of the sun that summer was moving back towards spring.

(B) The cause was that they did not know that there was one more day than amounted to whole weeks in two halves of a year.

(C) Thorstein the swarthy dreamed that he thought that he was (himself to be) at the Law Rock and awake, but he thought all other men asleep, and then he thought that he was asleep but the others awakened.

(D) Osvifr the son of Helgi interpreted that dream such that all would (myndi) keep silent while Thorstein spoke at the Law Rock, but that they would (myndi) shout approval of that which he said after he became silent.

(E) Afterwards, when men came to assembly, Thorstein sought that counsel at the Law Rock that every seventh summer should (skyldi) be increased by a week.

(F) Just as Osvifr interpreted the dream, men realized this well, and it was made into law.

(G) Iceland was divided into quarters, and in each of these there were three assemblies, except that there were four in the quarter of the Northlanders.

(H) The Northlanders didn't come to agreement on three assemblies because those who were north of Isle Firth did not want to attend the assembly there, and those who were to the west did not want to attend the assembly in Cape Firth.

LESSON XXX

1. Grammar

Subjunctive I(A) Form

The subjunctive I is formed from the present stem of the verb and the subjunctive person/number endings, which are as follows:

Sg 1st	-a	Pl 1st	-im
2nd	-ir	2nd	-ið
3rd	-i	3rd	-i

The stem-vowel of strong verbs is not fronted in the singular form of the subjunctive I and the underlying present stem vowel remains unchanged. (The vowel of weak-verb stems is fronted by thematic -i/j- in the present stem of both short- and long-syllable stems.) Preterite-present verbs form the subjunctive I from the present plural stems. Thus we have the forms:

Stem:	(kall-a-)	(tal-i/j-)	(fór-i/j-)	(bjúð-)
Sg 1st	kalla	telja	fœra	bjóða
2nd	kallir	telir	fœrir	bjóðir
3rd	kalli	teli	fœri	bjóði
Pl 1st	kallim	telim	fœrim	bjóðim
2nd	kallið	telið	fœrið	bjóðið
3rd	kalli	teli	fœri	bjóði
Stem:	(gef-)	(tak-)	(hlauf-)	(meg-)
Sg 1st	gefa	taka	hlaupa	mega
2nd	gefir	takir	hlaupir	megir
3rd	gefi	taki	hlaupi	megi
Pl 1st	gefim	takim	hlaupim	megim
2nd	gefið	takið	hlaupið	megið
3rd	gefi	taki	hlaupi	megi

The subjunctive I forms of the verb vera 'be' are formed irregularly:

Sg 1st	sé
2nd	sér
3rd	sé
Pl 1st	sém
2nd	séð
3rd	sé

Note the possibility of confusing the singular forms of the subjunctive I of vera with the present indicative forms of the verb sjá 'see' (Lesson XXIII).

The subjunctive I forms of the preterite-present verbs munu and skulu optionally occur with a fronted stem vowel: ek muna or myna, ek skula or skyla, vér munim or mynim, þér skulið or skylið, etc.

(B) Use

The general meaning of the subjunctive in contrast to the indicative is that of the potential v. the actual, the conditional v. the given, the presumed v. the proven, the reported v. the directly attested fact, the desired v. the realized event. Consider in these terms the examples of the use of the subjunctive I which occur in Lessons X-XXX:

(1) A direct wish is most frequently expressed by use of the verb vilja in the present indicative, followed by a subordinate clause, introduced by at, where the verb is in the Subjunctive I:

'Þat vil ek, at þú ræðir þetta við dóttur þína' (Lesson XI).

'Kjartan vill, at Þórarinn ríði með honum' (Lesson XV).

'vil ek, at þú vitir þat . . .' (Lesson XXV).

'vil ek, at þær Íslendinga konur sjái þat' (Lesson XXX).

(2) A condition of negative import is expressed with the subjunctive I in the subordinate clause, which is introduced by the conjunction þó at, þótt 'although, despite' or a locution such as eigi svá at 'not such, not so that', etc.:

'þótt hann sé vænn ok mikill áburðarmaðr' (Lesson XI).

'ekki fer ek at því, þó at þú hafir svelt þik til fjár' (Lesson XXII).

'þó at þú eigir þar gofga frændr' (Lesson XXX).

'eigi at minna, at hann ríði hér hjá garði' (Lesson XXV).

'Þess spyrr þú eigi af því, at eigi vitir þú áðr' (Lesson XXVI).
'fátt er svá einna hluta, at orvænt sé, at hitta annan slíkan' (Lesson XXVII).

Note that a simple condition is usually expressed by use of the conjunction ef 'if' and the indicative:

'ef þú hefir heilan hug' (Lesson XXIII).

(3) An assumption, a statement reflecting an opinion, or a fact that is reported rather than directly attested are expressed by the subjunctive I in the subordinate clause. The verbs most often expressing assumption are ætla, vænta, litask, etc.:

'er þat ætlan mín, at þessi kona kunni eigi at mæla' (Lesson XXV).

'engi mun ætla, at stólit hafi verit' (Lesson XVIII).

'ætlum vér, at þú hafir gort þetta við einræði þitt' (Lesson XXX).

'þess vænti ek, at þér munið eigi síðr gefa mér orlof' (Lesson XXX).

'er þat líkligast, at hér sé enn svá' (Lesson XXVII).

'þat kemr saman með öllum vitrum mǫnnum, at Gísli hafi lengst allra manna í sekð gengit . . .' (Lesson XXIV).

'er þat almæli, at Guðrún hafi verit gefgust jafnborinna kvenna' (Lesson XXVIII).

'svá virði ek, sem þú munir þessa ambátt gera heldr dýrlagða' (Lesson XXV).

'svá lízk oss, sem slíku málum sé vel fellt at svara' (Lesson XI).

'vil ek fulltingja, at engi muni fásk jafnljótr' (Lesson XXVII).

(4) A potential, presently unrealized event, one that has not already taken place but probably will, is expressed by use of the subjunctive I:

'Veit ek eigi, hvar sú kona sitr, er mér sé happ í at geta' (Lesson XI).

'sækja mun ek mál þitt . . . til þeirra sætta, er góðir menn sjá, at vér sém vel sæmðir' (Lesson XXIII).

'áðr vit sláim kaupi þessu' (Lesson XXV).

(5) As stated in Lesson XXV the imperative form is used to address a command in the 2nd sg. The subjunctive, through its function of expressing the desired and the potential, is used to express a wish or polite command:

'várr herra launi yðr þann sóma' (Lesson XXX).

'þessi sé eptir í eigu minni' (Lesson XXV).

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

grip (grip-i)
guðvefjarpoki (poki-)
herra [indeclinable]
motr (motr-a)
ráðakostr (kost-i-) sómi (sómi-)
Tryggvi (Tryggvi-)

treasure, costly object
pouch made of fine fabric
Lord
lady's headpiece
position in life honour
personal name

Feminine:

bekkjargjöf (gjaf-a-) gísling (gísling-a-) Ingibjörg (bjarg-a-) mjóðdrekkja (mjóðdrekkja-)
vingan (vingan-i-) þrælaætt (ætt-i-) vera þrælaættar

gift from the groom to the bride hostage
personal name
container (Irish loan word) friendship
family, kin of thralls
be descended from thralls, slaves

þökk (þakk-i-)

gratitude, thanks

Neuter:

bil (bil-)
einræði (ræðj-)
leyfi (leyfj-)
orlof (orlof-)
rúm (rúm-)
vald (vald-)

moment, while self-will leave, permission
leave, permission
seat, place
dominion, power

Adjectives

ágætr (ágæt-)
albúinn (búin-)

excellent completely equipped, completely ready

alkristinn (kristin-) allglaðr (glað-) við [+]

completely Christian very glad at (something)

fátt (fá-) [neut N/A sg, used as noun]	few (things), little fátt varð þeim at orðum	few words came to them, they said little gullofinn (ofin-)	gold-woven
hvítr (hvít-)	white
slíkr (slík-)	such, similar
engi mun (vera) slíkr	none such will exist
Verbs
búa [Lesson XXI]	prepare
eiga (pret-pres) kost	have a choice
fagna (fagn-a-) [+D]	welcome (someone)
fýsask (fús-i/j-)	be eager
þú fýstisk eigi (at fara) út	you were not eager (to go) out (to Iceland)
gort (= gert) [supine of gera, Lesson XIV]	done
launa (laun-a-) [+D]	reward (someone)
leiða (leið-i/j-)	lead, accompany
líka (lík-a-) [+D]	be pleasing (to someone)
[+D] líkar [+N]	(someone) likes (something)
spyrjask (spur-i/j-)	be reported
taka (tak-) kost af	make a choice
þann (kost) munum vér af taka	we will make that choice, choose that vefja (vaf-i/j-) [+D]	wrap (something)
ok kvað (þat vera) Guðrúnu Ósvífrsdóttur hólzti gott at vefja honum at hofði sér	and said that it was too good for Gudrun Ósvífr's daughter to wrap it around her head
vera [Lesson XVIII] fyrir [+D]	be the leader of (someone)
virða (virð-i/j-)	consider; evaluate vitja (vitj-a-) [+G]	go to, visit (someone)
vænta (vænt-i/j-) [+G]	expect (something)
Adverbs
hvergi	nowhere; not at all meir	more
síðr	less
Adverbial Phrases
hvert er	wherever, whithersoever
um útan	around the outside
þaðan í frá	from then on

3. Texts

These two episodes from Laxdæla Saga take place in the year 1000. King Óláfr Tryggvason of Norway, who had Christianized Norway, had attempted to convert the Icelanders as well by sending missionaries there and by holding several well-born Icelandic visitors hostage at his court. Foremost among these was Kjartan Olafsson, who, although he was unofficially betrothed to Gudrun, had become a close friend of the king's sister Ingibjörg.

(A) Laxdæla saga (Chapter 43): Kjartan ok Óláfr konungr Tryggvason

Þá spurðusk þau tíðindi til Nóregs af Íslandi, at þar var alkristit. Var Óláfr konungr við þat allgláðr ok gaf leyfi öllum til Íslands þeim mönnum, er hann hafði í gíslingu haft, ok fara hvert er þeim líkaði. Kjartan svarar, því at hann var fyrir þeim mönnum öllum, er í gíslingu höfðu verit haldnir: 'Hafið mikla þökk, ok þann munum vér af taka at vitja Íslands í sumar.' Þá segir Óláfr konungr: 'Eigi munum vér þessi orð apr taka, Kjartan, en þó mæltum vér þetta ekki síðr til annarra manna en þín, því at vér virðum svá, Kjartan, at þú hafir hér setit meir í vingan en gíslingu. Vilda ek, at þú fýstisk eigi út til Íslands, þó at þú eigir þar gofga frændr, því at kost muntu eiga at taka þann ráðakost í Nóregi, er engi mun slíkr á Íslandi.' Þá svarar Kjartan: 'Várr herra launi yðr þann sóma, er þér hafið til mín gort, síðan er ek kom á yðvart vald. En þess vænti ek, at þér munið eigi síðr gefa mér orlof en þeim öðrum, er þér hafið hér haldit um hríð.'

(B) Laxdæla saga (Chapter 43): Kjartan ok Ingibjörg konungssystir

Ok er skip var albúit, þá gengr Kjartan á fund Ingibjargar konungssystur. Hon fagnaði honum vel ok gefr rúm at sitja hjá sér, ok taka þau tal saman. Segir Kjartan þá Ingibjörgu, at hann hefir búit ferð sína til Íslands. Þá svarar hon: 'Meir ætlum vér, Kjartan, at þú hafir gort þetta við einræði þitt en menn hafi þik þess eggjat, at fara í brott af Nóregi ok til Íslands.' En fátt varð þeim at orðum þaðan í frá. Í þessu bili tekr Ingibjörg til mjoðdrekku, er stendr hjá henni. Hon tekr þar úr motr hvítan, gullofinn, ok gefr Kjartani ok kvað Guðrúnu Ósvífrsdóttur hólzti gott at vefja honum at hofði sér,—‘ok muntu henni gefa motrinn at bekkjargjöf. Vil ek, at þær Íslendinga konur sjái þat, at sú kona er eigi þrælaættar, er þú hefir tal átt við í Nóregi.’ Þar var guðvefjarpoki um útan. Var þat inn ágætasti gripr. ‘Hvergi mun ek leiða þik’, sagði Ingibjörg, ‘far nú vel ok heill.’

4. Drills

(A) Convert the following verbs into the 3rd sg and 1st pl forms of the subjunctive I:

- (1) vera [Lesson XXX]
- (2) auka (auk-)
- (3) leiða (leið-i/j-)
- (4) róma (róm-a-)
- (5) ráða (ráð-)
- (6) hyggja (hug(g)-i/j-)
- (7) telja (tal-i/j-)
- (8) eiga (pret-pres).

(B) Convert the following verbs into the 1st sg and 3rd pl forms of the subjunctive I:

- (1) vera [Lesson XXX]
- (2) líka (lík-a-)
- (3) spyrja (spur-i/j-)
- (4) taka (tak-)
- (5) vefja (vaf-i/j-)
- (6) vænta (vænt-i/j-)
- (7) lifa (lif-i-)
- (8) virða (virð-i/j-)

5. Translations

Translate the following into Old Icelandic:

(A) King Olaf was very glad at the news that Iceland had become completely Christian, and he gave leave to all men whom he had held in hostage to journey wherever they pleased.

(B) Kjartan and the others thanked the king for this leave and said that they would (myndi) go to Iceland.

(C) But Olaf considers that Kjartan has stayed there more in friendship than in hostage and he says that Kjartan will have such a position in Norway as there will not be in Iceland.

(D) Kjartan answers that he would (myndi) expect Olaf to give leave to him no less than to the others that he has held in hostage.

(E) Kjartan went to meet Ingibjörg, the king's sister, who received him well, and he told her that he intended to journey out to Iceland.

(F) Ingibjörg answers that she does not suppose that men have egged him to this journey, and from there on they have little to say.

(G) But Ingibjörg then takes a white lady's-headpiece from a container and says that Kjartan is to (skuli) give it to Gudrun as a bridegroom's present.

(H) Ingibjörg wants the Icelandic women to see that she whom Kjartan had had words with in Norway was not descended from slaves.

LESSON XXXI

1. Grammar

Subjunctive II(A) Form

The subjunctive II is formed from the past stem of weak verbs and preterite-present verbs and from the past plural stem (3rd principal part) of strong verbs. Whenever possible the stem vowel undergoes fronting (i-umlaut). The endings of the subjunctive II are the same as those of the subjunctive I (see Lesson XXX). We thus have the paradigms:

Infinitive:	kalla	telja	færa	lita
Subj II stem:	(kallaði-)	(talði-)	(færdi-)	(lit-)
Sg 1st	kallaða	telða	færdða	lita
2nd	kallaðir	telðir	færdir	litir
3rd	kallaði	telði	færði	liti
Pl 1st	kallaðim	telðim	færdim	litim
2nd	kallaðið	telðið	færðið	litið
3rd	kallaði	telði	færði	liti

Infinitive:	bjóða	gefa	fara	hlaupa
Subj II stem:	(buð-)	(gáf-)	(fór-)	(hlup-)
Sg 1st	byða	gæfa	færa	hlypa
2nd	byðir	gæfir	færir	hlypir
3rd	byði	gæfi	færi	hlypi
Pl 1st	byðim	gæfim	færim	hlypim
2nd	byðið	gæfið	færið	hlypið
3rd	byði	gæfi	færi	hlypi

Infinitive:	munu	mega	kunna
Subj II stem:	(mundi-)	(mátti-)	(kunni-)
Sg 1st	mynda	mætta	kynna
2nd	myndir	mættir	kynnir
3rd	myndi	mætti	kynni
Pl 1st	myndim	mættim	kynnim
2nd	myndið	mættið	kynnið
3rd	myndi	mætti	kynni

Verbs with a stem ending in k or g insert a j between the stem-final velar and a following a or u: tækja, tækjum, etc. from taka 'take'; drægja drægjum, etc. from draga 'draw, drag'. The subjunctive II of vera 'be' is formed in a regular manner from the past plural stem (vár-): væra, værir, væri, etc. Note that the past indicative and subjunctive II forms of weak verbs are often identical. Thus kallaðir, færði, and other forms must be interpreted as either indicative or subjunctive in terms of the grammatical context.

(B) Usage

The uses of the subjunctive II are to some extent parallel with the uses of the subjunctive I. Thus the subjunctive II is used in a subordinate clause introduced by a main clause in the past tense under conditions similar to those where the subjunctive I occurs in a clause subordinate to a main clause in the present tense. Otherwise, and more generally, the subjunctive II does not have a 'past tense' meaning, and is employed in expressing potential or hypothetical events in ways other than those that regulate the use of the subjunctive I. Consider the following examples from this and previous lessons:

(1) A wish which is indirect, polite, in contrast with the direct wish of the subjunctive I, is expressed by using the subjunctive II in both main and subordinate clauses:

'vilda ek, at þú fýstisk eigi út til Íslands' (Lesson XXX).

'vilda ek, at vit lengðim líf okkari' (Lesson XXXI).

'vilda ek, at þú segðir mér' (Lesson XXXI).

In these wishes vil ek translates as 'I want', whereas vilda ek translates as 'I (would) wish'.

(2) An entirely hypothetical situation is expressed by using the subjunctive II. Sometimes such conditions are indicated by the presence of ef 'if', or þó at, þótt 'even if', elsewhere the subjunctive form itself carries the meaning:

'gott skaplyndi hefðið þér fengit, ef þér værið dætr einshvers bónda' (Lesson XXVI).

'ætla ek yðr til þess betr fellda, at þér værið dætr fęður yðvars ok værið giptar' (Lesson XXVI).

'eigi myndi svá gera Egill, móðurfaðir yðvarr' (Lesson XXVII).

'þér yrði efling at mægðum við þá Mýramenn' (Lesson XI).

'þó at víðara væri' (Lesson XI).

'ætla ek, at þar myndi vera þá hrundingar . . . eða bærisk at um síðir, at allr þingheimrinn berðisk' (Lesson XXXI).

'ef hann ætti eptir þik at mæla' (Lesson XXXI).

'þat var þá úvænt, at hann myndi yrkja mega' (Lesson XXXI).

'þótt hann leitaði við' (Lesson XXXI).

'þótt ek skylda veðja um' (Lesson XXVII).

(3) A condition of negative import in relation to a past event is expressed by the subjunctive II in the subordinate clause, just as the subjunctive I is used in expressing a negative condition (e.g. eigi svá at) in a present context:

'aldregi drakk (hann) svá, at eigi segði hann sik þyrsta' (Lesson XVII).

(4) An unrealized act or event which might or might not occur in relation to a past event is expressed in the subjunctive II in a manner parallel to the conditions for the use of the subjunctive I to express a potential, unrealized event (see Lesson XXX, 1A4):

'varð hann at kenna afismunar, áðr hann kæmi honum undir' (Lesson XX).

'Egill fann þá, at honum myndi eigi við svá búit eira' (Lesson XVII).

'Þat merkði, . . . hvat ek ætta eptir úlifat' (Lesson XXIV).

(5) An indirect or reported statement introduced by such verbs as mæla, segja, etc. in the past tense or the perfective (with the auxiliary verb hafa) contains the subjunctive II form of the verb in the subordinate clause:

'Egill mælti, at þeir skyldi þá ekki drekka' (Lesson XVII).

'eggjaði sá mjök, at þeir skyldi skjótt drekka' (Lesson XVII).

'(hon) sagði, at þat merkði aldr minn' (Lesson XXIV).

'þá mælti Gilli, at Høskuldr skyldi þangat ganga' (Lesson XXV).

'Hefir þú mér heitit, at vér skyldim aldri skilja' (Lesson XII).

'Hefi ek þik heyrt mæla, at þú ynnir mér mest barna þinna' (Lesson XI).

Note that when the main verb is in the present tense an indirect statement (not an assumption) is in the indicative:

'Egill segir, at þat var þá úvænt' (Lesson XXXI).

'hann segir, at nú kom at honum draumkonan sú in verri' (Lesson XXIV).

'Høskuldr segir, at hann vill kaupa ambátt nokkura' (Lesson XXV).

'Svá segja sumir, at átta jósu þeir við hann' (Lesson XXI).

(6) An indirect question concerning an indeterminate act or event is stated in the subjunctive II, whereas a question concerning an attested fact is expressed in the indicative. Thus we have:

'Ásgerðr spurði, hvárt þau hefði náttverð etit' (Lesson XXXI).

'er hann vaknar, spyr Auðr, hvat hann hefði dreymt' (Lesson XXIV).

'Høskuldr spyr, hvat þat væri' (Lesson XXV).

'(hann) bað aðra menn hyggja at, hvárt svá sýndisk' (Lesson XXVII).

On the other hand we have:

'Þeir spurðu, hví hann var þar kominn' (Lesson XIX).

Finally, we note that sometimes the distinction between the use of the indicative and the subjunctive is a rather fine one. An opinion strongly asserted is stated in the indicative:

'ek hygg, at engi skal hér í kaupstaðinum ljótari vera' (Lesson XXVII).

A weaker statement, indicating less conviction would be: ek hygg, at engi skuli/muni hér . . ., while an even weaker statement would use the subjunctive II forms in both main clause and subordinate clause, indicating a polite suggestion of a hypothetical situation: ek hygða, at engi skylða/mynda, etc.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Bøðvarr (Bøðvar-a-)	personal name
feðr [variant of föður ]	father
Hákon [irr N sgl] (Hákon-u-)	personal name

harmr (harm-a-)	sorrow, grief
náttverðr (verð-i-)	supper
pústr (pústr-a-)	box on the ear
þingheimr (heim-a-)	assembly population
Feminine:
ást (ást-i-)	love
bœn (bœn-i-)	request
Freyja (Freyja-)	name of goddess
at Freyju	with Freyja , i.e. in the next world
hrundning (hrundning-a-)	shoving, pushing
hurð (hurð-i-)	door
loka (loka-)	bolt
lét loku fyrir hurðina	bolted the door
lokhvíla (hvíla-)	lockable bed-closet
mjólk (mjólk-)	milk
ráðagerð (gerð-i-)	plan
rekkja (rekkja-)	bed
þonn (tann-)	tooth
Þórdís (dísj-a-)	personal name
ætlan (ætlan-i-)	plan
lokít er þessi ætlan [D]	this plan is finished
Neuter:
dýrshorn (horn-)	horn of an animal
eldahús (hús-)	main hall
erfíkvæði (kvæðj-)	funeral poem
gaman (gaman-)	amusement
hvílугólf (gólf-)	bed-closet
kefli (keflj-)	stick of wood
rista (ríst-) á kefli	carve runes on a stick of wood
líf (líf-)	life
sjónleysi (leysj-)	blindness, loss of sight
skarð (skarð-)	notch
sonarlát (lát-)	loss of a son
sól (sól-) [pl]	dried seaweed
þjóðráð (ráð-)	excellent plan
Adjectives
allillr (ill-)	very bad
byggðr (byggð-) [participle of byggja (bygg-i/j-)]	inhabited, settled
enskr (ensk-)	English
hress (hress-)	hale, in good spirits

undarligr (undarlig-)	strange
úvænn (vænn-)	unlikely, unpromising, unexpected
verri [comparative of illr ]	worse
[+D] er verra	(someone) feels worse
öndverðr (verð-)	early

Pronouns

hverr (hverj-)	which, what
hver ván er?	what hope is there?
hvers [G sg of hvat ]	what hvers Egill hafði beitt	what Egil had asked for

Verbs

beiða (beið-i/j-) [+A] at [+inf]	ask (someone) to [+inf]
berask (ber-) at	happen
beiða (beið-i/j-) [+A] [+G]	ask (someone) (for something)
berjask (bar-i/j-)	fight
búa [Lesson XXI] undir [+D]	lie behind, be the reason for (something)
búask [Lesson XXI]	prepare oneself
erfa (arf-i/j-)	honour with a funeral feast
forvitnask (vitn-a-)	enquire, be curious
gera [Lesson XIV] at	happen
heilsa (heils-a-) [+D]	greet (someone)
kunna (pret-pres)	know
leita (leit-a-) við	try
lengja (lang-i/j-)	lengthen
lúka [Lesson XVI] upp [+D]	open up (something)
mega (pret-pres) [+inf]	be able to [+inf]
sá [Lesson XXIII] [+D]	scatter, sow (something) spretta (spratt-i/j-) frá [+D]	unfasten, open up (something)
svelgja (svelgj-)	swallow
sýna (sýn-i/j-)	show
[+N] sýnisk [+D]	(something) seems (to someone)
ef okkr sýnisk	if it seems fitting to us, if we like
söðla (söðl-a-)	saddle
taka (tak-) til [+G]	resort to, have recourse to (something)
hvat skulum vit til ráðs taka?	what counsel, plan shall we resort to?
talask (tal-a-) við	talk to each other
tyggja (tug(g)-i/j-)	chew

varða (varð-a-)	concern
hvat mun varða?	of what concern is that? what does that matter?
véla (vél-i/j-)	trick, deceive
nú erum við vélt	now we have been deceived
vera uppi	be known, remembered
(þat) mun (vera) uppi	it will be remembered
vilja [Lesson XXIII] [+inf]	want to [+inf]
yrkja [Lesson XIV]	compose in verse
þegja (þag-i/j-)	be quiet, refrain from speaking
ætla (ætl-a-) [+A] [+inf]	expect (someone) to [+inf]
seint ætla ek Þorstein . . . yrkja kvæðit	I do not expect Thorstein to compose the poem soon
Adverbs
of	too
seinliga	slowly, reluctantly
seint	late
síðar	later
stundu síðar	a while later
stórum	greatly, much
Adverbial Phrases
at meir	all the more um síðir	finally
Prepositional Phrase
í milli [+G]	between, among
sín í milli	among themselves
Conjunction
fyrr en	before, until

3. Texts

The first of these two passages from Egils Saga describes Egil after the death of his most beloved son, Bǫðvarr. He has locked himself in a sleeping-room refusing to speak, accepting neither food nor drink, apparently intent on dying. His wife, Ásgerðr then has their daughter Þorgerðr sent for, who with her resourcefulness and intelligence resolves the situation.

In the second passage Egil is an old man who after the death of his wife has gone to live at Mosfell with his niece Þórdís Þórólfsdóttir and her husband Grimr Svertingsson. Egil is a rich man, always having been reluctant to part with his money and possessions, and he has two chests full of silver coins that King Aethelstan of England had awarded his father as compensation for the death of Þórólfr Skalla-Grimsson, who had fought for the king in the battle of Brunanburgh.

(A) Egils saga (Chapter 78): Egill eptir sonarlátit

Þorgerðr lét þegar sǫðla sér hest, ok fylgðu henni tveir menn. Riðu þau um kveldit ok nóttina, til þess er þau kómu til Borgar. Gekk Þorgerðr inn í eldahús. Ásgerðr heilsaði henni ok spurði, hvárt þau hefði náttverð etit. Þorgerðr segir hátt: 'Engan hefi ek náttverð haft, ok engan mun ek fyrr en at Freyju. Kann ek mér eigi betri ráð en faðir minn. Vil ek ekki lifa eptir föður minn ok bróður.' Hon gekk at lokhvílunni ok kallaði: 'Faðir, lúk upp hurðinni, vil ek at vit farim eina leið bæði.' Egill spretti frá lokunni. Gekk Þorgerðr upp í hvilugólfrit ok lét loku fyrir hurðina. Lagðisk hon niðr í aðra rekkju, er þar var. Þá mælti Egill: 'Vel gerðir þú, dóttir, er þú vill fylgja feðr þínum. Mikla ást hefir þú sýnt við mik. Hver ván er, at ek mun lifa vilja við harm þenna?' Síðan þogðu þau um hrið. Þá mælti Egill. 'Hvat er nú, dóttir, tyggr þú nokkut?' 'Tygg ek sǫl,' segir hon, 'því at ek ætla, at mér muni þá verra en áðr. Ætla ek ella, at ek muna of lengi lifa.' 'Er þat illt manni?' segir Egill 'Allilt', segir hon, 'villtu eta?' 'Hvat mun varða?' segir hann. En stundu síðar kallaði hon ok bað gefa sér drekka. Síðan var henni gefit vatn at drekka. Þá mælti Egill: 'Slíkt gerir at, er sǫlin etr, þyrstir æ þess at meir.' 'Villtu drekka, faðir?' segir hon. Hann tók við ok svalg stórum, ok var þat í dýrshorni. Þá mælti Þorgerðr: 'Nú erum vit vélt. Þetta er mjólk.' Þá beit Egill skarð úr horninu, allt þat er tennr tóku, ok kastaði horninu síðan. Þá mælti Þorgerðr: 'Hvat skulum vit nú til ráðs taka? Lokit er nú þessi ætlan. Nú vilda ek, faðir, at vit lengðim líf okkart, svá at þú mættir yrkja erfikvæði eptir Bǫðvar, en ek mun rísta á kefli, en síðan deyjum vit, ef okkr sýnisk. Seint ætla ek Þorstein son þinn yrkja kvæðit eptir Bǫðvar, en þat hlýðir eigi at hann sé eigi erfðr, því at eigi ætla ek okkr sitja at drykkjunni þeiri, at hann er erfðr.' Egill segir, at þat var þá úvænt, at hann myndi þá yrkja mega, þótt hann leitaði við,—'en freista má ek þess', segir hann.

(B) Egils saga (Chapter 85): Egill ok silfr Aðalsteins konungs

Þat var á dögum Hákonar ins ríka ondverðum, þá var Egill Skalla-Grímsson á níunda tigi, ok var hann þá hress maðr fyrir annars sakar en sjónleysis. Þat var um sumarit, er menn bjuggusk til þings, þá beiddi Egill Grím at riða til þings með honum. Grím tók því seinliga, ok er þau Grím ok Þórdís tóluðusk við, þá sagði Grím henni, hvers Egill hafði beitt. 'Vil ek, at þú forvitnisk, hvat undir mun búa bæn þessi.' Þórdís gekk til máls við Egil, frænda sinn. Var þá mest gaman Egils at ræða við hana. Ok er hon hitti hann, þá spurði hon: 'Er þat satt frændi, er þú vill til þings riða? Vilda ek, at þú segðir mér, hvat væri í ráðagerð þinni.' 'Ek skal segja þér,' kvað hann, 'hvat ek hefi hugsat. Ek ætla at hafa til þings með mér kistur þær tvær, er Aðalsteinn konungr gaf mér, er hvártveggja er full af ensku silfri. Ætla ek at láta bera kisturnar til Lögbergs, þá er þar er fjölmennast. Síðan ætla ek at sá silfrinu, ok þykkir mér undarligt, ef allir skipta vel sín í milli. Ætla ek, at þar myndi vera þá hrundningar eða pústrar, eða bærisk at um síðir, at allr þingheimrinn berðisk.' Þórdís segir: 'Þetta þykkir mér þjóðráð, ok mun uppi, meðan landit er byggt.'

4. Drills

(A) Convert the following verbs into the 1st sg and 2nd pl forms of the subjunctive II:

- (1) bera (ber-)
- (2) eiga (pret-pres)
- (3) erfa (arf-i/j-)
- (4) ráða (ráð-)
- (5) vera (ver-; irregular)
- (6) svelgja (svelgj-)
- (7) taka (tak-)
- (8) róma (róm-a-)

(B) Convert the following verbs into the 2nd sg and 1st pl forms of the subjunctive II:

- (1) vilja [Lesson XXIII]
- (2) taka (tak-)
- (3) ætla (ætl-a-)

- (4) bera (ber-)
- (5) mega (pret-pres)
- (6) sá [Lesson XXIII]
- (7) selja [Lesson XIV]
- (8) telja (tal-i/j-)

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) Thorgerd and Egil, her father, lay in a lockable bed-closet and had (áttu) a talk together after she had said that they would both go one way.

(B) Thorgerd said that she did not want to live after her father and brother.

(C) She supposed that she would live too long.

(D) While she lay there, she ate dried seaweed and so also did her father. Egil asked if it were bad for one, and Thorgerd answered that it was very bad. They then became thirsty.

(E) She had water brought for them to drink, but Egil was tricked, because there was milk in the horn.

(F) This plan to die was finished, and she said that she wanted them to lengthen their lives so that Egil might compose a funeral poem for Bodvar, her brother.

(G) In the days of Hakon the powerful Egil was in his eighties, and he asked Grim to ride to the assembly with him.

(H) Grim wanted Thordis to find out what lay behind that request.

(I) Thordis went to meet Egil, and he told her that he had thought of taking with him to the assembly two chests full of English silver.

(J) Egil intended to have the chests carried to the Law Rock, when it was crowded at the assembly, and then scatter the silver and see if all divided it well among themselves.

LESSON XXXII

1. Grammar

(A) The -sk (-mk) Verbal Suffix

(1) We have earlier encountered individual vocabulary entries (leggjask, skildouusk, kvazk, etc.) which indicate that the reflexive -sk ending is normally suffixed to the forms of the verb without in any way modifying them. This is true with two exceptions:

(a) In all first person forms—both singular and plural—the reflexive ending is -mk (derived historically from mik, just as -sk derives from sik). The person/number ending of the verb preceding -mk in the first person singular is always -u-, whether in past or present tense, indicative or subjunctive.

(b) The suffixed second and third person singular present indicative marker -r, and a final -r in other person/number endings, disappear before -sk. Thus we have the following verbal paradigms with the corresponding -sk (-mk) suffixed forms of the verbs verja 'defend', kalla 'call', and gefa 'give':

Indicative

Present:

Sg 1st	ver	verjumk	kalla	køllumk	gef	gefumk
2nd,	verr	versk	kallar	kallask	gefr	gefsk
3rd
Pl 1st	verjum	verjumk	køllum	køllumk	gefum	gefumk
2nd	verið	verizk	kallið	kallizk	gefið	gefizk
3rd	verja	verjask	kalla	kallask	gefa	gefask

Past:

Sg 1st	varða	vørðumk	kallaða	kølluðumk	gaf	gøfumk
2nd	varðir	varðisk	kallaðir	kallaðisk	gaft	gafzk
3rd	varði	varðisk	kallaði	kallaðisk	gaf	gafsk
Pl 1st	vørðum	vørðumk	kølluðum	kølluðumk	gáfum	gáfumk
2nd	vørðuð	vørðuzk	kølluðuð	kølluðuzk	gáfuð	gáfuzk
3rd	vørðu	vørðusk	kølluðu	kølluðusk	gáfu	gáfusk

Subjunctive

I:

Sg 1st	verja	verjumk	kalla	køllumk	gefa	gefumk
2nd	verir	verisk	kallir	kallisk	gefir	gefisk
3rd	veri	verisk	kalli	kallisk	gefi	gefisk
Pl 1st	verim	verimk	kallim	kallimk	gefim	gefimk
2nd	verið	verizk	kallið	kallizk	gefið	gefizk
3rd	veri	verisk	kalli	kallisk	gefi	gefisk

II:

Sg 1st	verða	verðumk	kallaða	kølluðumk	gæfa	gæfumk
2nd	verðir	verðisk	kallaðir	kallaðisk	gæfir	gæfisk
3rd	verði	verðisk	kallaði	kallaðisk	gæfi	gæfisk
Pl 1st	verðim	verðimk	kallaðim	kallaðimk	gæfim	gæfimk
2nd	verðið	verðizk	kallaðið	kallaðizk	gæfið	gæfizk
3rd	verði	verðisk	kallaði	kallaðisk	gæfi	gæfisk

Note that the 1st plural ending -um or -im coalesces with the final -mk.

(2) The functions of the -sk (-mk) ending: as was mentioned above, the -sk (-mk) ending originally derived from an unstressed and shortened form of the reflexive pronoun, and it is still in some instances used in free variation with the full form of the accusative of the reflexive pronoun. Thus hann varði sik and hann varðisk are interchangeable. But, on the other hand, consider the difference in meaning between hann barðisk 'he fought' and hann barði sik 'he struck himself', where there is a distinction between the reflexive pronoun and the 'reflexive' ending on the verb. In Old Icelandic the -sk (-mk) ending is no longer a mere variant of the reflexive sik (mik) (and of the dative form sér (mér) as well), but rather its meaning has gradually extended to other and different functions. Although a clear connection between the various functions can be shown, they must be classified separately. The following major distinctions of the uses of the -sk (-mk) ending can be made:

(a) Reflexive

(1) Synonymous with the reflexive: in many verbs, particularly those that indicate bodily acts or movement, the -sk ending is interchangeable with the full form of the reflexive pronoun (both sik, sér, etc.). Consider the following examples from the texts of Lessons XI-XXXII:

'ganga munum vit til hvílu . . . ok leggjask niðr' (Lesson XII).

'lagðisk hon niðr í aðra rekkju' (Lesson XXXI).

'hann settisk niðr' (Lesson XX).

'spratt hann upp þegar ok klæddisk' (Lesson XXVI).

'Grettir snarðisk við' (Lesson XXI).

'hann nefndisk Gilli' (Lesson XXV).

'hann bað hvern at varask at ganga framan at honum' (Lesson XX).

'Þat var eitt sumar, er menn bjuggusk til þings' (Lesson XXXI).

'Kjartan dvalðisk þar um hrið' (Lesson XV).

- (2) Subject of a subordinate clause: when the subject of a subordinate clause is the same as the object of the main clause containing a verb of the type kveða, segja, hyggja 'say, opine', etc., the -sk ending is attached to the main verb, and the verb of the subordinate clause occurs in the infinitive. Here, again, the -sk is functioning essentially as a reflexive: e.g. hann sagðisk vera = hann sagði: ek em . . . 'he said that he was' (lit.: 'he said himself to be'). Thus we have:

'hann kvazk fara skyldu vestr' (Lesson XV).

'hann kvazk ljá mundu húsin' (Lesson XIX).

'síðan hugðisk hann sofna' (Lesson XXIX).

- (3) Reciprocal use: when a sentence corresponds to a reflexive construction in the plural, i.e. is reciprocal, the -sk ending may be used (or a construction using e.g. hvár annan 'each other'):

'þeir unnusk mikit fóstbræðr' (Lesson XXVIII).

'skilðusk þá skipin' (Lesson XIII).

'þau Grímr ok Þórdís tölðusk við' (Lesson XXXI).

'nær munum vit gangask áðr lýkr' (Lesson XXIII).

(b) Middle voice: in the examples cited above in A2a a general condition obtains: the opposition between the agent (a direct participant in the act or event) and the object is, to a degree, neutralized. One and the same referent is both the agent and the object of the act or event. In this neutralization of the relation between the two we have a situation that differs from the normal situation of sentences—whether they are active or passive constructions—where the meaning of the sentences hinges upon the distinction between agent and object. Bolli vá Kjartan or Kjartan var veginn af Bolla are identical in meaning because the agent (as distinct from the nominative subject) and the object of the action are the same, while Kjartan vá Bolla is distinct in meaning from either, although it is parallel in construction with the first. While active and passive sentences thus distinguish the agent ('logical subject') and the object of the action, a third possible type of sentence construction is one where no such clearcut opposition is indicated. This is the so-called 'middle voice'. The agent may be indeterminate or unspecified, and the agent-object relation is neutralized. In such sentence constructions Old Icelandic verbs attach the -sk ending to the active form of the verb. We can distinguish between three somewhat different types of middle voice constructions:

- (1) Verbs denoting a change without clearcut causation, where an agent is indeterminate—that is, involuntary acts of motion or events of psychological or emotional import—are formed with the -sk ending. In these constructions the main verb, normally transitive, functions as an intransitive, and is often best translated into English with a phrase such as 'come about, become' or by a passive construction. In many instances the corresponding English verb is of the type 'open, close, grow, turn', etc., which is both transitive and intransitive in English:

'forunautar hans gerðusk þá úfærir . . . gerðusk þá ok allir drukkniðr' (Lesson XVII).

'þá spurðusk þau tíðindi til Nóregs' (Lesson XXX).

'allir undruðusk, þeir er sá hann' (Lesson XXVIII).

'þá reiddisk Þorvaldr' (Lesson XXII).

'Óláfr fæddisk upp með Sigurði sýr' (Lesson XXVII).

'hann var allra manna friðastr, þeira er fæzk hafa á Íslandi' (Lesson XXVIII).

'en þá . . . eyksk at váru tali it sjaunda hvert ár' (Lesson XXIX).

'hafði Gunnarr snúizk í hauginum' (Lesson XXXII).

'síðan lauksk aptr haugrinn' (Lesson XXXII).

'hann sjálfr vitrask okkr' (Lesson XXXII).

- (2) Verbs of the type 'seem', 'appear', etc., where the 'subject' of the sentence is a psychological impression and the object of the verb is always a human being, while no live agent is involved, are similarly formed by attaching the -sk ending to a transitive verb. The most commonly used verbs of this category are sýna/sýnask, lita/lítask. The object is always in the dative case:

'svá lízk oss, sem sliikum málum sé vel fellt at svara' (Lesson XI).

'Höskuldi leizk konan frið' (Lesson XXV).

'báð hann aðra menn hyggja at, hvárt (þeim) svá sýndisk' (Lesson XXVII).

'síðan deyjum vit, ef okkr sýnisk' (Lesson XXXI).

'þeim sýndisk haugrinn opinn' (Lesson XXXII).

'honum sýndisk hann svartr sem bik' (Lesson XXXII).

- (3) Constructions of an impersonal type with a dative object are formed when the -sk ending is attached to a transitive verb, usually indicating an involuntary act. (For more detailed discussion of impersonal constructions of this type see Lesson XXXIII):

'sú er mér auðsæst úgípta Óláfs, at honum glapðisk svá mjök sonaeignin' (Lesson XXVI).

(c) Change of meaning: in many cases the -sk ending on a verbal form cannot be classified as reflexive or middle voice. The form has undergone a narrowing and subsequent shift in meaning, especially in those cases where the verb is associated with an adverbial such as við, um, til, etc.:

- (1) With an associated adverbial: a shift in meaning generally takes place when an adverbial is regularly attached to an -sk form:

'dýrit brauzk um fast' (Lesson XVI).

'svá hefir nú til tekizk' (Lesson XXV).

'heldusk þeir eigi lengi við' (Lesson XXI).

'þá kannask margir við, ef heyra kenningarnafn mitt' (Lesson XXV).

- (2) Without an associated adverbial: occasionally the -sk form of the verb no longer has any clear or direct logical relation to the meaning of the corresponding normal form of the verb, as in the case of láta 'let'/'látask 'pass away, die', etc.:

'hversu margt hefir hér fyrirmanna látizk?' (Lesson XII).

(B) The Verb þykkja

The verb þykkja in the active voice form is entirely parallel in its function to the middle voice forms lítask, sýnask, etc. The dative object is always animate while the subject clause refers to a psychological impression:

'þótti honum skjálfa bæði jörð ok himinn' (Lesson XXXII).

'þótti honum hlaupa upp eldr' (Lesson XXXII).

On the other hand, the -sk form þykkjask enters into constructions parallel with kveðask, segjask, hyggjask, etc. (see A2a2, above) as an active verb:

'hann þóttisk þá aftraun mesta gert hafa' (Lesson XVI).

'ek þóttumk ganga at húsi einu' (Lesson XXIV).

'þeir þóttusk fjögur ljós sjá brenna' (Lesson XXXII).

'þóttisk hann sjá hring ok eldslit á' (Lesson XXXII).

'hann þóttisk ekki sjá til fjallanna' (Lesson XXXII).

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

brandr (brand-a-)	firebrand
brestr (brest-i-)	crash
eldslitr (lit-u-)	fiery hue
fyrirburðr (burð-i-)	vision, appearance
haugr (haug-a-)	gravemound, howe
Hildiglúmr (glúm-a-)	personal name
Hjalti (Hjalti-)	personal name
hringr (hring-a-)	ring, circle
reykr (reyk-i-)	smoke, steam
Reykir	place-name, 'Hot Springs'
Runólfr (-ólf-a-)	personal name
skuggi (skuggi-)	shadow

Feminine:

dróttinsdagsnótt (nótt-)	Sunday night
gandreid (reið-a-)	sorcerer's ride
raust (raust-i-)	voice
vestrætt (ætt-i-)	western quarter of the sky
vísa (vísa-)	verse

Neuter:

bik (bik-)	pitch
gleðimót (mót-)	joyful mien
ljós (ljós-)	light
rúm (rúm-)	bed
skeið (skeið-)	course; in plural: place-name, name of district
stórtíðindi [pl]	great events
tungl (tungl-)	moon
tunglskin (skin-)	moonlight
úvit (vit-)	unconsciousness
fá [Lesson XXI] úvit	become unconscious

Adjectives

bjartr (bjart-)	bright
grár (grá-)	gray
kátligr (kátlig-)	cheerful
logandi [wk]	flaming
opinn (opin-)	open

Verbs

bera (ber-) á [+A] berr á	encroach (something) encroaches
bera (ber-) fyrir [+A] berr fyrir [+A]	pass before; happen (something) passes before (someone); (something) happens to (someone)
bera (ber-) yfir [+A] berr yfir	carry onwards (someone) is borne, carried onwards
draga (drag-) fyrir stundum dró (ský [A]) fyrir (tungl [A])	draw before, obscure sometimes the moon was obscured (by a cloud)
hlaupa (hlaup-)	leap
hverfa (hverf-)	disappear
kenna (kann-i/j-) [+D] [+A]	teach (someone) (something)
líta (lít-)	look

ljúga (ljúg-)	lie, tell lies
lúkask [Lesson XVI] apr	close (itself) back again
muna (pret-pres)	remember
rétta (rétt-i/j-) við	recover
sjá [Lesson XXII] til [+G]	see as far as (something)
skjálfa [Lesson XVII]	shake, quake
snúask [Lesson XXIII]	turn
trúa (trú-i-) [+D]	believe (something, someone) vitask (vitr-a-) [+D]	appear in a dream or vision (to someone)
vægja (væg-i/j-) fyrir [+D]	yield to (someone)

Adverbs

austr	towards the east
fyrir	therefore, because of this
hratt	swiftly
hvergi	nowhere
stundum	sometimes, at times
úti	outside

Prepositions

fyrir [+D]	ahead of, in front of vera fyrir [+D]	portend (something)
nær [+D]	near to
undir [+A]	under

Prepositional Phrase

fyrir sunnan [+A]	to the south of
-------------------	-----------------

3. Texts

These two selections from Njáls Saga describe supernatural events of a kind that is common in Old Icelandic literature. Supernatural visions or apparitions forebode great events, and, like dreams, must be symbolically interpreted. In the first passage Gunnarr Hámundarson, who has been slain by his enemies after a valiant solitary defence, appears to his son Hogni and to Skarpheðinn Njálsson. Gunnar, who has been buried seated in his mound, recites a poem (omitted from the text here) that serves to warn them of future events. In the second passage the apparition portends the burning of Njal and his family at Bergthorshval (which lies to the east of Reykjavík).

(A) Njáls saga (Chapter 78): Gunnarr í hauginum

Þeir Skarpheðinn ok Hogni váru úti eitt kveld fyrir sunnan haug Gunnars. Tunglskin var bjart, en stundum dró fyrir. Þeim sýndisk haugrinn opinn, ok hafði Gunnarr snúizk í hauginum ok sá í móti tunglinu. Þeir þóttusk fjögur ljós sjá brenna í hauginum, ok bar hvergi skugga á. Þeir sáu, at Gunnarr var kátligr ok með gleðimóti miklu. Hann kvað vísu ok svá hátt, at þó mátti heyra gǫrla, þó at þeir væri firr. . . . Síðan lausk aptr haugrinn. 'Myndir þú trúa,' segir Skarpheðinn, 'ef aðrir segði þér?' 'Trúa mynda ek, ef Njáll segði mér,' segir Hogni, 'því at þat er sagt, at hann ljúgi aldri.' 'Mikit er um fyrirburði slíka,' segir Skarpheðinn, 'er hann sjálf vitrask okkr, at hann vildi heldr deyja en vægja fyrir úvinum sínum, ok kenndi hann okkr þau ráð.'

(B) Njáls saga (Chapter 125): Gandreið

At Reykjum á Skeiðum bjó Runólfr Þorsteinsson. Hildiglúmr hét sonr hans. Hann gekk út dróttinsdagsnótt, þá er tólf vikur váru til vetrar. Hann heyrði brest mikinn, ok þótti honum skjálfa bæði jörð ok himinn. Síðan leit hann í vestrættina, ok þóttisk hann sjá hring ok eldslit á ok í hringinum mann á grám hesti. Hann bar skjótt yfir, ok fór hann hratt. Hann hafði loganda brand í hendi. Hann reið svá nær honum, at hann mátti gǫrla sjá hann. Honum sýndisk hann svartr sem bik ok heyrði, at hann kvað vísu með mikilli raust. . . . Þá þótti honum hann skjóta brandinum austr til fjallanna, ok þótti honum hlaupa upp eldr svá mikill, at hann þóttisk ekki sjá til fjallanna fyrir. Honum sýndisk sjá maðr ríða austr undir eldinn ok hvarf þar. Síðan gekk hann inn ok til rúms síns ok fekk langt úvit ok rétti við úr því. Hann munði allt þat, er fyrir hann hafði borit, ok sagði fǫður sínum, en hann bað hann segja Hjalta Skeggjasyni. Hann fór ok sagði honum. 'Þú hefir sét gandreið,' segir Hjalti, 'ok er þat jafnan fyrir stórtíðindum.'

4. Drills

Convert the following verbs into the 1st sg indicative present, 2nd pl indicative past, 2nd sg subjunctive I, and 3rd pl subjunctive II forms with the -sk (-mk) ending attached:

- (A) bera (ber-)
- (B) beiða (beið-i/j-)
- (C) búa [Lesson XXI]
- (D) forvitna (vitn-a-)
- (E) lúka [Lesson XVI]
- (F) snúa [Lesson XXIII]
- (G) tala (tal-a-)
- (H) telja (tal-i/j-)
- (I) vitra (vitr-a-)
- (J) þykkja [Lesson XIV]

5. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

- (A) To them, Skarphedin and Hogni, Gunnar's grave-mound seemed open and Gunnar turned in the mound and looked towards the moon.
- (B) Gunnar was cheerful and spoke a verse so loudly that it could be heard clearly even if they had been farther away.
- (C) Skarphedin asked Hogni whether he would believe this if others told him, and Hogni answered that he would believe it if Njal told him, because it was said that Njal never lied.
- (D) Hildiglum, Runolf's son, was out on Sunday night when he thought he heard a great crash, and it seemed to him that both heaven and earth quaked.
- (E) He looked in the western quarter of the sky and thought he saw a circle and a fiery hue on it and a man on a gray horse in the circle.
- (F) The man rode near him with a blazing brand in hand, and to Hildiglum he seemed as black as pitch.
- (G) The black man spoke a verse in a great voice, and then he seemed to Hildiglum to shoot the firebrand east to the mountains, where a great fire leaped up.
- (H) Hildiglum saw the black man disappear to the east under the fire, and then he went to his bed and became unconscious for a long time.
- (I) When he recovered from it, he remembered everything that had passed before him.
- (J) His father said that he should tell it to Hjalti, Skeggi's son, and Hjalti said to him that he had seen a sorcerer's ride and that always portended great events.

LESSON XXXIII

1. Grammar

Impersonal Constructions

The distinction between active, passive, and middle voice is defined by the different relations of the subject to the predicate. In addition to active constructions with Subject + Verb + Object Old Icelandic has a number of so-called 'impersonal constructions' where the subject is missing entirely or where the subject position, immediately preceding or following the finite verb, is occupied by a noun or pronoun in the accusative or dative case. Such impersonal constructions are limited by the nature and meaning of the verbs that can enter into them:

(A) Subjectless Sentences

(1) Sentences describing natural forces or conditions are often formed without a subject. Such sentences usually translate into English with 'It . . .', 'There . . .', or with a passive construction:

'sigldu þeir inn eptir Borgarfirði, til þess er þraut sker [A] öll' (Lesson XIII).

'er sólu [D] var ofrat' (Lesson XXVI).

'var ljóst mjök inni' (Lesson XXVII).

(2) A general condition, such as is expressed by a modal verb, e.g. skulu, þurfa, or other verbs, is indicated in an impersonal construction. Such sentences translate into English as, e.g. 'It is necessary . . .', 'It is impossible . . .', 'There is (a condition) . . .':

'ok má nú ekki at hafa' (Lesson XII).

'ekki þarf at spotta mik' (Lesson XXIII).

'þik skal bera út' (Lesson XII).

'ok skorti bæði mjöl [A] ok skreið [A]' (Lesson XXII).

'nú er þar til at taka' (Lesson XVIII).

(B) Accusative in Subject Position

There are two types of construction which have no agent (subject) and normally place an accusative form in the ordinary position of the nominative subject:

(1) Constructions including verbs that indicate the physical or psychological condition of an animate being or a change in that condition which is involuntary:

'hann [A] varði einskis um þetta' (Lesson XXI).

'syfjaði hann [A] mjök' (Lesson XXXIII).

'dreymir Gunnar [A] nú' (Lesson XXXIII).

(2) Transitive verbs indicating movement, such as bera, draga, etc., are used in impersonal constructions to indicate involuntary or accidental motion. These are often best translated into English with a passive construction:

'Hann [A] bar skjótt yfir' (Lesson XXXII).

'hvergi bar skugga [A] á' (Lesson XXXII).

'Skarpheðin berr nú at' (Lesson XXXIII).

'stundum dró (ský [A]) fyrir' (Lesson XXXIII).

(C) Dative in Subject Position

The dative occurs in three types of impersonal construction:

(1) Verbs indicating a physical or emotional state usually have a dative in subject position. Such a construction is also very common with the verb vera + adjective in the neuter N sg, where the adjective indicates a physical or emotional state:

'þat er illa, ef þér mislíkar' (Lesson XXIII).

'honum myndi eigi svá búit eira' (Lesson XVII).

'þú segir mér . . . hversu hverjum var farit bænda þinna' (Lesson XXVIII).

'honum var kært við hváratveggja' (Lesson XIV).

'honum var seint at sér at kippa' (Lesson XXI).

'skapungt er þér nú, frændkona' (Lesson XXIII).

'var honum varmt mjök' (Lesson XXXIII).

(2) With the auxiliary verb verða and the neuter sg form of an adjective or past participle, or with verða and noun-phrase, a dative object in an impersonal construction indicates a change of state that is involuntary, accidental, or unpremeditated. Such constructions usually correspond to English sentences that begin with 'He happened to . . .', 'It came about that . . .', 'He came to . . .', etc.:

'þeim varð mart talat'. (Lesson XXVIII).

'þeim varð fátt at orðum'. (Lesson XXX).

'Ármóði varð við andhlaup'. (Lesson XVII).

(3) A dative object in subject position similarly indicating involuntary action, accidental events, etc., also occurs in an impersonal middle voice construction, as discussed in Lesson XXXII, 1A2 b3:

'honum glapðisk svá mjök sonaeignin'. (Lesson XXVI).

'Hví hvikask þér svá?' (Lesson XXXIII).

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

atgeirr (geir-a-)	halberd
bogi (bogi-)	bow
Hjortr (Hjart-u-)	personal name
höfuðiss (ís-a-)	main (blocks of) ice
íss (ís-a-)	ice
jaxl (jaxl-a-)	molar
Knafahólar [pl]	place-name, 'Narrows Hills'
Kolskeggr (skegg-a-)	personal name
skór (skó-a-)	shoe
vargr (varg-a-)	wolf
Þráinn (Þráin-a-)	personal name
þvengr (þveng-i-)	thong

Feminine:

Rangá (á-a-)	place-name, 'Crooked River'
spöng (spang-)	floe
Þjórsá (á-a-)	place-name, 'Bull River'

Neuter:

fljót (fljót-)	river
gler (gler-)	glass
svell (svell-)	sheet of ice

Adjectives

fámennr (menn-)	having few followers, with few men
fremstr [superlative of framr 'forward'] (fremst-)	foremost
fyrri [comparative] (ok er inn) fyrri	earlier (and is the) first, earlier
háll (hál-)	slippery
úfœrr (fœr-)	impassable

Verbs

bera (ber-) at [+A] berr at	bear down (someone) bears down, swoops down
dvelja (dval-i/j-) dveljask	detain be detained, dwell
fljúga (fljúg-)	fly
hefja (hafj-)	heave
hlaupa (hlauf-)	leap
mikit svell var hlaupit upp	a great sheet of ice was tipped up
hlífa (hlíf-i/j-) [+D]	protect (someone)
hvíka (hvik-a-) [+D] hvikask	wobble, hesitate (someone) hesitates
koma (kom-) við [+D]	make use of (something)
njóta (njút-) [+G]	have benefit of, enjoy (something)
renna (rann-i/j-) fótskriðu rennir þegar af fram fótskriðu	slide on ice immediately goes forward into a skid
setja (Lesson XIV)	set
skjóta (skjút-)	shoot
spretta (sprett-)	spring, jump
stökkva [Lesson XVII] í sundr	break in two stöðva (stöðv-a-)	stop
syfja (syfj-a-) [+A] syfjar	become sleepy (someone) becomes sleepy
sækja [Lesson XIV] at [+D]	attack (someone)
verða (verð-) [+D]	happen (to someone)
verpa (verp-) [+D]	throw (something)
æja (á-i/j-)	stop for a rest

Adverbs

megin	side
öðrum megin	on one side, on the other side
öllum megin	on all sides

mikinn	greatly, fast
skammt	a short distance
uppi	up
Adverbial Phrases
á lopt	aloft
at fram	straight ahead
langt um	by far, by a long stretch
Preposition
at [+D]	towards
Prepositional Phrase
ofan með [+D]	down along

3. Texts

The first of these two selections from Njáls Saga tells of Gunnar's prophetic dream before he engages in a battle that results in the death of his beloved younger brother Hjörtr. Their enemies had news of Gunnar's journey and lay in wait for him and his men by Knafahólar. The second passage describes a fight by the frozen river Markarfljót, where Skarpheðin, his brothers, and Kari lie in wait for Þráinn Sigfússon, ready to avenge themselves upon him and his men as they ride home from a visit to friends.

(A) Njáls saga (Chapter 62): Draumr Gunnars

Nú er þar til at taka, at Gunnarr ríðr austr yfir Þjórsá. En er hann var kominn skammt frá ánni, syfjaði hann mjök, ok bað hann þá æja. Þeir gerðu svá. Hann sofnaði fast ok lét illa í svefni. Kolskeggr mælti: 'Dreymir Gunnar nú.' Hjörtr mælti: 'Vekja vilda draums síns.' Gunnarr lá mjök langa hrið ok varp af sér skikkjunni, ok var honum varmt mjök. Kolskeggr mælti: 'Hvat hefir þik dreymt, frændi?' 'Þat hefir mik dreymt,' segir Gunnarr, 'at ek mynda eigi riðit hafa úr Tungu svá fámennr, ef mik hefði þá þetta dreymt.' Kolskeggr mælti: 'Seg oss draum þinn.' 'Þat dreymði mik,' segir Gunnarr, 'at ek þóttumk ríða fram hjá Knafahólum. Þar þóttumk ek sjá marga varga, ok sóttu þeir allir at mér, en ek snerumk undan fram at Rangá. Þá þótti mér þeir sækja at öllum megin, en vér vörðumk. Ek skaut alla þá, er fremstir váru, þar til er þeir gengu svá at mér, at ek máttu eigi boganum við koma. Tók ek þá sverðit, ok vá ek með annarri hendi, en lagða með atgeirinum annarri hendi. Hlífða ek mér þá ekki, ok þóttumk ek þá eigi vita, hvat mér hlífði.'

(B) Njáls saga (Chapter 92): Bardagi við Markarfljót

Þat varð Skarpheðni, þá er þeir hljópu ofan með fljótinu, at stökk í sundr skópvengr hans, ok dvalðisk hann eptir. 'Hví hvikask þér svá, Skarpheðinn?' segir Grímr. 'Bind ek skó minn', segir Skarpheðinn. 'Förum vér fyrir,' segir Kári. 'Svá lízk mér sem hann muni eigi verða seinni en vér.' Snúa þeir ofan til spangarinnar ok fara mikinn. Skarpheðinn spratt upp þegar, er hann hafði bundit skóinn, ok hafði uppi øxina. Hann hleypr at fram at fljótinu, en fljótit var svá djúpt, at langt var um úfært. Mikit svell var hlaupit upp qðrum megin fljótsins ok svá hált sem gler, ok stóðu þeir Þráinn á miðju svellinu. Skarpheðinn hefr sik á lopt ok hleypr yfir fljótit meðal höfuðisa ok stöðvar sik ok rennir þegar af fram fótskriðu. Svellit var hált mjök, ok fór hann svá hratt sem fugl flygi. Þráinn ætlaði þá at setja á sik hjálminn. Skarpheðin berr nú at fyrri, ok hæggr til Þráins með øxinni, ok kom í höfuðit ok klauf ofan í jaxlana, svá at þeir fellu niðr á ísinn.'

4. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) When he had come a short way from Bull River, Gunnar became very sleepy, and he asked Hjort and Kolskegg to rest.

(B) Gunnar fell fast asleep, and he was restless in his sleep, threw his cloak from himself, and felt very warm.

(C) Hjort wanted to wake him, but Kolskegg said that it would be better if he had benefit of his dream.

(D) When Gunnar awakened, he said to them that he should have dreamt that dream before they had ridden from Tunga.

(E) Gunnar dreamed that he rode forth near Narrows Hills, and he saw many wolves that attacked him.

(F) He dreamed that he shot those who were foremost, until they went at him so that he was not able to use his bow.

(G) Gunnar didn't know what protected him in the dream, but he knew that he did not protect himself.

(H) Those with Skarphedin ran down along the river, when his shoe thong broke in two.

(I) He is detained behind, while Kari and Grim go ahead down onto the floes.

(J) Skarphedin tied his shoe and immediately sprang up and ran to the river.

(K) A great sheet of ice was on the other side of the river, and those with Thrain stood in the middle of the sheet of ice.

(L) Skarphedin jumped and heaved himself aloft, and he went into a skid on the sheet of ice and went as fast as a flying bird.

(M) Thrain saw him and intended to put his helmet on, but Skarphedin bore down and hewed at him with his axe so that it cleaved down into his molars, and they fell down onto the ice.

LESSON XXXIV

1. Grammar

(A) Relative Tense Marking

(1) The auxiliary verb hafa (Lesson XIV) is used to mark relative tense, an event anterior to another, whether in the past or the present:

'sem Njáll hefir sagt' (Lesson XXXIV).

'hafði hann látit heita mungát út þar' (Lesson XXXIV).

(2) The subjunctive is also used to relate one event to another. When a relation between two events is expressed by a conjunction such as áðr 'before', the choice between indicative and subjunctive in the clause introduced by áðr indicates the nature of the relation between the two events. In such sentences as:

'ok hvarf til hans, áðr Egill steig á bak' (Lesson XXXIV).

'heldusk þeir eigi lengi við, áðr þeir váru yfirkomnir af mæði' (Lesson XXI).

'átta jósu þeir við hann, áðr en lauk' (Lesson XXI).

both the verbs are in the indicative mood, while in:

'vil ek, at þú vitir þat, áðr vit sláim kaupi þessu' (Lesson XXV).

'varð hann at kenna aflsmunar, áðr hann kæmi honum undir' (Lesson XX).

the verb in the áðr-clause is in the subjunctive. In the latter type of construction there is a linking of purpose or intent between the two clauses in question, while in the former type of construction the two events are independent of each other except in temporal order. Consider the pair of sentences:

Hann tók sverð sitt ok spjót, áðr hann gekk út.

Hann tók sverð sitt ok spjót, áðr hann gengi út.

The first sentence has the approximate meaning: 'He took his sword and spear before (and then) he went out.' The second sentence has the meaning 'He took his sword and spear before going out (because he wanted to have them with him outside).' Thus the temporally ordered sentences may have a relationship of intent or motivation expressed through the use of the subjunctive.

(B) Perfective Meaning

The auxiliary hafa, indicating an anterior event, implies the perfective meaning, i.e. a completed act or event. But intransitive verbs of motion, such as fara, koma, ganga, etc., draw a further distinction between the relative marking of tense and the perfective aspect. The auxiliary verb vera with a transitive verb in the past participle forms a passive construction, but with intransitive verbs of motion a parallel construction marks the perfective aspect. On the other hand the auxiliary vera with the supine form of an intransitive verb forms an impersonal construction similar to the passive. Consider thus the examples:

- (1) Gunnarr hafði vegit marga menn (perfective).
- (2) Gunnarr hafði snúizk í hauginum, er Skarphedinn ok Hogni sá hann (anterior event).
- (3) Gunnarr var veginn af úvinum sínum (passive).
- (4) Gunnarr hafði komit at Hlíðarenda fyrr um daginn (anterior event).
- (5) Gunnarr var kominn at Hlíðarenda (perfective).
- (6) Komit var at Hlíðarenda um kveldit (impersonal construction).

Note that adjectives can be formed from the participial stems of transitive verbs. Thus from e.g. búa 'prepare, equip' we can have a construction such as:

'öll fong Gunnars váru komin ok skip var mjök búit' (Lesson XXXIV).

Here vera forms a perfective with the intransitive verb and enters into a predicate adjective construction that superficially resembles a passive. Consider the use of the verbs hafa and vera in the texts of Lessons XXXIV and XXXV, especially such sentences as:

- 'var kveðit á um vikustef nokkut' (Lesson XXXIV).
'er svá var liðit, bjósk Egill til ferðar' (Lesson XXXIV).

'Gunnarr var ljóslitaðr ok réttnefjaðr' (Lesson XXXV).
'Egill var svarteygr ok skolbrúnn' (Lesson XXXV).

(C) Future

The present tense form is essentially neutral in meaning and can be used to convey future meaning in an appropriate context:

'Þegar skal ek láta þik hafa silfr, er ek veit, er þú þarft' (Lesson XXXIV).

The future can also be indicated with the auxiliary munu (Lesson XXII), comparable to the use of 'will' or 'shall' in English:

- 'svá mun allt fara, sem Njáll hefir sagt' (Lesson XXXIV).
'hvergi mun ek fara' (Lesson XXXIV).
'skilja mun með okkr' (Lesson XXXIV).
'ek mun spyrja þik látinn' (Lesson XXXIV).

But munu can also be assumptive in meaning and not signalize a future tense, as in:

- 'svá þykkir mér, sem þú munir þykkjask skipt hafa lausafé með okkr' (Lesson XXXIV).
'þú munt engis lofs þykkjask þurfa at biðja' (Lesson XXXIV).

Usually the sense of munu can be interpreted from the sentence context itself, but sometimes the distinction between the two meanings can only be determined in terms of the extended narrative.

(D) The Historical Present

Although Old Icelandic has a distinct formal contrast between past and present tense, the present tense forms are regularly used in past tense narrative. This is more a stylistic than grammatical feature of the language, but certain conditions of usage must be observed. That is, the passage where the historical present occurs must introduce the past tense form at the beginning of the narrative, and the two tenses must alternate frequently in longer passages. Although comparable use of the present tense is possible in English, it is much more limited in usage. Throughout Old Icelandic literature the historical present is used regularly as a normal feature of the narrative. Consider its stylistic effects by comparing the passages from Njáls saga and Egils saga in the texts below and the sense of immediacy and vividness conveyed by the use of the present.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

Aðalsteinn (stein-a-)	personal name, Aethelstan, King of England
eirketill (katil-a-)	brass kettle
handarkrika (kriki-)	armpit
í handarkrika	under the arm
hellusteinn (stein-a-)	flat stone, slab
Lambastaðir [pl]	place-name, 'Lambi's Stead'
söðull (söðul-a-)	saddle
úvinafagnaðr (fagnað-i-)	joy to one's enemies

Feminine:

Ásgerðr (gerðj-a-)	personal name
hlíð (hlíð-i-)	slope
Krumskelda (kelda-)	place-name, 'Krum's Bog'
útferð (ferð-i-)	journey out (to Iceland)
vara (vara-)	wares, goods
veizla (veizla-)	feast

Neuter:

bak (bak-)	back
stíga (stíg-) á bak	mount (a horse)
föng [pl]	provisions
kné (kné-) [D pl = knjám ]	knee
lof (lof-)	leave, permission
vikustef (stef-)	week's notice

Adjectives

bleikr (bleik-)	pale
féfar (fá-)	short of money
jafnfagr (fagr-)	equally fair
látinn (látin-) [participle of látask (lát-)]	dead
sannr (sann-) [neut N/A sg = satt ]	true
hafa fyrir satt	be convinced
sleginn (slegin-) [participle of slá (Lesson XX)]	mown, cut

Pronouns

annat hvárt	either (of two)
hvát sem	whatever

Numeral

tiu	ten
-----	-----

Verbs

drepa (drep-) [+D]	strike
drepa föti	stumble
greiða (greið-i/j-)	pay
halda (Lesson XXI) [+A] til [+G]	draw (someone) to (something)
heita (heit-i/j-)	brew
heita (heit-) [+D]	promise (something)
hitta (hitt-i/j-)	meet
hugna (hugn-a-)	please
[+D] hugnar	(someone) is pleased
hugsa (hugs-a-)	think, consider
hverfa (hverf-)	turn
hverfa til [+G]	turn to, embrace (someone)
kveða (kveð-) á	decide, determine
líta (lít-)	look
honum varð litit upp	he happened to look up
níðask (níð-i/j-) á [+D]	act basely in (something)
reiða (reið-i/j-)	carry on horseback
rjúfa (rjúf-)	break, violate
skilja (skil-i/j-)	part skilr með [+D]	there is a parting of ways for (some) spyrja (spur-i/j-)	find out (by being told)
stikla (stíkl-a-)	leap
stinga (sting-) [+D]	stick, thrust (something)
stökkva [Lesson XVII]	spring, leap
sýnask (sýn-i/j-) [+D]	appear (to someone)
trúa (trú-i-) [+D] til [+G]	trust (someone) in (something)
ætla (ætl-a-) sér	intend (for oneself)
ætla (ætl-a-) [+D]	expect (of someone)

Adverbs

alfari	forever, for good
feginsamliga	joyfully
hvernig	how

noðkkuru	somewhat
noðkkut	about
síðar	later
snemmendis	early
útan	abroad

Prepositions

fyrir [+A]	before
ór (=úr) [+D]	out of

3. Texts

The first selection here relates one of the dramatic climaxes of Njáls saga, where Gunnar, having been sentenced to exile, prepares to leave for abroad with his surviving brother, Kolskegg, only to change his mind at the last moment and remain behind in Iceland and meet his fate there.

The second passage is from Egils saga. Egil's brother had been killed fighting for King Aethelstan of England in the battle of Brunanburgh. As compensation Aethelstan gave Egil two chests of silver coins, to be delivered to Skalla-Grim. But both father and son are extremely reluctant to share their treasure with others.

(A) Njáls saga (Chapter 75): Gunnarr ok Kolskeggr

Gunnarr lætr flytja vöru þeirra bræðra til skips. Ok þá er öll fong Gunnars váru komin ok skip var mjök búit, þá riðr Gunnarr til Bergþórshváls ok á aðra bæi at finna menn ok þakkaði liðveizlu öllum þeim, er honum höfðu lið veitt. Annan dag eptir býr hann snemmendis ferð sína til skips ok sagði þá öllu liði, at hann myndi riða í braut alfari, ok þótti monnum þat mikitt, en væntu þó tilkvámu hans síðar. Gunnarr hverfr til allra manna, er hann var búinn, ok gengu menn út með honum allir. Hann stingr niðr atgeirinum ok stiklar í sǫðulinn, ok riða þeir Kolskeggr í braut. Þeir riða fram at Markarfljóti, þá drap hestr Gunnars fœti, ok stókk hann ór sǫðlinum. Honum varð litit upp til hlíðarinnar ok bæjarins at Hlíðarenda ok mælti: 'Foggr er hlíðin, svá at mér hefir hon aldri jafnfoggr sýnzkr, bleikir akrar ok slegin tún, ok mun ek riða heim aprt ok fara hvergi.' 'Ger þú eigi þann úvinafagnað', segir Kolskeggr, 'at þú rjúfir sætt þína, því at þér myndi engi maðr þat ætla. Ok máttu þat hugsa, at svá mun allt fara sem Njáll hefir sagt.' 'Hvergi mun ek fara', segir Gunnarr, 'ok svá vilda ek, at þú gerðir.' 'Eigi skal þat', segir Kolskeggr, 'hvárki skal ek á þessu niðask ok engu oðru, því er mér er til trúat, ok mun sjá einn hlutr svá vera, at skilja mun með okkr. En seg þú þat frændum mínum ok móður minni, at ek ætla mér ekki at sjá Ísland, því at ek mun spyrja þik látinn, frændi, ok heldr mik þá ekki til útferðar.' Skilr þar með þeim, ok riðr Gunnarr heim til Hlíðarenda, en Kolskeggr til skips ok ferr útan.

(B) Egils saga (Chapter 58): Egill ok Skalla-Grimr

Þat var þá um haustit noðkkuru fyrir vetr, at Þórðr reið inn til Borgar at hitta Egil, frænda sinn, ok bauð honum heim til veizlu. Hafði hann látit heita mungát út þar. Egill hét ferðinni, ok var kveðit á vikustef noðkkut. Ok er svá var liðit, bjósk Egill til ferðar ok með honum Ásgerðr, kona hans. Váru þau saman tíu eða tólf. Ok er Egill var búinn, þá gekk Skalla-Grimr út með honum ok hvarf til hans, áðr Egill steig á bak, ok mælti: 'Seint þykkir mér þú, Egill, hafa greitt fé þat, er Aðalsteinn konungr sendi mér, eða hvernig ætlar þú, at fara skyli fé þat?' Egill segir: 'Er þér nú féfátt mjök, faðir? Ek vissa þat eigi. Þegar skal ek láta þik hafa silfr, er ek veit, er þú þarft, en ek veit at þú munt enn hafa at varðveita eina kistu eða tvær, fullar af silfri.' 'Svá þykkir mér', segir Skalla-Grimr, 'sem þú munir þykkjask skipt hafa lausafé með okkr. Muntu láta þér vel hugna, at ek gera slíkt, er mér líkar, af því er ek varðveiti.' Egill segir: 'Þú munt engis lofs þykkjask þurfa at biðja mik um þetta, því at þú munt ráða vilja, hvat sem ek mæli.' Síðan reið Egill í brott, þar til er hann kom á Lambastaði. Var þar tekit við honum vel ok feginsamliga. Skyldi hann þar sitja þrjár nætr. Þat sama kveld, er Egill hafði heiman farit, lét Skalla-Grimr sǫðla sér hest. Reið hann þá heiman, er aðrir menn fóru at sofa. Hann reiddi í knjám sér kistu vel mikla, en hann hafði í handarkrika sér eirkitil, er hann fór í brott. Hafa menn þat síðan fyrir satt, at hann hafi látit fara annat hvárt eða bæði í Krumskeldu ok látit þar fara á ofan hellustein mikinn.

4. Translations

Translate the following sentences into Old Icelandic:

(A) When the ship was prepared, Gunnar rode to Bergthorshval and to other farms in order to (til þess at) thank all men who had granted him aid.

(B) The next day Gunnar prepared (for) his journey and said to all that he would never come back.

(C) On the journey to the ship Gunnar's horse stumbles, and he springs from the saddle.

(D) He happened to look up to the slope and to the farm at Slope's End, and it seemed to him that the pale fields and the mown home meadows had never been so fair.

(E) After that he wanted to ride back home and journey nowhere, but Kolskegg said that it would be a joy to his enemies if he were to violate his settlement and did not go.

(F) Kolskegg said to Gunnar that everything would go as Njal had said, if Gunnar rode home, but Gunnar wanted to do so.

(G) Kolskegg said that he would travel with the ship and never more see Iceland, because he would find out that Gunnar was dead.

(H) Before Egil mounted his horse, Skalla-Grim turned to him and said that Egil seemed to him to have paid out slowly the money that King Aethelstan had sent him.

(I) Egil answered that he knew that Skalla-Grim kept one or two chests full of silver and that he didn't need any.

(J) That same evening when Egil had ridden from home, Skalla-Grim rode with a great chest and a brass kettle to Krum's Bog.

(K) Men have since been convinced that Skalla-Grim let one of the two or both go into the bog and put (léti fara) a great slab on top.

LESSON XXXV

1. Grammar

(A) Derivations

The numerous derivational processes in Old Icelandic display only a handful of phonological regularities that can be stated as rules of the grammar. These involve particularly the derivation of certain weak verbs and the phonology of some derived nouns and adjectives.

(1) Derived verbs

(a) The a-thematic verbs: although a great majority of a-thematic weak verbs are derived from nominal or adjectival stems (e.g. kalla 'call' v. kall 'a call', sanna 'prove' v. sannr 'true', etc.), some derive from verbal stems. Most numerous among these are the n-suffixed inchoative verbs:

sofa (svef-, sof-) 'sleep'	sofna 'fall asleep'
vaka (vak-i-) 'be awake'	vakna 'awaken' (intr.)
þegja (þag-i/j-) 'be silent'	þagna 'fall silent'
brjóta (past part: brot-) 'break' (trans.)	brotna 'fall apart, break'

Other n-suffixed verbs are derived from adjectival stems, such as batna 'get better' (betri = (bat-+ -ri)), etc.

(b) The i/j-thematic verbs: an i/j-thematic causative verb can be derived from the second principal part (past singular stem) of a strong verb. This process was productive in Proto-Germanic, but probably no longer in Old Icelandic, although a large number of such verbs occur. Consider the following examples:

sitja (sitj-) 'sit'	setja (sat-i/j-) 'set'
liggja (lig(g)j-) 'lie'	leggja (lag(g)-i/j-) 'lay'
skjalla (skell-) 'clash'	skella (skall-i/j-) 'cause to clash'
hlaupa [Lesson XXI] 'leap'	hleypa (hlaup-i/j-) 'make leap'

The strong verb, usually intransitive, and the corresponding derived transitive verb are not always so clearly linked in meaning, since either verb may have undergone a semantic change:

hefja (hafj-) 'heave, raise'	hæfa (hóf-i/j-) 'hit'
fara (far-) 'go'	færa (fór-i/j-) 'move, bring'
riða (ríð-) 'ride'	reiða (reið-i/j-) 'carry on horseback'

Other i/j-thematic verbs are derived from adjectival or nominal stems:

nafn (nafn-) 'a name'	nefna (nafn-i/j-) 'to name'
kapp (kapp-) 'a contest'	keppa (kapp-i/j-) 'to compete'

(2) Derived Nouns and Adjectives: the derivational processes for nouns and adjectives are more numerous than those for verbs, involving a large number of derivational morphemes and phonological processes. For example, a noun or adjective may derive from any of the four variants that correspond to the stems of a strong verb. Thus, for example, the masculine noun roði (roði-) 'redness' and the adjective rauðr (rauð-) 'red' correspond to different stems of the strong verb rjóða (rjúð-) 'colour red', as do the inchoative weak verb roðna (roðn-a-) 'redden, blush', and the adjective rjóðr 'reddish'.

Few generalizations can be made about these derivational relationships, and they cannot properly be considered part of the rules of the grammar in the narrower sense. For our present purposes, however, we may consider the phonological changes occurring in certain instances of noun and adjective derivation.

Nouns derived with -ð-, -ing-, or -ling- undergo fronting of the stem vowel, as in the feminine noun hæð 'height', which derives from the stem of the adjective hár (há-) 'high'; Hjarðhylltingr 'man from Hjarðarholt' (hult-/holt-) and Kaldbeklingr 'man from Kaldbakr' (bak-) show the same fronting of the original stem vowel.

Adjectives derived with -ð- or zero similarly show i-umlaut of the stem vowel, as in eygr, eygðr 'eyed' derived from the neuter noun auga (auga-) 'eye'; hærðr 'haired' from the neuter noun hár (hár-) 'hair', syndr 'able to swim' from the neuter noun sund (sund-) 'swimming', etc. A number of adjectives derived from nouns with the suffix -sk- also undergo fronting of the stem vowel, as in islenzkr 'Icelandic', from Ísland, etc. Not all derivations with -sk- cause fronting of the stems vowel: danskr (dansk-) 'Danish' derives from the first component of Danmörk 'Denmark' without any shift of the stressed vowel. A number of adjectives derived with -in- further show fronting of the stem-vowel: heppinn 'lucky' from neuter happ 'luck', etc. Apart from these cases, an i otherwise occurring in a derivational morpheme will not cause i-umlaut, as, for example, auðigr 'wealthy' from masculine auðr 'wealth'; masculine jafningi 'equal' derived from the adjective jafn 'even, equal', etc.

Finally, a u in a derivational suffix will cause u-umlaut, as in viðforull 'widely travelled' which derives from the stems of (við-) 'wide' and (far-) 'go, journey'; völdugr 'mighty' derived from the stem (vald-) as in neuter vald 'power, might' and the verb valda 'cause'.

(B) Compounds

Old Icelandic is rich in compounded words, i.e. single words compounded of two or more lexical stems. These are of two basic kinds:

(1) Compounds where the first constituent stem is a noun in the genitive case, as e.g. vikustef, hellustein, handarkriki, brúnamikill, etc. These compounds are essentially noun-phrases of possession or attribution treated syntactically and morphologically like a single word.

(2) Compounds where the first constituent is uninflected, and consists of the stem form of a noun, adjective, verb, or adverb. Such compounds are innumerable in the language, and can be used in forming nouns, such as tanngarðr 'row of teeth', herklæði 'suit of armour', útibúr 'storehouse', etc.; verbs such as fyrirbjóða 'forbid', varðveita 'preserve', fulltingja 'support', etc.; or adjectives such as rauðskeggjaðr 'red-bearded', bláeygr 'blue-eyed', etc. Note that Old Icelandic is particularly rich in such compound adjectives, as can be seen from the texts in this lesson.

2. Vocabulary

Nouns

Masculine:

jafningi (jafningi-)

equal, match

kjálki (kjálki-)	jaw
leikr (leik-a-)	sport, game
liðr (lið-u-)	joint, bump
roði (roði-)	redness
selr (sel-a-)	seal
sveipr (sveip-i-)	curl, wave over the forehead
tanngarðr (garð-a-)	row of teeth
yfirlitr (lit-i-, lit-u-)	looks, appearance
Feminine:
brún (brún-)	brow
Fljótshlíð (hlíð-i-)	place-name, 'River Slope, Slope of Markarfljót '
haka (haka-)	chin
hárrót (rót-)	hair line
hirð (hirð-i-)	king's court
hæð (hæð-i-)	height
kinn (kinn-)	cheek
vápnfimi (fimi-)	skill in arms
Neuter:
granstœði (stœðj-)	lips, where the beard grows
herklæði [pl]	armour
nef (nefj-)	nose
skeið (skeið-)	a course of time
annat skeið	every now and then
slíðr [pl]	scabbard
Adjectives auðigr (auðig-)	wealthy
bláeygr (eygj-)	blue-eyed breiðr (breið-)	broad
brúnamikill (mikil-)	bushy-browed
digr (digr-)	stout
dökkur (dökkv-)	dark
ennibreiðr (breið-)	broad of forehead
fémildir (mild-)	open-handed, generous
fóthvatr (hvat-)	swift-footed
fólleitr (leit-)	pale-faced
gagnorðr (orð-)	short-spoken
gneyptr (gneypt-)	with bowed head
grimmliqr (grimmliq-)	fierce
gulr (gul-)	yellow
hálftr (hálf-)	half
hálsdigr (digr-)	thick-necked

hár (há(v)-)	high, tall
harðgörr (görv-)	hardy, stout
harðleitr (leit-)	hard-faced
herðimikill (mikil-)	broad-shouldered
hærðr (hærð-)	haired
jarpr (jarp-)	brown
kurteiss (kurteis-)	courteous, gentle
ljóslitaðr (litað-)	light-complexioned
munnljótr (ljót-)	ugly-mouthed
reiðr (reið-)	wroth, angry
réttnefjaðr (nefjað-)	straight-nosed skarpleitr (leit-)	sharp-featured
skjótorðr (orð-)	quick-spoken
skjótráðr (ráð-)	quick in decisions
skolbrunn (brún-)	dark brown, swarthy
skollóttur (skollótt-)	bald
snareygr (eygj-)	keen-eyed
stilltr (stillt-)	even-tempered
styrkr (styrk-)	strong
svarteygr (eygj-)	black-eyed
úlfrgrár (grá-)	wolf-gray
uppréttur (rétt-)	upright
víðr (víð-)	wide
vinavandr (vand-)	particular as to friends
vinafastr (fast-)	firm in friendship
þykkur (þykkv-)	thick
öruggur (örugg-)	reliable

Verbs

bera (ber-) frá	stand out, surpass
[+A] berr frá [+D]	(something) surpasses (something)
hefja (hafj-)	heave, raise
nefit var hafit	the nose was tilted
hleypa (hlaup-i/j-) [+D]	make (something) jump
höefa (hóf-i/j-)	hit
keppa (kapp-i/j-)	compete
rita (rit-a-)	write
skella (skall-i/j-)	make slam, clash

Adverbs

ákafliqa	intensely, very
furðuliga	amazingly, remarkably

lǫngum	for the most part
skemmra	shorter
ýmsum	variously, alternately

Adverbial Phrases

í framanvert	in the front
ofan eða upp	now down, now up

3. Texts

The first passage here is from Egils saga and describes Egil at King Aethelstan's court after the death of his brother Thorolf in the battle of Brunanburgh. The second and third passages are from Njáls saga describing the appearance and prowess of the warrior-heroes, Gunnar and the sons of Njal. Such description of individuals, including both physical and other characteristics, regularly introduces characters in the sagas. In the case of Egil, his physical description occurs long after he has entered the story; so far the reader has only been told of his words and deeds.

(A) Egils saga (Chapter 55): *Egill við hirð Aðalsteins konungs

Egill settisk þar niðr ok skaut skildinum fyrir foetr sér. Hann hafði hjálm á höfði ok lagði sverðit um kné sér ok dró annat skeið til hálfis, en þá skelldi hann aprt í slíðrin. Hann sat upp rétt ok var gneypttr mjök. Egill var mikilleitr, ennibreiðr, brúnamikill, nefit ekki langt, en ákafliga digrt, granstœðit vítt ok langt, hakan breið furðuliga, ok svá allt um kjálkana, hálsdigr ok herðimikill, svá at þat bar frá því, sem aðrir menn váru, harðleitr ok grimmligr, þá er hann var reiðr. Hann var vel í vexti ok hverjum manni hæri, úlfgrátt hárit ok þykkt ok varð snimma skollótt. En er hann sat, sem fyrr var ritat, þá hleypði hann annarri brúninni ofan á kinnina, en annarri upp á hárrœtr. Egill var svarteygr ok skolbrúnn. Ekki vildi hann drekka, þó at honum væri borit, en ýmsum hleypði hann brúnunum ofan eða upp.

(B) Njáls saga (Chapter 19): *Vápnfimi Gunnars

Gunnarr Hámundarson bjó at Hlíðarenda í Fljótshlíð. Hann var mikill maðr vexti ok sterkr, manna bezt vígr. Hann hjó báðum hondum ok skaut, ef hann vildi, ok hann vá svá skjótt með sverði, at þrjú þóttu á lopti at sjá. Hann skaut manna bezt af boga ok höfði allt þat, er hann skaut til. Hann hljóp meir en hæð sína með ǫllum herklæðum, ok eigi skemmra aprt en fram fyrir sik. Hann var syndr sem selr, ok eigi var sá leikr, at nokkurr þyrfti við hann at keppa, ok hefir svá verit sagt, at engi væri hans jafningi. Hann var vænn at yfirliti ok ljóslitaðr, réttnefjaðr ok hafit upp í framanvert, bláeygr ok snareygr ok roði í kinnunum. Hárit mikit, gult, ok fór vel. Manna kurteisast var hann, harðgörr í ǫllu, fémildr ok stilltr vel, vinfastr ok vinavandr. Hann var vel auðigr at fé.

(C) Njáls saga (Chapter 25): *Frá Njálssonum

Nú skal nefna sonu Njáls. Skarpheðinn hét inn elzti. Hann var mikill maðr vexti ok styrkr, vígr vel, syndr sem selr, manna fóthvatastr, skjótráðr ok øruggr, gagnorðr ok skjótorðr, en þó lǫngum vel stilltr. Hann var jarpr á hár ok sveipr í hárinu, eygðr vel, fólleitr ok skarpleitr, liðr á nefi ok lá hátt tanngarðrinn, munnljótr nokkut ok þó manna hermannligastr. Grímr hét annarr sonr Njáls. Hann var dökkur á hár ok fríðari sýnum en Skarpheðinn, mikill ok sterkr. Helgi hét inn þriðri sonr Njáls. Hann var fríðr maðr sýnum ok hærðr vel. Hann var sterkr maðr ok vígr vel. Hann var vitr maðr ok stilltr vel.

GLOSSARY

á (á-a-) [f]	river	IV
á [1st, 3rd sg pres ind of eiga (Lesson XXII)]	has, possesses	XI(A)
[v]
á [+A] [prep]	onto	XIII(A)
á [+D] [prep]	on, at, etc.	II
Aðalsteinn (stein-a-) [m]	personal name (Aethelstan, king of England)	XXXIV(B)
Aðalvík (vík-) [f]	place-name, 'Main Bay'	VI
áður [adv]	before	VI
aðra (annar-) [m A pl (Lesson XXIV)] [pron]	other(s)	V
aðrar (annar-) [f N pl (Lesson XXIV)] [pron]	other(s)	II
áður en [conj]	before	XXI(A)
aðrir (annar-) [m N pl (Lesson XXIV)] [pron]	other(s)	XX(B)
á bak [+D] [prep phrase]	behind, to the back of	XX(A)
á baki [+D] [prep phrase]	behind, in the back of	XVI(C)
á braut [adv phrase]	away	XII(B)
á brott [adv phrase]	away	XIII(B)
áburðarmaður (mann-) [m]	dandy	XI(B)
af [+D] [prep]	off, from, etc.	III
	by [in passive construc- tions]	XXIII(B)
afraun (raun-i-) [f]	trial by strength	XVI(A) afismunr (mun-i-) [m]	difference in strength	XX(A)
áfram [adv]	forward	XXI(B)
af því [adv phrase]	because of this	XXVI(B)
ágætr (ágæt-) [adj]	excellent	XXX(B)
aka (ak-) [+D] [v]	drive (something)	XX(A)
akkeri (akkerj-) [n]	anchor	XIII(A)
akr (akr-a-) [m]	field	IV
albetr [adv]	more perfectly	XXVIII(B)
vera albetr at sér	be more perfect
albeztr (bezt-) [adj]	very best	XI(A)
albúinn (búin-) [adj]	completely equipped	XXX(B)
aldr (aldr-a-) [m]	age	XXII(A)

aldregi [adv]	never	XVII(B)
aldri [adv]	never	XII(A)
alfari [adv]	for good, forever	XXXIV(A)
álfr (álf-a-) [m]	elf	IV
alkristinn (kristin-) [adj]	completely Christian	XXX(A) allglaður (glað-) við [+A] [adj]	very joyful at (something)	XXX(A)
allillr (ill-) [adj]	very bad	XXXI(A)
allkærr (kær-) [adj]	very dear, beloved	XIII(B)
allr (all-) [pron]	all	II
með öllu	altogether	XIII(B)
alls konar [adv phrase]	of all kinds	XIX(A)
allt [adv]	all the way	XXII(B)
almenning (almenning-a-) [f]	common land	VI
almæli (almælj-) [n]	general report	XXVIII(B)
á lopt [adv phrase]	aloft	XXXII(B)
ambátt (ambátt-i-) [f]	bondwoman	XI(B)
á miðju gólfi [prep phrase]	in the middle of the floor	II
á milli [+G] [prep phrase]	between	XXIX(A)
amma (amma-) [f]	grandmother	XII(A)
á móti [+D] [prep phrase]	towards	XVI(C)
Án [irreg N sg] (Án-u-) [m]	personal name	XV(A) andhlaup (hlaup-) [n]	suffocation	XVII(A)
andlát (lát-) [n]	last breath, death	XX(A) andlit (lit-) [n]	face	XVII(A)
annan (annar-) [m A sg] [adj]	(an)other	V
annarr (annar-) [pron]	(an)other	III
annarr (annar-) [num]	one (of the two)	XXVII(B)
annars staðar [adv phrase]	elsewhere	X
annat (annar-) [n N/A sg] [num]	second	XXII(A)
annat (annar-) [n N/A sg] [pron]	other	XIII(B)
annat hvárt [pron]	either (of two)	XXXIV(B)
aptr [adv]	backwards, back	XXIX(A)
ár (ár-) [n]	year	XXIX(A)
arfásata (sáta-)	chickweed rick	IX
Ari (Ari-) [m]	personal name	XXIX(A)

Ármóðr (móð-u-) [m]	personal name	XVII(A)
Arnarson (Lesson VI) [m]	patronymic, 'son of Örn'	I
Arnbjörn (bjarn-u-) [m]	personal name	XXI(B)
Arnkell (Arnkel-a-) [m]	personal name	XX(A)
[D: Arnkatli]
Arnórr (Arnór-a-) [m]	personal name	XVI(B)
ásamt [+D] [prep]	together with	IX
ásátttr (sátt-) [adj]	agreed	XIV(B)
Ásgerðr (gerðj-a-) [f]	personal name	XXXIV(B)
Ásgrímr (grím-a-) [m]	personal name	XV(B)
Ásmundr (-mund-u-) [m]	personal name	X
ást (ást-i-) [f]	love	XXXI(A)
Ásta (Ásta-) [f]	personal name	XXVII(A)
ástriki (ríkj-) [n]	love, parental love	XVI(B)
á sumar fram [adv phrase]	all the way to summer	XXII(B)
at [+D] [prep]	at, towards, etc.	III
at [+D] [prep]	by	XXIX(A)
at sólargangi	by the course of the sun
at váru tali	by our count
at [+infinitive] [particle]	to [+infinitive]	VI
at [conj]	that	XI(A)
at fram [adv phrase]	straight ahead	XXXIII(B)
atgeirr (geir-a-) [m]	halberd	XXXIII(A)
atgørvi (gørvj-) [n]	accomplishment	XXVIII(A)
at meir [adv phrase]	all the more	XXXI(A)
átt [supine of eiga (Lesson XXII)]	left behind	XIII(B)
[v]
átta [num]	eight	XXI(A)
átti [3rd sg past ind of eiga (Lesson XXII)]	had; had for a wife	V
[v]
átti [3rd sg past ind of eiga (Lesson XXII)]	took part in a battle	X
í bardaga [v]
áttu [3rd pl past ind of eiga (Lesson XXII)]	had	V
[v]
at vísu [adv phrase]	certainly, indeed	XXX
at öðrum [prep phrase]	after the other	XXXVI(A) auðgastr (auðgast-) [superlative of auðigr (auðig-)] [adj]	richest, wealthiest	XXV

auðigr (auðig-) [adj]	rich, wealthy	XXXV(B)
Auðr (Auðj-a-) [f]	personal name	VI
auðsæstr (sæst-) [superlative of auðsær (sæj-)] [adj]	most obvious	XXVI(B)
auga (auga-) [n]	eye	XVII(A)
auka (auk-) [+D] [v]	increase, augment; add (something)	XXIX(A) aukask (auk-) at [+D] [v]	be augmented by (something)	XXIX(A)
þá as eyksk . . . at viku	then when it is augmented . . . by a week
aukvisi (aukvisi-) [m]	degenerate person	XXVI(B)
ausa (aus-) [v]	bail, ladle	XXI(A)
ausa upp [+A]	bail out (something)
austan [+G] [prep]	to the east of	VIII
Austfirðir (fjarð-u-) [m] [pl]	place-name, 'East Firths'	VI
austr (austr-a-) [m]	bailing	XXI(A)
austr [adv]	towards the east	XXXII(B)
ávallt [adv]	always	XXVIII(B)
bað [3rd sg past ind of biðja (biðj-)] [v]	requested, asked	XV(B)
báðir (báð-) [m N] [pron]	both	XIII(A)
bak (bak-) [n]	back	XXXIV(B)
stíga (stíg-) á bak	mount (a horse)
bakki (bakki-) [m]	back edge of a short sword	XVI(C)
bál (bál-) [n]	fire, pyre	IX
banar [3rd sg pres ind of bana (ban-a-) [+D] [v]	kills, slays	III
bani (bani-) [m]	death, bane	IX
Bárðr (Bárð-u-) [m]	personal name	XII(B)
Barðsvík (vík-) [f]	place-name, 'Edgehill Bay'	VI
bardagi (bardagi-) [m]	battle	IX
barn (barn-) [n]	child	VII
barnsaldr (aldr-a-) [m]	childhood	XVI(A) báru [3rd pl past ind of bera (ber-)]	carried	XIII(A)
batna (batn-a-) [v]	get better, improve	XIX(B)
beðit [supine of biðja (biðj-)] [+G] [v]	asked for	XI(B)
beiða (beið-i/j-) [+A] at [+inf] [v]	ask (someone) to [+inf]	XXXI(B)

beiða (beið-i/j-) [+A] [+G] [v]	ask (someone) (for something)	XXXI(B)
beita (beit-i/j-) [v]	harness	XX(B)
beittir [m N pl of beittir (beitt-), participle of beita (beit-i/j-)] [v]	harnessed	XX(A)
békkjargjof (gjaf-a-) [f]	gift from the groom to the bride	XXX(B)
bekkr (bekk-i-) [m]	bench	II
bellinn (bellin-) [adj]	tricky	XVI(A)
belti (beltj-) [n]	belt	XXII(A)
Bera (Bera-) [f]	personal name	VII
bera (ber-) [v]	carry, bear	IX
þik skal bera út	you shall be carried out	XII(A)
bera (ber-) á [v] [+A] berr á	encroach (something) encroaches	XXXII(A)
bera (ber-) at [v] [+A] berr at	bear down (someone) bears down, swoops down	XXXIII(B)
bera (ber-) frá [v]	stand out	XXVII(B)
bera (ber-) fyrir [v] [+A] berr fyrir [+A]	pass before (something) passes before (someone)	XXXII(B)
bera (ber-) [+D] í hendr [v]	befall (one), be one's lot	XIX(A)
bera (ber-) til [v] þat berr enn til svá berr til	happen, be the case it happens yet again such is the case	XXIV(B) XXIV(B) XXV
bera (ber-) yfir [v] [+A] berr yfir	carry onwards (someone) is carried, borne onwards	XXXII(B)
berask (ber-) at [v]	happen	XXXI(B)
Berðlu-Káradóttir (Lesson XXVI) [f]	patronymic, 'daughter of Berðlu-Kári '	VII
berdreymr (dreym-) [adj]	having prophetic dreams	XXIV(A)
berg (berg-) [n]	precipice, rock	XVI(B)
Bergþóra (þóra-) [f]	personal name	IX
Bergþorshváll (hvál-a-) [m]	place-name, 'Bergthor's Knoll'	IX
berjask (bar-i/j-) [v]	fight	XXXI(B)
betr [adv]	better	XXVI(B)
betri (betr-) [wk adj] miklu betra	better much better	XII(A)
beztr (bezt-) [adj]	best	XXI(A)

biða (bið-) [+G] [v]	await (someone)	XV(A)
biða (bið-) [+A] [v]	suffer, undergo (something)	IX
biðja (biðj-) [+G] [v] biðja [+A] [+G]	ask for (something) ask (someone) (for something)	XI(A) XIX(A)
biðja [+A] [+inf]	ask (someone) (to [+inf])	XIX(B)
biðu [3rd pl past ind of biða (bið-)] [+G] [v]	awaited	XIII(A)
bik (bik-) [n]	pitch	XXXII(B)
bil (bil-) [n]	moment	XXX(B)
binda (bind-) [v]	bind, tie	XXIII(A)
bíta (bit-) [v]	bite	XVI(A)
Bjálfason (Lesson VI) [m]	patronymic, 'son of Bjálfi '	VII
bjarg (bjarg-) [n]	rock, boulder	XVI(A)
Bjarneyjar [f pl]	place-name, 'Bear Islands'	XXII(B)
bjartastr (bjartast-) [adj] sem bjartastir	brightest as bright as possible	XXIV(A)
bjartr (bjart-) [adj]	bright	XXXII(A)
bjó [3rd sg past ind of búa (Lesson XXI)] [v]	lived	V
bjó [3rd sg past ind of búa (Lesson XXI)] um [v]	prepared, arranged	XX(A)
bjóða (bjúð-) [v]	offer	XII(A) bjuggusk [3rd pl past ind of búask (Lesson XXI)] um [v]	encamped	XIII(A)
björn (bjarn-u-) [m]	bear	XVI(A)
bláeygr (eygi-) [adj]	blue-eyed	XXXV(B)
blanda (bland-a-) [v]	mix	XVII(B)
blása (blás-) við [v]	sigh	XXVI(B)
bleikr (bleik-) [adj]	pale	XXXIV(A)
blíðr (blíð-) [adj]	pleasant, mild	IV
blóð (blóð-) [n]	blood	X
blæða (blóð-i/j-) [v]	bleed	XXII(B)
boð (boð-) [n] hafa [+A] í boði sínu	invitation, banquet entertain (someone)	XIV(A) XXVII(B)
bogi (bogi-) [m]	bow	XXXIII(A)
Bolli (Bolli-) [m]	personal name	XIV(A) bólstaðr (stað-i-) [m]	farm, homestead	V
bónði (Lesson XXVI) [m]	husband	XXII(B)
	farmer	XXVI(A)
bónorð (orð-) [n]	proposal	XI(B)

borð (borð-) [n]	table	II
borg (borg-i-) [f]	fortification, city dome-shaped hill	III V
Borgarfjörðr (fjarð-u-) [m]	place-name, 'Borg Firth'	VI
Borgarhraun (hraun-) [n]	place-name, 'Lava Field of Borg'	VII
brá [3rd sg past ind of bregða (Lesson XVII)] [+D] [v]	drew (a sword, knife, etc.)	XVI(C)
bráðgörr (görr-) [adj]	precocious	XVI(A)
brandr (brand-a-) [m]	firebrand	XXXII(B)
brátt [adv]	soon	XVII(A)
Brattahlíð (hlíð-i-) [f]	place-name, 'Steep Slope'	V
brauð (brauð-) [n]	bread	II
brautflutning (flutning-a-) [f]	carrying off	XVIII(B)
brauzk [3rd sg past ind of brjótask (brjút-)] [v]	struggled	XVI(B)
bregða (Lesson XVII) [+D] [v]	change (something)	XXIV(B)
Breiðafjarðareyjar [f pl]	place-name, 'Broad Firth Islands'	VI
breiðfirzkr (firzk-) [adj]	from Breiðfjörðr	XXIX(A)
Breiðbólstaðr (stað-i-) [m]	place-name, 'Broad Farm'	VI
Breiðfjörðr (fjarð-u-) [m]	place-name, 'Broad Firth'	V
breiðleitr (leit-) [adj]	broad of face	XVI(A) breiðr (breið-) [adj]	broad	XXXV(A)
brenna (brenna-) [f]	burning	XII(A)
brenna (brenn-) [v]	burn [intr]	II
brenndu [3rd pl past ind of brenna (brann-i/j-)] [v]	burned [tr]	IX
Brennu-Njáll (Njál-a-) [m]	personal name, 'Burnt- Njal'	IX
brestr (brest-i-) [m]	crash	XXXII(B)
Bretland (land-) [n]	Wales, Britain	VIII
bringa (bringa-) [f]	chest	XVII(A)
brjóta (brjút-) [v]	break	XX(A)
bróðurbani (bani-) [m]	brother's slayer	XXVI(B)
brotna (brotn-a-) [v]	break, be broken	XVI(B)
brott [adv]	away	XIX(B)
brún (Lesson XXVII) [f]	brow	XXXV(A) brúnamikill (mikil-) [adj]	bushy-browed	XXXV(A)

brunninn [participle of brenna (brenn-)] [v]	burned	XII(B)
brunnir [m N pl of brunninn (brunnin-), participle of brenna (brenn-)] [adj]	burnt down	XXIV(A)
brœðr (Lesson XXVI) [m]	brothers	XXIII(B)
búa (bú-) [n]	house, household	VI
búa (Lesson XXI) [v]	live	IV
búandi (Lesson XXVI) [m]	prepare	XXX(B)
búask (Lesson XXI) [v]	farmer	XIV(B)
búa (Lesson XXI) undir [+D]	prepare oneself	XXXI(B)
búð (búð-i-) [f]	lie behind, be the reason for (something)	XXXI(B)
búi (búi-) [m]	temporary housing	XIX(A)
búinn (búin-) [adj]	neighbour	XII(B)
búskortr (skort-i-) [m]	prepared, equipped	I
bústaðr (stað-i-) [m]	scarcity, shortage of household supplies	XXII(B)
búsýslumaðr (mann-) [m]	dwelling place	XIII(A) býðr [3rd sg pres ind of bjóða (bjúð-)] [+A] [+D] [v]	farmer, husbandman	XXVII(A)
byggð (byggð-i-) [f]	offers (something) (to someone)	IX
byggðei [3rd sg past ind of byggja (bygg-i/j-)] [v]	district, settlement	IV
byggðr (byggð-) [participle of byggja (bygg-i/j-)] [adj]	settled	VI
byggir [3rd sg pres ind of byggja (bygg-i/j-)] [v]	inhabited, settled	XXXI(B)
byggja (bygg-i/j-) [v]	builds	I
býr [3rd sg pres ind of búa (Lesson XXI)] [v]	settle	VIII
bytta (bytta-) [f]	prepares	V
bæði [conj]	lives, dwells	XI(A)
bægifótr (Lesson XXVII)	pail	XXI(A)
bœn (bœn-i-) [f]	both	I
kjósa (kjús-) bœn	nickname, 'Lame Foot'	XX(A)
bœr (bœj-i-) [m]	favour	XXVII(B)
Böðvarr (Böðvar-a-) [m]	ask a favour, request	XXXI(B)
dáðlauss (laus-) [adj]	farm, settlement	I
	personal name	XXXI(A)
	spiritless, craven	XXVI(B)

dagr (dag-a-) [D sg = degi ] [m]	day	XXIX(A)
at degi einum vas fleira en	that it was more by one day than dagverðr (verð-i-) [m]	main meal of the day	XXIII(A)
dalr (dal-i-) [m]	dale, valley	VI
Danmörk (mark-) [f]	Denmark	III
dauði (dauði-) [m]	death	IX
dauðr (dauð-) [adj]	dead	XII(B)
daufur (dauf-) [adj]	deaf	XXIV(A)
deila (deila-) [f]	disagreement, feud	X
deild (deild-i-) [f]	division	XXIX(B)
deyja (Lesson XXIII) [v]	die	XII(A)
digr (digr-) [adj]	stout	XXXV(A)
djarfmæltr (mælt-) [adj]	bold of speech	XXVII(B)
djarfr (djarf-) [adj]	bold, daring	I
djúpúðigr (djúpúðig-) [adj]	deep-minded	VI
in djúpúðga	the deep-minded
dómnefna (nefna-) [f]	nomination of judges	XXIX(B)
dóttur [A sg of dóttir (Lesson XXVI)] [f]	daughter	V
draga (drag-) [v]	drag, pull, draw	XX(A)
draga (drag-) fyrir [v]	draw before, obscure	XXXII(A)
stundum dró (ský [A]) fyrir (tungl [A])	sometimes the moon was obscured (by a cloud)
Drangar [m pl]	place-name, 'Rock Pillars'	XVIII(B)
drap [3rd sg past ind of drepa (drep-)] [v]	slew	VII
dráp (dráp-) [n]	slaying	VII
drápa (drápa-) [f]	a type of heroic poem	X
draumamaðr (mann-) [m]	man who has dreams	XXIV(A)
draumavetr (vetr-) [m]	winter foreseen in dreams	XXIV(B)
draumkona (kona-) [f]	dream-woman, woman who appears in dreams	XXIV(A)
draumr (draum-a-) [m]	dream	XXIV(A)
dreginn [participle of draga (drag-)] [v]	dragged	XVIII(B)
drekka (drek-) [v]	drink	II
drengiliga [adv]	honourably, generously	XXV
drengr (dreng-i-) [G = -s] [m]	valiant man	V

drepa (drep-) [v]	strike	XXXIV(A)
drepa föeti	stumble
drepr [3rd sg pres ind of drepa (drep-)] [v]	slays	XVI(C)
dreyma (draum-i-/j-) [v] [+ A] dreymir [+ A]	dream (someone) dreams (something)	XXIV(A) drjúgari [comparative of drjúgr (drjúg-)] [adj]	more substantial	XIX(B)
verða drjúgari en	do better than
dróttinsdagsnótt (nótt-) [f]	Sunday night	XXXII(B)
dróttning (dróttning-a-) [f]	queen	XVII(B)
drukknir [m N pl of drukkinn , participle of drekka (drek-)] [adj]	drunk	XVII(A)
drykkja (drykkja-) [f]	drinking	XVII(A)
drykkur (drykk-i-) [m]	drink	II
dveljask (dval-i-/j-) [v]	remain, dwell	XV(A)
dvergr (dverg-a-) [m]	dwarf	IV
dynja (dun-i-/j-) [v]	gush, pour, fall	XXIII(B)
dýr (dýr-) [n]	animal	XVI(A)
dýrlagðr (lagð-) [adj]	dearly priced	XXV
dýrr [f pl] [G dura , D durum ]	door opening	IX
dýrr (dýr-) [adj]	dear, expensive	XIV(B)
dýrra [adv]	more expensively	XXV
dýrshorn (horn-) [n]	horn of an animal	XXXI(A)
dys (dysj-a-) [f]	cairn	XX(B)
dæla (dæla-) [f]	ship's pump	XXI(A)
dægur (dægr-) [n]	a 24-hour period	XIX(B)
dækkr (dækkv-) [adj]	dark	XXXV(C)
eða [conj]	or	III
ef [conj]	if	XVIII(A) efling (efling-a-) [f]	increase in might, power	XI(A)
efniligr (efnilig-) [adj]	promising	V
eggja (eggj-a-) [v]	egg on, urge	XVII(A)
Egill (Agil-a-) [m]	personal name	VII
eiga (eiga-) [f]	possession	XIII(B)
eiga (pret-pres) at [+ inf]	be supposed to [+ inf]	XXVII(B)
eiga (pret-pres) kost	have a choice	XXX(A)
eigi [adv]	not	XI(A)
eiga at minna [adv phrase]	nevertheless	XXVI(A)
eina [adv]	only	XXIV(A)

einmenningr (menning-a-) [m]	a feat done alone	XVII(A)
drekka einmenning	empty the drinking horn by oneself
einn (Lesson XXIV) [num]	one	VI
einna [G pl of einn (Lesson XXIV)] [num]	single, one	XXVII(B)
fátt er svá einna hluta	few things are so singular
einnhverr (Lesson XXIV) [pron]	one (of a group)	XI(B)
frægstr maðr einnhverr	one of the most famous men
einræði (rædj-) [n]	self-will	XXX(B)
einsetukona (kona-) [f]	hermit (female)	XXVIII(B)
einskis [G sg of ekki (Lesson XXIV)] [pron]	nothing	XXI(B)
einstigi (stigi-) [n]	single-file path	XVI(A) eira (eir-i-) [v] [+D] eirir	hold out, tolerate (someone) holds out, endures	XVII(A)
at honum myndi eigi svá búit eira	that he would not tolerate this situation
Eiríkr (Eirík-a-) [m]	personal name	V
Eiríksfjörðr (fjarð-u-) [m]	place-name, 'Eric's Firth'	V
Eiríksstaðir [m pl]	place-name, 'Eric's Stead'	V
eirketill (katil-a-) [m]	brass kettle	XXXIV(B)
eitt [n N/A sg of einn (Lesson XXIV)] [pron]	one, a certain	I
eitt [n N/A sg of einn (Lesson XXIV)] [num]	one, single	XII(A)
eitt skyldi ganga yfir okkr bæði	one (fate) should befall us both
eitthvat [n N/A sg] [pron]	something	XXVII(A)
ek [pron]	I	XII(A)
ekki (Lesson XXIV) [pron]	nothing	XII(B)
eldahús (hús-) [n]	main hall	XXXI(A) eldaskáli (skáli-) [m]	hall where long-fires burn	XX(A)
eldr (eld-a-) [m]	fire	IX
eldslitr (lit-u-) [m]	fiery hue	XXXII(B)
ella [adv]	otherwise	XXVIII(A)
ellifu [num]	eleven	XXV

em [1st sg pres ind of vera (Lesson XI)] [v]	am	XII(A)
en [conj]	but	II
	than	XI(A)
enda [conj]	and besides, moreover	XIV(B)
endask (end-i/j-) [v]	last	XXII(B)
eng (eng-) [n]	meadow, field	XXXVII(A)
engi (Lesson XXIV) [pron]	no	I
England (land-) [n]	England	III
enn [adv]	still	XX(A)
ennibreiðr (breið-) [adj]	broad of forehead	XXXV(A)
enskr (ensk-) [adj]	English	XXXI(B)
eptir [adv]	afterwards	XIX(A)
	behind	XX(A)
eptir [+A] [prep]	after	VII
eptir [+D] [prep]	along	XIII(A)
	according to	XX(A)
eptir at [conj]	after	V
eptirmæli (mælj-) [n]	a suit on behalf of the slain against the slayer	XXIII(B)
eptir því som [conj]	according to that which, such as	XXVIII(A)
er [3rd sg pres ind of vera (Lesson XI)] [v]	is	I
er [conj]	when	IV
	who(m)	V
	which, that	VIII
erfa (arf-i/j-) [v]	honour with a funeral feast	XXXI(A)
erfiðr (erfið-) [adj]	difficult	XXI(A)
erfíkvæði (kvæðj-) [n]	funeral poem	XXXI(A)
eru (Lesson XII) [v]	are	II
es [=er] (Lesson XI) [v]	is	XXIX(A)
es [=er] [conj]	when, which, who	XXIX(A)
eta (et-) [v]	eat	XIX(B)
eyðir [3rd sg pres ind of eyða (auð-i/j-) [+D]] [v]	lays waste, devastates (something)	III
eygðr (eygð-) [adj]	having eyes of a certain kind	XXVIII(A)
Eyjafjarðarsveitir [f pl]	regional name, 'Isle Firth Districts'	VI
Eyjafjörðr (fjarð-u-) [m]	place-name, 'Isle Firth'	XXIX(B)
Eyjólfr (-ólf-a-) [m]	personal name	V
fá (Lesson XXI) [v]	get	IX

fá [+A] til at [+inf]	get (someone) to [+inf]	XXI(A)
faðir (Lesson XXVI) [m]	father	XI(B)
fagna (fagn-a-) [+D] [v]	welcome (someone)	XXX(B)
fagr (fagr-) [adj]	fair, beautiful	I
fala (fal-a-) [v]	request for purchase	XXV
fall (fall-) [n]	fall, death in battle	VII
falsa (fals-a-) [v]	defraud	XXV
fámennr (menn-) [adj]	having few followers, with few men	XXXIII(A)
fang (fang-) [n]	grasp	XVI(A)
[n pl]	catch of fish, etc.	XIX(A) fár (fá-) [adj]	provisions	XXXIV(A)
far [sg imperative of fara (far-)] [v]	few	XIV(B)
fara (far-) [v]	go; come	XXII(A)
fara at [+D]	go, journey	VIII
fáráðr (ráð-) [adj]	pay heed to (something)	XXII(B)
farmaðr (mann-) [m]	helpless	XXIV(A)
farmr (farm-a-) [m]	sea-faring man	XXVII(B)
fásk (Lesson XXI) [v]	cargo	XIII(A)
fast [adv]	be found	XXVII(B)
fastr (fast-) [adj]	hard, firmly	XVI(A)
fátalaðr (talað-) [adj]	firm	XXI(B)
fátt [n N/A sg of fár (fá-)] [adj]	reticent, of few words	XVI(B)
fátt varð þeim at orðum	few things	XXVI(A)
fátækr (tæk-) [adj]	few words came to them, they had little to say	XXX(B)
fé [G sg=fjár] [n]	poor	XXIV(A)
feðgar [m pl]	money; possession; sheep	XIII(B)
feðr [= variant of fǫður]	father and son(s)	XIII(A)
féfar (fá-) [adj]	father	XXXI(A)
feginn (fegin-) [adj]	short of money	XXXIV(B)
verða feginn [+D]	gladdened, joyful	XIV(A) veginsamliga [adv]	be gladdened by (someone, something)
fegrð (fegrð-i-) [f]	joyfully	XXXIV(B)
fekk [3rd sg past ind of fá (Lesson XXI)] [+D] [+A] [v]	beauty	X
fekk [+supine]	gave (someone) (something)	XII(B)
fell [3rd sg past ind of falla (Lesson XXI)] [v]	was able to [+inf]	XVII(B)
	fell	XVI(A)

fella (fall-i/j-) [v]	fell [tr]	XIX(A)
felldr [participle of fella (fall-i/j-) [v]] [adj]	fitted, suited, appropriate	XI(B)
felldr til [+G] [adj]	suited for (something)	XXVI(B)
fémildir (mild-) [adj]	open-handed, generous	XXXV(B)
fénaðr (fénað-i-) [m]	sheep, cattle, livestock	XIX(A) fenginn [participle of fá (Lesson XXI)] [v]	got, procured	XVII(A)
fenginn til þess	got for the purpose
fengit [supine of fá (Lesson XXI)] [+G] [v]	got in marriage, married (someone)	VII
fengsamr (fengsam-)	demanding	XXII(B)
ferð (ferð-i-) [f]	journey, voyage	III
ferligr (ferlig-) [adj]	hideous	XXVII(B)
ferr [3rd sg pres ind of fara (far-)] [v]	goes, journeys	III
fimm [num]	five	XXVI(B)
fimmtán [num]	fifteen	XXIX(B)
finna (finn-) [v]	find, discover	XVII(A)
	meet, visit	XXVIII(B)
finnr [3rd sg pres ind of finna (finn-)] [v]	finds	I
firði (Lesson VI) [m D sg]	firth	XI(A)
firr [comparative of fjarri] [adv]	farther from	XVI(A) fiskr (fisk-a-) [m]	fish	I
fjall (fjall-) [n]	mountain	IV
fjandskapr (fjandskap-i-) á [+D] [m]	enmity towards (someone)	XIII(B)
fjár [G sg of fé] [n]	money, possessions; sheep	XIV(B)
fjarlæggr (læg-) [adj]	distant	VIII
fjárreiður [f pl]	money matters	XV(A)
fjarri [+D] [prep]	far from	XXV
fjórar [f N/A corresponding to fjórir] [num]	four	XXVII(B)
fjórði [wk] [num]	fourth	XXIX(A)
fjórðungur (fjórðung-a-) [m]	quarter	XXIX(B)
fjórir [m N] [num]	four	XXI(A)
fjúka (fjúk-) [v]	blow, drift, snow	XXIV(B)
fokit er í skjól ǫll	it has blown, snowed into all shelters; no more shelters are safe
fjögur [n N/A corresponding to fjórir] [num]	four	VI

fjöldi (fjöldi-) [m]	multitude	XIV(B)
fjöldmennr (menn-) [adj]	with many people, crowded	XXIX(A)
fjörðr (fjarð-u-) [m]	firth	XIII(A)
fleiri [irr comparative of margr (marg-)] [adj]	more	VI
flestr (flestr-) [irr superlative of margr (marg-)] [adj]	most	XXVIII(A)
fljót (fljót-) [n]	river	XXXIII(B)
Fljótshlíð (hlíð-i-) [f]	place-name, 'River Slope'	XXXV(B)
fljúga (fljúg-) [v]	fly	XXXIII(B)
Flosi (Flosi-) [m]	personal name	IX
þeir Flosi	Flosi and his men, those with Flosi
flótti (flótti-) [m]	flight	IX
flug (flug-) [n]	flight, flying	XVI(C)
flýja (Lesson XIV) [v]	flee	XIII(B)
flytja (flut-i/j-) [v]	move	XIII(A) flöskubakr (bak-a-) [m]	nickname, 'Bottle-Back'	XVIII(B)
flœðr (flœðj-a-) [f]	flood-tide	XIII(A) fólk (fólk-) [n]	people	I
för [3rd sg past ind of fara (far-)] [v]	went, journeyed	VI
formáli (máli-) [m]	preamble, toast	XVII(A)
forn (forn-) [adj]	ancient	XXIV(A)
forneskja (forneskja-) [f]	old lore, heathenism	XXIV(A)
Forsárskógar [m pl]	place-name, 'Fall River Woods'	XXIII(B)
fortjald (tjald-) [n]	curtain	XXV
föru [3rd pl past ind of fara (far-)] [v]	went	XVII(A)
borð föru brott	the tables were taken away
föru til [+G]	went to (something)	XIX(A) forvitnask (vitn-a-) [v]	enquire, be curious	XXXI(B)
forvitni (vitni-) [f]	curiosity	XXVIII(B)
[+D] er forvitni á [+D]	(someone) is curious about (something) fóstbróðir (Lesson XXVI) [m]	foster-brother	XXVIII(A)
fóstr (fóstr-) [n]	fostering	XXVII(A)
veita fóstr [+D]	bring (someone) up
fóthvatr (hvat-) [adj]	swift-footed	XXXV(C)
fótr (fót-) [m]	foot	XXVI(A)
frá [+D] [prep]	from	I

frá Noregi	from Norway
fram [adv]	forward	XVI(C)
framan [adv]	from the front	XX(A) framarla [adv]	prominently, among prominent people	XI(A)
freista (freist-a-) [+G] [v]	attempt (something)	XXIX(A)
freknótt (freknótt-) [adj]	freckled	XVI(B)
fremstr (fremst-) [superlative of framr (fram-)] [adj]	foremost	XXXIII(A)
Freydís (dísj-a-) [f]	personal name	V
Freyja (Freyja-) [f]	name of goddess with Freyja , i.e. in the next world	XXXI(A)
Freysgoði (goði-) [m]	priest of the god Freyr	XXIII(B)
fríðr (fríð-) [adj]	beautiful	I Fróðadóttir (Lesson XXVI) [f]	patronymic, 'daughter of Fróði '	I
fróðr (fróð-) [adj]	learned	XXIX(A)
frægr (frægj-) [adj]	famous	II
frægstr (frægst-) [superlative of frægr (frægj-)] [adj]	most famous	X
frændi (Lesson XXVI) [m]	kinsman	XIII(B)
frændr [A pl of frændi (Lesson XXVI)] [m]	kinsmen	XXIV(A)
fugl (fugl-a-) [m]	bird, fowl	I full (full-) [n]	full drinking vessel	XVII(A)
drekka full	toast, drink from a full cup
fulltingja (fullting-i/j-) at [+D] [v]	maintain (something)	XXVII(B)
fulltrúi (trúi-) [m]	trustworthy one	XIX(B)
fundit (fundin-) [supine of finna (finn-)] [v]	found	VI
fundr (fund-i-) [m]	meeting	XI(B)
fundum [1st pl past ind of finna (finn-)] [v]	found	XII(B)
furðu [adv]	wondrously, amazingly	XXVI(B)
fylgir (fylg-i/j-) [v]	follows	I fylgja (fylg-i/j-) [+D] [v]	follow, accompany (someone)	XV(A)
fyrir [+A] [prep]	for	XI(B)
vestr fyrir landit	to the west coast of the land	XIII(A)
fyrir	in front of	XVI(C)

fyrir	before	XXXIV(B)
fyrir [+D] [prep]	in front of, ahead of	IX
vera fyrir [+D]	portend (something)	XXXII(B)
fyrir [adv]	therefore, because of this	XXXII(B)
fyrirbjóða (bjúð-) [v]	forbid	XVIII(B)
fyrirburðr (burð-i-) [m]	vision, apparition	XXXII(B)
fyrir innan [+A] [prep phrase]	in from	VI
	inside (of)	XXV
fyrirmaðr (mann-) [m]	prominent person, chief	XII(B)
fyrir ofan [+A] [prep phrase]	above	IX
fyrir sakir [+G] [prep phrase]	on account of, for the sake of	VII
fyrir sunnan [+A] [prep phrase]	to the south of	XXXII(A)
fyr norðan [=fyrir norðan] [+A] [prep phrase]	to the north of	XXIX(B)
fyrir [adv]	sooner, earlier	XI(A)
	before, earlier	XVIII(B)
fyrir en [conj]	before, until	XXXI(A)
fyrri [comparative] [adj] (ok er inn) fyrri	earlier, sooner	XXXIII(B)
	(and is the) first, earlier
fyrst [adv]	first, at first	IX
fyrstr (fyrst-) [adj]	first	VI
fyr vestan [=fyrir vestan] [+A] [prep phrase]	to the west of	XXIX(B)
fýsask (fús-i/j-) [v]	be eager	XXX(A)
pú fýstisk eigi (at fara) út	you were not eager (to go) out (to Iceland)
Færeyjar [f pl]	Faroe Islands	VIII
fæðask (fæð-i/j-) upp [v]	be brought up	XXVII(A)
færa (fór-i/j-) [+D] [+A] [v]	bring (someone) (something)	II
færi [3rd sg subj II of fara (far-)] [v]	would go, went	XVIII(A)
fæti [D sg of fóttr (fót-)] (Lesson XXVII) [m]	foot	XVI(A)
fæzk [supine of fæðask (fæð-i/j-)] [v]	been born	XXVIII(A)
fólleitr (leit-) [adj]	pale-faced	XXXV(C)
för (far-a-) [f]	journey	IX
förunautr (naut-a-) [m]	travelling companion	XVII(A)
gagn (gagn-) [n]	use, advantage	XXIV(A)

[+N] verðr [+D] at	(something) is of advantage (to someone)
gagni	speaking to the point	XXXV(C)
gagnorðr (orð-) [adj]	go	XII(A)
gakk [sg imperative of ganga (Lesson XXI)] [v]	magic charm	XXIV(A)
galdr (galdr-a-) [m]	[pl] witchcraft
gamall (gamal-) [adj]	old	IV
gaman (gaman-) [n]	amusement	XXXI(B)
gandreið (reið-a-) [f]	sorcerer's ride	XXXII(B)
ganga (Lesson XXI) [v]	go, walk	IX
gangask (Lesson XXI) nær [v]	come to closer quarters	XXIII(A)
ganga (ganga-a-) [m]	course, passage	IV
gapa (gap-i-) [v]	gape, open wide	XIX(B)
Garðaríki (ríkj-) [n]	Russia	VIII
garðr (garð-a-) [m]	yard, courtyard	XXIII(A)
garðshlið (hlið-) [n]	gate	XXI(B)
gaumr (gaum-a-) [m]	heed, attention	XVII(A)
gefa gaum at [+D]	pay attention to (someone, something)
gefa (gef-) [v]	give	XIX(A)
gefinn (gefin-) [participle of gefa (gef-)] [v]	given	XII(A)
gegna (gagn-i/j-) [+D] [v]	amount (to something)	XXIX(A)
geiga (geig-a-) [v]	take the wrong direction	XVI(C)
Geirmundr (mund-u-) [m]	personal name	VI
gekk [3rd sg past ind of ganga (Lesson XXI)] [v]	walked	XI(B)
Gellir (Gellj-a-) [m]	personal name	XXIX(A)
gengu [3rd pl past ind of ganga (Lesson XXI)] [v]	went, walked	XII(A)
gera (Lesson XIV) [v]	do, make	IX
gera at	happen	XXXI(A)
gera hvasst	become sharp, fresh (concerning weather)	XIII(A)
gera ljóst	become light	XIII(A)
gera mikit um sik	make a great deal of noise	XIX(A) gerask (Lesson XIV) [v]	become	XVII(A)
gerði [3rd sg past ind of gera (Lesson XIV)] [v]	did, made	VI
gerðr [participle of gera (Lesson XIV)] [v]	done	XVI(A)

gersimi (gersimi-) [f]	treasure	III
gerzkr (gerzk-) [adj]	from Garðaríki , Russian	XXV
gestr (gest-i-) [G=-s] [m]	guest	II
geta (get-) [+A] [v]	get (in marriage) (someone)	XI(A)
geta (get-) [+G] [v]	guess (something) mention (something, someone)	XI(A) XXV
Þorvalds get ek at engu	I have nothing to say about Thorvald	XXVIII(B)
geta [+supine] [v]	be able to [+inf]	XXI(B)
getit (getin-) [supine of geta (get-)] [v]	mentioned	VI
getr [3rd sg pres ind of geta (get-)] [+G] [v]	mentions (something)	VII
Gilli (Gilli-) [m]	personal name	XXV
gipt (gipt-) [adj]	married (of a woman)	XXVI(A)
gipta (gipt-i/j-) [v]	marry, give in marriage	XI(B)
Gísli (Gísli-) [m]	personal name	XXIV(A)
gísling (gísling-a-) [f]	hostage	XXX(A)
gjaforð (orð-) [n]	match in marriage	XI(B)
gjalda (Lesson XVII) [+G] [v]	pay for, suffer on account of (something)	XXII(A)
gjalt [sg imperative of gjalda (Lesson XVII)] [v]	pay	XXV
gjósa (gjús-) [v]	gush	XVII(A)
gjof (gjaf-a-) [f]	gift	II
glaðr (glað-) [adj]	glad	II
gleðimót (mót-) [n]	joyful mien	XXXII(A)
glepjask (glap-i/j-) [v] [+D] glepsk [+N]	be deceived, mistaken (someone) blunders (in something)	XXVI(B)
gler (gler-) [n]	glass	XXXIII(B)
glíma (glím-i/j-) [v]	wrestle	XVI(B)
gneyptr (gneyp-t-) [adj]	with bowed head	XXXV(A)
goð (goð-) [n]	divine being, god, goddess	IV
góðr (góð-) [adj]	good	I
gólf (gólf-) [n]	floor	II
graðfé (fé-) [n]	uncastrated cattle	XIX(A)
Grani (Grani-) [m]	personal name	IX
granstœði (stœðj-) [n]	lips, where the beard grows	XXXV(A)
grár (grá-) [adj]	gray	XXXII(B)
gras (gras-) [n]	grass	I
gráta (grát-) [+A] [v]	weep (for someone)	XXIII(B)

greiða (greið-i/j-) [v]	untangle	XXIII(B)
grenskr (grensk-) [adj]	pay from Grenland , a district in Norway	XXXIV(B) XXVII(A)
Grettir (Grettj-a-) [m]	personal name	X
griðungr (griðung-a-) [m]	bull	XIX(A)
grimmð (grimmð-i-) [f]	fierceness	XVI(A) grimmleikr (grimmleik-a-) [m]	cruelty, savageness	XXIII(B)
grimmliigr (grimmliig-) [adj]	fierce	XXXV(A)
grimmúðigr (grimmúðig-) [adj]	ferocious, fierce	V
gripr (grip-i-) [m]	treasure, costly object	XXX(B)
Grœnlendingr (lending-a-) [m]	Greenlander	XIX(A) grœnn (grœn-) [adj]	green	I
gröf (graf-a-, graf-i-) [f]	grave	XX(B)
guð (guð-i-) [irreg N; G=-s] [m]	God	XIX(B)
Guðrún (rún-a-) [f]	personal name	X
guðvefjarpoki (poki-) [m]	pouch made of fine fabric	XXX(B)
guðvefr (vefj-i-) [m]	costly fabric	XXV
Gufuá (á-a-) [f]	place-name, river named after Ketill Gufa	XIII(A)
gull (gull-) [n]	gold	III
gullofinn (ofin-) [adj]	gold-woven	XXX(B)
gulr (gul-) [adj]	yellow	XXXV(B)
Gunnarr (Gunnar-a-) [m]	personal name	IX
Gunnhildr (hildj-a-) [f]	personal name	X
Gunnlaugr (laug-a-) [m]	personal name	X
gæfa (gæfa-) [f]	good fortune	X
gørviligr (gørvilig-) [adj]	accomplished	XXVII(A)
gœði [n pl]	good things, benefits	XIX(A)
gøfugr (gøfug-) [adj]	noble	XI(B)
gørla [adv]	clearly	XI(A)
gørt [= gert , supine of gera (Lesson XIV)] [v]	done	XXX(A) gørvallr (all-) [adj]	entire, whole	XXIV(A)
haf (haf-) [n]	ocean, sea	XIX(A)
halda (Lesson XXI) [+D] i haf	steer (something) out to sea
hafa (Lesson XIV) [v]	have	V
hafa af máli	behave in a matter	XXV
hafa at	act, do	XII(B)

ekki má hafa at	nothing can be done
hafa til	have available	XXV
hafask (Lesson XIV) at [v]	do, be at	XXVI(A)
hafði [3rd sg past ind of hafa (Lesson XIV)] [v]	had	VII
hafi [3rd sg subj I of hafa (Lesson XIV)] [v]	has	XVIII(A)
hafið [2nd pl pres ind of hafa (Lesson XIV)] [v]	have	XII(B)
hafir [2nd sg subj I of hafa (Lesson XIV)] [v]	have, may have	XXII(B)
Hafnarfjall (fjall-) [n]	place-name, 'Harbour Mountain'	VII
hagr (hag-) [adj]	skilful, good with one's hands	XXVIII(A)
haka (haka-) [f]	chin	XXXV(A)
halda (Lesson XXI) [+D] [v]	hold (something)	XVI(A)
halda (Lesson XXI) [+A] til [+G]	draw (someone) to (some- thing)	XXXIV(A)
haldinn [participle of halda (Lesson XXI)] [v]	held, kept	XIX(A)
með heilu ok höldnu	safe and sound
hálfir (hálf-) [adj]	half	XXXV(A)
háll (hál-) [adj]	slippery	XXXIII(B)
Halldórr (-dór-a-) [m]	personal name	XXVI(B)
Hallgerðr (gerðj-a-) [f]	personal name	X
Hallsteinn (stein-a-) [m]	personal name	XXIX(A)
Hallveig (veig-a-) [f]	personal name	I
hálmr (hálm-) [m]	straw	XVII(B)
háls (háls-a-) [m]	neck	XVIII(B)
	neck of land, ridge	XX(B)
hálsdigr (digr-) [adj]	thick-necked	XXXV(A)
haltr (halt-) [adj]	halt, lame	XXIV(A)
hamargnípa (gnípa-) [f]	peak of a crag	XIX(B)
Hámundur (-mund-u-) [m]	personal name	X
handarkriki (kriki-) [m]	armpit	XXXIV(B)
í handarkirka	under the arm
hann [pron]	he	I
hans [pron]	his	I
happ (happ-) [n]	good luck	XI(A)
happ í [+D]	good luck in (something)
hár (há(v)-) [adj]	high, tall	XXXV(B)
hár (hár-) [n]	hair	XII(B)
Haraldr (Harald-a-) [m]	personal name	VII

harðgörr (görrv-) [adj]	hardy, stout	XXXV(B)
harðleitr (leit-) [adj]	hard-faced	XXXV(A)
hárfagr (fagr-) [adj]	with beautiful hair, fine- haired	XIII(B)
harmr (harm-a-) [m]	sorrow, grief	XXXI(A)
hárrót (rót-) [f]	hairline	XXXV(A)
hart [adv]	hard	XVI(C)
hásæti (sætj-) [n]	high-seat, place of honour	XX(A)
hataðisk [3rd sg past ind of hata (hat-a-)] við [v] [+A]	was full of hatred against (someone)	XIII(B)
hátimbraðr (timbrað-) [adj]	high-timbered	II
hátt [adv]	loudly	II
	high	XVI(C)
hattr (hatt-a-) [m]	hat	XXV
háttir (hátt-u-) [m]	custom, habit	XIV(A)
haugr (haug-a-) [m]	grave mount, howe	XXXII(A)
hauss (haus-a-) [m]	skull	XVI(C)
haust (haust-) [n]	fall, autumn	III
hefðið [2nd pl subj II of hafa (Lesson XIV)] [v]	had, would have	XXVI(A)
gott skaplyndi hefðið þér fengit	you would have had a good disposition
hefi [1st sg pres ind of hafa (Lesson XIV)] [v]	have	XI(A)
hefir [3rd sg pres ind of hafa (Lesson XIV)] [v]	has	XI(A)
hefja (hafj-) [v]	heave	XXXIII(B)
hefna (hefn-i/j-) [+G] [v]	avenge (someone)	XII(A) hefnði [3rd sg past ind of hefna (hefn-i/j-)] [+G] [v]	avenged (someone)	VII
heiðr (heiðj-a-) [f]	heath	IV
heili (heili-) [m]	brain	XVI(C)
heill (heil-) [adj]	whole, healthy, hale	XVI(A)
með heilu ok höldnu	safe and sound	XIX(A)
heilsa (heils-a-) [+D] [v]	greet (someone)	XXXI(A)
heim [adv]	home, homewards	III
heima [adv]	at home	XXVI(A)
heimamaðr (mann-) [m]	servant	IX
heiman [adv]	from home	XV(A)
heimboð (boð-) [n]	invitation	XIV(A)
heimull (heimul-) [adj]	free for the taking	XV(B)
heita (Lesson XXII) [+D] [v]	promise (something)	XXXIV(B)

heita (heit-i/j-) [v]	brew	XXXIV(B)
heitir [3rd sg pres ind of heita (Lesson XXII)] [v]	is named	XI(A)
heitit [supine of heita (Lesson XXII)] [+D] [+D] [v]	promised (something) (to someone)	XII(A)
heitit á [+A] til [+G]	called on (someone) for (something)	XIX(B)
heitr (heit-)	hot	I
heldr [adv]	rather	XXV
heldu [3rd pl past ind of halda (Lesson XXI)] [+D] [v]	held, kept (something)	XIV(A)
heldusk [3rd pl past ind of haldask (Lesson XXI)] við [v]	held out	XXI(A)
Helga (Helga-) [f]	personal name	IX
Helgafell (fell-) [n]	place-name, 'Holy Mount'	XXVIII(B)
Helgi (Helgi-) [m]	personal name	VI
helgr (helg-) [adj]	holy	XXVII
Heljarskinn (skinn-) [n]	nickname, 'Hell-Skin'	VI
hellusteinn (stein-a-) [m]	flat stone, slab	XXXIV(B)
held [3rd sg past ind of halda (Lesson XXI)] [+D] [v]	held (something)	XVI(B)
helzt [adv]	preferably	XXVIII(B)
hendr [N/A pl of hönd (hand-)] [f]	hands	XIX(A)
þeim bar brátt í hendr	they soon had in their hands
heppinn (heppin-) [adj]	lucky	V
inn heppna [m A sg def]	the lucky
hér [adv]	here	VI
herað (herað-) [n]	district	XIV(B)
herðar [f pl]	shoulders	XX(A) herðarblað (blað-) [n]	shoulder blade	XXI(B)
herðimikill (mikil-) [adj]	broad-shouldered	XXXV(A)
herbergi (herbergj-) [n]	lodgings	XXVII(B)
herklæði (klæðj-) [n]	armour	XXXV(B)
hermaðr (mann-) [m]	warrior	III
hermannligr (mannlig-) [adj]	soldier-like	XXVIII(A)
herra [indeclinable] [m]	Lord	XXX(A)
hersir (hersj-a-) [m]	chieftain	II
hér til [adv]	heretofore	XI(A)

hestr (hest-a-) [m]	horse, stallion	XXI(B)
hét [3rd sg past ind of heita (Lesson XXII)] [v]	was called	XXVIII(B)
hetja (hetja-) [f]	hero	X
heyr [sg imperative of heyra ( heyr-i/j- )] [v]	hear	XXVIII(A)
heyr endemi	for shame
heyra (heyr-i/j-) [v]	hear	XXV
heyrtr [supine of heyra ( heyr-i/j- )] [v]	heard	XI(B)
Hildiglúmr (glúm-a-) [m]	personal name	XXXII(B)
Hildigunnr (gunnj-a-) [f]	personal name	XXIII(A)
himinn (himin-a-) [m]	sky, heaven	IV
hingat [adv]	hither, here	XXII(A)
hinn (Lesson XXV) [pron]	that (other)	XII(A)
en engu at hinu	but none by the other (count)	XXIX(A)
hirð (hirð-i-) [f]	king's court	XXXV(A)
hitt [n N/A sg of hinn (Lesson XXV)] [pron]	that (other)	XXII(A)
hitta (hitti-i/j-) [v]	hit upon, find meet	XXVII(B) XXXIV(B)
hjá [+D] [prep]	near, by with	V XXV
hjálmr (hjálm-a-) [m]	helmet	III
Hjalti (Hjalti-) [m]	personal name	XXXII(B)
Hjaltland (land-) [n]	Shetland Islands	VIII
Hjarðarholt (holt-) [n]	place-name, 'Herd's Wood'	XIV(A)
Hjarðhyllingr (hylling-a-) [m]	person from Hjarðarholt	XIV(A)
Hjarrandi (Hjarrandi-) [m]	personal name	XXI(B)
hjarta (hjarta-) [n]	heart	XXIII(A)
hjó [3rd sg past ind of hoggva (Lesson XXI)] [v]	hewed, struck	XVI(A)
Hjörtr (Hjart-u-) [m]	personal name	XXXIII(A)
hlaðinn (hlaðin-) [adj]	laden	III
hlátr (hlátr-a-) [m]	laughter	XXIII(A)
hlaupa (hlauf-) [v]	leap	XXXII(B)
mikit svell var hlaupit upp	a great sheet of ice was tipped up	XXXIII(B)
hlaupár (ár-) [n]	leap-year	XXIX(A)
hlíð (hlíð-i-) [f]	slope	XXXIV(A)

Hlíðarendi (endi-) [m]	place-name, 'Slope's End'	X
hlífa (hlif-i/j-) [+D] [v]	protect (something)	XXXIII(A)
hljóp [3rd sg past ind of hlaupa (Lesson XXI)] [v]	leapt	XVI(A)
hlust (hlust-i-) [f]	ear	XVI(A)
hlutr (hlut-i-) [m]	thing	XXV
hlýða (hlýð-i/j-) [v]	be appropriate	XXIX(A)
hlæja (Lesson XXIII) [v]	laugh	XXIII(A)
hof (hof-) [n]	heathen temple; also place-name	VI
hóll (hól-a-) [m]	hill	IV
Hólmgarðr (garð-a-) [m]	place-name, 'Islet Strong- hold' (now Novgorod)	VIII
Hólmgöngu-Hrafn (Hrafn-a-) [m]	personal name, 'Duel- Hrafn'	V
hon [N sg] [pron]	she	I
honum [D sg] [pron]	him	I
horfa (horf-i-) á [v]	look	XI(A)
horn (horn-) [n]	horn	XVII(A)
hrammr (hramm-a-) [m]	bear's paw	XVI(A)
Hrani (Hrani-) [m]	personal name	XXVII(A)
hratt [adv]	swiftly	XXXII(B)
hraustr (hraust-) [adj]	valiant	VIII
hress (hress-) [adj]	hale, in good spirits	XXXI(B)
hreysti (hreysti-) [f]	valour	IX
hrið (hrið-i-) [f]	while	XV(A)
um hrið	for a while	XXVII(B)
hrinda (hrind-) [+D] [v]	shove, throw (something)	XXI(B)
hringr (hring-a-) [m]	ring, circle	XXXII(B)
Hrollaugr (laug-a-) [m]	personal name	VI
hrundit [supine of hrinda (hrind-)] [v]	thrown	XVII(A)
hrundning (hrundning-a-) [f]	shoving, pushing	XXXI(B)
Hrútr (Hrút-a-) [m]	personal name	XXII(A)
húðfat (fat-) [n]	hammock made of hides	XIX(A) hugat [supine of huga (hug-a-)] [v]	considered, intended	XVIII(A) hugdjarfr (djarf-) [adj]	courageous	V
hugfest [supine of hugfesta (fast-i/j-)] [v]	considered, fixed in mind	XI(A)
hugna (hugn-a-) [v]	please	XXXIV(B)
[+D] hugnar	(someone) is pleased
hugr (hug-i-) [m]	mind, mood	XXIII(A)
heill hugr	sincerity

hugsa (hugs-a-) [v]	think, consider	XXXIV(A)
hugsat [supine of hugsa (hugs-a-)] [v]	thought	XI(A)
hundrað (hundrað-) [n]	120	XXIX(A)
fjóra daga ins fjórða hundraðs	four days of the fourth (counting of) 120 = 364
hurð (hurð-i-) [f]	door	XXXI(A) hús (hús-) [n]	house	I
húsbúnaðr (búnað-i-) [m]	house furnishings	II
húsfreyja (freyja-) [f]	mistress of the house, wife	XII(A)
húskarl (karl-a-) [m]	house servant	XVII(A)
hvaðan [adv]	whence, from where	(XXII(A)
hvalr (hval-a-, hval-i-) [m]	whale	XVIII(B)
hvalskurðr (skurð-i-) [m]	flensing of a whale	XVIII(B)
hvammr (hvamm-a-) [m]	grassy hollow, also place- name	VI
hvar [adv]	where	XI(A)
hvárki . . . né [conj]	in each place	XXIX(B)
hvárr (hvár-) [pron]	neither . . . nor	XXIII(A) skyldi sitt haust hvárir aðra heim sœkja	each of two each should visit the other in the autumn alternately	XIV(A)
at hváru tveggja	by each of the two, by both (counts)	XXIX(A) hvárttveggja [pron]	each of (the) two	XIV(B)
hvárt [conj]	whether	XXV
hvass (hvass-) [adj]	sharp, keen	III
hvat [pron]	what	XII(A)
hvat [+G pl] [adv phrase]	what kind of	XIX(B)
hvat sem [pron]	whatever	XXXIV(B)
hvé [adv]	how	XXIX(A)
hverfa (hverf-) [v]	disappear	XXXII(B)
hverfa til [+G]	turn turn to, embrace (some- one)	XXXIV(A)
hvergi [adv]	not at all nowhere	XXX(B) XXXII(A) hverja [f A sg of hverr (hverj-)] [pron]	which	XV(A)
hvern [m A sg of hverr (hverj-)] [pron]	each (one)	XX(A)
hvernig [adv]	how	XXXIV(B)

hverr (hverj-) [pron]	each, every	III
	who	XII(B)
	which, what	XIII(A)
hver ván er	what hope is there
hvers [G sg of hvat ] [pron]	what	XXXI(B)
hvers Egill hafði beitt	what Egil had asked for
hversu [adv]	how	XII(B)
hvert [n N/A sg of hverr (hverj-)] [pron]	what, which	XXIII(B)
hvert [adv]	whither, where	XV(A)
hvert er [adv phrase]	wherever, whithersoever	XXX(A)
hví [adv]	why	XIX(B)
hvika (hvik-a-) [v]	wobble, hesitate	XXXIII(B)
[+D] hvikask	(someone) hesitates
hvíla (hvíla-) [f]	bed	IX
hvílugólf (gólf-) [n]	bed-closet	XXXI(A)
hvítr (hvít-) [adj]	white	XXX(B)
hyggðisk [3rd sg subj II of hyggjask (hug(g)-i/j-)] [v]	thought himself	XXIX(A)
hyggja (hug(g)-i/j-) [v]	think, believe	XXVII(B)
hyggja at [+D]	attend to (something)	XXV
hæð (hæð-i-) [f]	height	XXXV(B)
hæli (hælj-) [n]	shelter, refuge	XIII(B)
hærðr (hærð-) [adj]	haired	XXXV(B)
hœngr (hœng-i-) [m]	male salmon, also nickname	VI
høfðingi (høfðingi-) [m]	leader, ruler	XVIII(B)
høfðu (Lesson XIV) [v]	had	XIII(A)
høfuð (høfuð-) [n]	head	XVI(C)
høfuðiss (is-a-) [m]	main (blocks of) ice	XXXIII(B)
Høfuðlausn (lausn-i-) [f]	name of a poem, 'Head Ransom'	X
høfuðstaðr (stað-i-) [m]	capital city	I
høggfæri (færi-) [n]	sword's reach	XVI(C)
Høgni (Høgni-) [m]	personal name	X
høll (hall-i-) [f]	hall, palace	II
hønd (hand-) [f]	hand, arm	XXI(A)
minni hendi	on my part	XXV
Høskuldr (Høskuld-a-) [m]	personal name	XI(A)
hølti [adv]	far too	XXVI(A)
í [+D] [prep]	in, inside	III
í [+A] [prep]	into, towards	V
í vestr	towards the west

í alla staði [adv phrase]	in all respects	XXIII(B)
í braut [adv phrase]	away	XXII(A)
illa [adv]	ill, badly	XXIII(A)
þat er illa farit	it is a pity
illiligstr (illiligst-) [superlative of illiligr (illilig-)] [adj]	most hideous	XX(B)
illr (ill-) [adj]	bad	XXIV(A)
illvirki (virkj-) [n]	evil deed	XII(B)
í milli [+G] [prep phrase]	between, among	XXXI(B)
sín í milli	among themselves
í móti [adv phrase]	in exchange	XIV(B)
	back, in return	XVI(B)
í móti [+D] [prep phrase]	towards	XVI(B)
in (Lesson IX) [f N sg] [art]	the	VI
-(i)n (Lesson IX) [f N sg] [art]	the	VII
sagan	the saga
-(i)n (Lesson IX) [n N/a pl] [art]	the	IX
húsin	the houses
Ingibjörg (bjarg-a-) [f]	personal name	XXX(B)
Ingólfr (-ólf-a-) [m]	personal name	I
Ingólfs	Ingolf's
Ingunn (unnj-a-) [f]	personal name	XXVIII(B)
inn (Lesson IX) [m N/A sg] [art]	the	V
inn [adv]	in	XII(A)
innan [+G] [prep]	within	IX
innan skamms	within a short while
innanlands [adv]	within the country	XIII(B)
innar í [+A] [prep phrase]	farther into	XXIII(B)
inni [adv]	inside	IX
Írland (land-) [n]	Ireland	VIII
Ísland (land-) [n]	Iceland	I
Íslendingr (lending-a-) [m]	Icelander	X
íslenzkr (lenzk-) [adj]	Icelandic	XXVII(B)
íss (is-a-) [m]	ice	XXXIII(B)
í sundr [adv phrase]	asunder, apart	XVII(B)
-(i)t (Lesson IX) [n N/A sg] [art]	the	XI(A)
it næsta [+D] [prep phrase]	(the) next to	XXII(A)
íþrótt (íþrótt-i-) [f]	feat, skill, sport	XXVIII(A)
í því [adv phrase]	at that moment	XVIII(B)

jafn (jafn-) [adj]	equal, even	XXIX(B)
jafnan [adv]	always, constantly	XXIV(A)
jafnborinn (borin-) [adj]	equally born, of equal birth	XXVIII(B)
jafnfagr (fagr-) [adj]	equally fair	XXXIV(A)
jafningi (jafningi-) [m]	equal, match	XXXV(B)
jafnlangr (lang-) [adj]	equally long	XXIX(A)
jafnljótr (ljót-) [adj]	equally ugly	XXVII(B)
jarðhús (hús-) [n]	underground dwelling	XXIV(B)
jarl (jarl-a-) [m]	earl	II
jarpr (jarp-) [adj]	brown	XXV(C)
játa (ját-a-) [+D] [v]	acknowledge (something)	XV(A)
jaxl (jaxl-a-) [m]	molar	XXXIII(B)
Jótland (land-) [n]	Jutland	IV
jökull (jökul-a-) [m]	glacier	IV
jörð (jarð-a-) [f]	estate, land	XIII(B)
jötunn (jötun-a-) [m]	giant	IV
kaf (kaf-) [n]	a plunge into water	XIX(B)
bera (ber-) á kaf	throw into the water
Kaldbeklingr (bekling-a-) [m]	a person from Kaldbakr , 'Cold Back'	XVIII(B)
kaldr (kald-) [adj]	cold	I
kalla (kall-a-) [v]	call	V
	say	XXV
kalla (kall-a-) á [+A] [v]	call out to (someone)	XXII(A)
kalla (kall-a-) til [+G] [v]	lay claim to (something)	XXII(B)
kallaðr (kallað-) [adj]	called	I
kanna (kann-a-) [v]	explore	XIII(A)
kannask (kann-a-) við [+A] [v]	recognize (something)	XXV
kappi (kappi-) [m]	champion	X
Kári (Kári-) [m]	personal name	IX
Karlsefni (efnj-) [n]	nickname, 'Makings of a Man'	XIX(A)
kasta (kast-a-) [+D] [v]	cast, throw (something)	XIII(A) kátligr (kátlig-) [adj]	cheerful	XXXII(A)
kaup (kaup-) [n]	purchase	XIV(B)
	bargain	XXV
slá (Lesson XX) kaupi	strike a bargain
kaupa (Lesson XIV) [v]	buy, purchase	XIV(B)
kaupmaðr (mann-) [m]	merchant	VIII
kaupmannalög [n pl]	league of merchants	XXV
kaupstaðr (stað-i-) [m]	market town	XXVII(B)
kefli (keflj-) [n]	stick of wood	XXXI(A)
rísta (ríst-) á kefli	carve runes on a stick

kemr [=kømr, 3rd sg pres ind of koma (kom-)] [v]	comes	XIV(A)
kemr þat saman með [+D]	(someone) agrees	XXIV(A)
kenna (kann-i/j-) [v]	recognize	XVI(C)
kenna [+G]	feel, experience (something)	XX(A)
kenna (kann-i/j-) [+D] [+A] [v]	teach (someone) (something)	XXXII(A)
kenningarnafn (nafn-) [n]	surname, nickname	XXV
Ketill (Katil-a-) [m]	personal name	VI
kinn (kinn-) [f]	cheek	XXXV(A)
kippa (kipp-i/j-) [v]	snatch, draw quickly	XXI(B)
honum var seint at sér at kippa	he was slow in pulling (it) to himself
Kirkjubær (bœj-i-) [m]	place-name, 'Church Stead'	XVIII(A)
kista (kista-) [f]	chest	XXIII(B)
kjálki (kjálki-) [m]	jaw	XXXV(A)
Kjaransvík (vík-) [f]	place-name, 'Kjaran's Bay'	VI
kjós [sg imperative of kjósa (kjús-)] [v]	choose	XXV
kjósa (kjús-) [v]	choose	IX
klaustr (klaustr-) [n]	cloister, abbey	III
kljúfa (kljúf-) [v]	cleave	XVI(C)
klær [N/A pl of kló (kló-) (Lesson XXVIII)] [f]	claws	XVI(B)
klæðask (klæð-i/j-) [v]	dress oneself	XXVI(A)
klæði (klæðj-) [n]	cloth; [pl] clothes	XII(B)
klæddr (klædd-) [participle of klæða (klæð-i/j-)] [adj]	clad, dressed	XXV
Knafahólar [m pl]	place-name, 'Narrows Hills'	XXXIII(A)
kné (kné-) [n]	knee	XXI(B)
[D pl] knjám		XXXIV(B)
kneikja (kneik-i/j-) [v]	bend backwards	XVII(A)
knífr (knif-a-) [m]	knife	XVII(B)
Kolbeinn (bein-a-) [m]	personal name	XXIII(B)
Kolskeggr (skegg-a-) [m]	personal name	XXXIII(A)
koma (kom-) [v]	come	II
koma at því [impersonal]	come to that, the point is borne out	XXVI(B)
koma við [+D]	make use of (some- thing)	XXXIII(A) komask (kom-) undan [v]	get away, escape	XVII(A)

komin [f N sg participle of koma (kom-) ] [v]	come	XV(A)
var komin	had arrived, had come
kominn (komin-) á sik [adj]	constituted	XXVIII(A)
vel á sik kominn	accomplished
komizk [supine of komask (kom-) ] [v]	reached, got	XII(B)
komizk á braut	got away, escaped
komnir [m N pl participle of koma (kom-) ] [v]	come	XIII(A)
váru komnir	had arrived, had come kómu [3rd pl past ind of koma (kom-) ] [v]	came	XIII(A)
kona (kóna-) [f]	woman, wife	I
konu [A sg of kona ] [f]	woman	V
konungr (konung-a-) [m]	king	II
kostr (kosti-i-) [m]	choice, match	XI(A)
Kristnes (nesj-) [n]	place-name, 'Christ Head-land'	VI
Kristr (Krist-a-) [m]	Christ	XIX(B)
Krumskelda (kelda-) [f]	place-name, 'Krum's Spring'	XXXIV(B)
kunna (pret-pres) [v]	know	XXXI(A)
kunna at [+inf]	know how to [+inf]	XXV
kunni [3rd sg subj I of kunna (pret-pres)] [v]	will be able to, may be able to	XXV
kurteisligr (kurteislig-) [adj]	courteous	XXVIII(A)
kurteiss (kurteis-) [adj]	courteous, gentle	XXXV(B)
kvað [3rd sg past ind of kveða (kveð-) ] [v]	said	XI(B)
kvánfang (fang-) [n]	taking a wife	XI(A) kvazk [3rd sg past ind of kveðask (kveð-) ] [v]	said of himself	XV(A)
kveða (kveð-) [v]	recite	II
	say	XIX(B)
kveða (kveð-) á [+A] [v]	decide, determine (something)	XXXIV(B)
kveðja (kvað-i/j-) [v]	greet, welcome	XV(B)
kveðja [+A] með sér	summon (someone) (to come) along with oneself	XXII(B)
kveld (kveld-) [n]	evening	XX(A)
um kveldit	in the evening
Kveld-Úlfsson (Lesson VI) [m]	patronymic, 'son of Kveld-Úlfr '	VII

kvenna [G pl of kona ] [f]	women	X
kverk (kverk-) [f]	underside of chin, throat	XXII(A)
kvezk [3rd sg pres ind of kveðask (kveð-) ] [v]	says of himself	XIX(A)
kvezk ljá mundu húsin	says that he would lend the houses
kviða (kviða-) [f]	poem, ballad	X
kvæði (kvæðj-) [n]	poem, song	II
kvændr (kvænd-) [participle of kvæna (kván-i/j-) ] [+D] [adj]	having (someone) as a wife	IX
kynjaðr (kynjað-) [adj]	descended	XXVII(B)
kyrr (kyr-) [adj]	calm, quiet	XXVI(A)
halda (Lesson XXI) kyrru fyrir	take it easy
kyssa (kyss-i/j-) [v]	kiss	XXII(A)
Kænugarðr (garð-a-) [m]	place-name, 'Skiff Stronghold' (now Kiev)	VIII
kærr (kær-) [adj]	dear	XIV(B)
[+D] er kært við [+A]	(someone) is fond of (someone)
kømr [3rd sg pres ind of koma (kom-) ] [v]	comes	X
kømr við [+D]	appears in, bears upon (something)
kømsk [3rd sg pres ind of komask (kom-) ] [v]	gets, reaches	IX
kømsk undan	gets away, escapes
kølluð (kallað-) [f N sg participle of kalla (kall-a-) ] [adj]	called	XIII(A)
køemi [3rd sg subj II of koma (koma-) ] [+D]	overcame (someone)	XX(A) undir [v]
lagamaðr (mann-) [m]	lawyer, man of law	XXXVIII(B)
Lambastaðir [m pl]	place-name, 'Lambi's Stead'	XXXIV
land (land-) [n]	land	I
landkostr (kost-i-) [m]	quality of the land	XIX(A)
Landnámabók (bók-) [f]	Book of Settlements	VI
landnámamaðr (mann-) [m]	settler	XXIX(A) landnámsmenn [N/A pl of landnámsmaðr (mann-) ] [m]	settlers	VI
langeldr (eld-a-) [m]	long fire	II

langr (lang-) [adj]	long	III
langt um [adv phrase]	by far, by a long stretch	XXXIII(B)
lasta (last-a-) [v]	blame, speak ill of	XXIII(A)
láta (Lesson XXIII) [v]	make, have	XIV(A)
láta [+inf] [+obj of inf]	have [+obj of participle] [+participle]
lætr flytja fé sitt	has his property moved
láta drepa þik	have you killed	XVIII(A)
láta (Lesson XXIII) [+adv]	behave [+adv]	XXVI(A)
[v]
láta illa	be restless, behave restlessly	XXIV(A)
lát [sg imperative of láta (Lesson XXIII)] fram	bring forth	XXV
[v] látinn (látin-) [participle of látask (Lesson XXIII)]	dead	XXXIV(A) [adj]
látizk [supine of látask (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	died, perished	XII(B)
Laugar [f pl]	place-name, 'Warm Springs'	XIV(A)
launa (laun-a-) [+D] [v]	reward (someone)	XXX(A)
lausafé [G sg -fjár] [n]	movable property	XIV(B)
lausara [comparative of lauss (laus-)] [adj]	looser	XVI(C)
lausavísa (vísa-) [f]	single verse	X
Laxdœlir [m pl]	men of Laxárdalur , 'Salmon River Dale'	X
leggja (lag(g)-i/j-) [v]	lay	VIII
leggja leið sína	make one's way
leggja eigu sína á	take possession of	XIII(B)
leggjask (lag(g)-i/j-) [v]	lay (oneself) down	XII(A)
leið (leið-i-) [f]	way, path	V
á sömu leið	in the same way	XXI(A)
leiða (leið-i/j-) [v]	lead	XIII(A)
leiða í lög	make into law	XXIX(A)
leiða [+A]	lead, accompany (some- one)	XXX(B)
leiðask (leið-i/j-) [v]	be led away, pass	XXIV(A)
láta (Lesson XXIII)	let pass, renounce leiðask
Leifr (Leif-a-) [m]	personal name	V
leika (leik-) sér [v]	play	XXII(A)
leikr (leik-a-) [m]	sport, game	XXXV(B)

leita (leit-a-) [+G] [v]	seek (something)	XIII(B)
leita sér hælis	seek refuge for oneself
leita at [+D]	look for (something)	XXV
leita eptir [+D]	look for, search for (something, someone)	XIII(B)
leita við [+A]	try (something)	XXXI(A)
leitast [supine of leita (leit-a-)]	sought	VIII
[v]
leizk [3rd sg past ind of litask (lit-)] [+D] [v]	appeared (to someone)	XXV
lekr (lek-) [adj]	leaky	XXI(A)
lendir [3rd sg pres ind of lenda (land-i/j-)] [v]	lands	I
lengi [adv]	long, for a long time	IX
lengja (lang-i/j-) [v]	lengthen	XXXI(A)
lengr [comparative of lengi [adv]]	longer	XXVIII(B) lengri [comparative of langr (lang-)] [adj]	longer	XXIV(A)
lengst [superlative of lengi [adv]]	longest	XXIV(A)
léttúðigr (úðig-) [adj]	light-hearted	XXVIII(A)
leyfa (leyf-i/j-) [v]	praise, speak well of	XXIII(A)
þá mun sjálfst leyfa sik	then it will speak well for itself
leyfi (leyf-) [n]	leave, permission	XXX(A)
leyna (laun-i/j-) [+D] [v]	conceal, hide (something)	XXVIII(B)
leysingi (leysingi-) [m]	freedman	XII(B)
lið (lið-) [n]	troops, host	VIII
líða (líð-) [v]	elapse	XXIV(B)
liðr (lið-u-) [m]	joint, bump	XXXV(C)
liðveizla (veizla-) [f]	help by means of troops, support	XXIII(B)
líf (lif-) [n]	life	XXXI(A)
lifa (lif-i-) [v]	live	XII(A) lífða [1st sg subj II of lifa (lif-i-)] [v]	lived, would live	XXIV(A)
lifir [3rd sg pres ind of lifa (lif-i-)] [v]	lives	I
liggr [3rd sg pres ind of liggja (lig(g)j-)] [v]	lies	VIII
líka (lík-a-) [+D] [v]	be pleasing (to someone)	XXX(A)
[+D] líkar [+N]	(someone) likes (some- thing)

líkligr (líklig-) [adj]	likely	XXVII(B)
limaðr (limað-) [adj]	limbed	XXVII(B)
líta (lít-) [v]	look	XXXII(B)
líta á [+A]	look at (something)	XV(B)
honum varð litit	he happened to look up	XXXIV(A)
lítill (lítill-) [adj]	little, small	XXI(A)
lítillátr (lát-) [adj]	humble	XXVIII(A)
lítit [n N/A sg of lítill (lítill-)] [adj]	little	XVI(A)
litlu síðar [adv phrase]	a little later	XIX(B)
litt [adv]	little	XI(A)
litt þat [adv phrase]	a small amount	XXVII(B)
sól var farin litt þat	the sun had risen only a bit
lízk [3rd sg pres ind of lítask (lít-)] [v]	seems	XI(A)
[+D] lízk á [+A]	(someone) likes, has an opinion about (someone, something)	XXII(A)
hversu lízk þér á mey þessa	how do you like this maiden
ljá (lé-i-) [irreg inf] [+D]	lend (someone) (something)	XIX(A)
[+A] [v]
ljóðr (ljóð-a-) [m]	defect	XXV
ljós (ljós-) [n]	light	XXXII(A)
Ljósavatn (vatn-) [n]	place-name, 'Light Water'	XXIX(A) ljóslitaðr (litað-) [adj]	light-coloured	XXVIII(A)
	light-complexioned	XXXV(B)
ljóss (ljós-) [adj]	light, bright	XXVII(B)
ljósta (ljúst-) [v]	strike	XVI(B)
ljótr (ljót-) [adj]	ugly	XXVII(B)
ljúga (ljúg-)	lie, tell lies	XXXII(A)
lof (lof-) [n]	leave, permission	XXXIV(B)
lófi (lófi-) [m]	palm of the hand	XVII(B)
loga (log-a-) [v]	blaze	IX
lúka (Lesson XVI) [+D]	open up (something)	XIII(A)
upp [v]
[+D] lýkr upp [impersonal construction]	(something) opens up
sáu firðinum upp lúka	saw the firth open up lúkask (Lesson XVI) aprt [v]	close (itself) back again	XXXII(A)
lypta (lypt-i/j-) [+D] [v]	lift (something)	XXV
lýsa (lýs-i/j-) [+D] [v]	announce, give notice of (something)	XIV(B)

lægja (lág-i/j-) [v]	abate, lower	XIII(A) lægri [comparative of lág (lág-)] [adj]	lower	XVI(A)
lög [n pl]	laws	XXIII(B)
til fullra laga	to the full extent of the law
lögberg (berg-) [n]	the 'Law Rock' where the laws were recited at the assembly	XXIX(A)
lögrettuskipan (skipan-i-) [f]	constitution of the legislature	XXIX(B)
lögsgaga (saga-) [f]	office of lawspeaker	XXIX(B)
lögsgumaðr (mann-) [m]	lawspeaker	XXIX(B)
lönngum [adv]	for long periods for a long time	XXVII(B) XXVIII(B)
is possible		XII(B)
má [3rd sg pres ind of mega (pret-pres)] [v]
máðr (mann-) [m]	man	I
magr (magr-) [adj]	thin, meagre	VI
magri	nickname, 'the Thin'
mál (mál-) [n]	talk, matter	XI(B)
	suit	XXIII(B)
	transaction	XXV
máligr (málig-) [adj]	talkative	XV(A)
mánaðr (mánað-) [m]	month	IV
máni (máni-) [m]	moon (also nickname)	XXIX(A)
marga vega [adv phrase]	in many ways	XXV
margr (marg-) [adj]	many	I
mark (mark-) [n]	significance	XXIII(A)
ekki er enn mark at	there is nothing yet of significance in this Markarfljót (fljót-) [n]	place-name, 'Forest River'	VI
mart (=margt) [adv]	much	XXVIII(B)
þeim varð mart talat	they came to speak of many things
matask (mat-a-) [v]	eat, partake of a meal	XX(A)
matr (mat-i-) [m]	food	II
matsveinn (svein-a-) [m]	cook	XIX(B)
máttu (=mátt þú) [2nd sg pres ind of mega (pret-pres)] [v]	you may	XI(A)
máttu [3rd pl past ind of mega (pret-pres)] [v]	were able to	XVII(A)
með [+D] [prep]	with	III

meðal [+G] [prep]	between, among	XVI(A)
meðalmaðr (mann-) [m]	average man	XXVII(A)
meðan [conj]	while	XVI(B)
með því at [conj]	since, because	XVI(B)
mega (pret-pres) [+inf] [v]	be able to [+inf]	XXXI(A)
megin [adv]	side	XXXIII(A)
qðrum megin	on one side
qllum megin	on all sides
mein (mein-) [n]	harm	XXVI(A)
láta hvárki at sér verða gagn né mein	do neither anything gain- ful nor harmful
meinfang (fang-) [n]	trouble	XXV
leita (leit-i/j-) [+D] meinfanga	embarrass (someone)
meir [comparative of mikit ] [adv]	more	XXX(A)
Melkólfr (Melkólf-a-) [m]	personal name	XVIII(A)
merkja (mark-i/j-) [v]	signify	XXIV(A)
mest [superlative of mikit ] [adv]	most	XXVIII(B)
mestr (mest-) [superlative of mikill (mikil-)] [adj]	greatest	X
meta (met-) [v]	estimate, value	XXV
mettr (mett-) [adj]	satiated, full	XXIII(B)
mey (meyj-a-) [irreg N sg] [f]	girl, maiden	XXII(A)
miðr (miðj-) [adj]	middle	II
mikill (mikil-) [adj]	great, plentiful	I mikilleitr (leit-) [adj]	big of face, having promi- nent features	XXVIII(A)
mikinn [m A sg of mikill (mikil-)] [adj]	great	V
mikinn [adv]	greatly, fast	XXXIII(B)
mikit [n N/A sg of mikill (mikil-)] [adj]	great	XI(A)
Mikligarðr (garð-a-) [m]	place-name, 'Great Strong- hold' (now Istanbul)	VIII
miklu [adv]	by far	XXVII(B)
miklu betra [adv phrase]	much better	XII(A)
mildr (mild-) [adj]	generous	XXVIII(A)
mildr at fé	liberal with money
milli [+G] [prep]	between	VI
minna [adv]	less	XXII(B)
misgera (Lesson XIV) við [+A] [v]	transgress against (someone)	XXIII(B)

mislíka (lík-a-) [v] [+D] mislíkar [+N]	be displeasing (someone) dislikes, is displeased (by something)	XXIII(A)
misseri (misserj-) [n]	half-year	XXIX(A)
mjólk (mjólk-) [f]	milk	XXXI(A)
mjøðdrekka (mjøðdrekka-) [f]	container	XXX(B)
mjøðr (mjað-u-) [m]	mead	II
mjök [adv]	greatly, very	V
mjöl (mjólv-) [n]	meal, flour	XXII(B)
móðir (Lesson XXVI) [f]	mother	X
móðurfaðir (Lesson XXVI) [m]	mother's father, maternal grandfather	XXVI(B)
morðingi (morðingi-) [m]	murderer	XVIII(A)
morginn (morgin-a-) [m] í morgin	morning this morning	XII(B)
Mostrarskeggi (skeggi-) [m]	nickname, 'Beard of Mostr' ( Mostr =island in Norway)	XXIX(A)
mót [+D] [prep]	towards	XVI(C)
mótmaeli (mælj-) [n]	contradiction, protest	XXVI(A)
motr (motr-a-) [m]	lady's headpiece	XXX(B)
mun [1st, 3rd sg pres ind of munu (pret-pres)] [v]	will (shall)	XI(A)
muna (mun-a-) [v]	move	XXIX(A)
muna (pret-pres) [v]	remember	XXXII(B)
mundu [past inf of munu (pret-pres)] [v]	would	XIX(A)
mungát (gát-) [n]	ale	XVII(A)
munir [2nd sg subj I of munu (pret-pres)] [v]	will	XXV
munnljótr (ljót) [adj]	ugly-mouthed	XXXV(C)
munnr (munn-a-) [m]	mouth	XVII(A)
munr (mun-i-) [m] fyrir engan mun engum mun	means by no means difference by no difference, in no measure	XII(A) XXVII(B)
munt [2nd sg pres ind of munu (pret-pres)] [v]	will (wilt)	XI(A)
munu [3rd pl pres ind of munu (pret-pres)] [v]	will	XVIII(A)
munum [1st pl pres ind of munu (pret-pres)] [v]	will	XII(A)

myndi [3rd sg subj II of munu (pret-pres)] [v]	would, might	XVII(A)
myni [3rd sg subj I of munu (pret-pres)] [v]	would	XXVII(B)
mýrr (mýrtj-a-) [f]	mire, bog (also place-name in pl)	VI
mægð (mægð-i-) [f]	kinship by marriage	XI(B)
mæla (mál-i/j-) [v]	say, talk	XI(B)
mæla eptir [+A]	sue on behalf of (someone)	XXIII(B)
mæla til kaups	make a verbal agreement of purchase	XIV(B)
mælti [3rd sg past ind of mæla (mál-i/j-)] [v]	said	XI(A)
mær (=mey) [f]	girl, maiden	XXII(A) mætti [3rd sg subj II of mega (pret-pres)] [v]	might	XXI(A)
mœði (mœði-) [f]	weariness	XXI(A)
Mœrarjarl (jarl-a-) [m]	titular name, 'Earl of Mæri' (district in Norway)	VI
mork (mark-) [f]	mark, eight ounces	XXV
ná (ná-i-) [+D] [v]	reach, get hold of (something)	XIII(B)
ná at [+inf]	manage, be able to [+inf]	XVI(B)
nábjargir [f pl]	service of closing eyes, nostrils and mouth of the dead	XX(A)
Naddoddr (odd-a-) [m]	personal name	VI
nafn (nafn-) [n]	name	XXV
nálægr (læg-) [adj]	near by	VIII nam [3rd sg past ind of nema (nem-)] [v]	took, settled	VI
nánd (nánd-i-) [f]	proximity, neighbourhood	XXII(B)
náttverðr (verð-i-) [m]	supper	XXXI(A) nauðleytamaðr (mann-) [m]	near kinsman	XIII(B)
né [conj]	nor	XXIV(A)
nef (nefj-) [n]	nose	XXXV(A)
Nefjólfr (-ólf-a-) [m]	personal name	XXVII(B)
nefna (nafn-i/j-) [v]	name	VI
skal hér nefna	here shall be named
nefnask (nafn-i/j-) [v]	name oneself, be named	XXV
nefndr (nefn-d-) [participle of nefna (nafn-i/j-)] [v]	named	V
nema [conj]	except	XXIX(B)

nema (nem-) [v]	take, settle	VI
nemr [3rd sg pres ind of nema (nem-)] [v]	takes, settles	V
níðask (níð-i/j-) á [+D] [v]	act basely in (something)	XXXIV(A)
niðr [adv]	down	XI(A)
njóta (njút-) [+G] [v]	have benefit of, enjoy (something)	XXXIII(A) nógr (nóg-) [adj]	enough, sufficient	I
norðan um [+A] [prep phrase]	from somewhere in the north of	XXVII(B)
Norðlendingr (lending-a-) [m]	inhabitant of the northern part of Iceland	XXIX(B)
norðrland (land-) [n]	northland; in pl: Nordic countries	IV
Nóregr (Nóreg-a-) [m]	Norway	III
norrœnn (norrœn-) [adj]	Norse	VIII
norskr (norsk-) [adj]	Norwegian	I
nótt (nótt-) [f]	night	XXIV(A) nú [adv]	now	I
nunna (nunna-) [f]	nun	XXVIII(B)
nýr (nýj-) [adj]	new	I
nær [+D] [prep]	near to	XXXII(B)
nær [adv]	closer	XXIII(A)
næsta [adv]	very	XVI(B)
nøkkurr (nøkkur-) [pron]	(a) certain	XIII(A)
nøkkuru [adv]	somewhat	XXXIV(B)
nøkkut [n N/A sg of nøkkurr (nøkkur-)] [pron]	something	XIX(B)
nøkkut [adv]	somewhat, a bit	XVI(C)
nøs (nas-i-) [f]	about	XXXIV(C)
of [adv]	nostril	XVII(A)
ofan [adv]	too, overly	XXXI(A)
ofan fyrir [+A] [prep phrase]	from above, down	XVII(A)
ofan með [+D] [prep phrase]	down over	XVI(B)
ofra (ofr-a-) [+D] [v]	down along	XXXIII(B)
þegar er sólu var ofrat	raise (something)	XXVI(A)
ofrlið (lið-) [n]	as soon as the sun had risen
bera (ber-) ofrliði [+A]	overwhelming force	XVIII(A) ofstopi (ofstopi-) [m]	overwhelm, overpower (someone)
ok [adv]	vehemence, arrogance	X
ok [conj]	also	VIII
	and	I

okkarr (okkar-) [pron]	our (two)	XII(A)
okkr [A/D of vít ] [pron]	us (two)	XII(A)
Óláfr (Ólaf-a-) [m]	personal name	XI(A)
olli [3rd sg past ind of valda (Lesson XXIX)] [+D] [v]	caused, was the cause of (something)	XXIX(A)
opinn (opin-) [adj]	open	XXXII(A)
opt [adv]	often	XXV
optliga [adv]	often, frequently	XXVII(A)
ór (=úr) [+D] [prep]	out of	XXXIV(A)
orð (orð-) [n]	word	XVI(A)
orðsnjallr (snjall-) [adj]	eloquent, well-spoken	XXVII(A)
orðspakr (spak-) [adj]	wise-spoken	XXVII(B)
Orkneyjar [f pl]	Orkney Islands	VIII
orlof (orlof-) [n]	leave, permission	XXX(A) Ormstunga (tunga-) [f]	nickname, 'Serpent's Tongue'	X
orrusta (orrusta-) [f]	battle	X
orti [3rd sg past ind of yrkja (yrk/ork-i/j-) [v]	composed	X
Ósk (Ósk-a-) [f]	personal name	XXIX(A)
Óspakr (spak-) [m]	personal name	XXVI(A)
oss (Lesson XII) [pron]	us	XI(B)
ostr (ost-a-) [m]	cheese	II
Ósvífr (svífr-a-) [m]	personal name	X
óttafullr (full-) [adj]	terrified, fearful	XX(A)
pallr (pall-a-) [m]	a raised platform at the end of the hall	XV(B)
páskar [m pl]	Easter	XV(A)
piltr (pilt-a-) [m]	lad, boy	XVI(C)
pústr (pústr-a-) [m]	box on the ear	XXXI(B)
ráð (ráð-) [n]	consideration, counsel	XI(B)
	plan	XIII(B)
	condition	XXV
	advice	XXIX(A)
ráða [Lesson XXIII] [v]	advise, counsel, govern	XXIV(A)
ráða draum	interpret a dream	XXIX(A)
ráðagerð (gerð-i-) [f]	plan	XXXI(B)
ráðakostr (kost-i-) [m]	position in life	XXX(A)
ráðandi [present participle of ráða (ráð-)] [v]	prevailing	XXIV(B)
skal ek þess ráðandi	I shall prevail in that
ráðinn (ráðin-) [participle of ráða (Lesson XXIII)] [adj]	determined, certain	XXV

Ragabróðir (Lesson XXVI) [m]	nickname, 'Brother of Ragi'	XXIX(B)
Rangá (á-a-) [f]	place-name, 'Crooked River'	XXXIII(A)
Rangárvellir [m pl]	place-name, 'Crooked River Plains'	VI
rauðhærðr (hærð-) [adj]	red-haired	XVI(A) rauðr (rauð-) [adj]	red	V
inn rauði	the red
rauðskeggjaðr (skeggjað-) [adj]	red-bearded	XIX(B)
inn rauðskeggjaði	the red-bearded one (referring to Thor)
raust (raust-i-) [f]	voice	XXXII(B)
réð [3rd sg past ind of ráða (Lesson XXIII)] at [+D] [v]	attacked (someone)	XVIII(B)
réðu [3rd pl past ind of ráða (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	deliberated	XIV(B)
réðu um [+A]	deliberated on (something)
refsing (refsing-a-) [f]	punishment	XIII(B)
reiða (reið-i/j-) [v]	raise in the air, brandish	XVI(C)
	pay, weigh on a scale	XXV
	carry on horseback	XXXIV(B)
reiðask (reið-i/j-) [v]	become wroth, angry	XXII(B)
reiðr (reið-) [adj]	wroth, angry	XXXV(A)
reiðubúinn (búin-) [adj]	ready, prepared	XV(B)
reiddr (reidd-) [participle of reiða (reið-i/j-)] [adj]	raised	XXI(B)
reisa (reis-i/j-) [v]	raise, establish	VI
reisir [3rd sg pres ind of reisa (reis-i/j-)] [v]	raises, establishes	V
reizla (reizla-) [f]	scales	XXV
rekinn (rekin-) [participle of reka (rek-)] [adj]	inlaid	III
rekkja (rekkja-) [f]	driven ashore, beached	XVIII(B)
rekkja (rekk-i/j-) [v]	bed	XXXI(A)
renna (renn-) [v]	go to bed	XXV
renna (rann-i/j-) [v]	run	XVII(A)
renna fótskriðu	slip	XXI(B)
rennir þegar af fram fótskriðu	slide on ice immediately goes into a slide	XXXIII(B)
reru [3rd pl past ind of róa (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	rowed	XXII(B)
rétt [adv]	rightly	XI(A)

rétta (rétt-i/j-) [v]	stretch out	XXVII(B)
rétta við	recover	XXXII(B)
réttnefjaðr (nefjað-) [adj]	straight-nosed	XXXV(B)
rétr (rétt-) [adj]	right, correct	XXIX(A)
reyðr (reyðj-a-) [f]	finback whale	XIX(A)
Reykjanes (nesj-) [n]	place-name, 'Smoky Cape'	XIII(A)
Reykjavík (vík-) [f]	place-name, 'Bay of Smokes'	I
reykr (reyk-i-) [m]	smoke, steam	XXXII(B)
Reykir	place-name, 'Hot Springs'
reyna (raun-i/j-) [v]	try	XXI(A)
riða (rið-) [v]	ride	XIV(A)
riða (rið) [+D] [v]	smear (with something)	XVII(B)
riði [3rd sg subj I of riða (rið-)] [v]	should ride, may ride	XV(A) riðinn [m N sg participle of riða (rið-)] [v]	ridden	XV(A)
var riðinn	had ridden
riðu [3rd pl past ind of riða (rið-)] [v]	rode	XIV(A)
ríki (ríkj-) [n]	dominion	III
ríkr (ríkj-) [adj]	powerful, rich	I
rísta (ríst-) [v]	carve	XVII(B)
rit (rit-) [n]	writing	VIII
rjúfa (rjúf-) [v]	break, violate	XXXIV(A)
rjúka (rjúk-) [v]	go flying, rush	XVI(B)
roði (roði-) [m]	redness	XXXV(B)
róma (róm-a-) [v]	shout approval of, approve	XXIX(A)
rúm (rúm-) [n]	space, room	XVI(B)
	seat, place	XXX(B)
	bed	XXXII(B)
rún (rún-a-) [f]	rune	XVII(B)
Runólfr (-ólf-a-) [m]	personal name	XXXII(B)
ræsta (ræst-i/j-) [v]	clean, sweep	XXIII(A)
rœða (rœð-i/j-) [v]	speak, discuss	XXII(A)
rœðir [2nd sg subj of ræða (rœð-i/j-)] [v]	discuss	XI(B)
Rögnvaldr (vald-a-) [m]	personal name	VI
röskr (röskv-) [adj]	brave	III
sá (Lesson XXV) [m N sg] [pron]	that (one)	XII(B)
sá [3rd sg past ind of sjá (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	saw	XV(B)

sá (Lesson XXIII) [+D] [v]	scatter, sow (something)	XXXI(B)
saga (saga-) [f]	saga, story	IX
sagt [supine of segja (sag-i/j-)] [v]	said	XVI(B)
saksókn (sókn-i-) [f]	lawsuit	XXIX(B)
Salbjörg (bjarg-a-) [f]	personal name	VII
salr (sal-i-) [m]	hall, room	II
saman [adv]	together	XI(B)
samr (sam-) [adj]	same	XIV(A)
sanna (sann-a-) [v]	affirm	XXXVII(B)
sannr (sann-) [adj]	true	XXXVII(B)
hafa sannara	be in the right
sár (sár-) [n]	wound	XXI(B)
sat [3rd sg past ind of sitja (sitj-)] [v]	sat	XV(B)
satt [n N/A sg of sannr [adj]]	true	XXXIV(B)
hafa [+A] fyrir satt	be convinced of (some- thing)
satt [adv]	truthfully	XIV(A)
henni þótti hann eigi hafa sér allt satt til sagt	she thought he had not told her the whole truth
sáttir (sátt-) [adj]	reconciled	XXIX(B)
verða sáttir á [+A]	come to agreement con- cerning (something)
sáu [3rd pl past ind of sjá (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	saw	XIII(A)
Saurboer (bœj-i-) [m]	place-name, 'Muddy Farm'	XV(A)
saurr (saur-a-) [m]	mud, filth; also nickname	V
sax (sax-) [n]	short, one-edged sword	XVI(C)
sé [sg imperative of sjá (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	see	XXVII(B)
sé [3rd sg subj I of vera (Lesson XXX)] [v]	is, will be	XI(A)
sé eptir	shall remain (behind)	XXV
segði [3rd sg subj II of segja (sag-i/j-)] [v]	said, would say	XVII(B)
segir [3rd sg pres ind of segja (sag-i/j-)] [v]	says	VII
svá sem áðr segir [impers]	as has been said before
segir [impers]	relates, tells	VIII
segir af [+D] [impers]	there are accounts of
segir frá [+D] [impers]	(something) is related, told	IX

segja (sag-i/j-) [v]	say	XX(A)
segja til [+D]	tell (someone)	XIV(A)
seinliga [adv]	slowly, reluctantly	XXXI(B)
seinn (sein-) [adj]	slow, late	XXI(B)
honum var seint	he was slow
seint [adv]	slowly, late	XXI(B)
sekð (sekð-i) [f]	outlawry, exclusion from legal rights	XXIV(A)
sekr (sekj-) [adj]	guilty, condemned to outlawry	V
Sealón (lón-) [n]	place-name, 'Seal Inlet'	VII
selja (Lesson XIV) [v]	sell	XIV(B)
selr (sel-a-) [m]	seal	XXXV(B)
sém [1st pl subj I of vera (Lesson XXX)] [v]	are, will be	XXIII(B)
sem [conj]	as, which	VI
	as if	XI(B)
sem ákafast [adv phrase]	as fast as possible	XVII(A)
senda (send-i/j-) [v]	send	XX(A) sendiför (far-a-) [f]	errand	XVIII(A)
sér [3rd D reflexive] [pron]	himself, herself, themselves	V
set (set-) [n]	seat; platform along the side walls of the hall	XX(A)
sét [supine of sjá (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	seen	XXI(B)
gat sét	could see
setja (Lesson XIV) [v]	set	XXXIII(B)
setjask (Lesson XIV) [v]	seat oneself, sit down	XX(A)
sett [n N pl of settr , participle of setja (Lesson XIV)] [v]	set up, placed	XV(B)
setti [3rd sg past ind of setja (Lesson XIV)] [v]	set	XVI(C)
sétti [wk] [num]	sixth	XXIX(A) siðan [adv]	afterwards, then	I
siðar [adv]	later	XXXIV(A)
stundu siðar	a while later
siðr (sið-u-) [m]	custom, religious practice	XXIV(A)
forn siðr	heathendom
siðr [adv]	less	XXX(A)
siðvenja (venja-) [f]	custom	XX(A)
sigla (sigl-i/j-) [v]	sail	XIII(A)
siglði [3rd sg past ind of sigla (sigl-i/j-)] [+D] [v]	sailed (something)	VII

siglir [3rd sg pres ind of sigla (sigl-i/j-)] [v]	sails	I
signa (sign-i/j-) [v]	bless with the sign of Thor's hammer	XVII(B)
Sigurðr (Sigurð-u-) [m]	personal name	XXVII(A)
sik [3rd A reflexive] [pron]	himself, herself, themselves	IX
silfr (silfr-) [n]	silver	III
silki (silkj-) [n]	silk	XXII(A)
sín [3rd G reflexive] [pron]	himself, herself, themselves	VII
sinn (sinn-) [n]	time, occasion	XXII(A)
einhverju sinni	at one time
eitthvert sinn	one time	XXVIII(B)
sinn (Lesson XI) [pron]	his, her, their (own)	III
sitja (sitj-) [v]	sit, be located	XI(A)
sitja fyrir	be present	XXV
sitja til [+G]	wait for (something)	XXII(B)
sitt [n N/A sg (Lesson XI)] [pron]	his, her, their (own)	V
sjá [m, f N sg (Lesson XXV)] [pron]	this	XXII(A)
sjá (Lesson XXIII) [v]	see	XXV
sjá á [impers]	be seen, be noticed
ef nokkut mátti á sjá	if anything could be seen, noticed
sjá á [+A]	look at (something)	XXVII(B)
sjá til [+G]	see as far as (something)
sjá um [+A]	look after, see after (something)	XXVII(A) sjálfr (sjálf-) [adj]	self	XXIII(A)
sjau [num]	seven	XXIV(A)
sjaundi [wk] [num]	seventh	XXIX(A)
it sjaunda hvert	each seventh
sjautján	seventeen	XXIX(A)
sjóða (sjúð-) [v]	cook, boil	XIX(B)
sjóðr (sjóð-a-) [m]	money bag, purse	XXV
sjónleysi (leysj-) [n]	blindness, loss of sight	XXXI(B)
skaði (skaði-) [m]	harm, loss	IX
fá mikinn skaða á mönnum	take a great loss of men
Skagafjörðr (fjarð-u-) [m]	place-name, 'Cape Firth'	XXIX(B)
skal [3rd sg pres ind of skulu (pret-pres-)] [v]	shall	VI
skáld (skáld-) [n]	poet	II

skáldskapr (skap-i-) [m]	poetry	XIX(B)
skáli (skáli-) [m]	hall, main room	IX
Skalla-Grímr (Grím-a-) [m]	personal name, 'Bald-Grímr'	VI
skammleitr (leit-) [adj]	short of face	XVI(A)
skammr (skamm-) [adj]	short, brief	IV
skammt [adv]	a short distance	XXXIII(A)
skaplyndi (lyndj-) [n]	disposition, temper	XXVI(A)
skapt (skapt-) [n]	shaft	XVI(C)
Skaptafell (fell-) [adj]	place-name, 'Skapti's Mountain'	XXIII(B)
skapþungr (þung-) [adj]	in a heavy mood, depressed	XXIII(B)
[+D] er skapþungt	(someone) is depressed
skarð (skarð-) [n]	notch	XXXI(A)
Skarpheðinn (heðin-a-) [m]	personal name	IX
skarpleitr (leit-) [adj]	sharp-featured	XXXV(C)
skarpr (skarp-) [adj]	sharp	III
skartsmaðr (mann-) [m]	dandy	XXVIII(A)
skauzk [3rd sg past ind of skjótask (skút-) [v]]	jumped suddenly	XVI(B)
skeið (skeið-) [n]	course; in pl: place-name, name of a district	XXXII(B)
	a course of time	XXXV(A)
annat skeið	every now and then
skemmta (skemmt-i/j-) [+D] [v]	amuse (someone)	XXI(A)
sker (skerj-) [n]	skerry, small rocky islet	XIII(A)
skera (sker-) [v]	cut	XVIII(B)
skikkja (skikkja-) [f]	cloak	XXIII(B)
skilðusk [3rd pl past ind of skiljask (skil-i/j-) [v]]	parted, separated from each other	XIII(A)
skilja (skil-i/j-) [v]	part, separate	XII(A)
	understand	XXVIII(B)
skilr með [+D] [impers]	there is a parting of ways for (some)	XXXIV(A)
skip (skip-) [n]	ship	I
skipta (skipt-i/j-) [+D] [v]	divide (something)	XXIX(B)
skipti (skiptj-) [n]	dividing, sharing	XVIII(B)
	in pl: dealings	IV
skiptir [3rd sg pres ind of skipta (skipt-i/j-) [v]]	shifts, changes	IV
svá mánuðum skiptir	for months
skjálfa (Lesson XVII) [v]	shake, quake	XXXII(B)
skjól (skjól-) [n]	shelter	XXIV(B)

skjóta (skjút-) [+D] [v]	shoot (with something)	XVI(C)
skjóta [+A]	shoot (something)	XXXIII(A)
skjóta máli	transfer a matter	XIX(B)
skjótörðr (orð-) [adj]	quick-spoken	XXXV(C)
skjótaráðr (ráð-) [adj]	quick in decisions	XXXV(C)
skjótt [adv]	quickly	XVII(A)
skjöldr (skjald-u-) [m]	shield	II
skógr (skóg-a-) [m]	forest	IV
skolbrúnn (brún-) [adj]	swarthy, dark brown	XXXV(A)
skór (skó-a-) [m]	shoe	XXXIII(B)
skora (skor-a-) [v]	insist on	XXVIII(B)
skorta (skort-i/j-, irr) [v]	be lacking	XIX(A)
[+A] skortir [+A]	(someone) is short of (something)
skotit [supine of skjóta (skjut-)] [v]	deferred	XI(B)
Skotland (land-) [n]	Scotland	VIII
skotmál (mál-) [n]	shooting range	XVI(C)
skrautligr (skrautlig-) [adj]	magnificent, fancy	XXV
skreið (skreið-i-) [f]	dried fish	XXII(B)
Skrælingi (Skrælingi-) [m]	savage (here: American Indian or Eskimo)	X
skuggi (skuggi-) [m]	shadow	XXXII(A)
skuldarstaðr (stað-i-) [m]	location of debt	XV(A)
játa skuldarstöðum	acknowledge a deposit of debt
skulum [1st pl pres ind of skulu (pret-pres)] [v]	shall	XII(A)
skurðr (skurð-i-) [m]	cutting, flensing	XVIII(B)
skúta (skúta-) [f]	small boat, skiff	XXII(B)
skyldi [3rd sg subj II of skulu (pret-pres)] [v]	should	XII(A) skyldi [3rd sg past ind of skulu (pret-pres)] [v]	should	XVII(A)
skyldim [1st pl subj II of skulu (pret-pres)] [v]	should	XII(A)
skyldu [3rd pl past ind of skulu (pret-pres)] [v]	should, were to	XIV(A)
skyldu [past infinitive of skulu (pret-pres)] [v]	should	XI(B)
sköllótt (sköllótt-) [adj]	bald	XXXV(A)
skømm (skamm-i-) [f]	shame	XII(A)
skqr (skar-a-) [f]	edge, rim	XXV
skqrungr (skqrung-a-) [m]	enterprising person	V

sláim [1st pl subj I of slá (Lesson XX)] [v]	strike	XXV
sleði (sleði-) [m]	sledge	XX(A)
sleginn (slegin-) [participle of slá (Lesson XX)] [adj]	mown, cut	XXXIV(A)
slíðr [n pl]	scabboard	XXXV(A)
slíkr (slík-) [adj]	such	XI(B)
	similar	XXX(A)
engi mun (vera) slíkr	none will be similar
smíð (smíð-i-) [f]	craft, work of skill	XXVII(A)
smjör (smjörv-) [n]	butter	XVIII(A)
snarask (snar-a-) við [v]	turn quickly	XXI(B)
snareygr (eygi-) [adj]	keen-eyed	XXXV(B)
snemma [adv]	early	XXXVI(A)
snemmendis [adv]	early	XXXIV(A)
sneri [3rd sg past ind of snúa (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	turned	XVI(C)
snimma (= snemma) [adv]	early	XXVII(A)
snúask (Lesson XXIII) [v]	turn	XXXII(A)
snær (snæv-a-) [m]	snow	IV
sofa (sof-) [v]	sleep	XX(A)
sofna (sofn-a-) [v]	fall asleep	XXIX(A)
sól (sól-i-) [f]	sun	IV
gangr sólar	course of the sun
sólargangr (gang-a-) [m]	course of the sun	XXIX(A)
sómi (sómi-) [m]	honour	XXX(A)
sonaeign (eign-i-) [f]	begetting of sons	XXVI(B)
sonarlát (lát-) [n]	loss of a son	XXXI(A)
sonr (Lesson VI) [m]	son	V
spá (spá-i-) [f]	prophecy	XXIV(A)
spakr (spak-) [adj]	wise	XXIX(A)
spjót (spjót-) [n]	spear	II
spor (spor-) [n]	track	XVIII(B)
spotta (spott-a-) [v]	mock	XXIII(A)
spretta (sprett-) [v]	jump, spring	XXVI(A) spretta (spratt-i/j-) frá [+D] [v]	unfasten, open up (some- thing)	XXXI(A)
springa (spring-) [v]	burst, split	XVII(B)
spurt [supine of spyrja (spur-i/j-)] [v]	found out	XIII(A)
spýja (spýja-) [f]	vomit	XVII(A)
spyrja (spur-i/j-) [v]	ask, find out	XV(A)
spyrja [+A]	find out (something) (by being told)	XXXIV(A)

spyrja [+G]	ask about (something)	XXVI(B)
spyrja [+D]	enquire about (something)	XXV
spyrjask (spur-i/j-) [v]	be reported	XXX(A)
spöng (spang-) [f]	floe	XXXIII(B)
staðfesta (festa-) [f]	permanent residence	XIV(B)
staddr (stadd-) [participle of steðja (stað-i/j-)] [adj]	standing, situated	XXIII(A)
stafr (staf-i-) [m]	post	XVII(A)
stamp (stamp-a-) [m]	large tub	XXI(A)
starf (starf-) [n]	work	XXVII(A)
starfa (starf-a-) [v]	work at	XXVII(A)
sté [variant form of steig , 3rd sg past ind of stíga (stíg-)] [v]	stepped	XV(B)
stíga undir borð	sit down at table
stefna (stafn-i/j-) [v]	head, set course	XIII(A)
steinn (stein-a-) [m]	stone	IV
stela (stel-) [+D] [v]	steal	XVIII(A)
stendr [3rd sg pres ind of standa (Lesson XX)] [v]	stands	IX
sterkastr (sterkast-) [super- lative of sterkr (sterk-)] [adj]	strongest	XVII(A)
sterkr (sterk-) [adj]	strong	II
stíga (stíg-) [v]	step	XV(B)
stikla (stíkl-a-) [v]	leap	XXXIV(A)
stilltr (stillt-) [adj]	even-tempered	XXV(B)
stínga (sting-) [v]	stick, thrust	XVII(B)
stínga [+D]	stick, thrust (something)	XXXIV(A)
stjúpfaðir (Lesson XXVI) [m]	step-father	XXVII(A)
stóð [3rd sg past ind of standa (Lesson XX)] [v]	stood	XVI(C)
stórlýndr (lýnd-) [adj]	haughty, arrogant	XXII(A)
stórr (stór-) [adj]	big	II
stórráðr (stór-) [adj]	ambitious	V
stórtíðindi [n pl]	great events	XXXII(B)
stórum [adv]	greatly, much	XXXI(A)
stórvirki (virkj-) [n]	great deed, achievement	XII(B)
Straumfjörðr (fjarð-u-) [m]	place-name, 'Stream Firth'	XIX(B)
stræti (strætj-) [n]	street	XXI(B)
ganga úti um stræti [pl]	walk about in the streets
strönd (strand-, strand-i-) [f]	strand, beach; in pl: place- name	VI

stufa (stufa-) [f]	sitting-room	XV(B)
stúfr (stúf-a-) [m]	stump	XVI(B)
stundum [adv]	sometimes, at times	XXXII(A)
stýrir [3rd sg pres ind of stýra (stýr-i/j-)] [v]	steers (something)	III
styrkr (styrk-) [adj]	strong	XXXV(C)
stökkva (Lesson XVII) [v]	spring, leap	XXXIV(A)
stökkva í sundr	break in two	XXXIII(B)
stærstr (stærst-) [superlative of stórr (stór-)] [adj]	biggest	VIII
støðva (støðv-a-) [v]	stop	XXXIII(B)
sú (Lesson XXV) [f N sg corresponding to sá ] [pron]	that (one)	XI(A)
suðr (suðr-) [n]	south	III
Suðreyjar [f pl]	Hebrides Islands	VIII
Suðrnes (nesj-) [n pl]	place-name, 'South Headlands'	VI
sukk (sukk-) [n]	extravagance	XXII(B)
hafa [+A] í sukki	squander (something)
sumar (sumar-) [n]	summer	I
sumardagr (dag-a-) [m]	summer day	IV
sumr (sum-) [adj]	some	VI
sunnan [adv]	from the south	XIII(A)
sunnan [+G] [prep]	(to the) south of	VIII
surtr (surt-a-) [m]	nickname, 'Swarthy'	XXIX(A)
svá [adv]	thus, so	XVII(A)
svá búit [adv]	in such a condition	XVII(A)
svá sem [conj]	just as	IV
	as	XIII(A)
svá sem gekk	as (far as) it went
svar (svar-) [n]	answer	XI(B)
svara (svar-a-) [v]	answer	XV(A)
svarri (svarri-) [m]	haughty woman	X
Svartahaf (haf-) [n]	the Black Sea	VIII
svarteygr (eygj-) [adj]	black-eyed	XXXV(A) svartr (svart-) [adj]	swarthy, black	XV(A) svefn (svefn-a-) [m]	sleep	XXIV(A)
sveinn (svein-a-) [m]	boy, young man	IX
sveipa (sveip-a-) [v]	wrap	XX(A)
sveipa til [+D]	sweep around (something)	XVI(C)
sveipr (sveip-i-) [m]	curl, wave over the forehead	XXXV(C)
sveitungr (sveitung-a-) [m]	comrade, man from the same district	XVII(A)

svelgja (svelgj-) [v]	swallow	XXXI(A)
svell (svell-) [n]	sheet of ice	XXXIII(B)
svelta (svalt-i/j-) [v]	starve [tr]	XXII(B)
svelta sik til [+G]	starve oneself for the sake of (something)
sverð (sverð-) [n]	sword	II
Svínadalr (dal-i-) [m]	place-name, 'Swine Dale'	XV(A) svínsminni (minnj-) [n]	short memory, the memory of swine	XXVI(A)
svívirðing (virðing-a-) [f]	dishonour, insult	XXVI(A)
Svíþjóð (þjóð-i-) [f]	Sweden	III
syfja (syfj-a-) [v]	become sleepy	XXXIII(A)
[+A] syfjar	(someone) becomes sleepy
sýn (sýn-i-) [f]	sight, appearance	XVI(A)
fríðr sýnum	handsome in appearance
sýna (sýn-i/j-) [v]	show	XXXI(A)
sýnask (sýn-i/j-) [+D] [v]	seem (to someone)	XXVII(B)
	appear (to someone)	XXXIV(A)
[+N] sýnisk [+D]	(something) seems fitting (to someone)	XXXI(A) syndr (synd-) [adj]	able to swim	XXVIII(A)
sýr (sú-) [f]	sow; also nickname	XXVII(A)
systir (Lesson XXVI) [f]	sister	XXVI(A)
Sælingsdalr (dal-i-) [m]	place-name, named after Þórir Sælingr ('the wealthy')	XV(A)
Sælingsdalstunga (tunga-) [f]	place-name, 'Tongue in Sælingsdalr '	XXVI(B)
sæll (sæl-) [adj]	happy, fortunate	XXIII(A)
kom heill ok sæll	a form of greeting
sær (sæv-i-) [m]	sea	XIII(A)
með sæ	along the seacoast
sæta (sát-i/j-) [+D] [v]	suffer, undergo (something)	XIII(B)
sætt (sætt-i-) [f]	reconciliation, settlement	XXIII(B)
Sæunn (únnj-a-) [irreg N] [f]	personal name	VII
sökkva (sökkv-i/j-) [+D] [v]	sink (something)	XXI(A)
sökja (Lesson XIV) [v]	attend	XXIX(B)
sökja [+A] heim	visit (someone)	XIX(A)
	attack (someone) (at his home)	XXVI(A)
sökja [+A] til boðs	visit (someone)	XIV(A)
sökja mál	prosecute a case	XXIII(B)
sökja at [+D]	attack (someone)	XXXIII(A)

sœmðr (sœmð-) [participle of sœma (sóm-i/j-)] [v]	honoured	XXIII(B)
søðla (søðl-a-) [v]	saddle	XXXI(A)
søðull (søðul-a-) [m]	saddle	XXXIV(A)
søgn (sagn-i-) [f]	tale	IV
søļ (søļv-) [n]	dried seaweed	XXXI(A)
Søļmundr (mund-u-) [m]	personal name	IX
tá (tá-) [f]	toe	XXVII(B)
tak [sg imperative of taka (tak-)] [v]	take	XXV
taka (tak-) [v]	take	IX
taka á [+D]	touch, grasp (someone)	XXVI(A)
taka kost af þann (kost) munum vér af taka	make a choice we will make that choice, choose that	XXX(A)
taka mikít af	make much of	XXVI(A)
taka ofan á [+A]	reach down to (something)	XXII(A)
taka til nú er þar til at taka, at . . .	take up, begin now we begin where . . .	XVIII(A)
taka til [+G]	take, pick up (something)	XXX(B)
taka til ráða	adopt a plan	XII(A)
taka til ráðs	have recourse to, adopt a plan	XXXI(A)
hvat skulum vit til ráðs taka?	what counsel shall we entertain?
taka undir [+A]	take hold under (something)	XXII(A)
taka við [+D]	accept, receive (something)	XXV
takask (tak-) til	happen, come about	XXV
tal (tal-) [n]	talk	XI(B)
talask (tal-a-) við [v]	count, number, reckoning	XXIX(A)
talat [supine of tala (tal-a-)] [v]	talk to each other	XXXI(B)
talit [supine of telja (tal-i/j-)] [v]	talked	XII(B)
talit [supine of telja (tal-i/j-)] [v]	reckoned, counted	XXIX(A)
tanngarðr (garð-a-) [m]	row of teeth	XXXV(C)
tekit [supine of taka (tak-)] [v]	taken	XIII(A)
teknir [m N pl of tekinn (tekin), participle of taka (tak-)] [v]	taken	XX(B)

telgja (talg-i/j-) [v]	hew, cut	XIX(A)
telr [3rd sg pres ind of telja (tal-i/j-)] [v]	considers, reckons	VI
telr upp	enumerates
tíðindi [n pl]	tidings, events	XXVI(A)
þat var tíðinda	it happened
tíginn (tigin-) [adj]	high-born, noble	XXVII(B)
tigr (tig-u-) [m]	ten, counting of ten	XXIX(A)
vikur tvær ins sétta tigar	two weeks of the sixth counting of ten (= 52)
tilbeini (beini-) [m]	furtherance, help	XIII(B)
til búinn [participle of búa (Lesson XXI) til] [v]	ready, prepared	XII(A)
til Íslands [prep phrase]	to Iceland	I
tilkall (kall-) [n]	claim	XVIII(B)
tilkváma (kváma-) [f]	arrival	XXIII(A)
til móts við [+A] [prep phrase]	against	XXI(A) tiltekð (tekð-i-) [f]	expedient, design	XVI(A)
til vestrs [prep phrase]	to the west	I
til þess [adv phrase]	for this (purpose)	XVII(A)
til þess er [conj]	until	XIII(A)
tíu [num]	ten	XXXIV(B)
tjald (tjald-) [n]	tent, curtain	XXV
tjalda (tjald-a-) [v]	hang tapestries	XXIII(A)
tók [3rd sg past ind of taka (tak-)] [v]	took	XI(B)
tók í [+A]	took hold of (something)	XVII(A)
tók við [+D]	took hold of, received (something)	XVII(B)
tóku [3rd pl past ind of taka (tak-)] [v]	took	XI(B)
tólf [num]	twelve	XIV(A)
traustr (traust-) [adj]	trusty	III
trúa (trú-i-) [+D] [v]	believe (something, someone)	XXXII(A)
trúa [+D] til [+G]	trust (someone) in (something)	XXXIV(A)
Tryggvi (Tryggvi-) [m]	personal name	XXX(A)
tún (tún-) [n]	home meadow	IV
Tunga (Tunga-) [f]	place-name, 'Tongue' (of land)	XIV(B)
tungl (tungl-) [n]	moon	XXXII(A)
tunglskin (skin-) [n]	light of the moon	XXXII(A)

tvá [m A of tveir (Lesson XXIX)] [num]	two	XVIII(A)
tveim [D of tveir , tvær , tvau (Lesson XXIX)] [num]	two	XXI(B)
tvær [f N (Lesson XXIX)] [num]	two	XXI(A)
tyggja (tug(g)-i/j-) [v]	chew	XXXI(A)
tönn (tann-) [f]	tooth	XXXI(A)
úbyggðr (byggð-) [adj]	uninhabited	V
údæll (dæl-) [adj]	unruly, quarrelsome	XVI(A)
úfagr (fagr-) [adj]	ugly	XXVII(B)
úfriðr (frið-u-) [m]	strife, war	III
úfúinn (fúin-) [adj]	unrotten	XX(B)
úfœrr (fœr-) [adj]	incapacitated	XVII(A)
úgipta (gipta-) [f]	impassable	XXXIII(B)
úgörla [adv]	misfortune, ill luck	XXVI(B)
úkunnari [wk] [adj]	not clearly	XII(B)
Úlfarsfell (fell-) [n]	less known (= more unknown)	XII(B)
úlfgrár (grá-) [adj]	place-name, 'Úlfar's Mountain'	XX(B)
Úlfheðinn (heðin-a-) [m]	wolf-gray	XXXV(A)
úlifaðr (lifað-) [adj]	personal name	XXIX(B)
úlíkr (lík-) [+D] [adj]	unlived	XXIV(A)
úlyfjan (lyfjan-) [n]	unlike (someone, something)	XXVI(B)
um [+A] [prep]	poison	XVII(B)
um [+A time] [prep]	about, concerning	XI(A)
um [adv]	over	XVII(A)
úmakligr (maklig-) [adj]	for, during	XIV(A)
úmáli [wk] [adj]	about, around	XVI(B)
um daginn [adv phrase]	undeserving	XII(B)
umfram [+A] [prep]	speechless, mute, dumb	XXV
um síðir [adv phrase]	during the day	XV(A)
um útan [adv phrase]	beyond, above	XXVIII(A)
unðrask (unðr-a-) [v]	finally	XXXI(B)
undan [adv]	around the outside	XXX(B)
undan [+D] [prep]	wonder at	XXVIII(A)
undarligr (undarlig-) [adj]	away	XIII(B)
undir [+A] [prep]	from under	XXVII(B)
ungr (ung-) [adj]	strange	XXXI(B)
unnask (pret-pres) [v]	under	XXXII(B)
	young	IX
	love each other	XXVIII(A)

unni [3rd sg past ind of unna (pret-pres)] [+D] [v]	loved (someone)	XVI(A)
unnit [supine of vinna (vinn-)] [v]	done, accomplished	XII(B)
unnu [3rd pl past ind of vinna (vinn-)] [v]	did, accomplished	XIII(B)
upp [adv]	up	XIII(A)
uppi [adv]	up	XXXIII(B)
uppi við [+A] [prep phrase]	up by	XXI(B)
upp kveðit [supine of kveða (kveð-) upp] [v]	declared	XI(A)
uppréttir (rétt-) [adj]	upright	XXXV(A)
uppvöxtr (vaxt-u-) [m]	growth, growing up	XVI(A)
úr [+D] [prep]	out of	XIII(B)
urðu [3rd pl past ind of verða (verð-)] [v]	became	XIV(B)
úrigr (úrig-) [adj]	ill-tempered	XIX(A)
úsanna (sann-a-) [v]	disprove, refute	XI(B)
úsleitiliga [adv]	unhesitatingly	XVII(A)
drekka úsleitiliga	drain the drinking vessel
út [adv]	out, towards the west	VIII
útan [adv]	abroad	XXXIV(A)
útanlendis [adv]	abroad	XXVII(B)
útferð (ferð-i-) [f]	journey out (to Iceland)	XXXIV(A)
útganga (ganga-) [f]	exit, leave to go out	IX
úti [adv]	outside	XXXII(A)
útbúr (búr-) [n]	storehouse	XVIII(A)
útkváma (kváma-) [f]	coming out, arrival (in Iceland from Norway)	XIV(A)
úvélta [adv]	without guile	XXV
úvinafagnaðr (fagnað-i-) [m]	joy to one's enemies	XXXIV(A)
úvinr (vin-i-) [m]	enemy	III
úvit (vit-) [n]	unconsciousness	XXXII(B)
fá (Lesson XXI) úvit	become unconscious
úvænn (væn-) [adj]	unlikely, unpromising, unexpected	XXXI(A)
uxi [irreg, pl: yxni ] [m]	ox	XX(A) úpokki (þokki-) [m]	disfavour, abhorrence	XX(A)
öllum þótti úpokki	all felt abhorrence
úpýðr (þýð-) [adj]	unfriendly	XVI(A)
vág (vág-i-) [f]	scale, balance	XXV
vaka (vak-i-) [v]	be awake	XXVII(B)
vakit [supine of vekja (vak-i/j-)] [v]	raised, brought up	XI(B)

vakna (vakn-a-) [v]	wake up [intrans]	XXIV(A)
vakna við [+A]	awaken at (something)	XXVI(A) waken to (something),	XXIX(A) recognise, realise (something)
vald (vald-) [n]	dominion, power	XXX(A)
Valland (land-) [n]	France	III
ván (ván-i-) [f]	hope, expectation	XXVI(A)
rekin ván	past hope
vandliga [adv]	carefully	XXV
vánder (vánd-) [adj]	wicked	XVIII(A)
vangeymsla (geymsla-) [f]	negligence	XVIII(A)
vanr (van-) [adj]	accustomed, usual	XXII(B)
vápn (vápn-) [n]	weapon	II
vápnfimi (fimi-) [f]	skill in arms	XXXV(B)
var [3rd sg past ind of	was	V
vera (ver-) [v]
vár (vár-) [n]	spring	III
vara (vara-) [f]	wares, goods	XXXIV(A)
vara (var-i-) [v]	be aware, expect	XXI(B)
[+A] varir [+G] um [+A]	(someone) is aware of, expects (something)
	about (something)
vára (vár-a-) [impers] [v]	spring comes	XXII(B)
varask (var-a-) [v]	beware of	XX(A)
varask at ganga	beware of going
varð [3rd sg past ind of	became, was	V
verða (verð-) [v]
varð fyrstr til	became the first	VI
fjandskapr, er konungi	enmity which the king	XIII(B)
varð á þeim feðgum	came to have towards the father and son
varða (varð-a-) [+A] [v]	concern (someone)	XIX(B)
varða engu	be of no concern, of no importance
	keep, guard	XXIX(A)
varðveita (veit-i/j-) [v]	keep, safeguard	XXIII(B)
vargr (varg-a-) [m]	wolf	XXXIII(A)
varr (var-) [adj]	aware; wary	XXIV(B)
vera varr on sik	be on one's guard
váru [3rd pl past ind of	were	VII
vera (ver-) [v]
vas (=var) [v]	was	XXIX(A)
vássamr (vássam-) [adj]	wet and laborious	XXI(A)

vatn (vatn-) [n]	water	I
	lake	IV
Vatnshorn (horn-) [n]	place-name, 'Lake's Corner'	V
vaxa (vax-) [v]	grow	XIV(A)
veðfé [G sg: -fjár] [n]	proceeds from a wager	XXVII(A)
veðja (veðj-a-) um [v]	lay a wager on	XXVII(B)
veðr (veðr-) [n]	weather, wind	IV
veðrátta (veðrátta-) [f]	state of the weather	XIX(B)
vefja (vaf-i/j-) [+D] [v]	wrap (something)	XXX(B)
ok kvað (þat vera)	and declared it (to be)
Guðrúna Ósvífrsdóttur	too good for G.O. to
hølti gott at vefja	wrap it around her
honum at høfði sér	head
vega (veg-) [v]	slay	XXIII(B)
	weigh	XXV
veggr (vegg-i-) [m]	wall	XX(A)
vegit [supine of vega (veg-)] [v]	slain	V
vegr (veg-a-, veg-u-) [m]	way	XVII(A)
marga vega	in many ways	XXV
veiðimaðr (mann-) [m]	hunter, fisher	XIX(B)
veiðr (veiðj-a-) [f]	hunting, fishing	XIX(A)
veig (veig-a-) [f]	beverage, brew	II
veit [1st sg pres ind of	know	XI(A)
vita (pret-pres)] [v]
veita (veit-i/j-) [v]	offer, aid, support	XVIII(B)
veita tilkall til	lay claim to
veita til [+G]	grant (something)	XXIII(A)
veita til þeirra sætta	grant those settlements
veittar [f N/A pl of	given, performed	XX(A) participle of veita (veit-i/j-)] [v]
veizla (veizla-) [f]	feast	XXXIV(B)
vekja (vak-i/j-) [v]	awaken [trans]	XXVII(B)
vekr [3rd sg pres ind of	raises, brings up	XI(B)
vekja (vak-i/j-)] [v] vel [adv]	well	I
ef vel er (hugat)	if (it) is well (meant)	XXIII(A)
vel farinn (farin-) [participle	well-favoured	XXVIII(A)
of fara (far-) vel] [adj]
véla (vél-i/j-) [v]	trick, deceive	XXXI(A) nú erum vit vélt	now we have been deceived
velja (val-i/j-) [+A] til	choose (someone) for	XXVIII(B)
[+G] [v]	(something)

vér [1st N pl] [pron]	we	XII(B)
vera (Lesson XI/XVIII) [v]	be
vera á [+D]	be present in (something)	XXV
vera fyrir [+D]	be the leader of (someone)	XXX(A)
	portend (something)	XXXII(B)
vera uppi	be known, remembered	XXXI(B)
(þat) mun (vera) uppi	it will be remembered
vera vel við [+A]	be kind to (someone)	XXIV(A)
verð (verð-) [n]	worth, price	XXV
verða (verð-) [v]	become, come about	XXVIII(B)
hitt verðr enn ekki sagt	that (other) cannot yet be said, told
[+D] verðr [+adj]	(someone) becomes	XIX(B)
	[+adj]
öllum varð illt af ([+D])	all became ill from (something)
verða at [+inf]	be obliged to [+inf]	XX(A)
verða við ([+D])	respond to (something)	XIX(B)
[+D] verðr við [+A]	(someone) comes close to	XVII(A)
	(something)
verðr (verð-) [adj]	worthy	XXVII(A)
verðr [+G]	worth (something)
þykkja mikils vert um	consider (something)
[+A]	remarkable
verðr [3rd sg pres ind of verða (verð-)] [v]	becomes, happens, comes about	IX
verit [supine of vera (ver-)] [v]	been	VIII
verja (var-i/j-) [v]	defend	IX
verjask (= verja sik)	defend oneself
verk (verk-) [n]	deed, work	XIII(B)
verknaðr (verknað-i-) [m]	work	XXVI(A)
verpa (verp-) [+D] [v]	throw (something)	XXXIII(A)
verr [adv]	worse	XXIV(A)
verstr (verst-) [superlative of illr] [adj]	worst	XXVIII(B)
vesa (= vera) [v]	be	XXIX(A)
vestan [+G] [prep]	west of	VIII
vestan Svínadal [adv phrase]	from the west by way of Svínadalr	XV(A)
vestrætt (ætt-i-) [f]	western quarter of the sky	XXXII(B)
vetr (vetr-) [m]	winter	IV

við [+A] [prep]	with	IV
	at	V
	against	X
	by, at, near	XVIII(B)
	near to	XIII(A)
viða [adv]	widely, in many places	I
viðara [comparative of viða] [adv]	more widely	XI(A)
	and even beyond
þó at viðara væri
viðförlull (förlu-) [adj]	widely-travelled	XXVII(A)
viðr (við-u-) [m]	tree, wood, timber	XIX(A)
viðr (við-) [adj]	wide	XXXV(A)
vígr (víg-) [adj]	able to fight	XXVIII(A)
vika (vika-) [f]	week	XXIX(A)
víkingr (víking-a-) [m]	viking	I
Víkrmaðr (mann-) [m]	inhabitant of Vík, 'Bay'	XVIII(B)
vikustef (stef-) [n]	week's notice	XXXIV(B)
vil [1st sg pres ind of vilja Lesson XXIII] [v]	want	XI(B)
vildi [3rd sg subj II of vilja (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	wanted to [+inf]	XIV(B)
vildi [3rd sg past ind of vilja (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	wanted to [+inf]	XVI(B)
vildu [past infinitive of vilja (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	to want to [+inf]	XXVI(A)
vilja (Lesson XXIII) [+inf] [v]	want to [+inf]	XXXI(A) vill [2nd, 3rd sg pres ind of vilja (Lesson XXIII)] [v]	want(s) to [+inf]	XI(B)
vinaboð (boð-) [n]	feast for friends	XXII(A)
vinátta (átta-) [f]	friendship	XIII(B)
vinavandr (vand-) [adj]	particular as to friends	XXXV(B)
vinber (berj-) [n]	grape	XIX(A)
vinfastr (fast-) [adj]	firm in friendship	XXXV(B)
vingan (vingan-i-) [f]	friendship	XXX(A) Vínland (land-) [n]	Vinland, North America	X
vinr (vin-i-) [m]	friend	XXIV(A) vinsæll (sæl-) [adj]	popular, beloved	XXVIII(A)
virða (virð-i/j-) [v]	estimate	XXV
	consider, evaluate	XXX(A)
vísa (vísa-) [f]	verse	XXXII(A)
víss (vís-) [adj]	certain	XX(A)
verða víss [+G]	become certain (of something)

vissi [3rd sg past ind of vita (pret-pres)] [v]	knew	XIII(B)
vissu [3rd pl past ind of vita (pret-pres)] [v]	knew	XIX(B)
víst [adv]	certainly	XXVI(B)
vit [1st N dual] [pron]	we (two)	XII(A)
vita (pret-pres) [v]	know	XI(A)
vitir [2nd sg subj I of vita (pret-pres)] [v]	know, may know, will know	XXV
vitja (vitj-a-) [+G] [v]	go to, visit (someone)	XXX(A)
vitorð (orð-) [n]	privity	XIII(B)
vittr (vittr-) [adj]	wise	XXIV(A) vitras (vittr-a-) [+D] [v]	appear in a dream or vision (to someone)	XXXII(A)
vitum [1st pl pres ind of vita (pret-pres)] [v]	know	XII(B)
vægja (væg-i/j-) fyrir [+D] [v]	yield to (someone)	XXXII(A) vænliga [adv]	handsomely, promisingly	XXVI(A) vænn (væn-) [adj]	handsome	I
vænna [adv]	better	XI(A)
vænta (vænt-i/j-) [+G] [v]	expect (something)	XXX(A) væri [3rd sg subj II of vera (Lesson XXXI)] [v]	were, would be	XI(A)
værið [2nd pl subj II of vera (Lesson XXXI)] [v]	were	XXVI(A)
Væringjar [m pl] (Væringi-)	Varangians, Norsemen who served in the Byzantine Imperial Guard	VIII
væta (væta-) [f]	rain, wetness	XIII(A)
vættr (vættj-a-) [f]	(supernatural) being	IV
völdugr (völdug-) [adj]	mighty, powerful	III
vöxtr (vaxt-u-) [m]	stature, growth	XXVII(A)
yfir [+A] [prep]	over	XII(A)
yfirkoma (kom-) [v]	overcome	XXI(A)
yfirlitr (lit-u-) [m]	looks, appearance	XXXV(B)
ykkir [A/D of hit ] [pron]	you (two)	XII(A)
Yngvarr (Yngvar-a-) [m]	personal name	VII
ynnir [2nd sg subj II of umna (pret-pres)] [v]	loved	XI(B)
yrði [3rd sg subj II of verða (verð-)] [v]	would become	XI(A)

þér yrði þá efling at mægðum við þá	an increase in power would accrue to you through kinship by marriage with them
yrkja (Lesson XIV) [v]	compose in verse	XXXI(A)
yxn [N pl of uxi ] [m]	oxen	XX(B)
þá [A pl of sá (Lesson XXV)] [pron]	them	V
þá Eyjólf . . .	them, Eyjólf . . .
þá Mýramenn	them, the men of Mýrar	XI(A)
þá [A sg of sú (Lesson XXV)]	that (one)	XI(A)
þá [adv]	then	IX
þaðan [adv]	thence	III
þaðan í frá [adv]	from then on	XXX(B)
þagna (þagn-a-) [v]	become silent	XXIX(A) þakinn (þakin-) [participle of þekja (þak-i/j-)] [adj]	covered	IV
þakka (þakk-a-) [+D] [+A] [v]	thank (someone) (for something)	II
þangat [adv]	thither	VIII
þann [A sg of sá (Lesson XXV)] [pron]	that (one)	XII(B)
þar [adv]	there	I
þar fyrir [adv phrase]	for that	XXV
þat [n N/A sg] [pron]	it	I
þau [n N/A pl of þat ] [pron]	they	V
þegar [adv]	at once	XVI(B)
þegar [conj]	when	XVI(C)
þegar er [conj]	as soon as	XXVI(A) þegja (þag-i/j-) [v]	be quiet, refrain from speaking	XXXI(A)
þegja við	remain silent	XXII(A)
þegjandi [present participle of þegja (þag-i/j-)] [adv]	without speaking, silently	XXIII(B)
þeim [m D sg of sá (Lesson XXV)] [pron]	that (one)	XVI(B)
þeim [D pl] [pron]	them	II
þeir [m N pl] [pron]	they	II
þeira [G pl] [pron]	their	II
	of them	VI
þér [2nd N pl] [pron]	you (all)	XII(B)

þessarar [f G sg of þessi ] [pron]	this (one)	XI(A)
þessi [m N sg (Lesson XXV)] [pron]	this (one)	XI(A) þessir [m N pl of þessi (Lesson XXV)] [pron]	these	XIV(A)
þessum [D pl of þessi (Lesson XXV)] [v]	these	IV
þessu [n D sg of þessi ] [pron]	this	XI(B)
þessu næst [adv phrase]	next (to this)	XVIII(B)
þetta [n N/A sg (Lesson XXV)] [pron]	this (one)	XI(A)
þeysa [þaus-i/j-] [v]	gush out [tr]	XVII(A) þik [A sg of þú ] [pron]	you	XII(A)
þili (þilj-) [irreg] [n]	partition, interior wall	XV(B)
þing (þing-) [n]	assembly	XI(B)
þingheimr (heim-a-) [m]	assembly population	XXXI(B)
þingunautr (naut-a-) [m]	member of the assembly	XXIX(B)
Þjóðhildr (hildj-a-) [f]	personal name	V
þjóðráð (ráð-) [n]	excellent plan	XXXI(B)
þjófr (þjóf-a-) [m]	thief	XVIII(A)
þjófsauga (auga-) [n]	thief's eye	XXII(A)
Þjórsá (á-a-) [f]	place-name, 'Bull River'	XXXIII(A)
þó [adv]	yet, nevertheless	X
þó at (= þótt) [conj]	although	XI(A) þoka (þoka-) [f]	fog, mist	XIII(A)
þora (þor-i-) [v]	dare	XVIII(A)
Þórarinn (Þórarin-a-) [m]	personal name	XIV(B)
Þórðr (Þórð-u-) [m]	personal name	IX
Þorbjörn (bjarn-u-) [m]	personal name	XVI(C)
Þórdís (dísj-a-) [irr N] [f]	personal name	XXXI(B)
Þorgerðr (gerðj-a-) [f]	personal name	XI(A)
Þorgils (gils-a-) [m]	personal name	XXIX(A)
Þórhalla (halla-) [f]	personal name	XV(A)
Þórhallr (hall-a-) [m]	personal name	XIX(B)
Þorkell (katil-a-) [N/A/G sg (kel-a-)] [m]	personal name	XXVIII(B)
Þórólfr (-ólf-a-) [m]	personal name	VII
Þórr (Þór-a-) [m]	name of god, 'Thor'	XIX(B)
Þórsnessþing (þing-) [n]	assembly at Þórsnes , 'Thor's Headland'	V
Þorsteinn (stein-a-) [m]	personal name	V
Þórunn (unnj-a-) [irreg N sg] [f]	personal name	VII

Þorvaldr (vald-a-) [m]	personal name	XXVIII(B)
Þorvaldsson (Lesson VI) [m]	patronymic, 'son of Þorvaldr '	V
þóttisk [3rd sg past ind of þykkjask (Lesson XXXII)] [v]	thought himself	XVI(B)
þóttumk [1st sg past ind of þykkjask (Lesson XXXII)] [v]	thought myself	XXIV(A)
Þráinn (Þráin-a-) [m]	personal name	XXXIII(B)
þraut [3rd sg past ind of þrjóta (þrjú-t-)] [+A] [v]	(something) came to an end	XIII(A)
þriði (þriðj-) [wk] [num]	third	XV(A)
þrifa (þrif-) [v]	grab	XVI(B)
þriggja [G of þrír , þrjár , þrjú ] [num]	three, of three	XXV
þrítögnátti (nátti-) [m]	a period of thirty nights	XXIX(A)
mánuðr tólf þrítögnáttar	twelve months of thirty nights
þrjár [f N/A corresponding to þrír ] [num]	three	XXV
þrjú [n N/A corresponding to þrír ] [num]	three	XIX(B)
þrotnir [m N pl participle of þrjóta (þrjú-t-)] [v]	exhausted	XX(B)
þrælaætt (ætt-i-) [f]	family, kin of thralls	XXX(B)
vera þrælaættar	be descended from thralls, slaves
þræll (þræl-a-) [m]	thrall, slave	XVIII(A)
þurfa (pret-pres) [v]	need	XIV(B)
þurfu [3rd pl pres ind of þurfa (pres-pres)] [v]	need	XV(B)
þurrkun (þurrkun-a-) [f]	drying	XIX(A)
þurru [3rd pl past ind of þverra (þverr-)] [v]	decreased, grew less	XIV(B)
honum þurru lausafé	he ran short of ready property
þústr (þúst-a-) [m]	hostility, enmity	XIV(B)
þvengr (þveng-i-) [m]	thong	XXXIII(B)
þverr (þver-) [adj]	across, athwart	XXV
þvert [adv]	across	XVII(A)
því [D sg of þat (Lesson XXV)]	that	V
landi því	(to) that land

því [adv]	for that reason, therefore	XII(A)
því at [conj]	because	XI(A)
þvílíkr (lík-) [adj]	such	XXVI(A)
því næst [adv phrase]	next (to that)	XVII(A)
þykkir [2nd sg pres ind of þykkja (Lesson XIV)]	seem	XI(B)
[v]
þykkir [+D]	seems (to someone) [impersonal]	XXII(A)
þykkja (Lesson XIV) [+D] [v]	seem (to someone)	XIV(A)
þykkjask (Lesson XXXII)	think oneself	XIV(B)
[v]
þykkir (þykkv-) [adj]	thick	XXXV(A)
þylja (þul-i/j-) [v]	recite, mutter	XIX(B)
þyrsta (þurst-i/j-) [v]	become thirsty	XVII(B)
[+A] þyrstir	(someone) becomes thirsty
þögn (þagn-i-) [f]	silence	XXIX(A)
þökk (þakk-i-) [f]	gratitude, thanks	XXX(A)
æ [adv]	ever, always	XXVI(A)
æja (á-i/j-) [v]	stop for a rest	XXXIII(A) ætla (ætla-a-) [v]	intend	XI(A)
	suppose	XVIII(A)
ætla [+A] [+inf]	expect, estimate (some- one) will [+inf]	XXXI(A)
seint ætla ek Þorstein . . . yrkja kvæðit	I don't expect that Thornstein will com- pose the poem soon
ætla [+D]	expect (of someone)	XXXIV(A)
ætla í brott	intend to go away	XXIV(B)
ætla sér	intend (for oneself)	XXXIV(A) ætla til	expect	XI(A)
ætlan (ætlan-i-) [f]	estimate	XXV
	plan, intention	XXXI(A)
lokitt er þessi [D] ætlan	this plan is finished
ætt (ætt-i-) [f]	family, extraction	XXII(A)
ætta [1st sg subj II of eiga (pret-pres)] eptir [v]	had remaining, would have remaining	XXIV(A)
ætti [3rd sg subj II of eiga (pret-pres)] at [+inf] [v]	had to, would have to [+inf]	XXIII(B)
ættstórr (stór-) [adj]	high-born	XXVII(B)
øruggir (ørugg-) [adj]	reliable	XXXV(C)
ørvænn (væn-) [adj]	beyond expectation	XXVII(B)
øx (øxj-a-) [f]	axe	X
Øxnamegin (megin-) [n]	nickname, 'Might of Oxen'	XVI(C)

œrit [adv]	sufficiently	XXII(A)
öl (ölv-) [n]	ale	II
öll [n N/A pl of allr (all-)]	all	VI
[adj]
öselja (selja-) [f]	female cup-bearer	XVII(B)
önd (and-i-) [f]	breath	XVII(A)
öndvegi (vegj-) [n]	high-seat, place of honour	XX(A)
öndverðr (verð-) [adj]	beginning, early	XXXI(B)
önnur [f N sg of annarr (Lesson XXIV)] [pron]	other	XXI(A)
önnur . . . önnur	the one . . . the other
Örnólfr (-ólfr-a-) [m]	personal name	XXIII(B)
öræfi (öræfj-) [n]	harbourless coast	IV
öxl (axl-i-) [f]	shoulder	XVII(A)

KEYS TO DRILLS

Lesson I

- (A) djarfr víkingr
- (B) nýr fiskr
- (C) norskr konungr
- (D) góðr gestr
- (E) kaldr drykkur
- (F) heitr eldr
- (G) ríkr jarl
- (H) fagr salr
- (I) mikil vík
- (J) góð veig
- (K) ný borg
- (L) fagrt land
- (M) norskt skip
- (N) heitt sumar
- (O) grœnt hús
- (P) gott sverð
- (Q) nýtt vápn
- (R) kalt ql

Lesson II

- (A) kaldir bekkir
- (B) ný borð
- (C) margir fiskar
- (D) nýir ostar
- (E) góðar gjafar
- (F) ríkir jarlar
- (G) fríð skip
- (H) frægir víkingar
- (I) sterkar veigar
- (J) góð spjót
- (K) fræg skáld
- (L) margar hallir
- (M) djarfir konungar
- (N) fagrir salir
- (O) væn hús
- (P) stórir fuglar

Lesson III

- (A) djörfum konungi
- (B) frægju kvæði
- (C) nýrri höll(u)
- (D) röskum víkingi
- (E) löngu hausti
- (F) völdugri borg(u)
- (G) nýjum úvini
- (H) vænni gjöf(u)
- (I) sterku qlvi
- (J) löngum bekki
- (K) ríkjum jarli
- (L) sterkri veig(u)
- (M) traustu skipi
- (N) völdugu ríki
- (O) góðum osti
- (P) langri ferð
- (Q) föggu gulli

Lesson IV

- (A) köldum vötnum
- (B) völdugum konungum
- (C) frægjum jörlum
- (D) föggu heiðum
- (E) mörgum steinum
- (F) góðum vættum
- (G) ríkjum víkingum
- (H) löngum sumrum
- (I) sterkum veigum
- (J) grœnum ökrum
- (K) nýjum löndum
- (L) frægjum höllum
- (M) köldum döggum
- (N) gömlum dvergum
- (O) gömlum kvæðum
- (P) föggu himnum
- (Q) völdugum ríkjum

Lesson V

- (A) langa leið
- (B) nýtt skip

- (C) gamlan dverg
- (D) grimmúðgan jötun
- (E) heitt vatn
- (F) frægja holl(u)
- (G) rikjan konung
- (H) grœna heiði
- (I) frægjan víking
- (J) mikla ferð
- (K) völdugt ríki
- (L) mikit fjall
- (M) langan bekk
- (N) mikinn sal
- (O) nýjan snæ
- (P) skamma ferð
- (Q) grœnan akr
- (R) rauðan himin
- (S) skammt sumar
- (T) ríkja borg
- (U) frægt kvæði
- (V) góðan dreng

Lesson VI

- (A) köld vötn
- (B) sterkar veigar
- (C) fagra fjörðu
- (D) grœna völlu
- (E) langa bekki
- (F) fræg kvæði
- (G) fagar ár
- (H) góðar vættar
- (I) langa dali
- (J) mikla jökla
- (K) ný lönd
- (L) frægjar hallir
- (M) gamlar borgir
- (N) hvöss sverð
- (O) margar gjafar
- (P) grœna hvamma
- (Q) nýja drykki
- (R) sterka jötna
- (S) skömm sumur
- (T) ríkja konunga

Lesson VII

- (A) fagrs himins
- (B) góðrar vættar
- (C) nýs lands
- (D) hvass sverðs
- (E) mikils jötuns
- (F) frægs konungs
- (G) nýrrar leiðar
- (H) skammrar ferðar
- (I) ríks jarls
- (J) góðs barns
- (K) frægs ríkis
- (L) grœnnar heiðar
- (M) langs fjarðar
- (N) góðs sonar
- (O) mikillar eyjar
- (P) trausts vápns
- (Q) langrar mýrar
- (R) fagrs skips
- (S) góðs dags
- (T) skamms dalar, dals
- (U) dýrrar gjafar
- (V) mikils fjalls
- (W) nýs gests
- (X) grœns vallar
- (Y) langs kvæðis
- (Z) röskvís vikings

Lesson VIII

- (A) góðra vætta
- (B) sterkra drykkja
- (C) völdugra jarla
- (D) grœnna hliða
- (E) fjarlæggra eyja
- (F) mikilla liða
- (G) nýrra rita
- (H) langra mýra
- (I) ríkra konunga
- (J) góðra drengja
- (K) nálæggra heiða
- (L) fræggra garða
- (M) mikilla jökla

- (N) frægra ríkja
- (O) gamalla kvæða
- (P) mikilla halla
- (Q) nýrra bæja
- (R) dýrra gjafa
- (S) langra fjarða
- (T) norrœnna landa
- (U) sterkra jötna
- (V) hraustra víkinga
- (W) skarpra sverða
- (X) góðra barna
- (Y) langra bekkja

Lesson IX

- (A) mikill skaði/mikinn skaða—inn mikli skaði/inn mikla skaða—mikli skaðinn/mikla skaðann
- (B) fagr skáli/fagran skála—inn fagri skáli/inn fagra skála—fagri skálinn/fagra skálann
- (C) fōgr gersimi/fagra gersimi—in fagra gersimi/ina fōgru gersimi—fagra gersimin/fōgru gersimina
- (D) lōng sáta/langa sátu—in langa sáta/ina lōngu sátu—langa sátan/lōngu sátuna
- (E) góðr dauði/goðan dauða—inn góði dauði/inn góða dauða—góði dauðinn/góða dauðann
- (F) frægr bardagi/frægjan bardaga—inn frægi bardagi/inn frægja bardaga—frægi bardaginn/frægja bardagann
- (G) ný hvíla/nýja hvílu—in nýja hvíla/ina nýju hvílu—nýja hvílan/nýju hvíluna
- (H) grœnn arfi/grœnan arfa—inn grœni arfi/inn grœna arfa—grœni arfinn/grœna arfann
- (I) gōmul saga/gamla sōgu—in gamla saga/ina gōmlu sōgu—gamla sagan/gōmlu sōguna
- (J) djarfr flótti/djarfan flótta—inn djarfi flótti/inn djarfa flótta—djarfi flótinn/djarfa flóttann
- (K) mikil hreysti/mikla hreysti—in mikla hreysti/ina miklu hreysti—mikla hreystin/miklu hreystina.
- (L) gott hjarta/gott hjarta—it góða hjarta/it góða hjarta—góða hjartat/góða hjartat

Lesson X

- (A) (1) gamlar drápur/gōmlum drápum—in ar gōmlu drápur/inum gōmlum drápum—gōmlu drápur/ar/gōmlum drápunum

- (2) frægjar deilur/frægju deilurnar—in ar frægju deilur/inum frægjum deilum—frægju deilurnar/frægjum deilunum
- (3) miklir ofstopar/miklum ofstopum—in ir miklu ofstopar/inum miklum ofstopum—miklu ofstoparnir/miklum ofstopunum
- (4) fagnar kviður/fōgrum kviðum—in ar fōgru kviður/inum fōgrum kviðum—fōgru kviðurnar/fōgrum kviðunum
- (5) hraustar hetjur/hraustum hetjum—in ar hraustu hetjur/inum hraustum hetjum—hraustu hetjurnar/hraustum hetjunum
- (6) frægir svarrar/frægjum svōrrum—in ir frægju svarrar/inum frægjum svōrrum—frægju svarrarnir/frægjum svōrrunum
- (7) miklar gæfur/miklum gæfum—in ar miklu gæfur/inum miklum gæfum—miklu gæfurnar/miklum gæfunum
- (8) langir skálar/lōngum skálum—in ir lōngu skálar/inum lōngum skálum—lōngu skálarnir/lōngum skálunum
- (B) (1) nýjar vísur/nýrra vísna—in ar nýju vísur/inna nýju vísna—nýju vísurnar/nýju vísanna
- (2) mikla skaða/mikilla skaða—in a miklu skaða/inna miklu skaða—miklu skaðana/miklu skaðanna
- (3) nýja skála/nýrra skála—in a nýju skála/inna nýju skála—nýju skálana/nýju skálanna
- (4) langar tungur/langra tungna—in ar lōngu tungur/inna lōngu tungna—lōngu tungurnar/lōngu tungnanna
- (5) djarfa flótta/djarfa flótta—in a djōrfu flótta/inna djōrfu flótta—djōrfu flóttana/djōrfu flóttanna
- (6) nýjar sōgur/nýrra sagna—in ar nýju sōgur/inna nýju sagna—nýju sōgurnar/nýju sagnanna
- (7) gamlar konur/gamalla kvenna—in ar gōmlu konur/inna gōmlu kvenna—gōmlu konurnar/gōmlu kvennanna
- (8) ung hjōrtu/ungra hjartna—in ungu hjōrtu/inna ungu hjartna—ungu hjōrtun/ungu hjartnanna

Lesson XI

- (A) (1) Þú siglir skipi mínu.
- (2) Hon siglir skipi þínu.
- (3) Hon siglir skipi sínu (hennar).
- (4) Hann siglir skipi hennar.
- (B) (1) Ek em barn hennar.
- (2) Hann er barn þitt.
- (3) Þú ert barn mitt.
- (4) Þat er barn hans.
- (5) Hon er barn mitt.

- (C) (1) Ek gef honum gjöf mína.
 (2) Þú gefr mér gjöf hennar.
 (3) Hon gefr þér gjöf hans.
 (4) Hann gefr henni gjöf þína.
 (5) Ek gef henni gjöf hennar.
- (D) (1) Úvinr hans vegr þik með vápni þínu.
 (2) Úvinr minn vegr hana með vápni mínu.
 (3) Úvinr hennar vegr hann með vápni sínu (hans).
 (4) Úvinr þinn vegr mik með vápni hennar.
- (E) (1) Faðir hennar hefnir hennar.
 (2) Faðir hans hefnir mín.
 (3) Faðir þinn hefnir þín.
 (4) Faðir minn hefnir hans.
- (F) (1) Ek mun geta sögu þinnar.
 (2) Hon mun geta sögu hans.
 (3) Þú munt geta sögu hans.

Lesson XII

- (A) (1) Þér siglið skipum þeira.
 (2) Vit siglum skipum okkrum.
 (3) Þær sigla skipum yðrum.
 (4) Vér siglum skipum ykkrum.
- (B) (1) Vit erum börn þeira.
 (2) Þeir eru börn ykkur.
 (3) Þér eruð börn okkur.
 (4) Þau eru börn yður.
 (5) Þær eru börn vár.
- (C) (1) Vér gefum yðr gjafar várar.
 (2) Þær gefa okkr gjafar sínar.
 (3) Þit gefið oss gjafar mínar.
 (4) Þér gefið henni gjafar yðvarar, yðrar.
 (5) Vit gefum ykkur gjafar okkrar.
- (D) (1) Úvinir hans vega oss með vápnum hans.
 (2) Úvinir várir vega þá með vápnum várum.
 (3) Úvinir ykkirir vega okkr með vápnum sínum (þeira).
 (4) Úvinir okkririr vega yðr með vápnum yðrum.
 (5) Úvinir ykkirir vega þær með vápnum ykkrum.
- (E) (1) Vinir várir hefna yðvar.
 (2) Vinir ykkirir hefna okkar.
 (3) Vinir mínir hefna þeira.
 (4) Vinir þeira hefna ykkar.

- (F) (1) Vit getum sögu yðvarrar, yðrar.
 (2) Þau geta sögu okkarrar, okkrar.
 (3) Þér getið sögu hennar.
 (4) Þeir geta sögu sinnar (þeira).
 (5) Vér getum sögu várrar.

Lesson XIII

- (A) leituðum, stefndum, skilðum, kostaðum, lægðum, fluttum, siglðum, hōtuðum.
 (B) leitar, stefnir, skilr, kastar, lægir, flytr, siglir, hatar.
 (C) leitið, stefnið, skilið, kastið, lægið, flytið, siglið, hatið.
 (D) leitaða, stefnda, skilða, kastaða, lægða, flutta, siglða, hataða.
 (E) leitaðir, stefndir, skilðir, kastaðir, lægðir, fluttir, siglðir, hataðir.

Lesson XIV

- (A) keypta, sótta, hafða, þótta, sagða, mælda, selða, lýsta.
 (B) kaupir, sækir, hefir, þykkir, segir, mælir, selr, lýsir.
 (C) kaupið, sækið, hafið, þykkið, segið, mælið, selið, lýsið.
 (D) keyptum, sóttum, hōfðum, þóttum, sōgðum, mæltum, selðum, lýstum.
 (E) keyptir, sóttir, hafðir, þóttir, sagðir, mæltir, selðir, lýstir.
 (F) keypt, sótt, haft, þótt, sagt, mælt, selt, lýst.

Lesson XV

- (A) riðu, stigu, bitu, litu, ætluðu, settu, játuðu.
 (B) rið, stíg, bit, lit, ætla, set, játa.
 (C) reið, sté (steig), beit, leit, ætlaði, setti, játaði.
 (D) riðr, stígr, bítr, lítr, ætlar, setr, játar.
 (E) riðit, stigit, bitit, litit, ætlat, sett, játat.

Lesson XVI

- (A) ljóstum, skjótum, brjótum, rjúkum, kljúfum, þrifum, bitum.
 (B) laust, skaut, braut, rauk, klauf, þreif, beit.
 (C) lustuð, skutuð, brutuð, rukuð, klufuð, þrifuð, bituð.
 (D) lýst, skýt, brýt, rýk, klýf, þríf, bit.
 (E) lostit, skotit, brotit, rokit, klofit, þríf, bitit.

Lesson XVII

- (A) drakk, rann, varð, brá, stakk, sprakk, fann, hratt, gaus, reist.
 (B) drukku, runnu, urðu, brugðu, stungu, sprungu, fundu, hrundu, gusu, rist.

- (C) drekkið, rennið, verðið, bregðið, stingið, springið, finnið, hrindið, gjósið, rístið.
 (D) drakk, rann, varð, brá, stakk, sprakk, fann, hratt, gaus, reist.
 (E) drukkit, runnit, orðit, brugðit, stungit, sprungit, fundit, hrundit, gosit, ristit.

Lesson XVIII

- (A) stelr, berr, skerr, er, kemr (kømr), fyrirbýðr.
 (B) stálum, bárum, skárum, várum, kvámum (kómum), fyrirbuðum.
 (C) stalt, bart, skart, vart, komt, fyrirbauzt.
 (D) stela, bera, skera, eru, koma, fyrirbjóða.
 (E) stolit, borit, skorit, verit, komit, fyrirboðit.

Lesson XIX

- (A) biðr, kveðr, gefr, rekr, liggr, etr, hverfr, sýðr.
 (B) báðum, kváðum, gáfum, rákum, lágum, átum, hurfum, suðum.
 (C) báðuð, kváðuð, gáfuð, rákuð, láguð, átuð, hurfuð, suðuð.
 (D) bazt, kvazt, gaft, rakt, látt, ázt, hvarft, sauzt.
 (E) beðit, kveðit, gefit, rekit, legit, etit, horfit, soðit.

Lesson XX

- (A) standa, taka, aka, fara, draga, sofa, sitja, þrjóta.
 (B) stóð, tók, ók, fór, dró, svaf, sat, þraut.
 (C) stóðum, tókum, ókum, fórum, drógum, sváfum, sátum, þrutum.
 (D) stendr, tekr, ekkr, ferr, dregr, søfr, sitr, þrýtr.
 (E) staðit, tekít, ekít, farít, dregít, sofit, setít, þrotít.

Lesson XXI

- (A) gengu, fengu, heldu, fellu, jósu, hljópu, hjuggu.
 (B) gekk, fekk, helt, fell, jós, hljóp, hjó.
 (C) gangið, fáið, haldið, fallið, ausið, hlaupið, hoggvið.
 (D) gengr, fær, heldr, fellr, eyss, hleypr, heggr.
 (E) gengit, fengit, haldit, fallit, ausit, hlaupit, hoggvit.

Lesson XXII

- (A) munu, þurfu, eigu, vitu, heita, leika.
 (B) munt, þarft, átt, veizt, heitir, leikr.
 (C) munda, þurfta, átta, vissa, hét, lék.
 (D) munduð, þurftuð, áttuð, vissuð, hétuð, lékuð.
 (E) —, þurft, átt, vitat, heitit, leikit.

Lesson XXIII

- (A) hlæ, græt, sný, sé, vil, bý, skal.
 (B) hló, grét, snóri, sá, vildi, bjó, skyldi.
 (C) hlógum, grétum, snorum, sám, vildum, bjuggum, skyldum.
 (D) hlæið, grátið, snúið, sjáið, vilið, býið, skuluð.
 (E) hlegit, grátit, snúit, sét, viljat, búit, —.

Lesson XXIV

- (A) (1) annat skjól
 (2) eitt hús
 (3) enga konu
 (4) nokkurn vin
 (5) suman galdr
 (6) einhverja kistu
 (7) allan draum
 (B) (1) einu skjóli
 (2) öðru húsi
 (3) einhverjum vini
 (4) sumum galdri
 (5) nokkurri konu
 (6) öllum draumi
 (7) engu húsi
 (C) (1) allra skjóla
 (2) annarra húsa
 (3) engra vina
 (4) nokkurra drauma
 (5) sumra kvenna
 (6) einhverra galdra
 (7) allra kistna

Lesson XXV

- |                      |                |
|----------------------|----------------|
| (A) (1) þessum hatti | þessa hatts    |
| (2) þeiri konu       | þeirar konu    |
| (3) hverri reizlu    | hverrar reizlu |
| (4) því tjaldi       | þess tjalds    |
| (5) hverju kaupi     | hvers kaups    |
| (6) hvarum sjóði     | hvers sjóðs    |
| (B) (1) þessi tjöld  | þessi tjöld    |
| (2) hvarar reizlur   | hvarar reizlur |
| (3) þau kaup         | þau kaup       |
| (4) hverir sjóðir    | hverja sjóði   |
| (5) þeir hlutir      | þá hluti       |

Lesson XXVI

- (A) (1) annan fōður
 (2) nokkurn bónda
 (3) þá móður
 (4) þenna frænda
 (5) hverja dóttur
 (6) engan bróður
 (7) eina systur
- (B) (1) annarra mæðra
 (2) nokkurra systra
 (3) neinna bræðra
 (4) þeira bænda
 (5) engra dætra
 (6) þessa feðra
 (7) hverra systra

Lesson XXVII

- (A) (1) lengra fótar
 (2) fegri handar
 (3) ferligri tár
 (4) stærri vikr
 (5) lengri nætr
 (6) víðari merkr
 (7) vitrara manns
- (B) (1) fegrstu merkrnar
 (2) ljótustu tærnar
 (3) ferligstu hendrnar
 (4) stærstu foetna
 (5) lengstu nætrnar
 (6) víðustu víkrnar
 (7) stærstu sýrnar

Lesson XXVIII

- (A) (1) bestir fóstbræðr
 (2) mestir skartsmenn
 (3) minnstir hofðingjar
 (4) flestir bæendr
 (5) verstir úvinir
 (6) vitrastar einsetukonur
 (7) bestar ípróttir

- (B) (1) betra fóstbróður
 (2) meira skartsmanns
 (3) minna hofðingja
 (4) fleira bónda
 (5) verra úvinar
 (6) vitrari einsetukonu
 (7) betri ípróttar

Lesson XXIX

- (A) (1) tveim(r) sumrum
 (2) þrim(r) tigum
 (3) fjórum fjórðungum
 (4) fimm vikum
 (5) sjau bræðrum
 (6) þrettán konum
 (7) sjautján mönnum
 (8) tuttugu nóttum
- (B) (1) fyrstu vikna
 (2) annarra tiga
 (3) þriðju manna
 (4) fjórðu daga
 (5) séttu ára
 (6) sjaundu sumra
 (7) tólftu mánaða
 (8) fjórtánda nóttu

Lesson XXX

- |            |        |
|------------|--------|
| (A) (1) sé | sém    |
| (2) auki   | aukim  |
| (3) leiði  | leiðim |
| (4) rómi   | rómim  |
| (5) ráði   | ráðim  |
| (6) hyggi  | hyggim |
| (7) teli   | telim  |
| (8) eigi   | eigim  |
| (B) (1) sé | sé     |
| (2) líka   | líki   |
| (3) spyrja | spyrri |
| (4) taka   | taki   |
| (5) vefja  | vefi   |
| (6) vænta  | vænti  |
| (7) lifa   | lifi   |
| (8) virða  | virði  |

Lesson XXXI

- |                |         |
|----------------|---------|
| (A) (1) bæra   | bærið   |
| (2) ætta       | ættið   |
| (3) erfða      | erfðið  |
| (4) réða       | réðið   |
| (5) væra       | værið   |
| (6) sylgja     | sylgið  |
| (7) tækja      | tækið   |
| (8) rómaða     | rómaðið |
| (B) (1) vildir | vildim  |
| (2) tækir      | tækim   |
| (3) ætlaðir    | ætlaðim |
| (4) bærir      | bærim   |
| (5) mættir     | mættim  |
| (6) sörir      | sörim   |
| (7) selðir     | selðim  |
| (8) telðir     | telðim  |

Lesson XXXII

- (A) berumk, báruzk, berisk, bærisk
 (B) beiðumk, beidduzk, beiðisk, beiddisk
 (C) bú(u)mk, bjugguzk, búisk, byggisk
 (D) forvitnumk, forvitnuðuzk, forvitnisk, forvitnaðisk
 (E) lúkumk, lukuzk, lúkisk, lykisk
 (F) snú(u)mk, snøruzk, snúisk, snørisk
 (G) tølumk, töluzk, talisk, talaðisk
 (H) teljumk, töluzk, telisk, telðisk
 (I) vitrumk, vitruðuzk, vitrisk, vitraðisk
 (J) þykkjumk, þóttuzk, þykkisk, þættisk

KEYS TO TRANSLATIONS

Lesson I

- (A) Ingólfr Arnarson siglir í vestr ok finnr fagrt land.
 (B) Kona hans er góð ok væn.
 (C) Ísland er nýtt land, ok engi maðr lifir þar.
 (D) Þar er fiskr ok fugl nógr, gras grœnt, ok bæði heitt vatn ok kalt.

Lesson II

- (A) Margir víkingar eru sterkir.
 (B) Gestir hans eru góðir ok djarfir.
 (C) Sverð þeira eru ný.
 (D) Allir jarlar eru frægir ok ríkir.
 (E) Drykkir hans er heitr ok sterkr.
 (F) Lönð þeira eru rík.
 (G) Margir fuglar ok fiskar eru þar.
 (H) Hon er fræg ok væn.
 (I) Hóll konungs er fræg.
 (J) Vápn hans er nýtt.

Lesson III

- (A) Hverr víkingr er búinn traustu sverði.
 (B) Skip hans er hlaðit silfri ok gulli.
 (C) Í húsi hans eru margir jarlar frá Nóregi ok Danmörku.
 (D) Víkingar eyða margri borg í langri ferð.
 (E) Skarpt sverð hans er gulli rekit.
 (F) Í mörqu landi í suðri eru fræg klaustr.
 (G) Konungr þakkar frægjum hersi.
 (H) Ingólfr er búinn góðu vápni.
 (I) Reykjavík er á Íslandi.
 (J) Hermaðr banar úvini konungs.

Lesson IV

- (A) Sumur eru skömm í norðrlöndum.
 (B) Sumardagar eru langir í Svíþjóð.
 (C) Veðr er blítt á sumri.
 (D) Norskir skógar eru snævi þaknir á vetri.
 (E) Vatn á Íslandi er bæði kalt ok heitt.
 (F) Aktrar, hólar ok tún eru grœn á sumrum.

- (G) Dvergar búa í steinum ok álfar í hólum.
- (H) Dvergar, álfar ok jötvar eru í gömlum sögnum.
- (I) Sagnir eru af skiptum þeira við goð ok menn.
- (J) Stórir fiskar eru í ám á Íslandi.

Lesson V

- (A) Eiríkr átti bólstað við Breiðafjörð, sem var kallaðr Eiríksstaðir.
- (B) Eiríkr rauði hafði vegit mann er var kallaðr Eyjólfur saurr, ok aðra.
- (C) Hann varð sekr ok síðan býr hann skip sitt ok siglir í vestr.
- (D) Hann nemr nýtt land á Groenlandi við Eiríksfjörð.
- (E) Hann reisir bólstað, sem er kallaðr Brattahlíð, með Þjóðhildi.
- (F) Þjóðhildr var skörungur, ok átti hon son, Þorstein, ok dóttur, Freydísi, ok annan son, Leif, með Eiríki.
- (G) Sonr þeirra, Leifr, var drengur góðr.
- (H) Menn kalla hann Leif inn heppna.

Lesson VI

- (A) Landnámabók telur upp marga norska menn er byggðu Ísland.
- (B) Ingólfur Arnarson nam land ok byggði stóran bólstað.
- (C) Landnámabók telur upp suma sem byggðu Austfjörðu.
- (D) Einn þeirra var Hrollaugur, sem byggði at Breiðabólstað.
- (E) Landnámsmaðr nemr nógt land ok reisir mörq hús þar.
- (F) Helgi magri nam Eyjafjarðarsveitir ok bjó at Kristnesi.

Lesson VII

- (A) Bera var kona Skalla-Gríms ok dóttir Yngvars í Fjörðum.
- (B) Hon var góð kona ok væn.
- (C) Skalla-Grímr var sonr Kveld-Úlfs Bjálfaonar.
- (D) Fyrir sakir dráps Þórólfs Kveld-Úlfssonar siglði hann skipi til Íslands.
- (E) Hann hefndi Þórólfs ok drap marga menn konungs.
- (F) Skalla-Grímr byggði Mýrar milli Selalóns ok Borgarhrauns suðr til Hafnarfjalls.
- (G) Sagan getr barna Skalla-Gríms ok Beru, Þórólfs, Egils, Þórunnar ok Sæunnar.

Lesson VIII

- (A) Norrœnir víkingar hafa farit til margra nálægra ok fjarlæggra landa austan Svíþjóðar.
- (B) Margir hraustir víkingar ok kaupmenn leita til Hólmgarðs ok Kænugarðs, sem eru í Garðaríki.
- (C) Þaðan leggja þeir leið sína suðr til Svartahafs ok Miklagarðs, þar er margir hafa verit í liði Væringja.

- (D) Sunnan ok vestan Nóregs ok Svíþjóðar hafa norrœnir menn leitit til annarra landa.
- (E) Sunnan Nóregs sigla norskir víkingar til Færeyja, Orkneyja, Hjaltlands ok Skotlands.

Lesson IX

- (A) Flosi Þórðarson, Graní Gunnarsson, ok aðrir riða til Bergþórshváls.
- (B) Þar verja Njálssynir sik vel, ok fá þeir Flosi mikinn skaða á mönnum.
- (C) Í húsi Njáls vǫru Skarphœðinn, Grímr, ok Helgi, synir Njáls ok Bergþóru, ásamt Kára Sölmundarsyni, er var kvændr Helgu Njálsdóttur.
- (D) Þeir Flosi gera bál fyrir durum ok bera arfasátu í loptit ok leggja eld í.
- (E) Öll húsin taka at brenna innan skamms, ok býðr Flosi útgöngu Njáli, börnum ok konum.
- (F) En Njáll ok Bergþóra ásamt sveininum unga, Þórði Kárasyni, kjósa at ganga til hvílu í húsinu ok verðr þat dauði þeirra.
- (G) Þeir Flosi drepa alla Njálssonu, en Kári kœmsk undan á flóttu.

Lesson X

- (A) Sumir inna hraustu víkinga sigla til Vínlands.
- (B) Þau Freydís Eiríksdóttir ins rauða áttu í bardaga þar við ina grimmúðgu Skrælingja.
- (C) Synir Skalla-Gríms vǫru hetjur miklar ok hraustir kappar.
- (D) Egill átti í deilu við Eirík konung blóðœxi ok konu hans, Gunnhildi.
- (E) Þórólfr ok Egill, ásamt öðrum hraustum köppum fara margar langar ferðir til Englands, þar sem þeir eiga í miklum orrustum.
- (F) Egill var skáld mikit, ok orti lausavísur, drápur, ok kviður.

Lesson XI

- (A) Óláfr hefir þat eigi hugfest, hvar sú kona sé er hann myni geta.
- (B) Óláfr segir at Hǫskuldr megi til þess ætla at hann myni framarla á horfa um kvánfangit.
- (C) Hǫskuldr svarar: 'Egill Skalla-Grímsson á sér dóttur, Þorgerði, sem er albeztr kostur í öllum Borgarfirði.'
- (D) Hǫskuldr ætlar at biðja Þorgerðar Óláfi til handa.
- (E) Á þinginu sagði Hǫskuldr Agli at hann skyldi rœða þetta við dóttur sína.
- (F) Agli þykkir þetta vera gǫfugt gjaforð.
- (G) Þorgerðr svarar at henni þykkir hann þat úsanna at hann unni henni mest barna sinna.
- (H) Þorgerðr vill eigi gipta sik ambáttarsyni, þótt hann sé vænn ok áburðarmaðr.

Lesson XII

- (A) Flosi vill bjóða Njáli útgöngu, en Njáll vill eigi ganga út ok lifa við skömm.
- (B) Njáll er gamall maðr ok lítt til búinn at hefna sona sinna.
- (C) Bergþóra vill eigi út ganga, því at hon hefir heitit Njáli, at eitt skyldi ganga yfir þau bæði.
- (D) Sveinninn Þórðr Kárason vill eigi skilja við þau, því at honum þykkir miklu betra at deyja með þeim.
- (E) Geirmundr vill vita hversu margt fyrimanna hefir látizk þar.
- (F) Flosi telr Kára Sölmundarson dauðan eptir at húsit er brunnit.
- (G) En Geirmundr ok Bárðr fundu Kára í morgin ok var brunnit af honum hárit ok klæðin.

Lesson XIII

- (A) Skalla-Grímr siglði til Íslands ok vestr fyrir landit, því at þeir höfðu spurt at Ingólfr hafði tekit sér bústað þar.
- (B) Þeir kómu fyrir Reykjanes ok stefndu báðum skipunum inn eptir Borgarfirði.
- (C) Skipin skilðusk ok þeir fluttu skip sitt upp í áros nokkurn ok upp eptir ánni, er heitir Gufuá.
- (D) Þeir báru farminn af skipinu ok bjuggusk þar inn fyrsta vetr.
- (E) Í Nóregi lagði Haraldr konungr inn hárfagri eigu sína á jarðir allar ok á allt fé, er Skalla-Grímr hafði þar eptir átt.
- (F) Haraldr inn hárfagri leitaði eptir monnum þeim, er verit höfðu í ráðum um verk þau, er Skalla-Grímr vann, áðr hann fór úr landi á brott.
- (G) Margir leituðu hælís innanlands, en sumir flýðu með öllu á brott úr landi.

Lesson XIV

- (A) Kjartan kemr (út) til Íslands ok ríðr heim í Hjarðarholt með tólf menn.
- (B) Allir verða útkvámu hans fegnir, ok váru þeir Kjartan allir í Hjarðarholti um vetrinn.
- (C) Þeir Óláfr ok Ósvífr heldu inum sama hætti um heimboð, svá at hvárir skyldi sitt haust aðra heim sækja.
- (D) Þetta haust skyldu Óláfr ok þeir Hjarðhylltingar sækja til Lauga.
- (E) Guðrúnu at Laugum þótti Bolli eigi hafa sér allt satt til sagt hafa um útkvámu Kjartans.
- (F) Þeir Bolli ok Laugamenn höfðu fá lönd en fjölda fjár, ok þóttisk Bolli þurfa at kaupa sér staðfestu.
- (G) Þórarinn vildi selja Tunguland, ok mæltu þau Guðrún ok Bolli til kaups með Þórarini um hversu dýrt landit skyldi vera.

Lesson XV

- (A) Kjartan átti fjárreiður í Saurbœ ok reið með Áni svarta í Tungu, því at hann vildi at Þórarinn skyldi játa þar skuldarstöðum.
- (B) En Þórarinn var riðinn á annan bæ, ok Kjartan dvalðisk ok beið hans um hríð.
- (C) Þórhalla málga var ok komin þar þann sama dag.
- (D) Hon spurði Kjartan hverja leið hann ætlaði at ríða, ok sagði hann henni þat.
- (E) Í Njáls sögu ríðr Flosi í Tungu, ok stiga þeir Flosi af hestum ok ganga inn.
- (F) Ásgrímr sat á palli í stufu, ok kómu Flosi ok allir hans menn inn ok sá at allt var reiðubúið.
- (G) Borð váru sett með öllu því er menn þurftu at hafa.
- (H) Ásgrímr kveðr þá eigi, en mælir til Flosa at matr sé heimull þeim, er hafa þurfu, ok leggja þeir Flosi vápn sín upp til þilis ok stiga undir borð.

Lesson XVI

- (A) Grettir Ásmundarson var údæll mjök, fátalaðr, úþýðr, ok bellinn bæði í orðum ok tiltekðum á barnsaldri.
- (B) Grettir varð sterkr maðr ok glímði við björn.
- (C) Björninn laust til Grettis með hramminum, en Grettir hjó í móti birninum með sverðinu ok tók af hramminn fyrir ofan klærnar.
- (D) Eptir þat fell dýrit í fang Gretti ok þreif hann meðal hlusta dýrinu ok helt því frá sér, svá at þat náði eigi at bíta hann.
- (E) Grettir vegr ok Arnór, son Þorbjarnar Óxnamegins.
- (F) Hann skaut fyrst spjótinu at Þorbirni, en þat var lausara en hann ætlaði ok hljóp af skaptinu ok fell niðr í jörðina.
- (G) Þorbjörn brá sverði sínu ok sneri á móti Gretti, en Grettir sá at piltrinn var kominn í höggfæri.
- (H) Grettir laust bakkanum saxins í höfuð Arnóri ok var þat bani hans; þá hjó hann fram saxinu ok klauf skjöldinn af Þorbirni ok kom saxit í höfuð honum, ok fell hann af þessu dauðr niðr.

Lesson XVII

- (A) Þat var háttr, at einn maðr skyldi drekka af dýrshorni, ok var þar mestr gaumr gefinn, er Egill var ok sveitungar hans; skyldu þeir drekka sem ákafast.
- (B) Er fõrunautar Egils gerðusk úfærir, drakk hann fyrir þá þat, er þeir máttu eigi.
- (C) Armóðr mælti: 'Drekk ek til þín, Egill', með hverju fulli er hann drakk, ok höfðu húskarlar hans inn sama formála við fõrunauta Egils.

- (D) Húskarl Ármóðs, er þar þeim hvert full, eggjaði mjök, at þeir Egill skyldi drekka skjótt, en Egill drakk fyrir fõrunauta sína.
- (E) Egill fann þá, at honum myndi eigi svá búit eira, ok stóð hann upp ok gekk þangat, er Ármóðr sat.
- (F) Egill kneikti hann upp at stoðum ok síðan þeysti hann upp úr sér spýju mikla ok gaus í andlit Ármóði.
- (G) Gunnhildr dróttning ok Bárðr blönduðu drykk Egils úlyfjani, ok eptir at Bárðr signði fullit, færði ǫseljan þat Agli ok bað hann drekka.
- (H) Egill stakk knífi sínum í lófa sér, reist rúnar á hornit ok reið blóði á rúnarnar.
- (I) Hornit sprakk í sundr, en drykkurinn fell niðr í hálm.

Lesson XVIII

- (A) Hallgerðr vildi, at Melkólfr þræll færi í Kirkjubæ ok skyldi hann stela þaðan mati á tvá hesta, smjörvi ok osti.
- (B) Síðan skyldi þrællinn leggja eld í útibúrit, svá at allir myndi ætla, at þat hefði brunnit af vangeymslu.
- (C) Engi myndi vita, at Melkólfr hefði stólit þar.
- (D) Þrællinn sagði, at hann hefði verit vándr en aldri þjófr.
- (E) En Hallgerðr telr hann bæði þjóf ok morðingja, ok mun hon láta drepa hann, ef hann þorir ekki fara.
- (F) Flosi ok Víkrmenn tóku fyrst til skurðar á hvalnum, en Kaldbeklingar veittu tilkall til hvalsins ok fyrirbuðu þeim Flosa skurð.
- (G) Þorfinnr, húskarl Flosa, stóð í spori fram við höfuð hvalsins, er Þorgeirr Kaldbeklingr hjó hann á háls með sverði, svá at af tók höfuðið, en þeir Flosi höfðu engi vápn nema ǫxar þær, er þeir skáru með hvalinn.
- (H) En Kaldbeklingar urðu bornir ofrliði af þeim Óláfi frá Dröngum, er kómu með morgum skipum ok veittu Flosa.

Lesson XIX

- (A) Leifr kvezk ljá mundu Karlsefni húsin á Vinlandi, er Karlsefni biðr hann þeira.
- (B) Hafit rak upp reyði eina mikla ok góða við búðirnar á Vinlandi, ok höfðu þeir alls konar gæði af landinu, af veiðum, vínberjum ok viðum.
- (C) Þeir í Straumfirði með Þórhalli veiðimanni höfðu heitit á guð til matar, en eigi varð við.
- (D) Þórhallr hvarf brott, ok leituðu þeir hans um þrjú dægr ok fundu hann á hamargnípu einni.
- (E) Hann þulði nokkut, meðan hann lá þar ok gapði munni ok nǫsum ok horfði í lopt upp.

- (F) Hann kveðr þat þá engu varða, er þeir spyrja, hví hann var þar kominn, ok ferr hann heim með þeim.
- (G) Litlu síðar kom þar hvalr, ok fóru þeir til skurðar, en engi maðr kenndi, hvat hvala var.
- (H) Matsveinar(nir) suðu hvalinn, en þeim varð ǫllum illt af, er þeir átu.
- (I) Þá segir Þórhallr, at Þórr, fulltrúinn, hefir orðit drjúgari en Kristir þeirra.
- (J) Hann sagði, at skáldskapr hans, er hann orti um inn rauðskeggjaða, hefði unnit þetta.
- (K) Þá báru þeir hvalinn á kaf ok skutu máli sínu til guðs, ok batnaði síðan veðrátta ok skorti eigi fong.

Lesson XX

- (A) Þórólfr bægifótr kom heim til Hvamms um kveldit, settisk niðr í ǫndvegi sitt, mælti við engan mann, mataðisk eigi ok sat þar eptir, er menn fóru at sofa.
- (B) Hann sat þar enn um morguninn, er menn stóðu upp, ok var dauðr.
- (C) Húsfreyja sendi mann til Arnkels, ok reið hann þá með nokkurum heimamönnum sínum upp í Hvamm.
- (D) Eptir at Arnkell varð dauða Þórólfs viss, bað hann þá varask at ganga framan at honum, meðan nábjargir vǫru honum eigi veittar.
- (E) Arnkell gekk á bak Þórólfi ok tók í herðar honum, ok varð hann at kenna afismunar.
- (F) Síðan sveipaði hann klæðum at höfði honum ok bjó um hann eptir siðvenju.
- (G) Eptir þat brutu þeir vegginn á bak Þórólfi, drógu hann út ok óku honum upp Þórsárdal til dysjar hans.
- (H) Síðan brutu þeir dys Þórólfs ok tóku hann úr gröfni.
- (I) Tveir sterkir yxn vǫru teknir ok beittir fyrir sleða, ok fluttu þeir Þórólfr upp á Úlfarsfellsháls.

Lesson XXI

- (A) Hafskip höfðu þá ekki dælu, en þau höfðu byttur tvær, svá at er ǫnnur fór niðr, fór ǫnnur upp.
- (B) Sveinar(nir) báðu Gretti at ausa, því at þeir vildu sjá, hvat hann mætti.
- (C) Grettir sökkti byttunum ok tveir jósu til móts við hann.
- (D) Brátt vǫru þeir tveir yfirkomnir, ok gengu fjórir til, en allt fór á sǫmu leið.
- (E) Sumir segja, at átta vǫru fengnir til at ausa til móts við hann áðr en lauk, ok var þá skipit upp ausit.

- (F) Dag einn gengu Grettir ok Arnbjörn úti um stræti, er Hjarrandi hljóp úr garðshliði með reidda øxi ok hjó til Grettis tveim höndum.
 (G) Arnbjörn gat sét manninn ok hratt Gretti áfram.
 (H) Gretti varði einskis, ok kom øxin á herðarblaðit ok gerði sár mikit.
 (I) Síðan stóð øxi(n) Hjarranda fóst í strætinu, ok, áðr en Hjarrandi kippti henni af sér, brá Grettir saxinu ok hjó til hans, svá at tók af höndina við oxl(ina).

Lesson XXII

- (A) Høskuldr hafði vinaboð, ok sat Hrútr bróðir hans it næsta honum.
 (B) Hallgerðr, dóttir Høskulds, lék sér á gólfinu við aðrar meyjar, ok kallaði Høskuldr á hana, at hon skyldi koma til hans, ok kyssti hana.
 (C) Høskuldr spurði Hrút, hvárt honum þœtti mærin vera fōgr, en Hrútr þagði við.
 (D) Høskuldr spyr annat sinn, en Hrútr svarar, at mærin sé ærit fōgr, en at hann viti eigi, hvaðan þjófsaugu séu komin í ættir þeira.
 (E) Er Hallgerðr óx upp, var hon fengsöm ok stórlynd, ok kallaði til alls þess, er aðrir áttu í nánd.
 (F) Einhverju sinni var búskortr, ok mælti Hallgerðr til Þorvalds, bónda sins, at hann myndi eigi þurfa at sitja til alls, því at bæði skorti mjöl ok skreið.
 (G) Þorvaldr svaraði, at hann hefði eigi fengit minna til bús en vant var, en Hallgerðr mælti, at hann ok faðir hans hefði svelt sik til fjár.
 (H) Þorvaldr reiðisk mjök ok lýstr hana í andlitit, svá at blœðir, en hann gengr síðan með húskorlum sínum, ok hrinda þeir fram skútu ok róa út í Bjarneyjar ok taka þar skreið ok mjöl.

Lesson XXIII

- (A) Hildigunnr vissi, at Flosi, frændi hennar, myndi koma þangat, til þess at rœða eptirmæli við hana.
 (B) Hon lét konur ræsta húsin, tjalda ok búa Flosa ondvegi.
 (C) Er þeir Flosi riðu í garð, snœri hon at honum ok sagði: 'Nú er fegit hjarta mitt tilkvámu þinni.'
 (D) En Flosi var eigi glaðr ok sagði, at þeir skyldi eta dagverð ok ríða síðan.
 (E) Hildigunnr grét ok vildi vita, hvert eptirmæli eða liðveizlu hon myndi hafa af Flosa.
 (F) Flosi mælti, at hann myndi sækja mál hennar til fullra laga eða veita til þeira sætta, er góðir menn sæi, at þeir væri vel sœmðir af.
 (G) Hildigunnr segir, at Høskuldr myndi hefna Flosa, ef hann ætti eptir hann at mæla, ok at Arnórr Qrnólfsson hefði misgert minna við Þórð, fōður Flosa, en þó vágu brœðr Flosa Arnór.

- (H) Hildigunnr reiðisk svá mjök, at hon gengr til kistu sinnar ok tekr upp skikkjuna, er Flosi hafði gefit Høskuldi, ok er Høskuldr hafði verit veginn í.
 (I) Hon hafði varðveitt allt blóð Høskulds í skikkjunni, ok nú gengr hon þegjandi at Flosa ok leggr hana yfir hann, svá at blóðit dynr um hann allan.

Lesson XXIV

- (A) Nótt eina, þá er Gísli var á bæ Auðar, lét hann illa í svefni, ok sagði hann henni, at hann ætti tvær draumkonur.
 (B) Önnur var vel við hann, en önnur spáði honum illt eina.
 (C) Í draumi sínum gekk hann í hús nokkut ok þar sá hann frændr sína ok vini, er sátu við sjau elda ok drukku.
 (D) Eldarnir merkðu aldr Gísla, hvat hann átti eptir úlifat, ok váru sumir bjartari en aðrir.
 (E) In betri draumkona réð honum þat, at láta leiðask fornan sið ok vera vel við daufan ok haltan, ok fátœka ok fáraða.
 (F) Síðar, nótt einhverja, kemr in verri draumkona at honum ok segir hon, at hon mun bregða öllu því, er in betri draumkona mælti við hann.
 (G) Ekki þess, er in betri draumkona mælti, skal honum at gagni verða.

Lesson XXV

- (A) Høskuldr gekk einn dag at skemmta sér með nokkura menn, ok kom hann at tjaldi skrautligu fjarri oðrum búðum.
 (B) Í tjaldinu var fyrir maðr í guðvefjarklæðum, ok hafði hann gerzkan hatt á höfði (sér).
 (C) Hann nefndisk Gilli inn gerzki ok var auðgastr þeirra, er verit höfðu í kaupmannalögum.
 (D) Gilli spurði, hvat þeir fōrunautar vildu kaupa, ok svaraði Høskuldr at hann vildi kaupa ambátt nokkura.
 (E) Ambáttirnar sátu saman fyrir innan tjaldit, ok vildi Høskuldr kaupa eina illa klædda, er honum leizk fōgr.
 (F) Høskuldr skyldi gjalda fyrir hana þrjár merkr silfrs, því at Gilli mat hana dýrra en aðrar, er maðr geldr eina mörk silfrs fyrir.
 (G) Høskuldr leitaði at sjóðnum, er hann hafði í belti sínu, en Gilli sagði, at mikill ljóðr var á um ráð konunnar.
 (H) Sá ljóðr var at kona þessi var úmála.
 (I) Gilli vill, at Høskuldr viti þetta, áðr þeir slái kaupi þessu.
 (J) Høskuldr þakkaði Gilla þat ok sagði, at Gilli hefði drengiliga af máli þessu haft.
 (K) Høskuldr tók ambáttina til búðar sinnar, ok þat sama kveld rekkði hann hjá henni.

Lesson XXVI

- (A) Guðrún var snemma á fótum ok gekk þangat, er bræðr hennar sváfu, ok tók hon á Óspaki, er vaknaði skjótt við.
- (B) Guðrún kvazk vildu vita, hvat þeir bræðr vildu at hafask um daginn, en Óspakr svaraði, at þeir myndi kyrru fyrir halda, því at nú væri fátt til verknaðar.
- (C) Þá reiddisk Guðrún ok sagði, at slíkir menn hefði svinsminni ok svæfi eigi at minna, at Kjartan sjálfr, er hafði gert þeim slíka svivirðing ok skömm, riði þar hjá garði.
- (D) Óspakr kvað hana mikit af taka, en þeir bræðr spruttu upp þegar ok klæddusk.
- (E) Halldórr ok bróðir hans fylgðu móður sinni, Þorgerði Egilsdóttur, til bæjar Bolla.
- (F) Þorgerðr blés við ok kvað þá vera úlíka frændum sínum gofgum, ef þeir vildu eigi hefna Kjartans, bróður síns.
- (G) Þorgerðr ætlaði, at þat væri betra, ef þeir væri dótr fður síns ok væri giptar.
- (H) Hon kvað sonu sína vera dáðlausa ok mælti hon við Halldór, at þat væri úgípta Óláfs, at honum glapðisk svá mjök sonaeignin.

Lesson XXVII

- (A) Óláfr konungr, sonr Haralds ins grenska, var gørviligr maðr, fríðr sýnum, meðalmaðr á vøxt, ok var hann snimma mjök orðsnjallr.
- (B) Þórarinn Nefjölfsson var íslenzkr maðr, eigi ættstórr ok manna ljótastr, en hann var djarfmæltr ok allra manna vitrastr ok orðspakastr.
- (C) Óláfr hafði Þórarin í boði sínu nokkura daga ok svaf Þórarinn í herbergi konungs.
- (D) Konungr vakði einn morgin snimma, ok sá hann, at Þórarinn hafði rétt fót annan undan klæðum.
- (E) Þá er aðrir menn vøknuðu, mælti konungr til Þórarins, at hann hefði sét þann fót, er hann hygði, at engi skyldi þar í kaupstaðinum ljótari vera.
- (F) Óláfr var búinn at veðja um, at eigi myndi fásk jafnljótr fótr, en Þórarinn sagði, at hann myndi finna ljótara fót.
- (G) Sá þeirra, er sannara hafði, skyldi kjósa bæn af qðrum.
- (H) Þórarinn brá qðrum fœtinum undan klæðum, ok var af in mesta táin.
- (I) Þórarinn þótti þessi fótr vera ljótari, en konungi þótti hann (vera) fegri, því at hann hafði fjórar tær ferligar, meðan annarr fótrinn hafði fimm, ok svá átti Óláfr at kjósa bæn af Þórarini.

Lesson XXVIII

- (A) Kjartan Ólafsson óx upp í Hjarðarholti, ok var hann vel farinn í andliti ok fríðastr allra manna—þeira er foezk hafa á Íslandi—ok sterkr, eptir því sem verit hafði móðurfaðir hans, Egill.
- (B) Kjartan hafði allar íþróttir umfram aðra menn ok var hverjum manni lítillátari ok vinsæll, svá at hvert barn unni honum.
- (C) Bolli, fóstbróðir Kjartans, var ok fríðr sýnum, kurteisligr ok inn hermannligsti, en hann gekk næst Kjartani um allar íþróttir.
- (D) Guðrún, móðir Bolla Bollasonar, var gofgust jafnbörinna kvenna.
- (E) Hon varð fyrst nunna á Íslandi, ok þótti henni ávallt gott, er sonr hennar Bolli kom at finna hana.
- (F) Bolla var forvitni á at vita, hverjum manni Guðrún hefði mest unnat.
- (G) Bolla þótti, at Guðrún þyrfti eigi at leyndu því lengr.
- (H) Guðrún mælti, at ef hon myndi segja þat nokkurum, þá myndi hon velja Bolla, son sinn, til þess.
- (I) Bolli bað hana gera svá, ok Guðrún mælti, at hon hefði verit þeim verst, er hon unni mest.

Lesson XXIX

- (A) Inir spökustu menn á Íslandi merkðu at sólargangi, at sumar munaði aprt til várs(ins).
- (B) Þat olli, at þeir vissu eigi, at degi einum vas (var) fleira en heilum vikum gegndi í tveim(r) misserum.
- (C) Þorstein surt dreymði, at hann hugðisk vera at lögbergi ok vaka, en hann hugði alla menn aðra sofa, ok þá hugðisk hann sofa, en aðrir vøknuðu.
- (D) Ósvífr Helgason réð draum þann, svá at allir myndi þögn varða, meðan Þorsteinn mælti at lögbergi, en at þeir myndi róma þat, er hann mælti, eptir at hann þagnaði.
- (E) Síðan er menn kómu til þings leitaði Þorsteinn ráðs þess at lögbergi, at (it) sjaunda hvert sumar skyldi auka viku.
- (F) Svá sem Ósvífr réð drauminn vøknuðu menn vel við þat, ok var þat leitt í lög.
- (G) Íslandi var skipt í fjórðunga, ok váru í hverjum þeirra þrjú þing, nema fjögur váru í Norðlendinga fjórðungi.
- (H) Norðlendingar urðu eigi á þrjú þing sáttir, því at þeir er váru fyr norðan Eyjafjörð vildu eigi sækja þing þangat, ok þeir er váru fyr vestan, vildu eigi sækja þing í Skagafjörð.

Lesson XXX

- (A) Óláfr konungur var allglaður við þau tíðindi, at Ísland var orðit alkrístit, ok gaf hann leyfi öllum mönnum, er hann hafði haft í gíslingu, at fara hvert er þeim líkaði.
- (B) Þeir Kjartan þokkuðu konungi orlof þetta ok sögðu, at þeir myndi vitja Íslands.
- (C) En Óláfr virðir, at Kjartan hafi setit þar meir í vingan en í gíslingu, ok segir at Kjartan muni eiga þann ráðakost í Nóregi, er slíkr muni eigi vera á Íslandi.
- (D) Kjartan svarar, at hann vænti þess, at Óláfr gefi orlof honum eigi síðr en þeim öðrum, er hann hefir haldit í gíslingu.
- (E) Kjartan gekk á fund Ingibjargar konungssystur, er fagnaði honum vel, ok sagði hann henni, at hann ætlaði at fara út til Íslands.
- (F) Ingibjörg svarar, at hon ætli eigi, at menn hafi eggjat hann til ferðarinnar, ok verðr þeim fátt at orðum þaðan í frá.
- (G) En Ingibjörg tekr þá hvítan motr úr mjöðdrekku, ok segir, at Kjartan skuli gefa hann Guðrúnu at bekkjargjöf.
- (H) Ingibjörg vill, at þær Íslendinga konur sjái, at hon, er Kjartan hafði átt tal við í Nóregi, var ekki þrælaættar.

Lesson XXXI

- (A) Þorgerðr ok Egill, faðir hennar, lágu í lokhvílu ok áttu tal saman, eptir at hon hafði sagt, at þau færi bæði eina leið.
- (B) Þorgerðr sagði, at hon vildi eigi lifa eptir föður sinn ok bróður.
- (C) Hon ætlaði, at hon myndi of lengi lifa.
- (D) Meðan hon lá þar, at hon söl ok svá ok faðir hennar.
- (E) Hon lét gefa þeim vatn at drekka, en Egill var vélðr, því at mjólk var í horninu.
- (F) Þessi ætlan at deyja var lokit, ok sagði hon, at hon vildi, at þau lengði líf sitt, svá at Egill mætti yrkja erfikvæði eptir Þorðvar, bróður hennar.
- (G) Á dögum Hákonar ins ríka var Egill á nínunda tigi ok beiddi hann Grím at riða til þings með honum.
- (H) Grímur vildi, at Þórdís forvitnaðisk, hvat undir bjó böen þessi.
- (I) Þórdís gekk á fund Egils, ok sagði hann henni, at hann hefði hugsat at taka með sér til þings tvær kistur fullar af ensku silfri.
- (J) Egill ætlaði at láta bera kisturnar til Lögbergs, er fjölmennt var á þinginu, ok síðan sá silfrinu ok sjá, ef allir skipti því vel sín í milli.

Lesson XXXII

- (A) Þeim Skarpheðni ok Högna sýndisk haugr Gunnars opinn, ok snørisk Gunnarr í hauginum ok leit í móti tunglinu.
- (B) Gunnarr var kátligur ok kvað vísu svá hátt, at heyra mátti gǫrla, þó at þeir hefði firr verit.
- (C) Skarpheðinn spurði Högna, hvárt hann myndi trúa þessu, ef aðrir segði honum, ok svaraði Hogni, at hann myndi trúa því, ef Njáll segði honum, því at þat væri sagt, at Njáll lygi aldri.
- (D) Hildiglúmr Runólfsson var úti dróttinsdagsnótt, er hann þóttisk heyra brest mikinn, ok þótti honum skjálfa bæði himinn ok jörð.
- (E) Hann leit í vestrættina ok þóttisk sjá hring- ok eldslit á ok mann á grám hesti í hringinum.
- (F) Maðrinn reið nær honum með loganda brand í hendi, ok sýndisk Hildiglúmi hann (vera) svartr sem bik.
- (G) Inn svartu maðr kvað vísu með mikilli raust, ok þótti Hildiglúmi hann síðan skjóta brandinum austr til fjallanna, er eldr mikill hljóp upp.
- (H) Hildiglúmr sá inn svarta mann hverfa austr undir eldinn, en síðan gekk hann til rúms síns ok fekk langt úvit.
- (I) En er hann rétti við úr því, munði hann allt, er fyrir hann hafði borit.
- (J) Faðir hans sagði, at hann skyldi segja þat Hjalta Skeggjasyni, ok sagði Hjalti honum, at hann hefði sét gandreid ok væri þat jafnan fyrir stórtíðindum.

Lesson XXXIII

- (A) Er hann var kominn skammt frá Þjorsá, syfjaði Gunnar mjök, ok bað hann Hjort ok Kolskegg æja.
- (B) Gunnarr sofnaði fast, ok lét hann illa í svefni, varp af sér skikkjunni, ok var honum varmt mjök.
- (C) Hjortur vildi vekja hann, en Kolskeggr sagði, at þat væri betra, ef hann nyti draums síns.
- (D) Er Gunnarr vaknaði, sagði hann þeim, at hann skyldi hafa dreymt þann draum, áðr en þeir hefði riðit úr Tungu.
- (E) Gunnar dreyndi, at hann riði fram hjá Knafahólum, ok sá hann marga varga, er sóttu at honum.
- (F) Hann dreyndi, at hann skyti þá, er fremstir váru, þar til er þeir gengu svá at honum, at hann mátti eigi boganum við koma.
- (G) Gunnarr vissi eigi, hvat hlífði honum í drauminum, en hann vissi at hann hlífði sér eigi.
- (H) Þeir Skarpheðinn hljópu ofan með fljótinu, er skóþvengr hans stókk í sundr.
- (I) Hann dvelsk eptir, meðan Kári ok Grímur fara fyrir ofan á spongina.

- (J) Skarpheðinn batt skó sinn ok spratt upp þegar ok rann at fjótinu.
 (K) Mikit svell var qðrum megin fjótsins, ok stóðu þeir Þráinn á miðju svellinu.
 (L) Skarpheðinn stókk ok hóf sik á lopt, ok renndi fram fótskriðu á svellinu ok fór (hann) svá hratt sem fugl flygi.
 (M) Þráinn sá hann ok ætlaði at setja á sik hjálminn, en Skarpheðin bar at ok hjó til hans með øxi sinni, svá at klauf ofan í jaxlana, ok fellu þeir niðr á ísinn.

Lesson XXXIV

- (A) Þá er skipit var búit, reið Gunnarr til Bergþórshváls ok til annarra bæja, til þess at þakka qlum mōnnum, er honum hqfðu lið veitt.
 (B) Annan dag eptir bjó Gunnarr ferð sína ok sagði qlum, at hann myndi aldri koma aptr.
 (C) Á ferðinni til skipsins drepr hestr Gunnars fœti, ok stökk hann úr sqðlinum.
 (D) Honum varð litit upp til hlíðarinnar ok bæjarins at Hlíðarenda, ok þótti honum, at inir bleiku akrar ok in slegnu tún hefði aldri jafnfqgr verit.
 (E) Eptir þat vildi hann riða heim aptr ok fara hvergi, en Kolskeggr sagði, at þat myndi vera úvinafagnaðr, ef hann ryfi sætt sína ok fœri eigi.
 (F) Kolskeggr sagði Gunnari, at allt myndi fara sem Njáll hafði sagt, ef Gunnarr riði heim, en Gunnarr vildi svá gera.
 (G) Kolskeggr sagði, at hann myndi fara með skipinu ok aldri sjá Ísland, því at hann myndi spyrja Gunnar látinn, ef hann kvæmi aptr.
 (H) Áðr Egill steig á bak, hvarf Skalla-Grímr til hans ok mælti, at honum þoetti Egill seint hafa greitt fé þat, er Aðalsteinn konungr sendi honum.
 (I) Egill svaraði, at hann vissi, at Skalla-Grímr hefði at varðveita eina kistu eða tvær, fullar af silfri, ok at hann þyrfti eigi.
 (J) Þat sama kveld, er Egill hafði riðit heiman, reið Skalla-Grímr með kistu mikla ok eirketil til Krumskeldu.
 (K) Menn hafa þat síðan fyrir satt, at Skalla-Grímr léti annat hvárt eða bæði fara í kelduna ok léti fara mikinn hellustein á ofan.

CONCISE BIBLIOGRAPHY

Bibliographies

- Bibliography of Old Norse-Icelandic Studies* [BONIS]. Copenhagen, 1963 ff.
 Bekker-Nielsen, Hans. Old Norse-Icelandic Studies: A Select Bibliography. Toronto, 1967.
 Haugen, Einar, ed. A Bibliography of Scandinavian Languages and Linguistics: 1900-1970. Oslo, 1974.

Dictionaries

- Cleasby, R., Vigfusson, G., and Craigie, W. An Icelandic-English Dictionary. 2nd edn., Oxford, 1957.
 de Vries, Jan. Altnordisches Etymologisches Wörterbuch. 2nd edn., Leiden, 1962.
 Zoëga, G. A Concise Dictionary of Old Icelandic. Oxford, 1910 (repr. 1965).

Grammars and Readers

- Gordon, E. V. and Taylor, A. R. An Introduction to Old Norse. 2nd edn., Oxford, 1957.
 Gutenbrunner, S. Historische Laut- und Formenlehre des Altisländischen. Heidelberg, 1951.
 Heusler, A. Altisländisches Elementarbuch. 4th edn., Heidelberg, 1950.
 Krause, W. Abriss der altwestnordischen Grammatik. Halle, 1948.
 Noreen, A. Altisländische und altnorwegische Grammatik. 4th edn., Halle, 1923 (repr. University of Alabama Press, 1970).

Phonology and Orthography

- Benediktsson, Hreinn. Early Icelandic Script. Reykjavik, 1965.
 Benediktsson, Hreinn, ed. The First Grammatical Treatise. Reykjavik, 1972.
 Haugen, Einar, ed. The First Grammatical Treatise: The Earliest Germanic Phonology (Language Monograph No. 25). Baltimore, 1950.

Texts

- Íslendingasagnaútgáfan: Íslendingasögur I-XIII*. 2nd edn., Akureyri, 1953;
Byskupa Sögur I-III. 2nd edn., Akureyri, 1953; Konunga Sögur I-III. Akureyri, 1957.
Íslenzk Fornrit I ff. Reykjavik, 1933 ff.
 Jóhannesson, Jón, ed. Íslendingabók Ara Fróða. Reykjavik, 1956.
Thule, Altnordische Dichtung und Prosa I-XXIV. Jena, 1912-30 (rev. edn. Düsseldorf, 1963 ff).